Thread: direct download link \(Force download\)

I have been looking around for ages, and I just can't seem to find a good free anon file host which lets you upload your file with a direct force download link.

By that I mean a download site which automatically downloads a file as soon as you click the link.

I need this for my JDB. Any help would be much appreciated!

I suggest buying yourself a $1 hosting package from one of the seller here on HF and using that. Free web hosting is also a possibility, although I wouldn't recommend it.

I'm aware of this, but you can host an executable file on webhosting, in fact you can host as many as you like.
