

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Turn PC into PS2 or Dreamcast?

AWeaver1989 - October 31, 2008, 5:13 pm

Would it be possible to turn an old PC into a straight, turn on and see ps2 or dreamcast load up screen, emulator? My idea is to be able to put an original game disk in and turn on the pc and the game loads like i was playing an actual ps2 or dreamcast console? I'm not sure but i was wondering if it'd be possible to wipe the pc's hard drive and copy the DC/PS2's hard drive onto it? Thanks for the help and if it's possible, i'll be selling these systems asap!

lor - October 31, 2008, 8:10 pm

What would the point be in buying a computer that operates like a PS2 but probably a lot more expensive when they can just buy a normal PS2?

AWeaver1989 - November 1, 2008, 4:31 am better graphics outputs (tv and monitor) no region protection and able to read burnt games as well as having unused computers around lor - November 1, 2008, 4:36 am

How much do you think you'd sell for?

You need to keep in mind that if you were to sell these you'd need to buy a shit load of old computers + all your other equipment that you would need to make the transformation WHILE making a profit..

Is better graphics & reading burnt games really going to be worth it?

AWeaver1989 - November 1, 2008, 6:12 am

I already have alot of old computers and deciding how much i'd sell for and whether it'd be worth it depends on what would need to be done. I think i'd probably sell them for about Â£100 (gbp for conversion). I'd personally like a reliable and flexible ps2 or dreamcast, meaning better graphics, the ability to read copied as well as original games. extra memory space and if i was lucky better internet connection. I'd pay much more than the price of a ps2 or dreamcast.

Aphex51 - November 3, 2008, 5:50 pm

It's a good idea you have but I don't think it's going to sell. If you as a single person came up with this idea, how many big companys ect have though of it. The reason it's not going to sell on a market is due to the fact that so many people just want a basic system. Nothing fancy, nothing to confuse them. Also to take into consideration is that some people don't want online machines and have no idea about game copys. Kudos for the idea though.

AWeaver1989 - November 4, 2008, 7:07 pm

I'm more experimenting to make a system for myself and if others would like one, i would sell them but i need to know what would be necessary?

Xentric QT - November 10, 2008, 8:57 pm

hmm why ps2 and dreamcast?

why not xbox 360 or ps3 ?

[Evolution] - November 10, 2008, 11:37 pm

I used to have a very good site for emulators but i lost it =/