

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Beginner Hacking Section \(BHS\)

Terry A. Davis - March 20, 2013, 4:38 am

So on a normal day I make like 10 to 15 posts in the BHS a day. In doing this I not only get to help a lot of members but the negative is I also see "The Dark Side" as it is.

Now some nights the section will be free of all the fucking bullshit like carding sites doxxes and other things that are against the site rules.

But others it is full of bullshit, I was on last week and someone had been asking for Omnomnom's dox now no one replied which was good, now I did what is the best thing to do report and move on, I moved on to the next day after sleep I awoke to find the fucking thread still there. Now that is just plain bullshit how is it something that is against the rules of that magnitude can be left on the site for 8 hours. Let alone he made 2 threads the first one got removed almost instantly and he got no warning, then he makes it again and it stays, I call bullshit.

Take this thread: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3341343> not only is it in the wrong section (at the time of posting) but it is also posting personal information how do we know that isn't the IP of a current HF member? That could be my IP address, what if it was? I would be getting kicked offline because someone broke 2 rules.

Now this one isn't as bad just in the wrong section:
<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3242290> I mean this is just a rant but come on guys, this shit gets old after awhile.

tl;dr

TL;DR (Click to View)

SOMETHING NEEDS TO BE DONE ABOUT THE BULLSHIT IN THE BHS!

Now I hope that I stayed within my bounds of what I am allowed to say in this thread, for those of you who come to the BHS often enough should know what I am talking about, the same goes for the RAT section like #Skyline bought up a few hours ago here

K?ala - March 20, 2013, 4:42 am

There needs be a section for all that stuff to be filtered into. I agree that it needs more moderation but seriously if staff isn't taking care of it, PM a mentor thats online. They can't see reports.

Beam - March 20, 2013, 4:44 am

This has nothing to do with the actual section, sometimes mods get lazy and not remove wrong threads in all forums. Just relax.

#Skyline - March 20, 2013, 4:44 am

(Mar 20, 2013 04:42 AM)K?ala Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) PM a mentor thats online.
Mentors do not have access to any moderation within that sub forum.
OP

Great thread, I highly understand what is happening.

Mr Kewl - March 20, 2013, 4:46 am

(Mar 20, 2013 04:44 AM)#Skyline Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Mentors do not have access to any moderation within that sub forum.

OP

Great thread, I highly understand what is happening.

If OP's talking about BHS, then you're wrong.

Terry A. Davis - March 20, 2013, 4:47 am

(Mar 20, 2013 04:44 AM)Beam Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This has nothing to do with the actual section, sometimes mods get lazy and not remove wrong threads in all forums. Just relax. Get as many posts in the section as I have then tell me that again

(Mar 20, 2013 04:42 AM)K?ala Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) There needs be a section for all that stuff to be filtered into. I agree that it needs more moderation but seriously if staff isn't taking care of it, PM a mentor thats online. They can't see reports.

Not that a new section needs to be made something needs to change on how Mentors can delete threads

(Mar 20, 2013 04:44 AM)#Skyline Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Mentors do not have access to any moderation within that sub forum.

OP

Great thread, I highly understand what is happening.

Thanks for showing support ?

PedroDJ - March 20, 2013, 4:47 am

Agree wth PerfectCell but I think the problem is that HF need more STAFF MEMBERS.

Moderator at least that can close / delete thread and reporting a FEEDBACK to staff for banning LQ users...

Terry A. Davis - March 20, 2013, 4:48 am

(Mar 20, 2013 04:46 AM)Mr Kewl Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If OP's talking about BHS, then you're wrong.

Yeah he should read the title "Beginner Hacking Section" or as I call it BHS

#Skyline - March 20, 2013, 4:50 am

(Mar 20, 2013 04:46 AM)Mr Kewl Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If OP's talking about BHS, then you're wrong.

I just proved I'm a idiot. I actually didn't know that.

T?ny - March 20, 2013, 5:08 am

This is why I don't post there anymore..

- Tyrone

Beam - March 20, 2013, 5:19 am

(Mar 20, 2013 04:47 AM)Perfect Cell Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Get as many posts in the section as I have then tell me that again

Well have a look at the graphic services section. It's alot more messy. This section is designed so people can offer graphic services, and it's full of unrelated threads. It's not only a problem in BHS.

Terry A. Davis - March 20, 2013, 5:21 am

(Mar 20, 2013 05:19 AM)Beam Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well have a look at the graphic services section. It's alot more messy. This section is designed so people can offer graphic services, and it's full of unrelated threads. It's not only a problem in BHS.

Then we have the same problem in a different section.

Joey Tribbiani - March 20, 2013, 6:30 am

Quote:something needs to change on how Mentors can delete threads

Lewhat? What does this even mean?

Report the thread and/or PM a Mentor.

Nothing more can be done unless you are suggesting a moderator for the section which is against the rules itself.

Quote:Now this one isn't as bad just in the wrong section:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3242290>

That thread is fine there if the OP prefers it there.

Terry A. Davis - March 20, 2013, 6:38 am

Joey Tribbiani Wrote:That thread is fine there if the OP prefers it there.

Hacking Tutorials

Then why do we have that section?

Joey Tribbiani Wrote:Nothing more can be done unless you are suggesting a moderator for the section which is against the rules itself.

So the thread doesn't get closed without a real discussion I am not suggesting anything I am only saying something needs to be done about the bullshit in there kray - March 20, 2013, 6:43 am

At any time I can go into Beginner Hacking, or WebHacking and find 5-10 threads I can report for being LQ.

Terry A. Davis - March 20, 2013, 6:46 am

(Mar 20, 2013 06:43 AM)Kray Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) At any time I can go into Beginner Hacking, or WebHacking and find 5-10 threads I can report for being LQ.

It indeed seems to be the place that all the 10 posts spammers go, I am sure Staff can verified over 9/10s of my reports come from there.

It is also the fact that it seems to be what the site is all about yet gets the least attention.

Positive - March 20, 2013, 6:46 am

(Mar 20, 2013 04:44 AM)#Skyline Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Mentors do not have access to any moderation within that sub forum.

OP

Great thread, I highly understand what is happening.

My ass. That's why I just took care of one of the threads he said was in the wrong section. Stop trying to mini-mod. You've done it a lot and it's really annoying.

OP, Staff can't be online all day everyday, and reports I'm sure pile up until they can all be taken care of.

If the section is moderated by the mentors or has a sectional mod, take a second to send a link or two in a PM.

It's really not hard at all.

Joey Tribbiani - March 20, 2013, 6:50 am

Quote: So the thread doesn't get closed without a real discussion I am not suggesting anything I am only saying something needs to be done about the bullshit in there

Something as in what?

Staff and mentors are as active as they can be. Nothing else can be done except adding a moderator.

Quote:<https://hackforums.net/forumdisplay.php?fid=47>

Then why do we have that section?

As I said, it's the thread author's choice. There is no hard and fast rule here. At least, that's what I was told by a previous staff member.

I'll still confirm this with a current staff member though.

And looks like Positive moved it anyway.

Positive - March 20, 2013, 6:53 am

(Mar 20, 2013 06:50 AM)Joey Tribbiani Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Something as in what?

Staff and mentors are as active as they can be. Nothing else can be done except adding a moderator.

As I said, it's the thread author's choice. There is no hard and fast rule here. At least, that's what I was told by a previous staff member.

I'll still confirm this with a current staff member though.

And looks like Positive moved it anyway.

A moderator isn't needed.

Going back to what he said:

Something needs to change on how we delete threads you say?

Did you know Mentors are volunteers? We aren't forced to moderate, but given the abilities we have, we tend to put out best foot forward (some of us) and complete any task we can, correctly.

How cares how many posts you have in the damn section, it could be spam for all we know. Don't use that as an excuse.