Thread: Lending service..

_Stance - February 22, 2013, 5:09 pm

I was thinking about starting a lending service.

50$ max, but you have to pay back+ 20% fee..

But I was thinking what stops me from getting scammed and how can I fortify myself from getting scammed?

Any help appreciated!

I doubt many will be legit, and there's no telling who is legit. For all you know an ub3r with 200 rep could scam you.

Is there something that I can get from the member to assure them paying me back?

I really think this could start something good for myself, and hf.

I'm interested to hear your ideas guys!

Also what currency? If someone requests LR would you let them payback in PayPal?

Only looking to do paypal, don't really have time to do exchanges etc.

And plus i'd prob get fucked with the currencyd difference etc.

A lot of people may try to scam you out. But it could work if you open up a line of service with them.

I'd just say do investments for % profits and make sure you deal with the right people who have their shit pulled together. Lending will just get you scammed. Specially on HF.

Personally I think this while not work. There is nothing that they can give you as collateral.
