Good luck. ?

Quick Tips:

(Jan 28, 2013 08:32 PM)xadamxk Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I will repeat what Tibit and other Empire members have stated.

If you truly want into the Empire, prove it to us.

Show us that you DESERVE to be in the group.

I can promise you that you will appreciate the group if you are accepted.

Just some tips if you want your application to stand out: Make your application unique. Make it lengthy, but be sure for it to hold it's quality.

Use your personal skills to make the application: GFX, Gaming, Coding, etc. Show your specialty.

Be sure to use a set format, colors, themes, etc. Organized = good/ attention catching.

Show that you want in. Again, the length can have something to do with the result of your conclusion, but ONLY if it holds quality from beginning to start.

Do a top 10 reasons why you want in, make a video application along with the required application.

Do far more than the required application asks for. Again, show us that you want to be a member of the Empire.

I have been in the Empire for months, if you would like help, opinions, or to ask questions then feel free to PM me!

Nyonic - March 23, 2013, 10:44 pm

Can link you to the real thing by request over PM.

What section are you most active in and why? Hacking/Ewhoring Section. I first was mostly active in E-Whoring section (or which is my favorite section) is because that is where i first decided to start off,and where is i have put in my most effort and it is where i started to first making the money from there and it's just one of the fun section's i like. I enjoy learning skills and using Hacking skills.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: It seems like a group is where i can get along with,and i've enjoyed sharing my methods with-in a private area. I would love to contribute,support,help out others. The Empire has seemed like a great group,run by great leaders. I don't like groups that have scammers around them,or ex-leaders (such as SandShrew and root). The Empire is run by many high quality users i am familliar with,and legit and good people.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel like first off,i can be accepted is i meet the requirements. Well,that's not only why. I am not a perfect member,or person. But i do my best,and i try to stay as high quality as possible. I keep my posts to the best,and i try not making people angry. I try to help out,i try to run giveaways and run great services around here to help people out. I am a decent high quality member and i will stay committed and active to The Empire. I am a active,daily member who comes onto HackForums.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

First,i enjoy doing many things in life. I am a 15-year old High School student who enjoys getting out and talking with friends and i enjoy playing sports (as an athletic type of person). Sports is one of my favorite things to do. I love as well talking to people.

First - really. I am a 15 year old person who loves to meet people,and talk to people. I enjoy making people feel better IRL,and i love to conversate. I have never got in fights,never got suspended in my life from public school ever. I am not a shy sort of person,and i love getting out and active.

Second (and finally) - I am an athletic person,and love High School sports and watching pro-sports. I played Varsity High School Football in 10th grade,and will plan to go on with it in junior and senior year,and as well go on with wrestling and track. I am a person who loves all sorts of sports,and i love lifting weights and going on runs just to get better and better.

Anything else you want to say: I will stay active,and expect no scam reports on me,no LQ/harassment warnings. I will stay committed to The Empire and you will see that accepting me will be a good choice. I would DEF love to start contests/giveaways under the Empire's Name.

Tibit - March 23, 2013, 11:00 pm

Good luck to all who apply. Put effort into your application, we've seen many applications, make one that separates your from the rest if you want in. Throw in a video, site, program, show your skills off in your application. Several have done it before. For example, people have designed a site for it, some have made programs for their app, and quite a few have done videos. Try to do something that makes you stand out if you want in.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): My biggest skills are coding java and logic. Also I am very good at video games :P

What section are you most active in and why? The lounge, Gaming section, Market section.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: Because it is a cool group with a lot of chill members.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I am chill and I need a group to join. Also, I can bring a lot of guides and what not.

Anything else you want to say: JD still needs to take up my offer of two blocks of sand and seven blocks of dirt. JD remember this from TS :P.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I am fairly new to this. I started learning PYTHON just a few days ago because Financial AID didn't provide much assistance for me to go to school. My main skill is MOTIVATION. I LOVE COMPUTERS. I literally am up at the wee hours of the night, just browsing, on XDA somewhere looking for MODS & ROMS for my phone, or compiling ROMS from source & of course doing my PYTHON studying & learning this unique scripting language. I do not possess many of the beautiful skills of other members, but desire to learn at a quick, efficient and smart pace. I am more than willing and would love (IF ACCEPTED) to keep the group updated on what I learn on weekly basis. I would love that opportunity as it will validate all of what I've said thus far & give me the opportunity to receive help from what is seemingly a group that loves to contribute & assist others as well.

What section are you most active in and why? HACKING & CODING mainly because I want to learn about the 1's & 0's, & how I can be a real hacker. The true form of a hacker, not as the world sees it today; as mere crackers, but as one who can fix, program, patch, break & help others. To me, that is a true hacker in its purest form.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to be a part of a group that has experience, that can help me grow & become a better computer user, programmer & hacker. From the listed leaders, their profiles show that this is a great foundation for someone like me. As I stated my credentials won't be as long as others or nearly as good, but maybe my honesty and determination will count for something.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I am a natural born leader, not stating that's what I want to be but it's very important to be able to have a group consisted of leaders who also can lead while absent from their leaders/guides. I am respectful, a Christian who doesn't utilize foul language & very technical in my approach in communicating with others. And of course, not to mention my honesty & ability to openly accept responsibility & criticism while maintaining the principles of myself and that of the group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I'm 22, my parents moved to Florida and for the last 4 months I've been homeless. Technically, I've been in their house which is being sold. For a few months I had no electricity or water to shower. Some nights I had no food to eat & it was so cold that I couldn't sleep. I'm not making this up nor telling you as a sob story. I believe this has helped me because I appreciate more & also am able to relate & help others all at the same time. Furthermore, when I help others, they never suspect I'm going through such a rough moment at a young age but that's what makes me strong & eager to learn. I was laid off but still do side hustles, like trading small things on Craigslist & I was searching the Monetizing forums for some helpful outlets that I can utilize as well. Being able to get through this & maintain my emotions, can open up the doors for me to help others in tough times, regardless if it's online or with my church family or even with some friends, the few true friends that I have. The good thing is, I haven't given up, I'm still searching for a job, making enough per month to pay bills & using my phone as a hotspot. MY DETERMINATION as I stated above is something to envy. Not being boastful of myself because I believe my faith has been the only reason why I'm still alive & will continue to be okay.

Anything else you want to say: Thank you for the opportunity & hopefully I will be able to speak with you all in the near future. God bless you all

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

My skills include things like basic VB.NET coding, basic graphic design, competitive gaming and social engineering. Coding I came to HF for one reason. Minecraft hacks. I soon decided that I wanted to create my hacks, looking around HF, it clearly wasn't the best place to ask for help (Creating hacks anyway, the people there are just arrogant and rude). So I decided to lurk the VB.NET area - I've always known what it's capable of, and I think it's a great language. I've been coding VB.NET for a small while now, mostly to create Runescape Account Stealers for people who are stupid enough to use them. I just created an FTP and made people put their login details in and their 'desired amount of cash' in. At the time I did it, there was a trade limit in Runescape, so I jacked a lot of main accounts because people couldn't create a dud to test it on and if it worked they couldn't give it to their own account.

Thus resulting in me creating a Runescape Account shop on another forum and making hella bank.

Graphics Design Graphic design has been part of my interest since I came to HF, there has been so many talented artist over the short amount of time that I've been here, unfortunately graphic design isn't my strong point. I'm not awful at it, but if I was asked to make some graphics I'm sure anyone else could beat me.

I gave up moderately on graphic design because I decided that it took too much time and dedication over my school work and whatnot, at least with coding I have an excuse (I'm in a game developing class in school). Competitive Gaming Competitive gaming has been something I've enjoyed since I was as young as 6 years of age - I was always determined to win in Mario Kart and Super Smash Bro's on the good ol' Nintendo 64. Eventually I expended out to Xbox, and not soon later PC gamer - I've now spend a total of around $5,000 on gaming equipment, $3,000 alone on computer based hardware and software. Although my setup isn't the bee's knees, it still gets the job done, and that's all I care about. I continuously have my DPI on 1600 because I feel that is is the best when playing CoD and Battlefield 3, it's a steady turning rate and gets the job done with a small movement of the wrist. (Don't think dirty ?)

I've been payed money to compete against clans before, but the most I've made in one game was $40. Total around $130. It's not much, but still, it's something. Social Engineering I've always been a good liar - And can really make anyone believe anything. I never stutter in real life if I know what I'm supposed to say, my social skills are great and I can often get out of any trouble in school.

Although it's not a skill that I'd put on my resume, but who says it won't help me in an interview? ? I've spent my years Social Engineering real life store workers, getting free items depending on what it is, almost always successful.

What section are you most active in and why?

I'd say I'm most active in the Minecraft/Gaming Lounge sections, because I love Minecraft and general gaming mostly - Although I am loosing my touch with Minecraft, I feel that I will soon move to the Runescape and CoD sections.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I want to join the Empire because I feel that the group is comprised of quality members that are always willing to help, and because I am always willing to help I feel that this group fits me well.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

To be completely honest, I hate when groups do this. It's not up to decide if I should or shouldn't, that's for you to decide.

But if I really have to provide an answer, I'd say it's because I'd be somewhat of a unique member to the group. I haven't seen too many gamers in Empire, though they might just hide in the SF.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm a secondary college student, and I don't live the easiest life in the world. I come to the computer to escape those around me, as much as I love my mother and siblings - There's been too much happening to me in the pass few years.

When I was 11, my mum and step-dad got a divorce - This pounded a hole right though my chest. I loved that guy, like my own dad. He was always there for me, and I still have a closer bond with him than I do with my own dad. He welcomes me to his house whenever I need, if I'm having a rough time I can talk to him, not as a parent but as the closest friend possible.

When they broke up, almost right away my mum got together with this guy named Troy - I wasn't fond of him at all. I hated him, he had 3 kids of his own, and he was always forcing me and my brothers to do things and not his own kids. We eventually moved into a larger house together, we had a farm and large amounts of property - He built a half pipe for me and Tom (his kid) to skate on, we learned really quickly - Teaching each other tricks and whatnot. It was starting to become really good, I still went to my step-dad's house with my brothers, and Troy would take us Surfing sometimes.

One morning him and I were in a really bad mood, I wasn't about to put up with shit. My brother walked out with his sheets in hand, and put them in the laundry (He had wet the bed), Troy called him a 'Dirty Cunt' and I snapped. I swung a punch at his face and knocked him to the ground, he grabbed a frying pan, threatened me with it, and threw it at my mum who came in to find out what was going on - It missed her ankle by centimeters, it surely would have broken her leg.

I dropped him on the ground again and he hit his head, his kids jumped on him and held him down (They were all under the age of 10) screaming at him to stop. My brothers were crying, especially Cohen who was so embarrassing that Troy said that and made him feel like shit.

After this all happened, mum forgave him and he moved back in. I kept my brothers close at all times, we locked ourselves in my room and played video games together - It was pretty nice, sometimes mum would come in and watch movies with us.

I stopped coming out of my room, and eventually became a computer nerd and much more of a gamer, if that didn't happen I doubt I'd be here right now.

I think that day defined me, it changed my life a lot, and goes to show what I would do to protect my own family.

Anything else you want to say:

No sir.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/keylogger2.png[/img]Remote Administration Tools - I've been using remote administration tools for over two years, and I've helped countless members on Hack Forums with remote administration tools. I'm always active in the remote administration tools sub forum and I do the best I can to help others.

I've made a lot of tutorials/help desks on remote administration tools.

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm currently active in the remote administration tools section, which I've got over 2000+ posts for and I've been in the HF news for my remote administration tools tutorials and help desks. I plan to set out and taking remote administration tools to a whole new level on hack forums with some more advanced tutorials coming out. I'm also planning on getting the remote administration tools section more protection eg (A mod) which I hope we get. I'm also planning on releasing a advanced tutorial on what no-ip does as a DNS when connecting slaves to the remote administration tool, and what it does in the background.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I feel I should join Empire because I miss it, and I miss being active in it. I regret leaving and I feel if I could go back in time I wouldn't of left Empire. I also feel I would make the Empire look better when writing tutorials and help others users in the remote administration tools section, so they get a better understanding of what The Empire is like, when members are helping them.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel I should be in The Empire due to having old friends who are still in the Empire. I also feel I should be in the Empire because of my knowledge with remote administration tools, and web site forum hacking knowledge, so I can give other members help when they need it.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Don't trust others.

Back when I was running a stresser I had help from friends and ex-empire members to help me set up my stresser. I was a happy child when it was fully setup and hard hitting other connections offline. I was then selling my stresser on the Hack Forums marketplace to get sales. I made a bit over $1000 due to my stresser being stickied all the time. I then looked into finding my own partner, to get my stresser more advertisement and more help. I then found a partner who also became a good friend in the long run. Once me and my partner had everything setup, we were off to a good start, but due to paypal limitations we had to find a paypal holder. We found a paypal holder who was a trusted and had a verified paypal. Me and him were set to continue making sales, and our paypal holder had over $500 of our money in his paypal, but then he got limited and due to that, he stole our money, got repfucked on hack forums and had a scam report against him. He then tried to sell his account to others outside hack forums which ended up in his account getting closed.

After all this drama happened, me and my partner had a little fight, and he was forced to leave and never come back. He then left with all the hosting + source + servers and went off. I was left with nothing due to me apparently dobbing on him, but that's a different story. After 1-2 weeks later I got my stresser back online with a loan from a user, I currently went ahead and got my stresser back and up and started making sales. It was great. But I then had a problem with my source which then I had to reupload my source. I reuploaded it but was having problems with getting the source to show. I then got help by a fellow Hack forums member who tried to fix it. He fixed it and I was good to go, until it got defaced by him. He then got another highly trusted member to redirect his exploit pack to my stresser which got my customers infected. I was upset during this time due to losing a aunty.

And after all this drama I have now being a asshole to everyone wanting me to do favours for them. I'm not a suck up member who likes taking other peoples shit. I follow the rules on Hack Forums and do everything right, but when it comes down to getting other members trust.. It won't happen.

Anything else you want to say:

I'm not sure I'll get in for what happened in the past. But hey.. The past is the past I cannot change that, only thing I can try to do is cover up them mistakes and move on. I would actually do anything to change what I did.

Also, Tibit you told me to do this next application. So I did it.

http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/php-forum.png[/img] Website development

I have basic skills when it comes to web development. I have enough knowledge to make a website with multiple pages that contain information.

I have been doing this for quite some time but always preferred / focused on creating layouts for Game websites , Radios and other types of websites.

I enjoy doing this because i used to work on websites together with my brother when i was younger, He's also the one that introduced me to it.

I'm still planning on improving my Web development skills in the future as it is always useful to posses such a skill.

Social Engineering

I have always enjoyed doing this as it was always surprising, Sometimes you succeed and receive the item you wanted but on the other hand it can be a pain in the ass with certain companies.

I have social engineered multiple items such as: HD webcam , Philips headset , Gaming mouse , and some cheap keyboards as well.

I found it always funny when it arrived and my mom would say "How did you get this?" ?

It's a real fun "hobby" if you have time for it and very useful as well.

http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/premium-sellers.png[/img] Marketing

I have always enjoyed selling products & items online and mainly here on hackforums, It's good money and very educational as well.

You learn to handle with money and also provide support to your customers.

I have learned allot in the past months that i have been selling products and hope to continue doing this for a long time. http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/ewhore.jpg[/img] E-whoring

Yet another useful method to gain money online, it takes time and patience and a good stomach :p.

I have earned a decent amount of money with this and started using my own methods because the main methods used are known by too much people which makes it difficult to succeed, using your own gathered pictures from the net is always the best IMO.

http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/graphics-market.png[/img] Graphics design

This is in my opinion a very useful skill as well, but not easy.

I have always been making basic graphic designs and just recently started learning more about GFX with photoshop, i hope to improve my skills with graphic design as it is a good money source and fun to do.

http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/python.png[/img] Python

This is a very educational and fun coding language and is very useful for creating certain types of scripts , ect..

I always enjoy messing around with Python and write some codes from time to time.

 <http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/visual-basic.png>  VB.net

VB.net is in my opinion a useful language but i personally find it not so fun.

It's not the type of coding i'm interested in and therefor my skills are limited when it comes to vb.net.

I never really went deep in it.

 <http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/rat.png>  Remote Administrator Tool [RAT]

I enjoy working with RATS , i do not infect certain targets myself but if i do want bots i usually just infect random people where i have no relation/friendship with.

I currently own a Web-based RAT (iControl) and also provide support and rat setups for different RAT products for users who need help with it.

I have been using rats for a good 1 year at the moment.

 <http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/stress.png>  Stressers

This was one of the first things i expended my knowledge in when i first joined HF.

I had a good running stresser in the past and currently work for Grimbooter & GrimAPI.

API's was the next thing i started to inform myself in and i must say that i have Good skills in handling stressers , ect..

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm active in multiple sections, Market , beginner hacking , lounge , and music section from time to time.

I mainly enjoy being in the market section because i just love marketing it's very educational and good for earning money.

Same for the BHS i just enjoy helping new people and seeing how they appreciate your help, everyone deserves to be helped just like we got helped when we were new.

I just do my best trying to be active in multiple sections rather then slacking in only 1 section, Would get bored pretty fast anyways IMO.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I have multiple reasons why i would love to join The Empire, first of all the group has a great reputation and is high quality with allot of skilled members that don't mind helping out where needed.

I also hope to improve my knowledge by joining this group and to meet people and make new friends and share my knowledge with fellow members.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

It is mainly up to you guys to decide whether you think i have the right skill sets & knowledge to be accepted with in The Empire.

But i think i have enough skills and knowledge to contribute in the name of The empire and share my knowledge and maintain the reputation of this HQ group, therefor i hope i get accepted and that i can proof that i'm worth being in The empire.

Also working on a 40 chapter python guide, i'm at chapter 20 so will definitely finish this soon.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

As i said i am 16 years old, live in Belgium, I'm finishing school in about 3 years before i can go to the university to learn more about Computers and coding languages.

I have been in allot of different schools simply because i couldn't find what i wanted to learn, that's when i decided after a couple of schools that i wanted to do something with computers so now i'm currently following classes where i learn how to handle customers , sell items and how to manage owning a store or company.

I'm also learning languages french , Deutsch , Arabic and hopefully English next year.

Something memorable that happened was last year where i had to face the hardest decision in my life along with my parents, my grandma was suffering from stomach cancer and she lives in an Arabic country and we had the decision to bring her to Belgium to get chemo and medical care and risk her dying on the way here or in the hospital.

Without my other family with her, or leave her in Tunesië to let her die in peace with my other family members, since the cancer already had spread we decided to let her die in peace in tunesie, i was devastated because i also didn't see her that year, this made me realize you have to enjoy EVERY moment with your family good times & the bad times.

Anything else you want to say:

I am really happy i made this application and that i hopefully will be given a chance to be a part of The empire, I'm also glad i could share a memorable happening in my life with all of you. if you have any advice for me about my application don't hesitate to pm me, i always appreciate help.

Being accepted or denied will not change my point of view about The Empire, in my eyes this group stays an amazing HQ friendly and helping group.

I would like to thank everyone who takes his time and reads this application.

NOTICE:

Before you decline this application due to my rep, I was the vic tim of a "REP ABUSER" that makes false reports every day. Also pissed some people off because I made them feel stupid after I had simple solutions.

Name:radme or (Marcus)

Age:15

Gender:Male

Religion:Do not have any religious views as I think it is all bullshit.

State/Country:NV,USA

Time Zone: Pacific

What are skills that I aquire:

Well first off I can think extremely well under pressure as well as when I am not under it.

I have a passion for music and I create my own as well.

Great penmanship.

In depth black hat knowledge. Mostly in the ratting genre.

Great people skills, making new friends. Also I am very persuasive.

Very good English.

Basic C++ coding skills.

Describing anything to anyone.

FAST learner.

Destroying my enemies.

Respecting others opinions.

BEAST risk player.

Hand Eye coordination.

What is my most active section: The rat section, because I'm quite fascinated by it, it makes me feel like I have the power, but I don't have to use it. I plan on learning various coding languages and selling programs. I may start making HQ tuts for black hat activity to resolve most common questions.

Why do I want to join "The Empire": I plan on buying leet, and becoming a uber. But before i do that I want to have a sense of purpose on this forum. Right now I'm just doing it because I want too! Also many Empire members that I have met are WELL informed, and just give off a great aura.

Also I am a VERY active member. I have had 5 friends die in the past 2 weeks, and I have gotten on HF at least once every day.

Gender: Male

Religion: I used to be a christian, but as i got older i realized how god/religion in general made no sense to me. i live in eastern kentucky so normally the people around here don't like atheists(i live in the bible belt), so i get shit daily for it, but i am atheist and as long as someone religious is nice to me i will be nice to them.

State/Country: United States Of America, Eastern Kentucky

Time Zone: Eastern Time

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Gaming:

i have been a hardcore gamer since i was 4-5, and i am very skilled at most multiplayer online games(i have won a couple gamebattles tournaments :P), and really all around love gaming, i don't see why people fight over which console is better, or how the wii u sucks(i have one and it is amazing) or how call of duty is better than halo and battlefield and vice versa, seriously who cares, its gaming, its supposed to be fun, have fun with it. But in the area of gaming i could bring HQ tutorials and prestige\boosting lobbies in the name of the empire(if they are fine with that kinda stuff :P)

Social Engineering:

Although it isn't allowed here, i am a VERY good social engineerer, i have social engineered a 52 inch tv, an iphone 5, an xbox 360, a kindle fire, a nook HD, plus countless other things, if the empire ever needs a good social engineer for any reason(it doesn't have to be fraud as most of it is) i can help, be it with ewhoring(i have made 1.5k$+ with ewhoring), or just getting someone to do something, i can do that easily.

Hacking:

Part 1. JDB(Java Drive By)

Even though i have just started about a week ago with JDB's, i am very knowledgeable with them and have about 500 slaves(due to my own private method of obtaining them), i am also running a silent bitcoin miner on all of them and pulling in a decent amount of money. Anything the empire needs to know about JDB's i can help with and i will make HQ tuts in the name of the empire about JDB's.

Part 2. Rats(Remote Administration Tools)

I am very skilled in this department also, i have about 500 more slaves using methods to spread in addition to the JDB method i have, As i do with the JDB's i have a silent bitcoin miner running on all of them and am pulling in a decent amount of money, anything the empire needs to know about Rats i can help with and i will make HQ tuts in the name of the empire about Rats.

Part 3. Botnets

I have a decent sized botnet, and am making money off of a silent bitcoin miner, and i am knowledgeable about botnets. I can help the empire with anything they need to know about botnets and i will make HQ tuts in the name of the empire about Botnets.

Part 4. Sql Injection

I am very skilled in SQL injection, i have hacked about 30 websites with sql injection(and sold them for a pretty hefty sum :P). I can bring HQ tutorials about SQL injection in the name of the empire :)

Money:

i am a very good buisnessman, i have made 15k plus from my own private methods, methods from here and other websites, and selling things, i haven't been that successful on hackforums, but i have been VERY successful on warriorforums and thetechgame(selling prestige lobbies on there, they'll be free on here! :P). I could help the community with making money with HQ tutorials :)

Debating:

I am a very good debater, i almost always win any debate i get into(be it in real life, on facebook or twitter,thetechgame, or even on here). i don't post much in the SRPP section, but when i do i usually win the debates i get into.

What section are you most active in and why?:

i am most active in three sections equally:

1. The longue. I like posting in the longue because its entertaining and laid back, unlike the rest of the site which is normally pretty serious.

2. Rules,Announcements,And Feedback/Suggestions and ideas. I like posting in Rules,Announcements,And Feedback/Suggestions and ideas because i like suggesting things that would hopefully make this site better, and because i have unanswered questions when it comes to HF alot and normally positive/adampelletgun/omni helps me.

3. Marketplace Discussion. I like posting in the Marketplace Discussion because as i said i am a buisnessman and normally ask questions i want to know about buisness, or ask if the members of HF would want me to create a certain product, or to alert them of something bad or a scammer.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I would want to join the empire because i would want to be among the most HQ members of the forum, some of the best buisnessmen of the forum. I've always wanted to be in a group and i think this is the best group on HF so i'd love to be in it :)

I am a 16 year old kid, and i have a hard life, i'm homeschooled and have been since 9th grade because of corrupt principles that wanted me out of the school and got me out with no proof of their claims on me(i'm in 11th :P) i have a drughead mother that literally stole just about everything i had, including: my xbox slim, my ipad 2, my ps vita, my turtle beaches, mw3,black ops, my grandmother's computer, my sister's kindle TWICE, my HD camcorder and 600$ camera, all in the hopes of getting money to buy xanax and percocet(if it wasn't for the money i've made from the internet i wouldn't have anything).

I never see my dad and i have to live with my grandmother, who i love more than anything in this world, my papa is an abusive asshole(sorry for my language) that has got into a fist fight with me after hitting my grandmother so hard she was knocked off her feet, and he was sent to jail for assault for a while, i have anxiety attacks and had to go the hospital after literally going insane for about 30 mins, i'm all fine now.

Something Memorable In My Life:

1.All the wild parties i've had where my cousins live.

2. All the vacations i've been on, i've been to florida,tennessee,canada,kings island,dollywood,cedar point, disney land(i was a little kid :P), universal studios, and sea world.

3. me getting homeschooled. i love it for the most part, no bedtime, barely any homework, just easy as hell compared to normal school.

Something That Makes Me Me:

'1. My personality. I'm mature when i need to be, but laid back and fun when i can be, i have an offensive sense of humor, but i keep it to myself.

2. all the events in my life: my mom stealing from me, me getting homeschooled, moving in with my grandma and countless other things.

Anything else you want to say:

I hope you all liked my application, and i would just like to say that empire is the most HQ group on HF. Whatever you're doing keep it up because it's working and working well :)

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I'm very knowledgeable in Social Networking, as I've been on Myspace since 07. I eventually moved onto Twitter, Facebook and Instagram. I also consider myself a bit of a gamer, I've been playing for as long as I can remember. I own an Xbox 360, with a couple Sports and FPS games (COD, NBA, NHL, NFL etc.) I have a few friends who are into Affiliate Marketing, so I have some knowledge about that as well, since it ties in with Social Networking.

What section are you most active in and why? I'm most active in the lounge, as most of the time people need help. I love helping new members as well as older members on anything that I can. I strive to be HQ, the reason I have so many Junk posts is that I post in the thread telling the member what they did wrong, so that maybe next time they won't make the same mistake. I also do a lot of currency exchanges via PM, you can check my rep to see the vouches.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I've only been in 1 group since I've been on this site and that was because they were accepting everybody who applied. I want to be part of something bigger, and help the group I'm in before helping others. I feel that if I can offer a variety of skills that can help the group.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel I should be accepted because I will be dedicated to helping in any way I can. I'll host giveaways in the name of the Empire. I'll be sure to have the userbar as my main one so others can see how great of a group it is. I will include a list of what I've gave to the community so far in a spoiler below.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: Well I've lived in a small town for basically all of my life, I grew up on video games and community sports. I finally moved out last May, and came home to visit to play Poker in October. The night after I came home to visit, two people from the Army National Guard knocked on my door to tell my family the news of how my brother was KIA. I think this is memorable since I was visiting when they found out. So I went back to where I moved to (out of state) got my stuff, and moved back home for my mom's support. I'm still recovering from it, but I know my brother would be proud of how strong I've been. I even got a tattoo of his favorite quote on my forearm in memory of him.

Anything else you want to say: Thanks for the chance to join something bigger, this is one of my favorite groups on HF, and it would be an honor to join. Be excellent to each other, and party on dudes! Long live the empire!

[Gaming]

I have been gaming since I know for myself. I played a lot of games and owned a lot of consoles. It started when I was 4 years old and I started playing Nintendo 64, great times. Later then I got myself a PS1 and brother and I played it all the time. Later then we bought a PC, that was epic for me. I've had internet which was like 64kb/s :D

Me and friend made this CS 1.6 LongJump script long time ago:

[Social Engineering]

I have been learning about SE when it was allowed on HF. I've SE'd Microsoft and EA Games, so I am not bad when it comes to SE. Still have a lot to learn.

[White Hat]

I've recently started to learn more about white hat.

[R.A.T.'s]

I've used many RATS in the past and I've also been in RATS Crew when it was on HF so I know how to handle these bad boys.

[Programming]

I am going to school that is about programming. Still learning basics. I am also learning C#, Visual Basic and other programming languages.

[GFX]

Recently I've started watching some tutorials for Photoshop and Corel DRAW, but I will learn more about this when I have some free time.

[Helping]

I am really good at helping people with any subject. I do my best to help people around HF.

What section are you most active in and why?

I am mostly active in the gaming sections on HF.

Why? I am a hardcore gamer and I love those sections!

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

First of all, hello. There is many reasons for me to join Empire. I want to meet new people and also make new friendships on this forum. There is much to learn from this group as I've heard that people in it are really helpfull and friendly. I am also like that and I think that it would be a perfect match. I also want to learn other people stuff that I know and share my knowledge.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

Because I am a friendly member. I like to talk a lot about various subjects. I like to help and learn new things. I have been HQ past these years and I have done really much for this community.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I want to talk about my experience on HackForums. I came to hackforums in early 2008. I was a noob which was looking for RuneScape cheats and tutorials on how to hack forums. So I joined and got a lot of information back in those days. I learned how to deface and many other things like RuneScape phishing, ratting and other useful stuff. So, I've decided to stay on HF because it had a lot of potential. Then I got active in the other sections of the forum which is the Gaming section. I really love that section since I came here. So, I continued to be active and in early 2009 I had some account issues. I couldn't log in and I pm'ed omni about this problems and asked him if I could make a new account. So this is that account. I've made a little break and started posting again. I've also tried to stay HQ to this date. I think I have acomplished that. I also want to thank to many members that I met here. Special ones are Skill, Mendacious, Aiir. Thats it for this :D

Anything else you want to say:

I would really like if you guys gave me shot to proove myself to the group. Trust me, if I get accepted, you won't get dissapointed.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):Monetizing

I know quite alot when it comes to monetizing, I'm certainly not a newcomer to this area. Today (not really today since I've got lots in school but general speaking) I work in the following fields:CPA (and sometimes PPD)

AdSense (PPC)

Affiliate Marketing

PTC

Selling my services

Blogging

PPV (Pay Per View)

Well, really anything that I feel I can do and that will bring some cash.

As I already stated, I've got lots in school now and then I need to fix things in real life so I don't put those skills to use so much. I have talked/helped several people with what I know and how they can start monetizing though and I always leave those members asking for advice with a good answer.

Marketing

I don't sell anything (my services) here on HF. I will probably in the future but now I don't want to handle clients simply because I feel I don't have the time. Although I know the basics in marketing such as competition research, market (product) research etc.

Webdevelopment

I know the basics of Webdevelopment including HTML & CSS, Javascript & jQuery (some) and the very basics of PHP. I constantly try to learn more of web development as I think it's a really usefull thing to know and I like working/designing with the web. I also got some basic knowledge in networking and things related to web development (cPanel, MyBB, WordPress). Well general things that fits in the category "Webdevelopment".

Android

I got my first Android back in 2010 I think (pretty late but anyways). When I saw the potential and what you could coming from an old Sony Ericsson I loved it. Today I know decent about Android and how it works. I am not a ROM developer nor am I an App developer but I can modify apps to my needs and the same with ROMs.

My mobile interest started way back in time and as far as I can remember I've always "fixed" my phones to be cooler, like modding them or what to call it.

To be noted here is that I also got some knowledge in RATs, Windows, computer security etc but not any particular skill and there are people waaay better then me that's why it's not included.

What section are you most active in and why?

My top 3 list in which I've got most post in is:

The Lounge - 641

Monetizing Techniques - 382

Marketers - 335

At the beginning of my HF time (and generally over time) I post in the Lounge whenever I see a funny/good topic there. I post in Monetizing Techniques to help newcomers with tips but also to expand my knowledge since there are many more great monetizers here. I've got invited to the Marketers a while ago and since then I am pretty much there all the time, talking to other members and helping. We have a very great subforum which encourage activity there.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I want to join the Empire by several reasons. Firstly, Empire seems like a great group with good members and when even the Admin changes userbar to Empire you guys must be good. I want to be tighter to the HF community and both learn and share my knowledge. I think I would fit pretty good in the Empire.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I am a high quality member which always strives for more knowledge. I usually help guys (and girls) in the Monetizing & marketing field but of course whenever I can. I usually don't stop searching for answers/fixes until I find something or the "client"/person tell me that I don't need too, even if it means I've to sit for a couple of hours and help them without getting paid in some form.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Hmm, where shall I start? I was born in Norrkoping in Sweden. When I was little my dad and mother separated. I have a twin brother and lives with my mom in a apartment. I got a mobile pretty early and computer access early to, at first it was playing games on the computer and ringtones on the mobile which was the hype. I remember clearly every friday after "children" school me and my friends stayed a while to send some cool ringtones to each other since the phone carrier had a campain with "Free MMS:es" every friday.

I've played some floorball when I was younger and enjoyed it. Sadly I quitted (can't really tell why) and wasn't it for the school and that I'm not very fit I would probably start again. I really enjoy it when we play it on the gymnastics class in school.

Today I am a freshman at high school. I go a technologic line which is college preparing. I am probably going to study for civil engineer, software engineer or something like that. At my freetime I like to listen to music, chill with my computer, do homework (of course since good good grades is a must) and also be out running and cycling. This summer I will probably buy a BMX since I love cycling and my current bike is far from good to do tricks with.

Anything else you want to say:

Thanks for the opportunity to join your group and I'm sorry for any typos or weird sentences. If there's anything you wonder about me or my application feel free to send me a PM or mail (you can use the email forwarder in my usertitle) to prevent going OT here.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I am experienced with monetizing, gaming, trades.

I'm good at making a good deal and I am experienced with monetizing.

When i am committed two something, I always get it done.

I am experienced in avoiding scammers.

I am also good to learn because I want to learn.

I am therefore also experienced with safe trading, and therefore also the possibility of handling trades for the empire.

I also started to learn a little GFX.

What section are you most active in and why?: I am also starting to be active in the marketplace sections and I will been active in lots of diffrent sections because I love helping people.

I love to give my knowledge to people and learn their knowledge, I also love to join discussions in a friendly and positive way.

I like to participate in a lot of the different sections here on HF.

I'm also a gamer, so I also love to participate in the gaming sections.

I am always friendly, helpful, HQ in all the sections I participate in.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I am an very active member, I do very much into being as HQ as possible. I always wanted to be a member of the Empire, because I can contribute much to the community. I am always working hard and i'am committed to work constantly to provide the best deals for this community. I am always serious about my projects, I will not give up easily.

I can contribute with alot of things, re-selling, pre-sales, monetizing. I am also currently working on a large project. I will not disappoint the Empire.

My projects are always HQ. I would never behave badly or in any way disrespect the Empire. I always take my time to write my post so they always will stay HQ and professional.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel that I should be acceptances of the empire, because of my professionalism and my HQ post. I will never betray our common community. I cannot handle low quality users on the community and will therefor always be HQ. By accepting me into the empire, you can can expect professionalism, HQ threads and post. I am also a very nice and helpful user of HF, and I am always ready to answer people's questions with professionalism and understanding.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: My life hasn't always been easy, I've been facing a lot of problems.

I have always been told that I wasn't good at anything, I didn't do too well in school or anything like that.

Recently I found out that my dad got cancer in his lungs, so I try spending all the time I can with him. The doctors told him that they couldn't do anything about it.

So I enjoy every second with him, I never know if it will be the last time I see him.

When everything seems so dark, that the life wasn't really worth living.

I found an amazing girl, who changed my sight of everything, she made me see the positive parts about life. Even though she broke up a few months ago, she still changed my life. And made it worth living again.

HF has also been a big part of my life, and I enjoy being a part of this amazing community. It really has changed my life.

I am not that good at telling those things about myself, but at least I tried. I hope it's enough for now.

Anything else you want to say: Good luck to everyone who is going to apply. And thanks for this opportunity.

-Have a nice day everyone. :3

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Lifestyle Skills

Sports; I enjoy using sports facilities and doing it, itself. In my school I try contribute in each and every sport, and at the moment I'm doing a coaching course for blind football, tied with legless netball. I will sometimes coach younger people that are in primary school, and teach them the essence of why it's good to keep fit, and what facilities can be used at their age (bearing in mind they're aged around 12). Literacy; I think I'd like to think I'm somewhere around "Sir's" experience when it comes to writing (no offence to him), I try to expand in my answers and tend to not 'waffle' them to make them look longer; for me quality is everything. I have also been to a university at the age of twelve, for the young and gifted. I was able to present a decent business presentation, and look more into Philosophy.

Online Skills Graphics; Well I'd like to think I'm one whom takes my time and enjoys the subject. Also while studying it in school for my GCSE's, it has a big impact online. I would like to convince myself that I was good at Graphics, but I'm just simply not. Writing; My grammar and spelling is exceptional for my age, which I can say as I'm able to write website content for people's site; which i've made into a hobby. I find it quite interesting to study the old English language, I sometimes sit and practice for an hour or so a day.

Webmastering

I would definitely think this was one of my stronger points, as i'm able to successfully manage multiple sites at a time. When I think of myself as a Webmaster, I'd like to think i'm an indispensable force when constructing in web server maintenance. I am tasked with the very important undertaking roles of keeping a website up and running and making sure that any complexities that arise along the way are handled in a professional way.

I am expected by my website users to keep the user interface clean, and keeping a lengthy and good content. I'm versatile and able to work in a team, and will engage in any activities that make me a better Webmaster, as i'm truly not the best. I will also deliver a task in a timely manner.

Coding; Well there's not much to say, even though I do try my best sometimes my abilities to complete something, slack. I can successfully manage project's in HTML, CSS, and Visual Basic. Hacking Related Tools; This isn't a major priority to me but I have an overwhelming understanding in most tools. Crypters and R.A.T's being my best. I have been included in 'Help Centers' and services, which goes from providing help to giving out a range of tools, tips and strategies. Advertising & Sales;

My outreach strategies towards the community is exceptional. I'd do forum event's, and participate in Social Networking. I welcome feedback, and route users needs to the appropriate section for support. I can offer you my dedication, and loyalty when it comes to The Empire, and they're products.

When it comes to managing any product, here are some additional skills:

I am able to..

- Ensure that a positive environment is maintained and kept.
- Communicate with users about potentially rewards and general discussion.
- Gather up a good team depending on the role given and needed.

What section are you most active in and why? The section's I post in are varied much. According to my Post Activity it would be "Beginner Hacking". I believe my I post a lot in that section as I tend to offer a lot of assistance, and answer question's.

My second would be "Free Services And Giveaways".

The reason for this is that I comment on a lot of thread's, suggesting what they could do next to improve their service (if any), and any constructive criticism needed even if it was minor grammar mistakes.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I believe the position of being in The Empire, would challenge me to contribute a lot more, and learn a lot at the same time. I would like to develop my skills to acquire in-depth experience in my profession to be able to then teach others, I also see this group not only as a positive environment, but also as a good opportunity to have my skills and qualifications make a difference.

In general, I believe this group and prepare me for the much bigger event's and teach me so much. Such general thing's as keeping activity, dedication and focusing is something The Empire possess.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I should be accepted because solely because I put time and dedication into what I do. I have a passion for the group, and I do look up to them as a they do more than teach, The Empire make's you think outside the box, and that's what I would like to accomplish by becoming an Empire member. I will aspire to develop and release new unique guide's, and put effort into help when requested. I would like to be apart of the group, and create something new and positive.

extent. I've always grew up and lived in England, London located in the United Kingdom. I grew up with challenges as everyone else would. From my primary school years two, going up to 6 I would always tend to start trouble be in the middle of it, whether I started it or not; I always knew what was going on in my school and I was always there. The first incident I can remember was when I was about six years old. I remember going to the toilet and a eleven year old boy walked in after me and started picking on me. So I eventually punched him in his tooth, but I didn't get in-trouble! My teacher's sat back and laughed due to me being six, and him being eleven. Harsh huh?...

Moving to the end of my primary school era, I struggled to get my levels up as I was always in-trouble before. Although I didn't concentrate in class, I was always a 'wiz kid'. Meaning I wouldn't do my work, but when it came to the test's I got the highest level in the class; when it came to my SATS (the real thing), I walked out with level 4's and 5's which are the highest you can get.

Now I will explain about how I got my name and how I got known. Well my talent for music is astonishing as people say, I like to promote the Grime & Rap scene in my area. I use to attend a lot of parties too, I weren't a good kid but I was me, which people liked. I spoke my mind, and I was real about it; even to my teacher's which got me excluded many times. I was also recognized by many showing my talent of sport's. I could always run fast which helped me in playing Rugby and Football for my year school team, which got me to Vice Captain in my team, and being able to coach the younger children how to be good sports leaders and show good leadership to the rest of my school. I could go on forever, but i'll stop there..

Anything else you want to say: Thank you for reading my application.

Long Live The Empire.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): The skills that I poses are E-whoring and setting up Remote Administration Tools, I am currently working on coding languages preferably C++, I want to try and develop better skills threw Hackforums. I am studying GFX as well, my first project I have made alone without tutorials is my signature.

What section are you most active in and why? I am most active in the Remote Administration Tool section, because I enjoy helping users that are in need of support when they are struggling setting up there RAT.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I feel that joining the Empire would develop me in to a better user and make me want to be more active around Hackforums.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel as if I should be accepted in to Empire because I have become a better user than I used to be in the past. Being in Empire will help me become a better user, I will be dedicated to the group and do what ever I can to help out.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: What makes me who I am is that I am different to other people around me, I try to be as nice as possible and try to help when ever I can, if someone is in need, I will try to solve there problem the best I can to ensure that they are happy, I don't try to pick or single out anyone, to me everyone is even no matter who they are or what they have done most of all I will always forgive people for mistakes they have made.

I don't really have any memorable things except the good times I have spent with friends.

Anything else you want to say:I hope I can be accepted as I have respected Empire since I first saw the group. Good luck to everyone else, hope you all succeed.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Graphics

While working with Photoshop, I became proficient in layers, masking, filters, textures and renders. In an effort to learn, I do a lot of quick, free GFX. It not only helps whoever needs it, but it helps me improve. Most of my experience before HF was in manipulating, but I have learned more about design and vectoring. Before I started GFX, I was an editor. I have experience with Adobe After Effects and Boujou. I constantly learn new things and have taught myself mostly everything I know. I have recently developed an interest in 3D work and have been teaching myself Cinema 4D. I began modeling and have been working on some small projects. Model of a Mac \(Click to View\)

I am currently build a massive C4D tutorial that will be posted in a few days. I am also in the process of learning Zbrush, another 3d modeling program. I am taking a photography class in school and love taking pictures and editing them in Photoshop.

Coding

Other than Graphics, I have some knowledge in Website Construction and HTML/PHP. I have built several forums and developed a few custom plugins. Most of my experience is with MyBB, I haven't had the opportunity to work with other softwares. I have experience with Java and Visual Basics. For my science fair project I coded a java program using my own routine I coded to control a greenhouse environment. Picture of the experiment. \(Click to View\)

GUI \(Click to View\)

It looks weird because the Interface unit isn't plugged in.

I learned a lot from that project, and even though I don't consider myself a coder, I know about if statements, loops, and try and catch statements.

Computing

I am in the process in learning computing and am studying to get my Comp TIA certificate. I have mild knowledge in computer parts and hope to get my first job at a computer repair store. I only have a laptop for now, but I hope to build a PC soon and have been trying to teach myself about how it works so I can be ready for when I get the money.

What section are you most active in and why?

Before I got my l33t (Around November) I only posted in the Runescape section. I love the game and have been playing it for a number of years. However this is no longer my most active section. I now post in the Graphics sections daily. I enjoy seeing other members work and helping out people with tips or constructive criticism. I routinely look both of the GFX markets, free and paid. If I need money I will do some paid work, but its mostly free. I post in the L33T OT section frequently because I enjoy talking to people in the Upgraded Members Lounge. I have met a lot of really friendly members there. I find the people in that section very friendly and willing to help out.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Empire members are everywhere. Most of them are very nice and knowledgeable. They are members to look up too. I would like to be apart of that. I feel like I could learn a lot from the members and hopefully teach them some of the things I know. I would love to be able to talk in the sub-forum. I think it would open many doors for me to advance on the HackForums and help other members.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

As I learn more about graphics, I like to teach people about my new knowledge. Like I said, I am building a huge C4D tutorial, and plan on doing many more, pinpointing specific techniques. I am a very friendly person and I love meeting new people. I am very active on HF, online as much as I can be, and I would be very dedicated to the group. I have a wide range of skills, but I have honed in on my Graphic skills the most. I have a lot to offer for this group. I will be constantly expanding my knowledge over time and feel that I would be a very good member to choose.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

I have made a simple GFX tutorial for my application. I show you 3 of my favorite C4D text styles. Hope you learn something!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I got my computer last year in June, at the end of the school year. I mainly just used it to record Xbox and YouTube. I always thought people with J-Tags were so cool, so that lead me to "hacking" I searched the internet for hours, trying to learn things. This lead me straight to the RATing section of HF. I had no idea what a forum was and got incredibly confused. I made an account after about 2 weeks, and started leeching. I went inactive for about a month, then I discovered the Runescape section. This became my home there for a while. Me and Lovat ran a luring clan that had over 100 applications . After seeing people like Vinnie post there, I realized that I needed to become HQ. I never really considered myself as a lazy member in terms of grammar and such, but I definitely pay more attention to it now.

I first got into Graphics about 9 months ago. I used to trickshot a lot and saw the GFX people made and I thought it was amazing. I downloaded the programs I needed and dove in, absorbing everything I could. I learned about Cinema 4D and used it to make text for YT BG's. I recently learned about all the other things you could do with the program and want to expand my knowledge. I lurked in the graphics section for a long time. Seeing the GM members destroy new members scared me and I always stayed away from that section. Now, I couldn't care less. Most of the time im making GFX for clients, so it doesn't really need to be evaluated by other members, but I still post in the RMG section frequently.

I have learned so much since I first joined HF and it has given me so many opportunities. I have met a lot of really cool people and am really enjoying my time here. If I wouldn't have found HF, I don't really know what I would be doing and I wouldn't know near the amount of things I do now.

Anything else you want to say:

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to apply to this awesome group! I hope you take me into consideration as a new member of the Empire. Good luck to everyone else and I hope everyone whose in spring break is enjoying it!

Time Zone: EST Time What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I wouldn't say im anything special! Im just a casual guy that loves to get on the forum and chat it up with fellow members! Whether its helping new people, or stating my opinions on threads, i always try to stay positive and HQ! Im going to be spending a lot of time here so i want people to like me :)

Something i do think i would be considered skilled at would be marketing. Im always thinking of ways to contribute to the site.

What section are you most active in and why?

I am most active in the Lounge. The reason i am most active in the lounge is because its so active! I feel as if i could post a thread at any given time of the day and i will get an answer, and then more and more people will reply with there opinions! I love reading others opinions and then stating my own!

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Reason why i want to join The Empire:

1. I want to feel as if im important or apart of something with people around me doing the things i love and they love.
2. I'm an active member and i wont be going anywhere soon!
3. I want to represent something special.
4. I want my ideas to influence others.
5. I want to inspire others to express there feelings and opinions.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

Reasons why i feel i should be accepted:

1. I'm not cocky and think i should be accepted to every group the decisions are completely up to the leaders and if im denied im not going to be going around saying F The Empire, i will respect there decisions.
2. I'm always helping new members out on all there questions! So when they see i am a member of

The Empire i feel that they will be influenced by it and one day want to be a member!

3. I feel as if all my post will represent The Empire in a positive way.

4. I will contribute in the group sections and then in the public sections in the name of the group, Including contest.

5. Before my time is done on this site, i want to and hope to be a well known member. For example Tibit. I want to be a well known member that is always positive and helps fellow members out.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I have played american football for my school since 5th grade. My cousin is 3 grades ahead of me. I have always looked up to him and his friends because they are always positive and don't look down on me because im younger. I am now a freshmen in high school and they are seniors. My cousin is a big guy and when other teams play us they usually go for him first. He had multiple scholarship offers from Mississippi St, Tennessee, Marshall, and Duke.

In one of the games this year against one of our big rivals that play very dirty, in the pile in the 2nd quarter just after my cousin scored our first touchdown in the game a player from the opposing team twisted his leg and broke his ankle in 3 places. Since then hes had 9 screws put in his leg and a plate. Another surgery because the wound wouldn't close up, then just last Monday another surgery to have all the metal taken out because his body wouldn't accept the metal being in it.

The reason i shared that story is because i am very close to my cousin. Family is everything to me. He is my mentor, i hope to be just like him when i grow up. That was just this year. He has had a shoulder surgery, ACL surgery, and then the 3 he had this year. He has been through a lot and sacrificed a lot to do the things he loves, that's what makes me respect him so greatly. I love him

Anything else you want to say:

Thank you for allowing me to enter my application in for The Empire. Thank you for taking the time to read over it. If im accepted or denied, Long Live The Empire ?

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):I've done Ewhoring, i got decent at SE through that, I've done RATting but i don't do it anymore because i don't want to do blackhat things anymore. I've done phishing before, not anymore because i don't do blackhat things anymore as i stated before, and i'm doing Goldfarming and PPD at the moment.

What section are you most active in and why?:[/color] I'd say the Marketplace and The Lounge. I'm mostly in the marketplace because i like to earn money online (who doesn't), i mainly sell/buy virtual goods (RSGP, WoW gold, etc.).

I'm also active in the lobby because it's a quite mature (not always) casual subforum.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:Because it's a nice, HQ group which does alot of cool stuff, it also has a very sexy usertitlebar thing :D

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:Even though i've only been on HF for about a month, i've been very active and i've been HQ, i don't have any neg/neutral rep as of date 24/03/2013 and i've done alot of trades in this time period.

Introduction

Hello leaders, members, future members, and citizens. I am Hayley Williams. First of all, I want to wish everyone luck for getting into The Empire. In my opinion, I feel that The Empire is the perfect group for me. I always see Empire members around and i've looked up to some members. Honestly, this is a great group. Now, let's get into my application, shall we?

The color purple represents the questions you guys asked me to answer.

The color blue represents sub-sections of the questions.

Name:

My name is Kyle.

Some may call me Hayley or Sketch. However I'm not a girl, but I look up to my future wife: Hayley Williams.

Age:

I am 19. However, I turn 20 on July.

Gender:

I'm a male/boy/guy/man, not a girl. Sorry to disappoint, ?.

Religion:

I'm catholic.

State/Country:

The country I live in is The United States. State I live in is California.

Time Zone:

The time zone California has is the pacific time zone.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Video Editing: I'm an experienced video editor. I've been editing since Rock Band 1 (September, 2009). I edit things from video games, minecraft, real life clips, 3D videos, and more. If you want, I could design a 3D intro just for you guys.

The programs I currently use are:

- Cinema 4D
- After Effects CS6
- Photoshop
- Bonjou
- Sony Vegas (Only for final render)

I'll be more than happy to edit anything for you guys, even if I'm not in Empire. Here is an edit I've never uploaded yet.

Spoiler (Click to View)[Video: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=h5e4mh8kdX8>]

More edits can be found on the same channel.

Minecraft: I'm an experienced minecraft player, server admin, server owner, plugin coder, and more. I could help you guys out with the server. If you have any problems, you can feel free to ask me for help!

I currently own a server right now (we're lacking players). The server name is proxy craft. Feel free to check it out, just click on the heart <3 on my sig.

Monetizing: I've made quite of a large amount of money on hack forums. I even use a portion of the profit from hack forums to host my minecraft server.

I'm experienced with the following:

- PPD
- CPA
- Affiliate Marketing
- Investing
- Bitcoin Mining (although I don't do it anymore)
- High Expense Traffic Exchange
- PPV
- Autopilot Methods

I've bought some methods on hack forums and they don't really work out for me. After doing some research I've made several methods on my own and gave it to other members. I've made over 10k a year by the internet itself.

Ratting [Remote Administration Tool]: I'm an excellent person with ratting. I've helped some people over skype use their rat. I'm experienced with spreading rats too using java drive bys, youtube methods, torrent methods, silent methods and more.

If you need help with your rat, I'm your guy. :)

Music Creation: I love music. I've made several songs and even have a mini home studio in my room (i'll post pictures once I move houses on friday). I could create some beats, play drums, play guitar, violin, and more.

Even though this might not help out with the empire, who doesn't love music?

Typing: In my opinion, I feel like I'm one of the best typers on hack forums. I've participated on some contest on hack forums and always won most of them. My average WPM is around 125+. If you talk to me on skype, expect a fast reply back!

Here are some speed test on 10fastfingers

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

I have plenty of more skills, but didn't want to extend the length of this application.

What section are you most active in and why?

The 2 sections I'm most active in are The Lounge and Minecraft.

The reason why the lounge is my most active section is because I like pretending I'm a mini mod; I love to correct people. Also, I help people with their problems.

The reason why minecraft is another active section is because I'm an enthusiast with minecraft. I love to help other people with their server problems, help people start servers, play and support other peoples servers and take care of my own server. I'm very experienced on most aspects on minecraft.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

There are many reasons on why I want to join The Empire. The Empire, in my opinion, is one of the most active groups on hack forums. You guys are extremely helpful, I'm extremely helpful, so therefore I'm perfect for The Empire.

I for-fill the requirements of the group. Even though I wasn't active before, I'm very active now. I'm on most of the time. The Empire is one of the best groups on hack forums.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

The reason why I feel I should be accepted into The Empire is because unlike others, I'm mature. I'm also well educated.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well first of all, I'm a college attendee/student. My dream job is to be an airline pilot. I'm currently a private pilot right now and am interning as an airplane cleaner at my local flying club. I fly planes now and then and have over 500+ hours on a cessna 152. On my spare time (I have lots of spare time), I just love to go on hack forums and do what I simply think is best. I currently live in a dorm but am going to move to a house when a roommate and girlfriend.

I used to be in a band. We used to obsess over paramore songs and covered most of them. We played for local festivals. If you want me to find a video, just PM me. The instrument I play the most is the drums. Not trying to get too personal here but if you have any questions, just hit me up through a PM.

What makes me simply who I am now is just being my self and, well...helping.

Anything else you want to say:

Like I said earlier, good luck to other people trying to get into The Empire. It is a great group and my future group.

Oh, and even if I don't get accepted, i'll always be helping other members in hack forums. ?

Thanks a lot guys!

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I have some Graphics skills, I can do some web design (not a lot, though), I know some simple coding (batch and VB.net), and I am a great marketer.

What section are you most active in and why? I'm active in the marketplace, gaming, and graphics.

I try my best to get what's needed to be said, said. I understand that sounds weird but I generally only post if it's needed.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join the empire because it will give me the opportunity to become more HQ and get to meet some more members that may share the same skills as I do, or learn some new ones.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel I should be accepted into The Empire because with some of the skills I have combined with the other members would fit quite well, with us teaching and helping each other. And at the moment I am working quite hard to become an active, high quality member of HackForums.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: What really makes me who I am today is my recent years as a teen, from 7th grade up to 10th grade (present day). As back in 7th grade was when I first really found out about computers. I took a computer class and was taught how to code in batch, and using a program called "Simple." Ever since then, I have been interested in being a computer programmer and an educationalist about anything relating to the topic of computers, be it hardware, software, or the general understanding of how to work it.

Ever since the 9th grade (last year), I have gotten into Graphics. I took a 3D Animation class as a freshman for the first semester, to correlate with my decision of how to go up in life. So I learned how to make figures and objects in a program called "Rhinoceros 4.0" and from there on I learned how to animate them with a class I took this year. But, I also have taught myself in pretty good detail how to use "Photoshop CS6 Extended" and "Cinema 4D R13." I would provide some active graphics for this application, but as I am out of town at the moment I have none of the applications needed to do it.

And now, I have gotten more into buying and selling of goods or services on the internet. I have made an income greater than $5,000 in a three month time period, which is great for a 15 year old still in High School. But, I am still learning how to get better and I am getting into more advanced ways of earning revenue off the things I do. As YouTube, and sending links to people (PPC). I hope to teach and learn more about anything of the subject to the fellow members of The Empire if I get accepted.

Anything else you want to say: Another thing I'd like to say is that if I get accepted, I'd try even harder to remain HQ and active on this forum, as I am also a very active and HQ member of two other widely known forums, known by many members of this forum as well, though I try to keep them separate.

Also here is some proof I'd like to provide for the statements I have said above: Spoiler (Click to View)Portfolio: <http://oral.minus.com/>

PayPal Balance: <https://i.imgur.com/USiGcnN.png>

Can't provide coding proof at the moment, as I am not at my house.

Also this application may seem familiar because I applied on a different forum and have been accepted there.

Another thing, is that the scam report by Pantherz44 is resolved, it has been proven in thread and you can PM for more confirmation. He is a normal member, so he cannot close it.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Gaming - I am a gamer that has been playing video games since I was three years old. I play all sorts of games including; Pokemon, Chess, Minecraft, Halo.. ect. I am a hardcore gamer, I play almost 24/7. I think the group could use my expertise in any sort of game system/game they need. I own a; N64, Gamecube, Gameboy, DSI, DS, Computer, and PS2. I like to play in groups with Skype as well. I like to play the game "Minecraft" thats why I registered here on HackForums. I have lots of skill in that game, whether it's server management or PvP, I'm good at the game. Minecraft is my favorite video game while my computer and PS2 are my favorite game consoles. Me and my brother play Xbox 360 ocsionally and we both play PC games together all the time. I have great skills in gaming and I'm willing to share my expertise. I play online games most of the time, and I do it for fun. The games I play are usually the ones I'm good at playing. I'm willing to help other people at certain levels, or aspects in the specific. Video game they need knowledge on.

Graphics - I am pretty good at making simple things like signatures and avatars. I created engraved, simple, Minecraft, and other themed signatures for some people. I first started when I asked, "can someone make me a signature?"

someone made me a very fancy signature, I asked, how did you make it? the person said "I made it with photoshop" at that time I did not know what Photoshop was. I googled, then I found the download for it. I was a complete noob how to use it. I ended up wasting my 30 day trial. I asked a GFX artist if he knew where you could get Photoshop cracked. He gave me a file that makes Photoshop lifetime. I looked up some tutorials here, on HackForums and I found quite a lot. I registered on some GFX forums as well. I made my first ever signature (#1) I like to make simple and easy to read signatures with renders on them. I've decided to start a graphic service as well. I've been doing graphics for 1 1/2 years, and I'm quite good. Here's some examples of my work:

Business - I own a stresser and I own a product shop. I made these and I am making lots of sales. Click here and Click here I am growing up to be a business man soon, and I already have some online experiences. I am making money off these products I'm selling, so I think I am successful. I have made products including: Skype resolvers, URL to IP, SMS Bombers, Email bombers, UDP booters, shell booters, flooders, ALT checkers, and many other programs. I know how to code VB.NET and other languages to make programs and sell.

What section are you most active in and why?

Minecraft - I am most active in the Minecraft section because I play the game and I like to talk with fellow people who play the game. It's quite fun sharing what everyone in that section does/thinks. I love to make new friends that are interested in the video games that I play. I sometimes play with people in that section, over Skype, or servers. I have owned 3+ Minecraft servers, been Head-Admin on large servers that have 400+ players primetime. I help out other people in the Minecraft, griefing, and Server Management section, because I have good enlightenment in those parts. Lots of people in those sections also, would like my expertise, so I'm there for them. I love every aspect of the game. PvP, Building, Server Management, Helping, coding.. Whatever, I like to talk with the people who enjoy those aspects as well.

HF L33T OT Discussions - I love to talk to people in that section, they're fellow group members of L33T. The Upgraded members lounge is one of my favorite threads. It's kind of like my online diary. I can talk to people who I like to talk to, and I like to share what I'm doing in real life. I personally think L33T members are very nice and fun to talk to as well. I paid for L33T so I thought why not? Let's talk to some nice members who also paid $18.99 for it. I feel like most people that are upgraded are defiantly good sources to get information from. Most members are very helpful, so that's where I go to ask questions, and depress my feelings with one another.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I want to join because I honestly think The Empire is a great group. The members are super nice, and contributive I think I could give The Empire a good reputation and make it the best group out there. I want to join because I think the sub-forum is very active and it'll be so cool to talk with other people who love the group as well. I meet all requirements and I'm pretty nice. The Empire is a group full of kindness, activeness and contributive members. I always see The Empire members making high quality threads, and posts, I think it would be awesome if I could be in the group and make those HQ posts and threads. I look up to The Empire all the time. They're always helping, they're always there, they're always kind. I think I meet that description and I would be a great addition to the group. I believe I am High Quality, I don't make bad posts, I always back up my opinions, and I make clear statements with good grammar and spelling. I admire the members and wish I could be apart of them. This is like a family, were we are close to one another.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel that I should be accepted because;

I meet all the requirements.

I'm very nice to other people.

I can host many threads in name of The Empire.

I'm contributive.

I'm active.

And I will obey all of your commands.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Hello, first of all, I'm Joaquin AKA Mr. Donuts. I browse HackForums daily looking to talk to other people. When I was 6 years old, my parents got divorced, it was hard to deal with, but I dealt with it. I am in High School I have Strait A's in all my classes. My favorite sport is Baseball, I love to draw and I have lots of talents. I own a business here on HackForums and I've been making my money off that. I am an experienced gamer that has been playing since the age of 3. I own many old school systems and I own a computer. My favorite game has to be Minecraft because of how creativity you can get. I love to share with others and express my opinions in different sections. I have had 3+ pets including; fish, hamsters, cats, and a dog. My current pet is a hamster, he is a Chinese Dwarf, he's black and grey, his name is Hamy.

I have an online life, is what I like to call. I joined HackForums a year ago, hoping to meet some friends, I've made lots, and I talk to those people on Skype a lot, I started contributing to HF by doing lots of giveaways, helping out members, posting, and being kind to others. I want other people to feel like HF is their home. I am constantly on HackForums that makes me very active. I spend most of my day, here on HackForums talking to people I have not even met in real life. I am hoping everyone will enjoy there stay here at HF! I do quite a lot of giveaways, here at HackForums. I have done money giveaways, twitter, booters, and accounts. I enjoy every hour of being n HackForums because of how this site is used to. Express your opinion snd not get scared. In real life, people harass you and you're shy to express your feelings with other real life people. That is why I go on HF.

Anything else you want to say:

Thank you for reading and I wish best of luck to other applicants. Long live The Empire.

Here is my website for the application, as well. <http://cookiepvp.com/empire.html>

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I have some Graphics skills, I can do some web design (not a lot, though), I know some simple coding (batch and VB.net), and I am a great marketer.

What section are you most active in and why? I'm active in the marketplace, gaming, and graphics. I try my best to get what's needed to be said, said. I understand that sounds weird but I generally only post if it's needed.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join the empire because it will give me the opportunity to become more HQ and get to meet some more members that may share the same skills as I do, or learn some new ones.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel I should be accepted into The Empire because with some of the skills I have combined with the other members would fit quite well, with us teaching and helping each other. And at the moment I am working quite hard to become an active, high quality member of HackForums.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: What really makes me who I am today is my recent years as a teen, from 7th grade up to 10th grade (present day). As back in 7th grade was when I first really found out about computers. I took a computer class and was taught how to code in batch, and using a program called "Simple." Ever since then, I have been interested in being a computer programmer and an educationalist about anything relating to the topic of computers, be it hardware, software, or the general understanding of how to work it.

Ever since the 9th grade (last year), I have gotten into Graphics. I took a 3D Animation class as a freshman for the first semester, to correlate with my decision of how to go up in life. So I learned how to make figures and objects in a program called "Rhinceros 4.0" and from there on I learned how to animate them with a class I took this year. But, I also have taught myself in pretty good detail how to use "Photoshop CS6 Extended" and "Cinema 4D R13." I would provide some active graphics for this application, but as I am out of town at the moment I have none of the applications needed to do it.

And now, I have gotten more into buying and selling of goods or services on the internet. I have made an income greater than $5,000 in a three month time period, which is great for a 15 year old still in High School. But, I am still learning how to get better and I am getting into more advanced ways of earning revenue off the things I do. As YouTube, and sending links to people (PPC). I hope to teach and learn more about anything of the subject to the fellow members of The Empire if I get accepted.

Anything else you want to say: Another thing I'd like to say is that if I get accepted, I'd try even harder to remain HQ and active on this forum, as I am also a very active and HQ member of two other widely known forums, known by many members of this forum as well, though I try to keep them separate.

Also here is some proof I'd like to provide for the statements I have said above: Spoiler \(Click to View\)Portfolio: <http://oral.minus.com/>

PayPal Balance: <https://i.imgur.com/USiGcnN.png>

Can't provide coding proof at the moment, as I am not at my house.

Also this application may seem familiar because I applied on a different forum and have been accepted there.

Another thing, is that the scam report by Pantherz44 is resolved, it has been proven in thread and you can PM for more confirmation. He is a normal member, so he cannot close it.

Yes, our scam report has been resolved. Thank you Hitmarker

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

My skills level are video editing and I'm also good mod on MC. I have done some gfx but nothing advance or breath taken. I'm a great video editor and I'm an awesome gamer. I'm trying to learn how to code PHP and then later on I would like to advance my knowledge in other coding languages. I have some computer knowledge under my belt.

I'm currently getting back into gfx, just because I want to. I have made some gfx but nothing too advance like:

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm very active in the gaming section and the Personal Life sub-section. I try to reach out to different type of section and see what I can help with or gain some knowledge, like the coding section.

[img]http://www.imgdumper.nl/uploads6/51338a352c71d/51338a352bb81-seper.png[/img]

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I've always wanted to join The Empire, some of the members are awesome and I love Tibit even if he call me a noob and he never want to fight me in real life. Empire is an active group and I highly believe I can learn a lot of the group.

I want to join Empire not only because it look sexy and cool, but Tibit is a cool person and mature and some other Empire members. I think that I can learn a lot from Empire and I can grow and maybe be more mature. Being a member of group would not only make me be greatly happy because empire is a cool group and great group in my eyes. I want to see what empire can give to me and make me a better person and a proper forum member. One more thing, I want to join empire is to make more and awesome friends. I think and honestly the group members have a good relationship with each other.

[img]http://www.imgdumper.nl/uploads6/51338a352c71d/51338a352bb81-seper.png[/img]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I think I should be accept because I'm a HQ members when the topic is about something that I highly have knowledge about. I'm a dedicated member and a loyal member of any group and I would proudly wear the Empire userbar. My strong suit is given advice and helping out my friends when I can. I might not be able to do giveaways and things like that but I still give back to the community by helping the people in the Innuendo sub-forum.

[img]http://www.imgdumper.nl/uploads6/51338a352c71d/51338a352bb81-seper.png[/img]

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm a pretty cool person to chill with. I love having fun and a good time. I know the fact that internet and real life are two different things and to me my real life is more important to me. My friends(internet) call me a potato because I'll say the the dumbest and random thingssometimes but that when I'm in play mode but when I'm in serious mode it a different story.

I always have my friends back no matter what and if you have my back, I have yours. One important thing about me is that I think differently and what I mean by that is I would sometimes sit and think about questions like what is life or what the true meaning of love something like the subject theory and knowledge.

I want to learn more about computer and hacking. I've try to expand my knowledge on things that not only seem of an interest to him but can be useful in a way. I'm a heavy FPS player and I'm really good at gaming. I hold good kdr in all my games. I also play other games like minecraft. I'm currently trying to get into other type games like Dota 2 or LoL to see why they're so popular. I'm the person to follow the crew and see what the nicest and hottest things going on. One important thing about me is that it's true I would follow the crew but I love having power and leadership.

I'm a reasonable person. I don't always jump to conclusion and I hate that. Sometimes all I want to do is play video games because it's something that entertain me and keep me happy or don't upset (If I'm not doing bad). You should know I try to be the best at the things I do. When I first started editing videos I would look at other people videos and see how awesome and great they are and I aim to be like them one day. If I would look back on my previous works I would honestly say I have grown in my skill level of editing. At first I would use Windows Movie Maker then move on to Adobe Premiere then I went to Adobe After Effects and Sony Vegas. I open to learn from other people because to be the best you have to learn from people that are better than you.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I'm really good in marketing. I mainly help all my partners and friends by advertising their products, wearing their signature, and even help all members on HF by giving away free stuff!

What section are you most active in and why? I think I will start being active in the Market Place because my partner and I are selling Linux Bots to supply all HF members with the DDOS power they need to take their target offline. I strive to get the best products. I am active in the Market Place Discussions, Premium Sellers, and also the Server Stress Testing. Another reason I like to be active in these areas is because of the drama. It amazes me how some people think of business. Before, I saw some people make fake scam reports on HQ people who deal with over $2k daily. That's what amazes me. I will always be there to support my HQ friends. I'll never let you guys down.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join The Empire because I can then help some people that I like in the group with their products, advertise their products, help them with the knowledge I know, and last but not least, learn as much as I can throughout the group section. Since I said before, I can donate up to $40 right now for a sticky for some of The Empire's HQ products which deserve to always be at the top. Whenever I have a little extra, I plan on donating it toward my group. I am also helping many members out in the Beginner Hacking section. Every post I'll be putting The Empire's logo on it to recognize the group. I plan on making it very HQ.

Below are my top 10 reasons why I want to join The Empire (In any order):

- 1.The HQ members will always be there to help me. (I'll be there to help them also)
2. Spread my knowledge & learn more. (I want to learn a lot from all the HQ members in the group. Especially in the topics I don't know much about. This will help me know more about various fields in the hacking related area.)

3. Learn Marketing Skills (Since The Empire is one of the best marketing groups IMO, I feel I want to help market some of The Empire's products and learn how to handle with people who sales trash, revenge post/rep, and how to stay chill. S/O to Tibit! I've seen him handle big matters and stay calm!

4. Able to be with the HQ members!

5. Giveaways (In the group section, I'll be giving free DDOS, free AMP lists, a free domain, and FREE RSGP!!!!)

6. Ability to wear the userbar (Wearing the userbar is one of the biggest abilities given. Anyone who is accepted MUST be proud of this. If I were able to wear it, I would support it 100%. When I was on my school basketball team, team spirit was a big thing. You MUST have it! Feel great about it also!!)

7. Ability to post and be a Official Empire Member. (On all my sales threads, I'll be putting the logo on top ALWAYS)

8. Joking around (I understand that you must be mature even if you are 12 years old, by this I mean by making jokes with The Empire's members. Having a fun, casual time in the group section)

9. Following the group's rules. (I'd love to follow the rules and be dedicated to it. I plan on making my stay in The Empire very HQ!)

10. Last but not least, seeing Tibit and Judge Dredd newbs <3.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel I should be accepted into The Empire because it will help me with my sales and knowledge. I can also help other members with my knowledge. If and when I do get accepted, I'll be giving stuff away only to The Empire. As I said before,

I will be making many tutorials only named for The Empire. (My only group that I want to be in.) This will help advertise many products by people viewing my signature. I will be offering to wear a signature for free for The Empire's products. I'll also give free DDOS in The Empire's group section. This will let some members who really need a target down to get it down for them. I just want to help out a lot of people. I've seen how The Empire's members are, and I really like them. They are all very nice and helpful. One thing I hate is when I see others make false scam reports. I've seen this happen on so many HQ Empire's members. It's just getting so annoying to see that happen. I'm here to support my fellow group members and to prevent them from getting into trouble. I love to help out when stuff and scenarios like this happen.

BE SURE TO CHECK MY GIVEAWAYS/TUTORIALS ALL DEDICATED TO THE EMPIRE!! S/O TIBIT JUDGE DREDD

Below are my giveaways/help support for all HF members with sponsoring my favorite group, The Empire. (Currently. Plan on doing way more)

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Many things have happened. I do get good grades and when I was in the 8th grade, I got a 28 composite score on the ACT. Right now I'm in the 10th grade. I've been doing well on my ACT practice tests, I'll be making a thread once I get my highest =P. I'm very curious about many things also. I believe everybody should do other stuff rather than sitting at their computer also. I've been playing guitar for about 4 years. I play an Electric guitar and an Acoustic-Electric. I'll be playing songs by request soon in The Empire's group section. I'm really pumped for this also. In Middle School, I've played for my varsity basketball team for 2 years (7th and 8th). My position was small forward. In 6th grade, I played JV basketball. (Junior Varsity). Also, I never stopped. In the summer, I played AAU basketball. I've been playing small forward for awhile now. I love to help people out and sell products. I just love marketing. It's a decent way to spend time. I love to code many languages also. It helps me use my spare time up. Always learning on this forum. I know very basic PHP. Not that much, but enough to run a booter =P.

Anything else you want to say: Last but not least, I plan on making my stay here at HF and The Empire very HQ. I want to only be in The Empire so I can dedicate my self toward the group and it will let me have more time to make more HQ tutorials for our friendly HF community. I'm making many tutorials on HF also. Every post I make from now on will have The Empire's picture to recognize the groups HQ members. I plan on doing this throughout the whole section. Above I've listed threads/posts I've done. Wish me luck guys! GL to you guys also!

EDIT- TIBIT SAW MY DDOS ATTACK ON A FAIL DDOS PROTECTED FORUM MUAHAHA

TIBIT YOU NOOB <3

I have 0 scam reports. I've been -rep and neutraled a little by people who wanted revenge. That's all. Wish me luck guys! GL for you too!

Okay, below is my second application. I made this while I was at school learning something that I already knew.. I wrote on a sheet of paper. This application below should NOT be taken seriously.. It's just a joke noobs.

I hope nobody did what I'm doing below =P.

P.S- I have a booter source that I'll give free to The Empire's members. HMU, special members =D

<---- The Cutzie Application Begins ---->

Okie guis! I want to join Teh Empire because I can talk to Twibit the noob <3. I just can't wait to see all the smexy members in the group! Twibit is my new, cute noob with a smexy name. Judge Dredd is a noob <3(plz no ban). Joining Teh Empire will make my E PENIS 10X LONGER GUYS! I always wondered how to achieve a 7in. I then saw this group and the sales thread of Penis Enlargement tablets in the Premium Marketplace! I bought those and it boosted 2 inches! Hopefully I can reach my goal of 7 inches!!!

<-- End ---->

That should not be taken seriously^^. I was bored at school and I decided to waste time to make it.?

I wish all of you luck applying guys! Hopefully I make it! GL to all!

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I would say the skills I hold vary by quite a large amount, I am a great leader after leading my own minecraft server and my own forums. I also enjoy music and I can play the piano. I consider myself to have good people skills and good grammar! I am mature and I show dedication. Although I am 13 I don't think my age should matter too much since I should be judged on my personality and character.

I speak Spanish and German and I will be taking both for my GCSE's I hope to be taking German for my A-Levels as well.

What section are you most active in and why? :

I am most active in the lounge and its subforums, I love people and I love socializing! With the lounge they have a wide wide range of topics to join in or have a debate over something. It is also a great way to find out things and learn new stuff you might not of known.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I would like to join the group because I constantly hear nothing but high quality comments and good remarks. It would be a huge chance for me to show who I am and get my voice heard alot more on Hackforums! I'm now addicted to posting on Hackforums and I love helping other people out. I can have empathy with over members and I will regularly be giving advice to other people, because of that I would love to join Empire to show that I can be trusted. Also because it sounds like a fun group where I can make alot of friends!

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I think I should be accepted into the group because I am a dedicated young person who does not cause arguments ;) I like to be peaceful and I am looking to make more friends on Hackforums! It would also be a great chance for me to get into the Ub3r usergroup and be known even though being a leet does not make you any different!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am who I am because I am not afraid to be who I am. I live by the quotes in my signature. I play to win in life. I love making friends but however I can be a little shy when it comes to big new things like my new school. It took me a week or so to get friends but now I am friends with alot of people in my year! People generally think of me as an open minded, well rounded person!

I think of myself as a keen person and I take a heavy interest into politics and the current affairs in the world. Apart from that I also have a high interest in gaming and computers and I will be taking ICT as a GCSE.

I find law a interesting subject and quite often I would read books about law or find out things I did not already know! I love finding out new interesting facts and I would quite regularly google stuff or google a topic to learn about it.

Anything else you want to say:

I would like to say good luck to all the other people applying and I hope I get accepted :)
Thanks for reading!

i have some coding skills, www.blerthotel.co.uk coded some of that,

I have RAT kills,

I have android rooting/hacking skills

Iphone jailbreaking/repairing skills

Basic GFX skills

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm not sure on this, I think the lounge, I always post there because the threads there are discussions so you can talk a lot more and get more information.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Because it's a HQ group and i feel like i'd fit in nicely with all the HQ members there, The group does a lot of different things around the forum and i wish to join in and give back to the community in The Empires name.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

Because i'm a HQ member of the community, I have good grammar and spelling, I'm very active around the forum and online almost all the time.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well i'm 23 years old, I live in Birmingham in UK, I always spend time with people aswell as being around the forum, I'm not very talkative with people ever sine my mum passed away it's made me very quiet with people i don't know, I find hackforums is the best place for me to talk to people where i'm not shy and quiet.

Anything else you want to say:

Goodluck everyone and thankyou for letting me apply, I might now get accepted as there's alot more better applications, but i'm not good at that kind of thing not a great skill.

Sorry my application is not outstanding i'm not good with applications never make them.

Skills

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): GFX • I'm a GFX artist since a year, I love it to create new things and to help people with problems, I had a free GFX service for the people who don't want to pay for their graphics and I did give them that possibility (topic); what I can make are thread designs, YouTube backgrounds, signatures or logo's and ofcourse helping people, I hope I can make graphics for the group!

Hacking • I'm a advanced hacker, I'm good at RATing, seting up and making tutorials about it, I did this 3 years and love it to help people and get what I want to get that's a little reason why I started wih hacking, but the real reason is because a real friend at school say's to me of I know something about ITC, hacking or something about computing and I said yes but not that I can hack and he learned everything and he was be one of my best friends (he was active at HF) if he see this, Hello ?.

My HF experience

What section are you most active in and why?: In the sections where I can train my skills and help people and I think you know which hihi ?

The Graphic Section: [img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/ratemygraphic.png[/img] because I can help and learn more from other people, giving feedback and rating their graphics and their work!

The hacking section: [img]<http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/website-hacking.png>[/img] same as before actually ?

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I want to join the Empire because I want to learn everything what I should can, to learn and to do everything what me is asked, because I love the group so much. I want to be just a part of the group because the group is very loyal, HQ and they are the best of HF. I was dreaming to join the group and now there are recruitment, I was shoked! I must try to join the group, this is a second chance for me to join the lovely group!

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel me HQ opposite the other HF members because I have done some giveaways, free services and helped a lot people with all the love in my heart ?

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm a funny, nice guy who is helpful to everybody who I likes.

I was often teased by children because I was a weak boy opposite the other children, that's why I'm so soft but nice. Those times were hard times, but I always had the friends who supported me during difficult or stressful times for me in my youth. I do not like to talk about my past because now everything pretty well and I want to keep it that way and I hope that course.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I have experience in Web Development. I've made countless websites for clients as a freelancer. I am planning on creating a website to showcase my photography work. I'm a decent photographer. I'm currently studying photography in school. I plan on working professionally in photography when I'm older. I'm currently using an Olympus Pen E-PL2 for school photography assignments. Every week I usually go downtown and take some photos based on my assignment. I work really well with people portraits and Candid shots. I'm also a very avid Gamer. I play on the Playstation 3 & PC. I have done some competitive tournaments. I can provide help for any gaming related, when needed. I'm establishing my skills as a programmer as well. I first attempted learn how to code a few years ago. I've read countless ebooks on php, lua, python. I've recently used www.codecademy.com to teach me HTML, CSS, PHP, Ajax and Javascript.

What section are you most active in and why? I am most active in the HF L33T section, various game sections and Member Contests. I'm active in these section because, for L33T section, is for when people ask for help or need some Youtube video liked, I help them. For gaming, I talk about games & helping people find the game that fits their needs. For member contests, I often do giveaways & contests ranging from Netflix accounts to Steam gifts for the community here at Hackforums.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join the Empire because I can consider myself to be a role model for Hack Forums. I want to join because I could contribute within the community in the name of Empire. I love how everyone in the group is considered family. I want to join this amazing group because of what I could bring to the community. Giveaways, Fun events and others things!

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I think I should be accepted into The Empire because I have so much to offer & I'm a very chilled & laid back person. I could contribute by doing group made giveaways and contests. I'd be very active and helpful in the Sub Forum. I feel like I would be a perfect addition to this group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: Something memorable that happened to my life was when my father got a job as a Feature photographer that works for a book & magazine publisher in Nassau, Bahamas. This was a huge thing to take in because I wouldn't be able to see my father on the daily like I have been for most of my life. So, now he resides in the Bahamas. This happened on August, 2011. My father used to be self employed; He did stock photography for quite some time (All my life). After we got the news that he's going to have to move to the Bahamas he then said that we're going to have to work on selling our home. Selling the home did take a great deal of time (Around a year). After the house finally got sold, my father was already in the Bahamas and It was summer of 2012. My dad tried to Email me everyday to keep me updated on what's up down in the Bahamas. In the summer we worked on getting some free time so I could visit my father for a week or two. Everything turned out better than I expected. Now, it's not a big deal anymore. My father inspired me to take on photography as a profession.

Religion: Muslim Faith

State/Country: Calgary, Alberta

Time Zone: GMT -7 (Mountain Time)

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I do not consider myself superior or so but I think I have some skills when it comes to technology, Its as if my brain automatically joins another universe where I know everything related to technology, If I do not understand something at average time it takes me 5 minutes to figure the problem / information out. Other then technology im a bit experienced at Photoshop I strive to work harder everyday to become a better person & designer. I am always trying to find ways I can improve my skills, I have also Flight Simulator 2007 that I play and am pretty good at it when it comes to taking off and traveling I am not able to line the plane up exactly on the runway though. Some examples of all these include the time when I reinstalled windows and had some issues with the sound driver. With a days span I was able to find the problem & fix it. I am also a bit skilled in the arts of " HTML " I know basic coding into it and can create a simple website without CSS but nevertheless its still a page.

What section are you most active in and why?:

To be honest my most active section would be the " Member Contests " this is due to the amount of contests I enter + the amount of contests & freebies I have given away. All though I have entered more contests then given back I am always trying to find new ways to help HF. I am not quite familiar with the term " leecher " but am truly hoping im not one of them as I do try & give back. Aside from this I have started another contest and am hoping I can do this in the future, I am always trying to help HF in anyway possible that I can, Member Contests never fails to amuse me as to how many people are willing to be so generous and giving away huge sums of multiple items, For example ive seen contests for $100 numerous times and am still amazed every time I see one.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I consider the empire to be one of the most successful group in HF (Along side 143) it is run by a very friendly user (Tibit) & a very scary Admin known as Judge Dredd. The Empire is a very HQ group from what I have seen they have massive amounts of giveaways & such that benefit the community alot. Along side that they also have very nice members always willing to help the HF community out. This group is truly one of the best groups on Hackforums. Ive seen lots coming out of the empire and most of those huge giveaways are because of the empire, Aside from that I have heard very nice things going on in the sub-forums and would love to be apart of those nice chats inside the sub forum. Along side that I have always wanted to be apart of a group on HF and the Empire may just be the starting of that!

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel that I am a contributing member to the HF community, I can do contests towards the Empire's Name & help increase the amount of freebies and such in the empire's name. I am also a helper for newer members of the community I try & stick up for them and help them around the community. I am always around the community trying to do the best that I can for the HF community, Although I may not be able to help money wise I am also trying to get there but while im on the road of patience I am trying to help the community verbally by telling members things that can benefit them rather then having trolls or so harm them in any such way!

At the age of only 7, On November 29, 2006 I was gifted a present that changed my life till today. On a recent trip to Dubai my uncle purchased a toy airplane just for me & my birthday. At first I was very unsure about what was this wierd thing but later on I was told it was something that I had rode on a bunch of times.

My mom reminded me that I had been to Dubai like 8 times and this was possible because of an airplane. My gift was the small replica, I quickly unwrapped the package and almost exploded with excitement when I saw what was below me. A large airplane inside another box. Being the impatient person that I was I got a bit frustrated when I had to open another packaging but it was worth it.

When I opened it up my mom installed batteries inside the airplane & it started lighting up, It did not have a remote but rather buttons on the body I started experimenting with the buttons, out of no where the plane started moving up & down, a bit scared I moved back and my parents laughed telling me there was nothing to worry about. I went back and tried again, After that moment I spent every minute I had to play with that toy. It helped me consider what I wanted to be when I grew up (Pilot) I am still firm about my decision, All though the toy is no longer with me its always on my mind.

Anything else you want to say: Thank you for taking the time to read my application I hope it was up to the Empire Group's Standard.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

1. Marketing - The main reason I spend any time online is to make money. Who doesn't love earning and making cash. I feel like making money and having it is more fun by far then spending it. I have a few shops here on HF. And I own a few sites that I make profit off of as well.
2. Webmastery - I have been working with creating websites of all sorts for over two years now. I am experienced with forums and creating things with php, or HTML for what ever I need to create it for. I been around the web and I no what I am doing.

3. Coding - I can code in .Net, C++, PHP "Mentioned Above"

I been coding a crypter for over a year now. I no saying its been over a year is not exactly a good thing I just been busy with other projects I have and eventually my crypter will be released I been coding for over two years now with many different languages I no the basics in pretty much all of them.

What section are you most active in and why?

I am currently most activied in buyers bay doing jobs for people a few of my shops have been getting customers more then usuall lately so I been busy with that as well in the premium sellers section. I also spend a lot of time there as well with the marketers sub forum since I am a member of the marketers.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Its been around for awhile I no quite a lot of members who are apart of it. I feel the group is high quality and I would like to be given a chance to join it.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Im seventeen I will be eighteen in two months, my life hasn't exactly been easy, growing up I lived with my grandma most of my life. My parents had me at a young age and I didn't meat my mom till I was a teenager. After meeting her I liked her because since she was a young age and I was about the same age I was when she had me she always treated me like a adult. I was never grounded or treated like a kid when living with her.

When I turned sixteen I was foolish and thought I was in love I thought I really found a girl I wanted to be with for the rest of my life. I later had a daughter with her and moved in with her I was with her for over another year and the baby was born. After the baby was born it wasn't untill a couple months things went to hell we would fight every day it just wasn't right.

We ended up splitting up just a few weeks ago the baby lives with her and her mom I get her on the weekends and when I turn 18 I will have to pay child support by law.

I feel during my life I have made some bad choices I wish I would of never made I got addicted to making cash on the internet almost two years ago I got in a fight with my moms boy friend and pretty much stoped going to school and ran away and lived with my friend. Not to long my friends mom said I needed to go home cause she didn't want to get in trouble witch led to me and my friend running away and breaking into a vacant hotel room we got away with staying there for about a day and a half but we got caught this led to me getting on probation for 2 years and being put on house arrest for nine months. I am a high school drop out because of this situation. I am currently trying to get my GED and will be going to a trade for PHP and injection molding once that is finished. I found out my girl friend was pregnant and promised her I wouldn't get in any trouble. After spending over a year alone at my house and not talking to any one I got use to it and thats were I am now.

Anything else you want to say:

I kept my application original this time its my I believe third time applying for the empire, I haven't been approved and I am not sure if there is a reason for it or what. How ever I kept my thread original because not only am I busy but its easy and clean to read.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): Skills? I don't really have any skills...I can play percussion instruments, and I'm a math expert.

What section are you most active in and why? I would say that I am most active in The Lounge, because of all the interesting things that happen to other people. I also like to go through the News and Happenings and Sports World sections.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I see members of The Empire around the forum, and they seem like pretty chill people, and I'm a pretty chill person. I like the new userbar too.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I am always online, even though I rarely post.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I'm a thirteen year old with aspergers syndrome. Last year (in seventh grade) I was accepted into the Duke TIP program. I took the ACT's and got a 22 out of 36, and scored higher than 76 percent of high-schoolers that took the test, so that was pretty memorable.

Anything else you want to say: Well, I hope I get accepted. If I don't, that sucks...

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I'm a professional League of Legends player. I mostly earn money from playing on other people's account and increasing their rating. I'm also good in understanding people's feelings. An example could be if a person makes a thread about being mad and upset because of XXX. In that case I would understand his feelings and respect him.

What section are you most active in and why? I'm most active in the League of Legends and Lounge.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I would love to join The Empire because I'm an active daily poster in Hackforums. I'll look like a good ideal for The Empire when it comes to the League of Legends section.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I should be accepted because I'm different from everyone else that currently are in The Empire. The group doesn't have any higher rated League of Legends players. It would also be my honor to join the group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Who am I?

I'm a average social akward person who would sacrifice a lot to be accepted in any kind of group when it comes to school or internet. But I don't let it sink me down, I'm known for being funny and nice to other people.

What makes me who I am?

I'm trying, trying all the time to never be disliked. If someone doesn't like me, I notice it in mather of seconds. That's what makes me who I am.

Anything else you want to say: I don't have anything more to say. I hope that my application was enough to make you happy. Don't be way to harsch when it comes to my grammar since I speak/write three languages.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Coding: I used to code runescape privates servers for a couple years, learning Java mainly by myself. I coded two servers, project dream and fatal heroes. As well as server-sided I would develop the forums and websites for these pages with the help of professionals, learning basic HTML. I gradually moved away from Java and focused on web developing which I enjoy more. I learned how to create CSS files and a little PHP, this has helped me understand and partly develop my current project; www.FileChum.com.

Gaming: Halo. Halo. Halo. I'm a bit Halo mad, played through ALL the games on legendary and hence I'm pretty good online.

Music: I know this isn't a skill most people would put on their application, but I've played the piano since the age of 8 (10 years in total). I can play pretty advanced classical peices as well as more modern ones such as 'Hall of Fame' by the script. The ability to read music is very useful, it's almost like another language entirely.

What section are you most active in and why?

Currently, free services and giveaways due to my eBook giveaway thread. I am also very active in the marketplace, in paticular the services section where I enjoy doing small favours for people as well as starting long lasting deals and friendships. In fact the two guys who are working on FileChum I came across in this section. On top of this I'm active in the coding and webdeveloper sections, I love learning more and more about web languages.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

The Empire are a high quality group who work on improving the forums. I want to be part of this, but also to offer everything I can to the group and to meet some new people.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I believe that I can bring a lot to The Empire's table. I'm a nice, honest and legit guy who respects people the way I want to be respected.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I was born in London in the year 1994, after living there for 1 year my family moved to Applecross (a small town, west coast Scotland). We lived there for 1 year and then moved again to Aberdeen where my younger brother was born. Again, we lived there for 1 year and then finally moved to a small village in the north east coast of Scotland. My childhood is filled with happy memories of growing up in the countryside, going on many holidays with my brothers and parents. Talking of holidays, we used to travel to France and Spain in an old Vauxwagon campervan and EVERY single year when we went on a holiday in this campervan it always broke down! I guess that's the reliability of an old vehicle! Anyway, back at home I enjoyed sports; namely football and ice hockey. I continued with these throughout primary and secondary school, right up until starting university.

I have always loved the outdoors, I joined the explorers at the age of 14 and to date the best expedition we went on was for the notorious explorer belt award (very prestigious in scouting!). To achieve this award, you have to travel to a different continent for 3 weeks and do a few projects. I travelled to South Africa, Lesotho and Swaziland in the summer of 2011. I had such an amazing time, part of our project was to volunteer. I chose to volunteer in a rural orphanage which I knew wouldn't have had any volunteers before, the children were amazing! We taught them a little English, helped them with their homework, played games with them, even milked a cow for the first time! This experience was really one to shape me as a person, I was always kind but I think it really removed any ignorance of the third world and made me into a more giving person.

Last summer I went to Canada to volunteer at a wildlife reserve for 6 weeks, quite a different experience, however still a good one! I love skiing so Canada was an ideal location for me! I started university last September, we've almost finished the first year (finishes in May). I am studying a masters degree in Pharmacy in Glasgow, it's a very Chemistry/Biology heavy degree which you can probably expect however I've always been pretty successful in these subjects hence me choosing the degree. I am enjoying it 100% so far, at university I've met so many people, including my new girlfriend who I love very much!

Anything else you want to say:

A lot of members ask other members why they joined Hackforums, and what they get out of it. Well for me, simply put, it's for learning and giving with the ultimate goal of improving the life of others. I'm a businessman at heart and I want to go far in life, maybe The Empire is the next step for me.

If you've got this far, thank you for reading and I hope you like my application! ?

Age: 14 years old.

Gender: Male

Religion: I typically refer to myself as 'secular', because I feel that if there truly is a god, it is something that we will never be able to understand, so we shouldn't try to.

State/Country: Nevada, USA

Time Zone: Pacific

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): Extreme care in anonymity, such as being able to encrypt hard drives, appropriate times to use VPN's, TOR and the deepnet, lengthy passwords, etc. Also, I am very capable in Java, Python, Javascript, Batch (of course :P), and C#. I also know a little bit of D, just so that I can make the joke "I program in D, 'cuz bitches love the D". On top of all that, I am great with the popular game Minecraft, especially with servers (I'm an Ex-Griefer, and currently manage quite a few servers.)

What section are you most active in and why?: Probably the lounge, because I enjoy seeing and speaking to most of Hackforums, without any boundaries created by knowledge of a single subject. For example, you probably can't hang out in the RAT's section if you don't know much about RAT's.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join because it appears to be a HQ and extremely respectable part of the community, that I have always looked up to. I think that The Empire is essentially the essence of what Hackforums is supposed to be, and what it does best.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I am a dedicated, and in my opinion very HQ member, of Hackforums. I've always looked up to The Empire as a usergroup, and have tried to be as respectful as possible period. I am knowledgeable on many subjects, whether you are talking about computing or not, and overall think that I am deserving to be a part of The Empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am a bit different. I have always been top of my class in English, and I really am not sure why. I love to write, but I can honestly not tell you where that passion spawned from. I guess I just found writing interesting, and still do. Yet, I have never considered having a job or career that involves English. My current aspiration is to be an Emergency Doctor, but previous job-dreams included Genetic Engineer, Astronomer, Surgeon, and Firefighter (A little out of place, but it was a weird phase).

I am a contortionist, meaning that I am double jointed in every joint in my body. Telling people this usually induces the question "Woah bro, can you suck your own chode?". I can assure you that I never want to find out the answer to that question. Also, being a contortionist, I have a reputation for once fitting inside of my own backpack in 3rd grade and having my mom bring me to school. Luckily for me, the principle was not around to charge my mom with child abuse.

I think that there are too many factors to decide what made me who I am today. I earned a lot of my sense of humor from British comedians on Youtube, and the comedian Steven Wright. I got my intelligence level from an acute desire for stickers which ravaged my insides every day. Simply, I fucking love stickers. Every time I read a chapter of a book, I would get a sticker. Every time I read the whole book, I got a "huge" sticker (about 10% bigger than the other ones, but I didn't care). I got my contortion-ism from my great grandmother, who was also a contortionist. Somehow I got lucky and scored that from her. I got my fighting skills from several unfortunate encounters as a kid, and from a family friend by the name of Ryan 'Darth' Bader. Look him up, he's pretty cool.

Anything else you want to say: Long live the Empire..

I also wish the best of luck to all who apply, and hope that I can be given the honor of joining.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I have several skills that I put to use daily. Some more than others but nonetheless I have put countless hours into everything I know.

Rats:

I have gained an advanced amount of knowledge on remote administration and various types of malware. I move from one to another as my interest are easily shifted. I first learned with the help of some friends how to setup darkcommet and the whole ordeal that came with setting that up. Once I learned how mind-numbing simple it was I continued onto bit-coin mining and bot-nets.

Gfx:

I have spent a small amount of on graphical design. I find it a good hobby to find an interest in as it expands the mind to a whole new level of creativity. It's one of the few things I do i'm my spare time that will keep my interested for more than a half hour. I have sadly not put as much time or effort into it as I want to but sometimes you need to prioritize yourself and on several occasions graphical design falls last on the list.

Helping the community:

I try and do my best for the community but I have fallen short on a few occasions. I have devoted myself to helping newer members get into the spirit of hacking while keeping some sort of creativity in the process. I usually spend 5-6 hours a day in the BHS where I help anyone I can. Even though I do enjoy helping and the warm feeling it brings I can't seem to shake the bitter addictive quality's that the lounge has to offer.

Sports/Outside activities

Now I know this isn't relevant to the thread but this is one of my skills. So why not share? I have played various sports and am extremely active when I have free time. I played baseball up until 7th grade when they made me play on the high school team. I felt as if there was too much pressure and the opposing players were far too advanced for me to even come close to making any sort of progress. During the 7th grade I looked for a new sport that fit me and tennis seemed to fit. I joined a small league and my mom got me a private coach to ease me through whole process. Now in 8th I have missed tryouts for the Tennis team(damn dentist). But I still love to practice.

What section are you most active in and why?

I am active in 2 parts of the forum, I do venture out into others but that's only if i'm looking for something.

Beginner Hacking Section:

It was love at first site. When i first joined HackForums that was the first place i went. I remember everyone being so helpful and nice(well..most) and knew if I tried hard enough some day I could be like them. I spent most of my time there until recently when I started moving to different sections. I get a great warm feeling in my heart when I know someone gained a tad bit of knowledge from me. During school I would often be a teachers aid or some form of after school tutor. Just the feeling I get is so overwhelming that I wish it would last forever and so far it has.

Lounge:

The lounge is my go-to place when I need a break or have other things to do. I'm mostly there later later in the night when all other parts of the forum have died down or when I have homework and still want to stay updated with the rest of the forums.

Marketplace:

I love to see new ideas that people come up with, new products, or join the discussion. I have learned a bit about the marketplace and I know I love seeing tibit while i'm there. <3

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Empire to me have always been a group of higher quality members that do there best to show the rest of the world that HackForums isn't just full of skids and free dosers. Your the one group that could actually expand my mind, not just fill it with utter nonsense. I have never really felt part of something, I think this might be my one and only chance to actually be part of something that can cause a change.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel as if i'm a high quality member and have devoted myself to HackForums.

"The Empire is a group of dedicated individuals that will share knowledge within our private sub-forum on a variety of subjects."

This seems like the most detailed description of myself i have ever heard. I have knowledge to share and wish to receive knowledge and I need to be part of the group to access the sub-forum don't I? I am highly looked up upon by several members and after a few setbacks I am moving towards greatness faster than ever, The Empire will give me that needed push to go beyond greatness.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

It all started 14 years ago when I was born. My birth date was so close to Christmas my grandparents convinced my mother to have me born on Christmas. However my mother is selfish and induced labor so I was born 3 days early. 2 days later she took off to go shopping and left me with my father. Not only did she leave me but she left me unnamed leaving all the decisions up to my father, that's the main reason why i'm named after him. Skipping ahead 6 years to the last i can remember of my childhood is when my father left me with my mother who couldn't give 2 shits if I was okay. All of my childhood was striped away as i was set in an empty room. no friends,no toys, nothing but me and my thoughts. I thought a lot during my childhood about many things. by now I was in school but missing 1-2 days a week because my mother refused to wake up after a long night of partying to take me to school. I was to young to ride a bus by myself then and relied on my mother to get me to school.

When I was 9 My mother had gotten me my first computer. I was instantly amazed at how it worked and poked and prodded my way through the contraption of wires and lights fascinated by everything I saw. After a year with my beloved contraption I had considered myself a master at computing, I could do anything, make a word document, turn it on and off, even play games! Once my mother had married(she never married my father) I was gifted with the delight of another child my age. I spent the next 4 years with him as my best friend. After the fourth year he got sick of my moms constant alcoholic abuse he divorced her and ripped me away from my only friend. Leaving me back where I started, In an empty room, Now the age of 12 I could legally chose witch parent I wanted to live with, I had chosen my father as he was the only one who ever cared for me. living with him opened me up to new things. I leaned how to laugh and make friends quickly moving my way up to the popular list while obtaining some relationships that would never last. It went on like that for 2 years until my father went off and tried to kill my step mom deeming him unsafe to live with. Now at the age of 14 and living back with my mother for 9 months she still amazes me how little someone could care for another person, or how much alcohol someone can take. So here I am, back in my room. with one laptop and only time to think.

Anything else you want to say:

I Think I would look sexy with the new userbar.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I don't have much, I only game, And I wish some members in The Empire could teach me some skills that will help me.

What section are you most active in and why? I'm in the Minecraft Griefing section the most, I like it there because we explain about exploits, glitches and clients about the game.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join because I heard there are some helpful people who can help me achieve in life.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I actually don't know, I am quite HQ, But have never been accepted or invited to a group, Hopefully I can get invited to The Empire

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I don't really like sharing stories, So I might tell the story when I hopefully join the group? ?

Anything else you want to say: I am Tom, Never been invited to a group, Really HQ, Hopefully I get accepted.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

1. I am currently working on improving my graphic design skills. I am still somewhat new at it and not too great, but I am working to make myself better. Been doing GFX for about a year, been taking little breaks from it here and there, but I'm getting back into it as of late.

Ex: Spoiler (Click to View)

Spoiler (Click to View)

2. I have great grammar and am good with essays. I've helped a few members on Hack Forums with correcting and improving their grammar and overall grasp of English and how to use it properly.

What section are you most active in and why?

I am most active in these three sections:

1. Science, Religion, Philosophy, Politics: I love to learn new things and debate with others. I always try to learn new things and teach new concepts to other people, that is why I am most active in SRPP.

2. Lounge- Sometimes, I just want to talk to people and relax, that's when I go to the lounge.

3. Innuendo- I love to help people in which ever way I can in the Innuendo section. Thus, this is my 3rd most active section.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I wish to join The Empire because it is one of the most high quality groups here on Hack Forums. I love meeting new people, I love to discuss with others, and I would love to be a part of something great and contribute.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel that I am a high quality member who could learn various things from The Empire, I believe I am worthy of a chance to be in such a great group. I would love to be a part of something so special and great.

I have had various moments in my life that made me who I am today. For example, just a few years back, I was quite overweight. I decided to actually change my life, since it was becoming harder to do everyday things such as running, or even walking. I finally decided to come out from under my rock and stop tricking myself into thinking it was fine. I tried everything to lose weight, but I never really succeeded or got anywhere.

Well, I finally got the inspiration from my beautiful girlfriend who I am still with to lose weight, and I did. Before, I was 280 pounds, in just 5 months, I weighed 190 pounds and my life definitely was better. After this moment in my life, I stopped being shy, depressed, and unmotivated. This has made me a confident person in life, I am finally living my life. Because of this change, I can easily talk to people now, I am not worried about what others think about me or what they might say if I talk to them. I've gained confidence like I have never before, since I have never really been "skinny" in my entire life. Since this has happened, not only have I gained more friends and confidence, I have also gained the satisfaction of helping others cope with the same problems that I had. I've helped multiple people in life lose weight, because I want to help them experience what I am experiencing and become better.

Anything else you want to say:

Thank all of you for giving me a chance to apply to this fantastic group. Good luck to everyone!

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Gaming: I've been gaming since the game boy was out. I have every gaming console from the PS2 - Xbox 360 Slim. The game I really enjoy is Call of Duty. I've been playing since CoD2 and haven't stopped enjoying it since. It's overall a great game to play with friends because it requires strategy and teamwork if you want to win.

Marketing: Well to start off, I've been marketing for the past 3 years. I started with re-selling for other members and taking a cut of it, it worked pretty well until I decided I would like to start my own business of some sort and not have to rely on other peoples work. From there I bought some eBooks off of hackforums, which was a complete waste of money as I didn't even see a penny out of those methods. I then went on to DDoS, which I must say, has been a VERY good investment. Overall I'm good with marketing products i.e. advertising, sales, support, etc.

Coding: I've been learning python and html over the past week and I hope to master it one day. Once I master python and html I plan on moving to php and java.

Social engineering: Well I've been social engineering people all my life, but I didn't realize it until a few years ago. I don't like the fact that I have this ability, but I don't abuse it to get free products/money.

Remote Administration Tools: I've been a huge fan of rats for the past 1 1/2 years, and I've tried many RATs and I can proudly say I have a decent knowledge on them.

What section are you most active in and why?

I would have to say the marketplace, as I'm a marketer at heart. I can't really narrow down a specific section, as I'm active in most of them.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I feel as if empire is one of the most respected groups, if not, the most respected group on hackforums. I think I would make a great addition to the group and I could dedicate myself to further improving the group by sharing my knowledge, skills, etc. with individuals in the group. Not to mention, the group is one big family that I would love to be apart of.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel I should be accepted into empire because I would help with anything I could (Including stressers, coding, etc.) I believe that I'm high quality and I could further improve the quality of empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

A little bit about myself: I'm 16 years old and I currently live in texas. I go to a decent size high school and work at a fast food restaurant after school and on the weekends. I spend alot of time on hackforums finding ways to make money aside from my job, talking to people, and trying to help anyone I can.

Something memorable that happened in your life: One of the most memorable things that's happened in my life was going on a cruz about 2 years ago. The cruz was 7 days long and we stopped at Jamaica, grand camon islands, and Cozumel mexico. Jamaica was our first stop and probably the best. Once we got off at Jamaica, we were waiting for a bus to take us to ride jet skis and while we were waiting one of the locals approached us and asked if we were looking for that "Green" (Green meaning weed) before he could say anything we just busted out in laughter. The is and most likely will be the most memorable moment of my life.

What makes you who you are and who are you: Well I would just like to start off and say that I'm not a follower, I'm a leader. I try my hardest to not follow anyone and set my own example. I'm dedicated, so I don't give up on anything. There's always an aswer, you just have to find it. I don't really care what people think of me, if you don't like me then don't talk to me.

Anything else you want to say:

Thank you for taking your time to read my application, I really appreciate it and hope I get this wonderful chance to be apart of this wonderful group.

Introduction Name: Christian

Age: 17

Gender: Male

Religion: Christian

State/Country: United States

Time Zone: EST, UTC -06:00

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Malware removal & Analysis

Windows specialist

Networking and routing

PC Gaming

Malware removal - I am currently learning on Malware analysis this will be a big advantage towards malware removal. I am a fanatic at malware removal. I'm not the best but i do get the work done. I've been currently trying to find the proper ways to analysis malware and have them properly removed from your system or disinfecting your system. Malware isn't something you ignore as it may spread through many files on your system multiple times. Every system is threatened of malicious attacks because of different viruses and malwares. However you can avoid this path by knowing how malware attacks a system and the way it spreads in it. Once malware makes its way into a system, they begin to damage a system's boot sector, data files; software installed in it and even the system BIOS. This further corrupts your files and your system might shut down as well. The main problem is that these malicious software programs are designed to spread in a system. And i really want to become part of the MRT group some day, But i'd have to earn my certificates first.

Windows specialist - I am not a certificant, but i do plan on gaining on. System care is a big problem throughout the years. Many RATS, VIRUS, MALWARE, KEYLOGGERS, are going around. System care is one care much about. I do plan on learning much more about different OS, currently i am on windows 7 very stable. great for programming, gaming and much more. And as for windows 8 i will be learning about throughout this upcoming summer. Windows specialist falls in many category's. Some may still be hackers and still takes proper precautions then most white hats. But they always, and they will, leave a trail. Virus removal is quite easy. I've done many removals for other members in the past days. some say it might be harder for others.

Networking & routing - I'm not the best at networking and routing, But i do know many protocol about it. This isn't really a skill. (IMO) but i consider this as one And many other things.

Computer protection - Computer protection, meaning Distributed Denial of service attack These are so common around the hacking environment. Once again this may fall under windows specialist. Ddos attacks aren't something you can stop without knowing anything about a VPN(Virtual Private Network) or Proxy server (that acts as an intermediary for requests from clients seeking resources from other servers.) Some do not know how to stop the attacks from coming. I will not get into depth explanation into stopping these, There are many tutorials/Guides made by other members of HF that'll teach you the way of avoiding these attacks.

Pc Game- I play alot of Runescape. Runescape is quite complex actually, Some say it's only about Killing and roaming around the game worlds but it isn't it's much more bigger. Runescape is the biggest MMORPG(Massively multiplayer online role-playing game.) I've had my good days on Runescape And bad ones. Questing is a big part of the game, I'm not a Quester. I do mostly Skilling and combat wise tactics throughout the game. But in the world of Runescape you will always encounter someone who is much higher level & better. It takes skills to really concentrate and get things done in this game. I do a bit of hacking related to runescape private servers. I recently hacked around 300$ worth of accounts.

I will be gaining certificates in this upcoming summer(Alot of free time then.)

[img]http://imageshack.us/a/img90/6030/bannermo.gif[/img] Conclusion

What section are you most active in and why? - I am currently active in the 'Computing' section. All my skills falls in that whole category. My passion for computers has increased throughout the years and days to come. I'm on my computer atleast everyday of the week. Technology has changed so much in our lives. What can you do without technology? imagine that.

Why do you want to join The Empire? - I've heard The Empire covers many things for example; Booters, Crypters, servers, MC server (now), lot of projects to come. My love for the empire is like no other. I don't want to cover one category i want to cover many. I'm interested in Coding, C++, c# which i heard this group covers most of, Many tutorials made by other members in the sub-forums. I don't want to be known for being in the 'Computing' section i want to be known for many other things. I want to join this group for many reasons for example; The knowledge that many other individuals bring.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire? - This is probably the most difficult question to answer. My previous explanations may provide some input on this subject. I consider myself smart compared to many people on these forums. I put time and effort into whatever I am doing, My post are all high quality. And i feel that i should be accepted.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you - I was born in 1993, Florida. I love to go the beach chill hanging out with friends. I'm a typical teen. Hackforums changed my life. I haven't seen anything this big in ages. All i use to do was fuck shit up. But i know there's another world out here and i found it. it's right infront of my face. But sadly enough hackforums is losing it's kick, many have left, And i'm afraid that i joined late but It isn't to late to start something new i'm happy to spend every minute on HF.

Anything else you want to say - Although I've not met Tibit, I hear he's a noob unlike any noob before...

Why do you want to join The Empire?:
? I want to further expand my wings on this website, I have made a small name of myself. Helped many members, I know I deserve to wear that sexy user bar. I care about everyone here, never had issues. I do my thing and do it proudly.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:
? Not even 2 months on this site and I am hitting some nice milestones. I have gained respect of many members, worked with many people, beginning to sell many things. I came on this site offering to help all with a smile. I feel I would be a great recruitment into this group and I can help further propel it.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:
? When I was younger I watched my brother dragged out the house by the police. I wanted to cry my eyes out and just go with him. Me and him were very close together. I was a bad kid and school, did not have much going. Even though I was 7 years old I was already beginning a bad slate. I proceeded on to attempt to slowly change myself for the best. With all do respect I did not want to end up like that.

I became a new person, worked hard and made changes that I at a young age could dream to do. I am 17 now... 10 years passing by and I am ready to further do more and more for myself. This site was a good find and I have met interesting people and new friends.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):My skills are mostly based into computers. I am not any sort of experts or genius since I am still trying to learn more. I basically know the basics of what a 2 year class of college will teach you. Web editing, hosting, managing a simple web hosting server. I am always trying to expand my knowledge into learning more. What my day is based is answering tickets for my current VPS clients, searching and lurking on web hosting forums and hackforums to learn more each day.

What section are you most active in and why?
Hosting Services, trying to sell my product. Selling VPS.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:
I am a very honest person and I still have my honor. The real reason I want to join "The Empire" is because I love their userbar it's all modern looking. Also is because I just want to be part of a group here at HackForums.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:
I feel that I am a high quality member who could learn various things from "The Empire" I am certain I will make a great contribution and learn a lot from the group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

During my teen years I remember everyone telling "you should join the military" basically saying you're a failure and you are not going to get anywhere.

I didn't listen to my family in what they told me and instead I decided to find an alternative into making more more. I started out SpetsnazHost selling shared hosting and it was good enough to say I was proud to have something all from scratch and get customers. As time went by again I got criticized that this cannot be turn into something profitable and it's useless it's better if you join the military. This was going on and on, I later on started making some extra cash from selling VPS and now I have opened up another company selling only VPS and SpetsnazHost. I am just proud so much that I have accomplished. I am still trying to learn and more of other subjects in which I can make money off.

Anything else you want to say:
I am joining the NAVY in few months after I finish up with school. So I might not be as active for 3 months while I am at boot camp.

[img]http://thosefunweddingpeople.com/wp-content/uploads/2012/05/divider.png[/img] What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I have many skills, some are useful to others, and some aren't.

RATs/Keyloggers/Botnets

My main skills in this area are spreading and coding. I have had several RATs/Botnets with ours and of installs, all manually spread for. I have helped many users get installs, and hope to post a tutorial on my methods soon. For coding in this area, I am mainly good at modifying a builder. I have added my custom functions too many RATs. I will admit, I cannot code a RAT from scratch.

Web Hacking

This is one of my best skills overall. I am very skilled in SQLi and XSS. Many sites have been exploited by me, but I do not EVER deface. I always notify the owner in a friendly way, I have spent time on websites without backups, and I know what it would feel like to lose your work.

Monetizing

PPD/AdSense

Although I am quite new to PPD, I would say I am coming along quite well in it. Right now I'm making about $50 a week with it, but I am sure I will manipulate my methods to maximize earnings. For AdSense, I am making about the same. I am skilled in SEO, but it's not worth mentioning.

Coding

HTML/JavaScript

This is another skill I am relatively new to, but have developed quickly. I have started making many websites, some for myself, and some for friends. I am still in the process of learning CSS to the fullest extent, but. Know quite a bit.

C++/Visual Basic

These are the two programming languages I use most. I started with VB, as it is quite easy. I now can make high-end applications in a limited time. C++ is my most recent language. I can do some simple stuff, but not as well as I can in VB.

 What section are you most active in and why?

I am currently most active in the "Beginner Hacking" section. Why? I love helping people! I remember when I was new to this forum, I asked so many questions, and this community did their very best to answer them. I am repaying that now by helping out anybody who needs help regarding Beginner Hacking. I do my best to answer every question there to the fullest, but I will admit sometimes I don't know the answers, nor does Google.

 Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I registered on HF in 2011, but was inactive for a year and a half. I never really have had a chance to really out my mind at looking for a group. I have just felt fine wearing my regular-old Ub3r userbar. I started being more active in January of this year, and I think it's my time to go after a group. This group is full of helpful and friendly users, who I would be honored to join. (The new userbar is also sexy)

 Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel I should be accepted into The Empire because I have a large range of skillset to offer. I am on many hours a day, and I am always willing to help. If I have a task and someone needs help, I will gladly stop what I am doing and make sure we figure out a solution to your problem.

 In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I was born with albinism, a rare skin condition that decreases pigmentation throughout the body. I have been struggling with this all my life. In Elementary school, I was called a freak. In Middle School, I was bullied. Finally in High School, things changed. I started being more active on this forum, and started to get to know some people here. I was very depressed at this point, dealing with the death of both my grandparents in the same month, and albinism. I was quite emotionally unstable at the time, almost at the point of suicide. I felt I had no purpose in life. I then started to talk to some users on here (Don't want to mention names for ass-kissing cases) and they truly saved my life. They talked me through all of it, and reassured me that everything was alright. HF has changed my life. This story may seem unreal to you, but I assure you, it is all real. Many of you would never know this, as I have been happy since. I have just gotten the guts to post this, as I admit this is very embarrassing to me. This is to show my trust with The Empire, and anyone who takes their time to read this. I have posted under-estimated versions of it, but this is the full and true version. I owe everything to HF, for changing my life.

Anything else you want to say:

Though some of these sections are not very lengthy, I hope you can see the quality behind them.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): Graphics & Gaming - I am most fluent at Graphics and Computing, I love to be in the computing section all the time as well as the Graphics section. I have been big into Graphics because I feel it's fun to learn new skills and teach people new skills as well, Another thing I feel I am great at is Gaming, I have been gaming for a long time now (nearing 7 years) I mostly play MMORPG based games (Runescape, WoW, LoL) But I also play Xbox LIVE based games as well (Call of Duty, Halo 4, Gears of War). The first thing I would like to start off with will be my portfolio for Graphics, If you would like to see that please click HERE Like I stated, I love to mess around in Photoshop and C4D after watching people on here succeed from Graphics so much it influenced me.

Computing & Internet Security - I am active in the Computing section because when I am in there and someone has a question on Driver installation or fixing a BSoD I can be that person to give them the accurate information they are looking for and the real fix they have been waiting for, I have been in love with computers ever since I got my first one (a Windows XP, Service Pack 3, 2GB RAM, Intel Pentium CPU @ 2.93GHz) I loved it, It made me wonder how these machines worked and why are they the way they are? So I went more in depth with computers and now am in college for Computer Science and IT Security. People in the Computing section here on Hack Forums sometimes have threads open for days that are not answered, I am that person that comes along and answers them for them.

What section are you most active in and why? I am most active in the Runescape section, Only because I love MMORPG games (Like I said above) they intrigue me and keep me occupied for many hours a day. Secondly I am most active in the "Microsoft Windows, XP, Vista and Windows 7" section because I love to deal with anything computers, I love answering questions and making people more understand what they actually own rather than "Just a PC". I love that I can safely say people can count on me in the Computing sections to give them safe and accurate information on how to fix / build / edit anything they need to.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join the Empire because you guys are well known on the forum for being very HQ and helping out a lot of members, You guys do TONS of donations for the forums and the members here as well. If I was to be a part of this group I could share a lot of my Computing knowledge with you guys, Like I stated above I love informing people of tinkers and ideas and just fun things in general they didn't know about there computers. The opportunity to join you guys is immense because I would love to be able to make a mega thread on Computing and Technology in the name of the Empire.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I am a very giving person, I have done my fair share of giveaways in the past. I want to be in this group because, well plainly you guys are amazing, the group is very high quality and you all do a lot of nice things for the forums. I want to help you people in the name of Empire (Therefore giving the group even more a good name). I do host a lot of events and give aways [See above post] for the members that are unfortunate to upgrade or just giving out GP in Runescape. If I got the chance to join the group I would make it my all to be the highest quality and be at my best and continue to host my giveaways events for the members here at Hackforums.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: One thing that is very memorable to me is when I built my first computer about 6 years ago. This was my biggest accomplishment back then, Me and my dad were talking about it for a long time and I didn't really have the money at the time for anything too god or major, So I got some parts from friends and we started mixing and matching. Before you know it, We realized that we had built a piece of trash.. So we go back to the drawing board [Step 1 again...] I was upset that we had gotten all the parts and we are now back to step one again, So my dad gives me some starting money ($200 for some parts and a decent case) I go to the part store in town and tell them what I am looking for and they give me some pretty basic parts to start my build. Once I got home, I immediately went to my room and started tinkering around with the parts to see what I couldn't tweak to make better / worse. I was working on the build and it was coming along great! That's when I really started becoming in love with computers, When that screen turned on and I saw Windows XP for the first time I was like "Oh my god, This is awesome" I could never get off the computer. I was always at the parts store trying to buy parts that would make it even better and cooler than all my friends (At the time they didn't have computers like mine, So mine was amazing!) and still to this day, I have the build sitting in my closet to inspire me to never give up on goals and keep going after them.

Anything else you want to say: Nope, I think I said everything I needed to.

Thanks for the oppertunity,
Mike

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Most of my skill is portrayed in graphic design.

Although I am not amazingly skilled, I do know my way around the basics and a bit of the advanced.

My work is fairly decent.

Here are some examples of what I am capable of. (Keep in mind, I barely feel motivated enough to make something)

Warning: Images are big.

What section are you most active in and why?

I am most active all over the forum. Most of my posts are in the Member Contest area. That's only because I want to either win some money or something random to give it back to the community. If I were to win $20 in a contest, I would use the money to host my own giveaway. A member upgrading contest. Until I actually win something, I can't give back. There's a saying that goes like this, "before you can gain, one must learn to give". Thing is, I don't have anything to give!

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I want to join The Empire because, being able to host a contest or even promote a product in the name of The Empire would be an honor.

Easily the nicest, most high quality group in HF.

Also the most recognizable.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel I should be accepted into The Empire because, everyone deserves a chance to shine.

When I was younger, I was usually excluded from things my "friends" planned.

Being a part of The Empire would truly make me happy. I also feel like I will be able to maintain the standards and reputation the group has.

Might even be able to enhance it, you never really know.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

When I was 6, I had multiple seizures in a 8 month span.

Even though I can barely remember any of it.

I remember my very first seizure like it was yesterday.

It was a very hot July 4th, year 2000.

My family and I went to the beach to celebrate the holiday.

That very day, I had a very high fever. At peak, about 104 degrees.

Which is pretty high for a 6 year old.

I remember sitting by the shore of the beach right in front of a life guard.

I looked up into the sky, then looked back down at my legs.

All of a sudden, I'm staring at the sky with 4-6 people looking down on me.

Everyone was panicking and running around. I had no idea what was going on.

A few seconds after that, I blacked out.

A little while later, I wake up in my parents car being rushed to the hospital.

My sister was sitting to my right, and I look at her and then she says, "he's awake".

I watched my mother look back at me and shortly after I look at my sister again.

Out of no where, I have another seizure in the car.

All this happened in under 45 minutes.

I can just imagine what my parents felt like.

We get to the hospital and they sedated me.

After 2 days of being hospitalized, the doctor decided to give me a CT scan.

While laying on the bed being taken to the CT scan room

I remember the doctor stopped right outside the room to let my mother know exactly what was going to happen in that room.

I laid there and watched them talk.

A few seconds later, I have another seizure.

Right in front of my mother and the doctor. It came out of no where. I'm guessing I was immediately sedated and became stable again.

Because I don't remember much.

After the CT scan, I was hospitalized for 6 days.

I was released but the doctor didn't know what to do.

Before the doctor decided what to do, I had about 3-5 more seizures after that in the upcoming 8 months.

I was released once more after being hospitalized for another 5 days after 8 months and put on a 2 year treatment.

I had to take these pills for 2 years.

One in the morning, two in the afternoon, and one before going to bed.

Every single day.

Before the 2 years were up, my mother asked the doctor what will happen if I stopped taking the pills.

He said there is a possibility that I might have another seizure.

Then again, I might never have one again.

I remember him telling my mother and I, "there's only one way to find out".

I was cured. Haven't had a seizure in 12 years.

I also remember passing out in 1st grade.

During a show-n-tell.

I was holding my teddy bear that I was going to show my class.

Sitting down in a circle with my whole class on a rainbow colored carpet.

All of a sudden, I remember looking down at my teddy bear and the once again, looking up at the ceiling.

Kids surrounding me, looking down on me. I sat back up quickly and blacked out again.

I woke up in the nurses office.

That's pretty much it after that.

Doctor said I was "a lucky one".

Makes me think about all the things I take for granted.

Anything else you want to say: Thanks for the opportunity to let me share.

If you find a grammatical error or even a spelling error, remember; I'm human.

What are some skills you have: I am very good at gaming, mostly Call of Duty, I like to play video games. I am very good at fixing computers. In my spare time I like to jack gamer tags and I am good with Photoshop. I am a very good social engineer, need anything just ask me. I also do a lot of giveaways.

Examples: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3293366>

What section are you most active in and why: I am most active in the Marketplace section because I deal a lot with gamer tags. I am also very active in the Lounge trying to help people out.

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

Why do you want to join the Empire: I want to join because I feel that only the best are in Empire. Empire is a great group and gets a lot of attention, it also receives a lot of feedback that is positive.

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into the Empire: I feel like I would be a great edition to the group. I have promised myself to stay active and help everyone out that needs help. I love Hack Forums and will continue to. I, one day, would like to be a mentor so I can help the site out as much as I can and its wonderful people.

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: A memorable story that I feel like I should share would be my cousins accident. It was just a normal day and I just woke up, my mom's phone wouldn't stop ringing so I woke her up and gave it to her. My mom talked on the phone to my Aunt about what had happened to her son. My mom started to cry and I was worried. I soon figured out that my cousin was involved in an accident that paralyzed him from the waist down forever.

My cousin, Kyle, is now paralyzed forever. He continues to live his life with the high spirits he has always had. He continues to joke about everything and make anyone he talks to laugh. This makes me who I am because I want to be just like him. Making people laugh, bringing smiles to everyone's faces, and no matter what happens, I will continue to live on as who I am.

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]

Anything else you want to add: I love the group and if I am accepted, I will be donating a large amount of money to the group or to Hackforums. I would be honored to wear the user title. I also have a warning level of 20%, I hope that won't affect my application.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I'm a repairman at heart, I fix things that don't work. Whether its computers, phones, or a stopped up toilet, I deal with it when someone else cannot. I don't deal well with things that work, I really can only be interested in something that needs fixing.

What section are you most active in and why? I'm far and away most active in the Android OS section, as its the only part of HF I feel that I can make a positive impact. I used to be active in the Linux section until I realized that I wasn't a good fit for it.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I honestly don't know, I know xadamkx off and on from back when the Android section was just the Mobile Device section and I respect him, and by extension, his group.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I honestly don't know, that's up to you guys to judge. I'm just presenting myself as I am.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I was enlisted in the US Navy, but only for thirty-five days. I was sent home on a technicality because of the recent downsizing, but I still learned more about responsibility and order in my time in service than I'd had prior or have since. I'd jump on an opportunity to reenlist, and wouldn't think twice about it, no matter where I am in life or how successful I become.

Anything else you want to say: Hi Adam!

Also, I know this app kinda blows. I'm not a man of flashy images or matching colors or a lot of words, and I know that.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I was adopted at birth. I never knew my mother, and to this day I never knew my birth mother. In some way it does effect me mentally. It circles my mind often who she was or what she did but I really think she was a drug-addict. I now have Hepatitis C from her but I'm not mad. - With the recent passing of my mother (the one who adopted me) I've been trying to get my act together. I'm trying to become myself and learn from my mistakes in the past. I've had memorable moments with her though which makes me happy to think about them regardless if they were bad or good.

My name is Nickolaus. I speak a bit of German and I enjoy having German pride in me. My real name would actually be Nikolai if I were ever to move back to Germany but I do not plan on doing that anytime soon. I have some background history with computers or technology in general. I've been playing with computers ever since I started playing the game called Freddi Fish. So probably around early 2000's I have played with computers? My first computer I owned was a Windows 98 machine that got infected resulting my parents to upgrade to a Windows XP Gateway machine. I started learning batch pretty early with that machine. I also made YouTube videos with it. (Hypercam and Club Penguin was the hit back then I think.) I eventually used some of the knowledge to mess with people at school too. (Shutdown computers with CMD, etc) Then I learned about social engineering. I did get in trouble doing this. I later stopped but I kind of got back into it. I know my limits and boundaries now which is a good thing I suppose.

I really would like to get into the cyber security field. I love computers, I love how they work. A computer is basically just a little baby but when you program it to do something it can make materials. Programming is almost like a art form. You could basically make anything you want. This is why I love computers. Without computers, I don't know where I would be right now.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I would consider myself fairly decent in ActionScript and Javascript. After all, I did help a website develop that has made over $20,000 in profits. (I really am not sure if I'm supposed to be saying that in case people actually play that game.) I also have a clever mind when it comes to human manipulation. The human brain is something we cannot comprehend however manipulation is something we can understand. I also have some skill in gaming. I consider myself decent but not MLG standards.

What section are you most active in and why? I would have to say it'd be The Lounge. I've met a lot of people in there. I think why I enjoy being active in it is that I can help people along with find new friends to chat with. I'm kind of shy but I'm comfortable in The Lounge.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I would like to join The Empire because it gives me a opportunity explore/meet other people. I would also like to do things for the group also.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: Why do I think The Empire should accept me? I think that I have a lot to offer to a group. This group has been around for some time and I was thankful for getting the opportunity to rejoin the group. My application last time I thought was good but looking at it, it looks bad. I left out a lot I think.

Anything else you want to say: Thank you for giving me the opportunity to reapply. Also, Long Live The Empire!

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I have a vast and rapidly growing amount of skills. Some of my skills include, but aren't limited to:

[Web Development:] I started messing around in Adobe Dreamweaver a few years ago, using the power of my already-established digital design skills. I also am highly talented with various forum software including, but not limited to, Invision Power Board and MyBB.

[Digital Design:] Graphic design was the first form of creativity I ever experienced with - strangely enough with PowerPoint's 'save as image' feature. Ever since I upgraded to Adobe Photoshop and Adobe Illustrator about four years ago, I considered myself close to professional as I am making money off of doing graphics locally. I may also utilize the power of Cinema4D to carry out with advanced requests online.

[3D Modeling:] I started out with 3D modeling in Google Sketchup. I was able to get my first buildings and vehicles into the popular war simulator, Arma.

In Arma, I created 3D models for a roleplaying community until I left in early 2011. I then moved on and was taught the basics of 3DS Max and zModeler where I started to make vehicles for the Grand Theft Auto series.

[Gaming:] I would not be on the internet today if it wasn't for gaming. I used to play on the Xbox 360; however, I migrated to the PC in 2008 and I've been here ever since. Now, I am finding myself more into the money than the gaming, though. I operate two YouTube channels which get me roughly around $200 a month - both being affiliated with gaming, and only gaming.

[Writing:] It's pretty late as I'm writing this application, so my motivation to write paragraphs is definitely lacking; however, I can still view that as a good thing because I want to keep things short and to the point. I started writing back when I was hired as public relations at a popular GTA modding site. I wrote nearly all the announcements to be broadcasted to, at the time, an active 20,000 member population. I'm no longer staff at that site due to personal preferences; however, I still continue to write on my own board which needs constant public attention.

[Relating:] I've been told that I am very good at giving advice, and I am very good at calming people down - in real life of course.

I am that guy that always can give relationship advice, but hates relationships. It comes natural to me. Talking from an online point of view, I have had the title of "public relations" in just about any big forum I've been involved in. I could consider myself pretty adequate when it comes to giving advice, and relating with people.

What section are you most active in and why?

Coherently speaking for most of the HF population, my stats show that I am most active in HF's general discussion board, 'The Lounge'. The only logical explanation for that is because I just like to hang out and relax. Following pretty close in second place would be The Lounge's former sub-forum, HF's innuendo discussion forum - which is where I present my advice to people. I'm not too proud that those are my top-posted-in forums, but because I have never really had a 'home' here on HF, that's where I turn to most of the time.

Speaking more productively, the graphics forums are also in the forums that I post in the most. I try to help out by providing free graphics, and by providing graphical assistance and reviews to better maintain people's skills. The beginners section for hacking would also be a top-poster for me. I never have asked a question in that forum yet, but I try my best to assist people with their basic inquiries.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I believe that The Empire is one of the most elite groups on this forum. I don't think this only because an admin is a leader, but because it's led by a great guy who is so dedicated to HF, that he's put in damn near - if not over - $10,000 to this forum. A dedicated leader is the kind of leader that I want.

Additionally; lurking around the forum, I will often see The Empire stuff in people's signatures and it purely reminds me of an online family.

I've only been in one other group on HF, and that was a good one-day experience - getting kicked out for not posting in a thread within an hour, after clearly stating to Forumla1 that I was on vacation and might be unable to check things out until the next day. All I want at this point is a home on HF. The ub3r title is nice and everything, but it's contaminated with ass-kissers and low quality members. The Empire seems as if it's consumed with joyous members that strive to help one another, and that's what I'm interested in.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I don't deserve to be accepted more than the next guy. However, if I were to be accepted, I would make sure that The Empire is made my home; contributing as much as I can. I also would like to think that The Empire's members are very knowledgeable and can teach me a lot. I would like to look forward to that.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I don't really like going personal, but I will do it solely for this application. As already stated, my name is James. I began my life on the internet when I was around 11 or 12. It's been quite the journey alright, but I'd say that I have ended up in the right places at the right times. I began my journey when my father bought me a computer at the age of 6 - apparently to 'prepare' me for jobs that would require PC knowledge. He had kept me up to par with my various laptops and desktops. I played computer games, and experimented with Windows until I was about 12. At 12, I started getting involved in online gaming communities. People laughed at my high pitch voice, so I've been there done that.

My early maturing probably came from the fact that my father is an alcoholic, and my mother hasn't been in my life since I was three. Being an only child and getting what I wanted was nice, but it did not really solve the fact that my grandmother would be over whilst my dad was at the bar every night spending time with his friends.

It wasn't easy growing up, so I would often refer to my computer while he was out. Experimenting with new websites, skills, communities, games, and etcetera.

It was only recently that I figured out what I wanted to do beyond high school. Last year was the year that I went from getting D's and F's, to jumping up out of the ground and getting A's and B's. I actually got an award for that. I would like to think that HF has some role in the molding of that.

Anything else you want to say:

I've somewhat already contributed to The Empire. Aeon had asked me to do some graphic work for Empire Stresser which had gotten implemented. I believe it was the first or second logo used by Empire Stresser that I had created.

I thought about creating an application before, but I wanted to wait until I had a bit more time to put into the application so it was not half-assed. Thank you for reviewing my application, and I hope that it looks presentable from another viewpoint.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I wouldn't really say that I have skills as I am never focusing on one thing I am always doing different things I never really try to be the best at anything I just try to do what I can i what I want to do I am a very sporty person as I play soccer, basket ball and Aussie rules foot ball whilst also on the weekends I am a life saver at my local beach. But when I am not out playing sports you'll find me on the Internet playing game or browsing HF I have a high knowledge of IOS devices as I have an iPad which I use for school another iPad which I use for home use my iphone 4 and my iPod touch 2g.

What section are you most active in and why?

I am most active either on the IOS devices section as I love helping out people with their I device problems and keeping people up to date with new apple announcements and new cydia tweaks/apps. Another section that I am most active on is the minecraft section as I love the game and is definatly one of my most played games.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I would love to join the empire because I am really eager to share some of my knowledge and also learn new things with other members of HF. I would also like to join the empire because recently I have found a large interest in wanting to start coding and/or programming but am not to sure where to start and feel like the empire would be a great group where people could point me in the right direction.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel that I should join the empire because it will give me a lot of good opportunities here on HF and and the whole Internet. It would also be a great chance for me to share some of my knowledge and also get new great ideas from other HF users aswell.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am Frank Spacil I live in Melbourne, Victoria, Australia I go to school I'm In year 8 love sports whilst also love technology and computers I am very interested on starting programming and coding but not to sure where to start.

Anything else you want to say:

Not really I have always loved the empire especially there new user bar and would really love to be a part of this wonderful group. :)

I might write up a new application when I have the time, but for now here's my old one...

Nothing has changed since this application, I still stand by it and everything is still 100% correct, although I could add some more things.

The application is lengthy, so it's in spoiler tags below ?

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I have skills in many areas. I am a verry good php+MySQL,HTML,css,word-press,flash,vb,php ,java programer , Javascript . I got knowledge in many different hacking areas as well. I've got a wide field of knowledge, and I can help people will many things. I have created a verry helpful thread in Rat administration tool , where people can download all free RAT clients, and it has gotten quite a lot replies. It was active for a while, but then it kinda died. I've got skills when it comes to computing. I've got many years of experience with computers and hardware, and software, so I can also help with some computer stuff. .

What section are you most active in and why?

The most active sections I'm active in, is The Rat administration tool and exchange section . I love helping people with hacking, and Money Exchange is my Business

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I want to join because I honestly thing The Empire is a great group. The members are so nice, and contributive I think I could give The Empire a good reputation and make it the best group out there. I want to join because I think the sub-forum is very active and it'll be soo cool to talk with other people who love the group as well. I meet all requirements and I'm pretty nice :3

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): Hacking, Coding, Networking.

Hacking:SQLI

XSS

LFI

E-Whoring (But I never do this)

Social Engineering

Ratting

Brute Forcing

Coding:HTML

PHP (learning)

C#

C++

BATCH

VB

Some other scripting languages

Networking:

I have a good experience with forums, such as Mybb and with other marketing experiences such as Monetizing.

What section are you most active in and why? Mainly in Website And Forum Hacking Section because when I m good at something then why not help others, plus I love hacking and I love to help others.

And I don't think showing examples of our proves that we are a Hacker, I'm a White Hat and I can help others in any situation via PM or through skype.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I think this group is dedicated to those are ready to help others and share knowledge throughout sub-forum. And I feel that being a member of this group will teach me something and I will be able to share what I m best at.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: As I already stated that I have a desire to help others in the situation once I was in, so it doesn't matter if it takes anything. If I will be accepted in this group, I can assure you that you won't be regretting.

At last decision is in your hands.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I m a Security Researcher as well as a White Hat Hacker, I love to help others and it will be a memorable moment for me if I will be accepted in this group, In other words my best moment was that when I realized that I have something to show and I have the ability to rise above all.

Anything else you want to say: Thank you for giving me this opportunity.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I see myself as a understanding person. I do not judge people for the reasons they make in certain situations in life. One might make a desicion that might not make sence to you only because you haven't been in the situation that person is in at the moment. When I decide to do something I do it to the fullest and I barely ever quit with something I started.

What section are you most active in and why? Mostly in the gaming section. Back in the day when I was in other groups I was active in the subforum. I've been active in pretty much every section in here in HackForums though.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: For the members and it's community. When I am browsing trough the forums I ofend find myself agreeing the most with people from The Empire. I know, it's strange but true.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I am not arrogant, over all these great members applying I don't see why I should be sticking out. I am an average guy, good people skills and most important mature and a helping personality.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I have been through more shit in my personal life than I am willing to post here. Luckily most of the dark days are behind me. I have lost a lot of friends due to car accidents and two from suicide, that had a big impact on me. I have spent a year and a half in jail for something I took the blame for. What they say is true, you get a lot of time to think your life over and over. I got to know myself, why I make certain choices and how it has affected me to this very day. I am a very strict guy, I don't like being around bullshitters. I am the guy who will say cut the crap and get to the point. That is why I don't make this post fancy. All you need to know about me is here. If you have any other questions feel free to ask me. Last but not least, who made me who I am? Myself, my family and friends and my surroundings.

Anything else you want to say: I often find myself struggling explaining things. This may be because I speak three languages.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Web Hosting Knowledge - Basic Server and Management Knowledge

[img]<http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/webmaster-hosting.png>[/img]

Quote: When I first came to this forum, I decided to look at hosting more, I didn't really check out the hacking section, which is weird, because usually hacking is where everyone starts. I began to give people some free hosting and began to do various ventures with different members of the community. It left me with some friends and some enemies and definitely was a good experience to have. I obviously learnt more and more advanced stuff as I went along. I'm not saying I'm a complete pro, because no one is, everyone still has something to learn in every area of anything.

Basic Web Programming Knowledge - HTML, CSS and PHP

[img]<http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/php-forum.png>[/img]

Quote: As I went along with Web Hosting, I began to look at PHP more, I had HTML and CSS before already through Youtube tutorials (From what I can remember). I know have some decent knowledge in fundamental aspects of PHP. I have a big PHP bible in my bedroom if I ever get stuck with stuff in PHP and like web hosting, I'm always learning something new. I would say I know Javascript, but I don't really. I just import jquery libraries and use the libraries.

Marketing Skills [img]<http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/market-talk.png>[/img]

Quote: I'd like to say I have some marketing skills. Maybe some people will disagree with me. I am quite active in the marketplace discussions area and have been running a successful Skype API Resolver for booters for about 4 months. I'm pretty happy with providing a product that booter owners are happy with (as I know of). I have advertised many of my products in different ways around Hack Forums.

What section are you most active in and why?:

Quote: I would say Marketplace discussions and hosting, it's pretty self explanatory why, I like to talk to some of the members in marketplace discussions as it's a great place compared to the lounge which I very rarely go into. I think I just prefer the members there, than anywhere else. I don't know why. Hosting will always be a place where I will post and try and help out people.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Quote: I felt this was the right time to join the Empire, I have some people I like in there and I thought I should give it a shot, as everyone else has so I thought I would too. Seems to be the most known group on Hack Forums which remains HQ.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

Quote: I'd like to say I'm a HQ person, I'm not sure if people would agree but I don't think I'm not that LQ at all. I keep active and have been round the forums for 2 years trying to stay active and give some helpful answers. Some people like me, some people don't.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Quote: I'm Jack, I like to help and create things. I have always been interested with technology and have no idea why. I'm really not one to share things over Hack Forums, as I don't think it would benefit anyone really. I like to talk to people and try to answer people who are cool to me. I have helped a few people round the forum, although I wouldn't say I'm a huge donator to the Hack Forums community, as I can't devote my time completely to the community.

I'm pretty devoted to the projects that I do, and I'm happy to provide support. I can provide a nice friendly chat on Skype also if anyone wishes to talk to me, just don't be a douchebag.

One thing I will tell people is that I'm a white guy with big curly hair. That's what makes me different in real life and that's what I like in people, difference. Not white guys with curly hair.

Anything else you want to say:

Quote: I hope that everyone in the application process has as much fun as I did making mine, I liked making the paint picture at the top. I didn't really like talking about myself, I find it a place where people are modest with themselves (which I probably was). Anywho, thanks for looking at the Jack application.

Regards,
Jack

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I am familiar with computers and how to use them. I can pretty much pick up any computer software and begin to learn and how to use it. It may take me some time, and some research, but I am confident if you put any program in front of me, I'll be at least somewhat familiar with it in about a week.

I am also incredibly fascinated and familiar with RATs/Remote Administration Tools. I can set one up on pretty much any computer and understand how they work, the functions, the software, the standards and the dislikes, and even know the basics on how they work and function.

This may be coming off of the RAT thing, but I also know crypters as well, their basic functions, how to use them, how they work. Pretty much everything about them. Yeah.

I also know Malware. I know where to find it, I know where the commonly infected areas of the computer are, and most important of all, I know how to remove it. (Bestly done on Windows OS) I know a bunch of easy to use tools and some power tools of mine that are very efficient in removing Malware. Though none are automatic. (Unfortunately.)

Even though the amount of C++ I know is very minimal, I know at least some of the basics of the language.

Also, this may not be relevant, but my typing speed is ~85~ words per minute, and I often spend most of my free time on Hackforums.

What section are you most active in and why?

I am most active in the RAT section of HF. RATs have always fascinated me in their power and their ability to stay hidden, broadcasting all of your private information in the background, without you even knowing. It could be putting gay porn on your computer, or removing important business files, and you wouldn't know until it was way too late. That's the part of which is fascinates me. But also the fact that it bypasses Firewalls using Reverse Connection, that just a simple crypt will get it past an AV. It's the malicious purposes of it all that strikes me as interesting. I just love it, imho. Currently, I have ~2350~ posts in the RAT section, and it is going up every single day.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I feel as if Empire is one of those groups where every one is family. Where everyone catches eachother when a single person falls and we all teach eachother a thing or two and just mainly have fun. That's what I've been getting from the members in Empire, anyways. It's also very surprising that Judge Dredd is in Empire. Usually Admins don't join/actively participate in groups.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel as if I shouldn't be, as I'm not worthy. Though if that were my real mindset, I wouldn't be applying. I'm only asking that you pick the best person for the job, whether that be myself, or somebody else. It's only your decision which will matter in the end. ^^

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I was that one guy in Middle School who never really talked to anybody or communicated beyond what the curriculum required of me. Due to this, I felt as if I didn't belong in pretty much anywhere. I really didn't have anybody I could really call a friend, I was the "Loner" if you really want to have some sort of terminology for it. Now, I still don't go out and I still don't have a person to call if I need help or I want to hang out or whatever. I don't really care anymore, though. Around in High School, I found about Hackforums. I mean, I had an account from 2010, but I just wanted to leach and whatever else, but then I started to be come a bit addicted. Just posts and more posts and lovable subforums and whatever else, I feel as if it has become my home and my "Friends" if you wish are now the users of Hackforums. That's where I am now in my HF Career, still a loner but active in the eyes. Lame, eh? Yep.

Anything else you want to say:

I don't believe so. Thank you for having recruitment, though. ^^

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Ewhoring & Social engineering I dont really see this as something speial, but I would say that Ive done some great SE's, not like all thoose fraudelent shits doing replacements, but IRL SE, 3 months in a row have I gotten my bills deleted.. ;)

Malware setup and usage This one isnt either something great. But ive worked with rats, crypters, keyloggers, worms etc for quite some time now, so I have alot of experience in this arier.

PHP and HTML At the moment im going over the very basics of php and html, since Ive always wanted to learn more about website creating and all that it has in it.

VB.net Ive leanred some basic vb.net, mainly made fake programs for my niche products.

PPD / General money making I have made a good amount of $ on the internet in my living time. Most of it from PPD, Ive worked with alot of different niches, I mainly use YT videos and small blogs. Besides that then Ive sold alot different accounts, like steam, netflix etc

IRL $ Making I run my own workshop, I have a huge garage underneath my house where I do smaller repairs on Motorcycles and scooters, mainly scooters. Ive had scooters for several years, and I make a good steady income on small repairs and selling parts. Besides that then I resell alot of differnt stuff IRL from chinese wholesale sites.

[b] Gaming [/b] At the moment I mainly play PC games. I play World of warcraft, league of legends and Counter strike source on a daily basis. When I where a child I used to love Crash Bandicoot and Spyro haha. I just recently started playing PokeMMO.

Graphics I have learned my way around in photoshop and cinema 4 d. Been using mainly Photoshop, and I use it on a daily basis for everything.

What section are you most active in and why?

At the moment I mainly browse the marketplace and marketplace discussions.

Besides that then I do my hourly check if not my half hourly check at View New Posts & View Today's Posts.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I feel that Empire is the best nicest group here at HF at the moment, I know some of the members in the group, and I have heard great things about it.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

Well, many people just go down the "ohh I am Hq, make alot giveaways blabla", but I dont think that It's all about being HQ and shit like that. I mean, I have done several giveaways, and spent alot of time around here trying to help people out.. But I think that theres more into it than just doing giveaways.

But I deserve to join because I would be a great member of the Empire, and you won't regret letting me in!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well, I mostly spend my time IRL in my garage, where I hang out with my friends or do what I love to do, repair motorcycles and scooters. I have alot of ongoing projects at the moment, which I would gladly share pictures of or tell more about if people where interested in that.

Probably going to create some thread about my projects in the near future.

Besides the time I spent in my garage, then I have my lovely girlfriend. Weve been toghether for almost 6 months, so Im still trying to figure what to do on our half year anyversary :D

Anything else you want to say:

I wil just say really quick that I ope youll consider me for this group, thus my warning level which you can see why I got under my profile.

Got it for an ricicules unfair reason :/

Good luck to all!

Zuse - March 25, 2013, 3:57 pm

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):Forum Development: I have been working with many different forum software for about 3 (Going on 4.) years now. I have become very familiar on how forums work, and how the programming behind the forum software works as well. The main forum software that I am familiar with are; vBulletin, MyBB, SMF, and XenForo.

Monetizing Online: I have been making money on the internet for about as long as I've own a computer. (Very long!) I do not monetize with social engineering methods, I have found that "SE'ing" can be unreliable, and inconsistent. I make money online through working for various networks/businesses. I have recently been hired as a Director of Partnership at a well known YouTube network. I am getting paid very good, and I feel this is a good and honest way of making a decent amount of money.

Gaming: Although gaming is not useful on a hacking forum, I still feel the need to put this in my skills list. I have been gaming for 9 years, ever since I got my very first PS2, I could not put down the controller. Over the last couple of years I have gotten into competitive gaming. My favorite game type is a tie between Domination and Search and Destroy. I have always been an active gamer, but since I have started college, I have had to cut down on my gaming life, but I am still exceptionally good.

Hacking (General): I have only recently begun hacking, I am still trying to figure out my way around some things such as website hacking, and other things such as social engineering. My best skill, as far as hacking goes, is probably website hacking. I do not consider myself better than anyone since I am still just a beginner to hacking.

What section are you most active in and why?

I predominantly find myself lurking around in the 'Website and Forum Hacking' mainly because I am very interested in forums and other website related things. I am going to start becoming active in the 'Coding' section because I am starting to become interested in making programs both harmful and helpful to people. I would like to gain some knowledge before I start making posts in the section though. I will also start posting in the 'Money' section, I will try and help people with online monetizing as best as I possibly can. I feel like I have some knowledge to share with some users that may be helpful for them.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I feel that by me joining The Empire, it will be a gateway for me. It will allow me to meet new people, and make it easier for me to learn new things that might be helpful on my journey to become a good hacker, both black hat and white hat. Also by joining your very prestigious group, I will be able to be more 'noticed' on these forums, and I could get my ideas and thoughts heard. I also would love to join because I believe this group would be a good stepping stone for me as far as me hacking goes.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

Although my post count does not show it, I am a very high quality member (I try to be.), and I am going to start helping as much as I possibly can around these forums, whether it'd be about hacking, monetizing, or graphics. I also feel I deserve to be accepted because I am a very respectful person, and nowadays finding a respectful person is rare. I am going to start doing contests, and giving free stuff away as much as I can, I'm not sure when I'm going to start though. My goal on this forum is to be accepted into The Empire, so I will do the best and the most I possibly can to be in this group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:
The Beginning: My life on the internet started back about 6 years ago when I got my very first laptop. I was probably the most excited kid in the world at that very moment when I unwrapped that laptop! I first started out on the internet by playing simple little math games (My parents bought them for me. :D) I thought that computers were the best invention ever (I still think so.), I could never get enough of being on the internet. I could be staring at a blank page, and I still wouldn't get bored!

The Downfall: On May 23, 2000; I heard the phone ringing, then I heard my mother start crying. At the time, I didn't know what to think. I was completely oblivious to what news my mother had just gotten. After I heard her get off the phone, she ran to me, and gave me the biggest hug. The hug that I would always remember. After she had released from her hug, she had told me what happened... My older brother was killed in a car accident, he was hit head-on by a drunk driver, only a mile down the road. He was that close to getting home safe and sound, but that was all ruined by one person who decided to drink and drive.

After that day, there was a deep and dark sadness and anger that was constantly building up for years, until one day I was pushed off the edge, and I decided to try and kill myself. I found the sturdiest piece of rope I could find, tied it to the ceiling fan, tied it around my neck, and let myself suffocate. My mother happened to walk inside my room, and saw my self hanging there. She immediately took me down just as I was starting to fade away. She then calls 911, and tells them to get a medic. About a week after the incident, my parents started taking me to therapy 3 times a week, although it did somewhat help, I still had the same darkness inside my heart.

The Uprise!: Since I decided to try my best to defeat depression, I joined MMA, as sort of a stress reliever, and a way to release my anger out on someone/something. Since I've joined MMA, I have been one of the most happiest people. I have done a complete 360°, I am no longer depressed, I am no longer thinking of harming myself in anyway. I think that MMA saved my life in a way.

Anything else you want to say:

I put my heart into this application, and I look forward to meeting you all soon! Thank you for taking the time out of your day to reading this. Means a lot!

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): Digital Art - I've been into graphics editing for about 2 or 3 years now.

I started by simple tutorials, and over time I've just taught myself.

I'll leave links to things that I've made in the anything else I want to say.

RAT knowledge - I have a decent amount of RAT knowledge. I was in BlackShades back when it was a group, I used to love stuff like that. I've sort of drifted away from it though. I know a decent amount of stuff about malware, not as much as I'd like to know.. But I know some..

Computer building - I myself have a decent computer, I didn't build it, not because I couldn't, just because i was too lazy. Haha.

Anyhow, I know a fair amount about computers/parts.

Gaming - I've been a gamer geek for about 5 years haha.

It started out with Runescape, then when I turned 12 I took up Xbox. Lately I've been moving more onto computer stuff, though.

Coding - I don't know if I'd really say that I can code. But I would love to learn.

I do know some minor python, and many of my friends are into Java & PHP so I'm sure they could give me a few pointers. ?

What section are you most active in and why?:

I used to have near 1,000 posts in Rhythm until it was junked :/

But now, I have: Griefing section: 1008

I just love the atmosphere of the griefing section.

The people inside of this sub forum just crack me up. Not all of them are trolls though, there are actually some really intelligent chaps there. ?

I guess I also go back there because most people know me from there.

Terror: 70

Gotta represent mah group! Haha not many, but still..

The Lounge: 46

I don't have many posts here, but I like to creep a lot.

Premium Sellers Section: 42

Once again, not many posts here.. I mainly just buy shit and don't post. :P

Why do you want to join The Empire?: From what I've seen in the past, this group would be FANTASTIC to be in.

When I think of The Empire, I think of well respected members. Not trying to ass-kiss or anything but I honestly do.

I can also tell that this group knows its shit when it comes to marketing.

Which is another thing that really interests me. I would love to learn more about the subject. ?

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel I should be accepted because I am always open for more knowledge. I try to be high quality at just about any point in time. I also feel that I would be a good addition to this group because of my dedication. Once I set my mind on something, I am determined to figure it out.

I also feel that my marketing skills are shit right now, and I would loove to better them. I once tried a small Twitter shop in the Terror section, but it didn't work out too well.

I'm also pretty good at reviews & I look forward to reviewing many things under the official Empire name?, I'll link you to them below. <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=2593170>

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm a 16 year old boy. Some may find me interesting, others may find me boring. It doesn't really matter to me to be honest, I don't let others control my life with their opinions on my characteristics. I was born in a small town that I still live in today. I have two parents, both still together, one sister, and three dogs(I'm a dog person). My dog's names are: Buttercup (German Shepherd, which is mine), Ranger (Some mutt we found, haha), and last but not least, Coco (Our family Yorky).

I've thankfully had a pretty blessed and laid back life. Which is fantastic, because my personality is extremely laid back. ?

I take way too much for granted, and I realize it. I try to give back to my friends and sometimes to random people as often as I can.

I am enrolled in an honors Leadership class and I try to do as much with the community as I can. I'm a sophomore and I currently have 72 community service hours.

I plan on attending to Oklahoma University, considering it's been my dream college since I was about seven. ?

Once in college I plan on taking courses that will better educate me to prepare for a career in wind energy and or oil companies. Since both are HUGE in Oklahoma.

But I'm not entirely sure what I want to be 100% yet!

That is indeed enough of me rambling on about my life. Hopefully it's not too boring! =)

Anything else you want to say:

Below in the spoiler I will post some links to some of the digital art that I've made that I said above that I will post down here.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I do NOT code programs or make sites, I am simply a Marketplace whore. I constantly buy and sell shit online. Oftn times, I buy stuff online and sell it to people I know in real life. I am a hustler, but I am also and will always be a legitimate salesman.

What section are you most active in and why?Marketplace, more specifically: Gamertags, Premium Sellers Section, and I also frequent the appraisal section to help members with pricing online items. (Mostly Xbox gamertags, Emails, and other online accounts)

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I was not very active for the first few months when I joined Hackforums in 2011, but I feel like I am becoming more and more active daily. I would like to belong to a respectable group with a purpose.

P.S. The Empire Userbar would be a sick bonus :]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I am a an active member, who helps people whenever I can. And I am here to learn as much as I can.

"There is no knowledge that is not power" -Mortal Kombat

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I am a sales clerk at a local grocery store, I have worked there for 2 years now and I currently am making just over $12 an hour. I have high hopes to progress through the company quickly into an MIT level, after that I would like to become a store manager. They make roughly $100,000 a year in my company, and with that I feel that I would be able to live the way that I want, care free.

When I was around 12 years old, my parents had told me we were gonna lose our house. I was panicking, thinking about never seeing my friends again and going to a different school, all the little stuff that a child my age at that time would think about. Because it was summer break, I mowed lawns for the next 2 weeks straight and earned around $800, allowing my family to stay at that house longer. In my family, me and my siblings were taught that there is nothing more important than a family bond. I have always done WHATEVER I have had to, in order to help my family in any situation.

Anything else you want to say: Thanks for allowing me to submit an application to Empire, I hope I am accepted to join and can become a great contribution to the group I know that I do not possess that many computing skills, so I understand if I am not accepted into Empire.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Graphics: I really like to make GFX and I also have a GFX shop. All my customers are happy with what they got. Here is the link.

Coding: And I code. I code in Visual Basic, C#, Python, Java (, Batch) and I just began with HTML and PHP. I code for myself and I haven't released any good codes of mine, yet.

I don't think I am good at it, but I have much fun, when I find new things to do and when I get better.

What section are you most active in and why?

I am most active in the Visual Basic and .NET section, because VB was the first "real" language I learned. So Visual Basic is the language I know the most about.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I'd really like to get in contact with other coders and graphics artists, because I'd like to learn much more than I know today. I love to get better and see how much I evolved, that's very interesting to me.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I am not the best coder or graphics artist, but I think that I know many things and that I can help beginners in every language I code in and in many other cases they need help.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I got my first computer with 10. I was very excited about it and I started to get knowledge hunger how computers and programs work. A year later I found Batch. That is the first language I learned and I learned the basics of coding.

I found Batch with "Batch Viruses" on YouTube and I wanted to learn how to code something like the guys in the videos did.

Some months later I realised, that the "Viruses" weren't actual viruses, just some fake things, but I was very excited in how to code real viruses, like trojans etc.

But my knowledge hunger got stopped because of some hard downfalls for me.

My much loved grandparents died in a time of 4 months, hit on hit. I was very down and I stopped working with computers until the last summer. I re-started coding and on my search for new ideas I found HackForums.

The first section I found was the griefing section. I started to code Java because I really like Minecraft and I wanted to get better in coding clients for Minecraft.

After some times I was bored because of many trolls in the griefing section, and I started to take a look at other sections. I found the Visual Basic one and I started to code. The first thing I made was a "password manager".

It was limited to 8 accounts but it was my first coded thing in VB. Many guys hated on me because of my release and the 5000st "password manager", but I kept going and I learned many new things.

Then I got into other languages like C#, Python, and in the last weeks, HTML and PHP.

I started to learn and code many new things I had never seen before, but I also enjoyed the new skills I could present my friends.

The language I am most interested at the moment is Python, because it's OOP (object oriented programming) without any WYSIWYG (what you see is what you get) clients and studios like Visual Basic and C#.

Anything else you want to say:

Thank you for reading my application and good luck to all the other applicants!

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):Forum Development

[IMG]http://cdn1.iconfinder.com/data/icons/tinyim/24/GroupChat.png[/IMG]

I have been working with both MyBB and vBulletin for years. I started out with vBulletin at around version 3.8/4.0. I loved forums and had a pretty successful service on a few different forums where I would setup forums for customers and basically be their developer. I have recently moved on to MyBB and have been gradually getting experienced with the software. It's not a lot different to vBulletin but there's a few new things I need to learn.

Gaming

[img]http://cdn1.iconfinder.com/data/icons/oxygen/22x22/apps/preferences-desktop-gaming.png[/img]

I have been a competitive gamer for quite some time. I absolutely love any form of gaming. My first competitive game was Counter-Strike 1.6. I played the game for probably onto a year until Counter-Strike: Source came out and pretty much everyone I knew started playing it, so I moved too. I got very far with Counter-Strike: Source and ended up in the professional league on CyberGamer here in the Australian leagues. The game has pretty much died now with the release of Counter-Strike: GO and I have decided to not move on. I have also played League of Legends competitively for about the last year, playing in plenty of tournaments and even winning one or two. I've cut down on League of Legends as of late, leaving my team as I want to try and get into the competitive CoD scene on Xbox.

White Hat Hacking

[IMG]http://cdn1.iconfinder.com/data/icons/TWG_Retina_Icons/24/hat.png[/IMG]

Recently I have been learning about white hat activities/hacking. I don't know much yet, but I've been doing a lot of research, reading tutorials, posting threads on other hacking forums etc and I hope to become an expert in the near future.

Communications [IMG]http://cdn1.iconfinder.com/data/icons/webapp/PNG-24/Comment.png[/img]

I believe I am great when it comes to communicating online. I am quite shy in real life but on the internet I feel more secure and have the ability to communicate with people very easily. I can work good deals and sell products easily as well as make new friends.

[img]http://z4.ifrm.com/30322/96/0/p1147967/seperator.png[/img]

What section are you most active in and why?

I would say that I am most active in the Lounge, followed by the League of Legends section. Here are the reasons behind my extended activity in these sections.

Lounge - I would say that as of late this has been my preferred section. In all honesty, I just love posting. I don't know why but ever since I become a forum user I have had a passion for posting. I love joining in on active discussions, making new friends, learning new things, giving advice, teaching people new things, having a laugh and everything else that happens in the lounge. The lounge is just a great place to chill out overall.

League of Legends - This one is quite simple. I absolutely LOVE the game and as mentioned earlier, I have been playing the game competitively for around a year. I enjoy posting in the section and giving out tips for beginners, discussing the recent patches and nerfs/buffs, showing my recent games and seeing others recent games where users have done well. It's also really fun to discuss the recent professional teams news, lineup changes etc. All in all it's really enjoyable browsing the League of Legends section as I feel as though I have a connection to the users due to the fact we play and love the same game.

[img]http://z4.ifrm.com/30322/96/0/p1147967/seperator.png[/img]

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I would love to join The Empire as I see it as one of the more high quality groups on Hackforums that users look up to and respect. I believe that being accepted into The Empire would be a gateway to becoming a more respected member. It would also help me meet new people and make some new friends who share the same interests as me. I have a ton of respect for current Empire members as they're all extremely helpful, giving and nice. It would also be nice to put The Empire's name on the contests and giveaways I have. It's approaching a year now for me and I am yet to join a group so it would mean a lot to be if The Empire, my favorite group, was my very first group!

[img]http://z4.ifrm.com/30322/96/0/p1147967/seperator.png[/img]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel as though I should be accepted into The Empire as I am an extremely friendly and accepting person. I always have a smile on my face and never get upset or angry. I have held contests before and have upgraded a few members. I always post in a friendly manner and try to help users with whatever issues they may be experiencing. I try to report as many rule-breaking posts as I can to help the staff members keep the forum clean and tidy. I have some very nice skills as listed earlier and would be able to teach The Empire members some things I've learned over the years as well as learn some new skills. I have put about an hour and 15 minutes of effort into my application as well as getting a separator made for the questions. Here are some example threads of my contests and threads that became popular.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Where do I start. Well, my name is Hayden and I'm 17. I live in Melbourne, Australia with my brother Dylan, father Brian and my mother Vikki. I am extremely passionate about sport. I currently play basketball and soccer. I previously played cricket and AFL but I was getting far too tired and nearly every night was taken up by training or games and I couldn't fit them all in. I listen to hip-hop/rap music and follow the scene heavily. My favorite rapper would be Tupac but Chief Keef is my current favorite due to Tupac being dead obviously. I am a huge animal lover, having owned many different pets. Currently I only own a dog called Jed, he is a greyhound. I have owned 2 rabbits, a chicken, 3 cats and 2 goldfishes. I also enjoy gaming on the Xbox and computer as I explained earlier.

My first memorable moment would be when my grandpa passed away when I was 10. He was probably my best friend and we did everything together. I always went to my grandparents house and had 'sleep-overs'. I would often spend the entire weekend at their house when I had school. He passed away from a form of cancer; Leukemia. Thus, I have recently shaved my head for the Worlds Greatest Shave to show my support against the sickness (picture below). It put my grandma in tears when I showed/told her what I had done.

Next would be when I won 3 premierships in a row with my AFL team. We went undefeated for the entire 3 seasons which was truly incredible. They were some of the best blokes I've met and I will treasure those days forever. After the 3rd season I decided to hang up the boots and focus more on basketball as it was a game I took much more seriously, so I never felt defeat in my short lived football days ^_^.

Another memorable moment for me would be when we moved into our new house. We were living in a pretty bad house, it was made of wood and the backyard was terrible. It was tiny but it was my parents pride and joy being their first ever home. Our new house is amazing, it's a 2 story house made out of brick with more than enough space for the family. It's absolutely amazing on the inside but now we have literally no backyard for our huge dog to run around in or us to play basketball and football etc. I would give up a huge backyard for the inside of this house though.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): Some of my skills could be, to be social, or talk with people. I'm often getting told that I'm easy to talk with as well am I a good listener. An example could be that, when a friend of mines boyfriend was cheating on her, I was talking to her for weeks, she was so thankful that she invited me on a restaurant. Besides being good at the social, I'm also doing a lot of body building. I'm exercising at least 4 times a week, for 2-2 and a half hour. For my online life, am I a gamer, which I've been for 5 years now.

What section are you most active in and why? I have most posts in the whole Market Place tab itself. Also, I have quite a lot of posts in Members Contests, as I was used to give away a lot of items, but at the current time, I'm pretty much broke at everything.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I'd like to join The Empire because I see it as one of the more high quality groups at HF. And because I already know some of the members, they're only recommending it. They've told me it's a great community inside the SF. As well would I like to join The Empire to meet new people, as I'm already a part of some groups, I know how awesome it is to meet new people, especially in the groups, as it's just some special connection between everyone.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel like being accepted into The Empire because of the fact that I'm a giving person, which not usually are asking for anything in return.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I believe, I'm the person I am because of a scene in my life, where everything changed. It was in 2006 to the early 2008, I was little, kinda fat, and was used to be bullied - not on a daily basis, but a few times a week. That's not what changed my life, but in the summer, 2008 my family and I moved house, as well did I move school (nothing to do with being bullied), I started in a new class, met some new people, then in the winter 2009 I went ill for 1 month and a week, I lost a lot of weight and grew 20 centimeters (not in the 5 week period, but during the whole year, between my 11th and 12th birthday) - this changed my life, I became confident and believe a lot more in myself. I got the strong personality, which I have today.

Anything else you want to say: I'd just say thanks for reading my application, I hope you enjoyed it, even if I'm accepted or not.

[align=center]What section are you most active in and why?I'm active in a ton of sections; from inneudo to gaming to marketplace. I post in as many sections as possible and try to remain as HQ as I could. I also try to help whenever possible.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: Honestly, I feel like I could communicate and get along well with others. I respect others and their opinion and believe I could learn a lot from the members of Empire. Activity is never a problem for me as I have my laptop and I'm on whenever I possibly can. I try to be as HQ as possible and not spam whenever I post something.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel I could be a great addition to the team. I believe I will get along great with the members and show myself to the community. Empire has been a group I wanted to join for awhile. I have been on Hackforums for quite sometime now. I believe I am a HQ person and I will not let anyone down. I'll try my best to give to the community and the members or Empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: My name is Mahdy, I'm 18 years old and in college. Or I was. I completed one full semester (last fall), and had to drop three corses this semester due to my stomach disease and me being in and out the hospital since October. I see the world in a different perspective. I believe everyone, no matter who you are deserves a second chance. I try to be there for anyone and everyone because I know what its like to be alone and not have someone by your side when you have hit rock bottom. I have a stomach disease which is a chronic illness that will last me my whole life and it has made me see life in a different way. I'm not rich and can't do massive giveaways, but I can give advice about life and offer a helping hand to anyone. I'm great with communicating, I love getting along with new people and a new group.

Anything else you want to say: Activity and quality will not be a problem. I will be as active and HQ as I can. I will make Empire stand out and not give this group a bad name. This is an awesome group and it was great to be able to post an application. Thanks for taking the time to read it, good luck everyone.

I am currently build a massive C4D tutorial that will be posted in a few days.

Other than Graphics, I have some knowledge in Website Construction, HTML/PHP, Java and Visual Basics. For my science fair project I coded a simple java program to control a greenhouse environment. Picture of the experiment. \(Click to View\)

It looks weird because the Interface unit isn't plugged in.

I am in the process in learning computing and am studying to get my Comp TIA certificate.

What section are you most active in and why?

Before I got my l33t (Around November) I only posted in the Runescape section. I love the game and have been playing it for a number of years. However this is no longer my most active section. I now post in the Graphics sections daily. I enjoy seeing other members work and helping out people with tips or constructive criticism. I post in the L33T OT section frequently because I enjoy talking to people in the Upgraded Members Lounge.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Empire members are everywhere. Most of them are very nice and knowledgeable. They are members to look up too. I would like to be apart of that. I feel like I could learn a lot from the members and hopefully teach them some of the things I know. I would love to be able to talk in the sub-forum. I think it would open many doors for me to advance on the HackForums and help other members.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

As I learn more about graphics, I like to teach people about my knew knowledge. Like I said, I am building a huge C4D tutorial, and plan on doing many more, pinpointing specific techniques. I am a very friendly person and I love meeting new people. I am very active on HF and I would be very dedicated to the group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I got my computer last year in June, at the end of the school year. I mainly just used it to record Xbox and YouTube. I always thought people with J-Tags were so cool, so that lead me to "hacking" I searched the internet for hours, trying to learn things. This lead me straight to the RATing section of HF. I had no idea what a forum was and got incredibly confused. I made an account after about 2 weeks, and started leeching. I went inactive for about a month, then I discovered the Runescape section. After seeing people like Vinnie post there, I realized that I needed to become HQ.

I first got into Graphics about 9 months ago. I used to trickshot a lot and saw the GFX people made and I thought it was amazing. I downloaded the programs I needed and dove in, absorbing everything I could. I learned about Cinema 4D and used it to make text for YT BG's. I recently learned about all the other things you could do with the program and want to expand my knowledge.

I have learned so much since I first joined HF and it has given me so many opportunities. I have met a lot of really cool people and am really enjoying my time here.

Anything else you want to say:

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to apply to this awesome group! Good luck to everyone else and I hope everyone whose in spring break is enjoying it! Vouch for Raitz. Definitely deserves a spot in this group.

What are some skills that you have: I can mainly focus on Minecraft and PC Gaming, I am a talented gamer with a lot to share. I understand how to modify games, and hack them. I also enjoy playing legitimately with my youtube channel. I have a interest in Web hacking and I can preform SQLi, XSS, etc. I am not a very good "hacker" but I understand how to code at a moderate level and am quite good at what I do code (mods and web hacking programs). I also enjoy to make GFX even though I have not posted it on the forum yet.

What section are you most active in and why? According to my post count, "The Lounge" But this is because I have the urge to yell at stupid people and tell them why they are wrong, :D. In all truth, I post my most meaningful "active" posts in beginner hacking and Philosophy Section.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I have noticed that the most HQ members on the forum are from this group, most members are helpful or very talented. I would really like to join this phenomenal group.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I have a lot to learn and a lot to teach. I also want to start in a very good place, in the sense that this group is made up of the most talented members on the forum, (not being a asskisser at all)

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: The loss of my father has had a great impact on who I am today, I think more seriously about life and process things in a much more mature manner. I try to understand death and the idea of life, but I am still to learn my purpose here on planet earth.

Anything else you want to say: Not really, my application says it all

What section are you most active in and why? I'm Active at Lounge because of many OFF-topic that i interested in.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:Because of it's legitimate group , i want to learn or help with some ways , i want to be with some other guys as well. :]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:I never get angry . I used to be friendly. I feel it because they are recruiting? ...

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:where do i have to start ? , um , First , I sit on computer 17- 20 hours in a day , I like reading stuff specially on this forum , in 9gag too . I don't use my Facebook often . um , anything else? ..

Anything else you want to say: I joined in many groups , on different site and Disbanded cause of Unactive leader.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I like to program, I have been doing it for about 3 years now. Over the years I've learned a lot and find myself able to create almost anything I like when I need it. I started with the language Java, where I learned the basics for programming. I'm also a web developer, PHP & Java are my favorite computer languages. I also can write C#, python, HTML, CSS, BASIC.

What section are you most active in and why?

The Java section because it's my favorite language and I'm always on the lookout for people I can help.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I Never bothered to join a group on HF and from reading the posts it seems like it would be a great one to be my first.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel like I should be accepted into The Empire because I'm easy to get along with and very helpful. I can also supply the group with private tools that I make.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I recently just dropped out of high school because I felt like it wasn't for me. I then was placed into a program for my GED practicing, 2 days later was removed from it because I obtained the highest possible score on the placement test. Now I'm waiting to take my GED and trying harder to become a better programmer.

I plan to become wealthy from programming one day, but give back. I would like to use most of my money on helping those less fortunate or never really had a chance, and rebuild their lives to give them a fresh start. People deserve chances.

What section are you most active in and why? At the moment, I like keep myself among the Privet Group sections. I also watch over WH section and occasionally hover onto the MRT Log Analyzer section for my training purposes.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: This group has many high quality members who can be a really good teacher. I want to expand my knowledge with their help.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: Honestly, I have no idea. I have been in many groups and this group seems to be the group I want to be in regardless of the fact that Alliance, Wraith and MRT will always be of my Top 3.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Hackforum is my first forum over internet and since the first day I have been learning. I am first learner and help any one with their needs with the limited powers bestowed upon me. I am a very friendly guy with a good sense of humor and can always have my shoulder if you ever need someone to talk to.

'Snorlax - March 27, 2013, 12:53 pm

I know my design sucks, and it always will. I tried to make it pretty, but I am not good at doing that.

Some of my stuff:

Coding:

I made www.Harlem-Shake-It.com - The site went from 0 views to over 50.000 (unique) in under 5 days. It went viral like crazy, and my adrenaline was pumping like hell. I just needed to make it get as viral as possible! The site is currently down, and it probably will be forever, as over 10 professional coders and myself couldn't figure out a problem with my script. Since my last hoster went down, I was unable to get it working, eventhough it was the exact same files. What a shame.

I've made a Minecraft sign generator. It would look like a Minecraft sign:

<https://i.imgur.com/AzEu1.png> and then it would receive your text and put it on the sign. Very funny to play with, and many on HF (back when Beacon existed) liked it.

Graphics:

I don't have much to show off. One of my best manipulations is of my mom's car:

<https://puu.sh/2p2IN>

I made it look like a pimp car, and my teacher loved it. I got top grades for it, and I didn't spend more than an hour on it. Maybe 1½ hours tops.

Here's the final result: <https://puu.sh/2p2Mq> - I wanted to make it more pimp, but I didn't have time enough for it, as I needed to manipulate 4 more pictures.

Computing:

Here are my computer's specs:

CPU: i7 2600k @ 4.4GHz

Cooling (CPU & GPU): H100 on my CPU and stock on GPU

RAM: 32GB Corsair Vengeance @ 1933MHz

GPU: 660 Ti 2GB @ 700-800Mhz (something like that)

Motherboard: ASUS P8P67-LE

Not the best, but neither the worst. I'd rate it 8/10, and it's perfect for gaming.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Graphic Design:

I've been doing Graphical design for a while and I've made a few signatures and thread designs, I was also part of the graphic masters student program for a while. I can't really say that I am very talented however I do have the ability to do a bit more than the average person in Photoshop! And I always love mucking around in Photoshop just trying different things, so over all I've done a lot of different types of gfx, I've tried photo manipulation, Drawing characters, Vector art!

Some of the stuff I've made

Animating:

I've been animating 3D stuff for well over 3 years now, and I can honestly say that I'm pretty good at this point, I also have a youtube which is partnered with Yeousch / Fullscreen due to my animations. I mainly animate 3D Minecraft stuff right now as it is a bit more "IN" And easy to gain views with, but I am very capable of animating more realistic things, like characters, monsters, physics, etc.

Some of my animations

Youtube:

It's a weird "skill" But I've found that have it easy to find niches on youtube, for example the new "asdf 6" in one of the clips a character says "everybody do the flop" and then falls, it looked pretty fun, so I searched for the clip and found a longer version of the song, so after about 2 hours of the video getting uploaded I animated a parody of it "Minecraft style" and it currently sits at 35k views, would have been more but due to me getting partnership I had to make a new channel so I lost the video on the first page.

The video niche

E-whoring / social engineering

Probably not a skill I can say I am very "proud" over, however I did use to E-whore a lot.. And it thought me a lot about humans in general, and I got a lot better at "talking" and lying for that matter. So from this experience I can definitely say that I find it "easier" to read someone and well trick them.

Gaming

Over my years of owning consoles and Pc's I've always been passionate about gaming, I've always loved it and I still do. Due to gaming I self taught myself English for the most part, as my native language is Swedish, we do have to learn English in our schools, but I thought myself most of the language by simply playing a lot of games. Gaming has brought a new piece of myself, that makes me a bit more competitive, but it has also helped me learning how to handle losing. So gaming is a big part of my life, all in all it has helped me learn English, handle losing. And also to think more strategical!

My video on Yeousch Recruits

Spoiler (Click to View)[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=leCpUDZtY2A>]

Ratting

Well I've done a lot of ratting about the same time as I started E-whoring which was about 2 years ago, and I have to say it was pretty fun. It also thought me a bit more about how crypting works and what computer viruses are, also helped me meet some new interesting people! Although with time I've stopped ratting simply because I don't see the point of it, I'm not bold enough to steal from people's paypal accounts, and just messing with the slaves are only fun for a few minutes. But non the less, I have the skill and knowledge to get back into it once again if I wanted to.

Easily learned:

Probably not a skill I should mention but I am going to anyways. I've always been told that I pick things up very quickly, technical and just everyday things you learn in school. From reading, to new languages. I love learning as well, just not the things we get thought in school. But in my spare time I love learning and acquiring new skills.

[img]<http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif>[/img]

What section are you most active in and why?

The lounge

I am probably most active in the lounge due to that there are so many varied topics to talk and discuss. I find it easy to dive into the conversation and just enjoy myself, I've almost met a lot of other people with similar interests as myself which is always fun. It's also a nice place to post in because I don't really need any "knowledge" in a specific area to talk, I mainly just need my opinion and general knowledge. Because right now I can't say I am "educated" enough in any other section WELL enough to answer questions other than like the gaming or gfx section.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I want to join The Empire because it seems like one of the few extremely High quality groups in HF. I've never heard anything bad about it and it just seems like a fantastic community. I also want to join due to the amount of respect I feel for the members of The Empire, kinda like a club, everyone is invited but there is always the exclusive lounge, only VIP people are allowed into. I would also satisfy myself in knowing that I am capable of being high quality enough to join a high quality group. I also feel like it would be an honor to represent the group if I join, like when group members post give away's dedicated to their group, like it's a privilege or honor to post in the name of a group, and again this would pretty much just satisfy myself knowing I have the ability to present myself in such a way that I would get the privilege to post representing a group

[img]<http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif>[/img]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel like I should be accepted into The Empire because I have a lot to offer, and I see myself as a very open minded person. I feel like I would be a good asset to the group, always remaining HQ while representing the group. In general I am always a happy guy, and tend to feel it's my responsibility to keep people happy in group chats, etc. So overall I think I would be an excellent asset to the group.

Providing tutorials
Being polite
Always staying HQ as I am representing the group
Helping people in anyway I can Sharing my opinion

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well, ever since I can remember I've been interested in computers, and never really cared for school. I tend to work very hard when I want to accomplish something, or trying to get something done. But overall I am very lazy person, I always try to find the easiest way out, (Not always a bad thing) In fact being lazy has helped me think differently, take for example cheating on a test, instead of doing it the teachers way, cramming information into my mind for months. Or simply finding a way to have the information available in front of me the day I need it. I outsmarted the teachers method by being lazy.. A bad example but I hope it paints a picture of what I mean.

I love computer games, always have and always will. Gaming has always been a big part of my life. The best memory I have or a very memorable moment that happened to me was when my older brother asked me if I wanted to play Teenage mutant ninja turtles on his old Nintendo. It's very memorable to me because me and my older brother are very close, and he was always VERY protective over his console and when he asked me if I wanted to play it was a really bonding experience for the both of us. It brought us closer as brothers, might be pretty "lame" compared to other people. But to me it's a very fond memory of mine.

Overall I'd consider myself as a very open minded person, I love trying new things and I never judge people by their believes or opinions. For example People being Homosexual or believing in god. Personally I am straight and an atheist, but I feel that what ever makes a person happy is their right. If people believing in god, Allah, Buddha, whatever. Makes them happy, then it's good for them to believe in it I guess.. As long as people don't try to force their opinion or believes onto me I'm fine. However I highly dislike "narrow" people who believe in one thing, and if anyone thinks differently they are stupid and wrong, it's the one kind of people I try to avoid at all times.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join Empire because I have never actually been apart of an official, great group. I have always seen Empire around doing great things for the community.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel I should be accepted because I am a very helpful and generous member. I love to help members out with their problems.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: My name is Jay and I am 16 years old. I live in Los Angeles, California and I have lived here ever since I was born. My main reason for coming to hackforums was to learn about hacking but after a couple months of being here I decided that I really wasn't into hacking. I then started learning about booters and became very addicted. After a couple months of being here I learned everything I need to learn about booters. After learning about booters I moved on to learning how to code PHP. I started learning PHP then became very bored so now I only know a little bit. After learning a little PHP I moved on to RATTING. When I first started learning how to R.A.T I didn't know what it stood for but then I found out it stood for Remote Administration Tool. I learned the basics of RATTING then I got into finding out how to make it undetectable and that's when I found out about Crypters. I became very successful with RATTING, started giving away my slaves and started meeting new friends here. Now here I am in the year 2013 and I am still surviving on HF. That is a little about my HF Journey.

Anything else you want to say: I fucking love Empire

King Cairo - March 27, 2013, 6:18 pm

Name:Cairo

Age:15

Gender:Male

Religion:I was born a muslim, so right now I'm still a muslim but I do read about all religions out there. I do not think I'm old enough to decide what religion I really want to be in.

State/Country:Sweden.

Time Zone:CET. I believe.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Social skills. I have it very easy to make friends IRL and online. I have a positive attitude most of the time but I do have a very defensive attitude when it comes to debates and other discussions.

I do have some basic hacking skills too. I like to read more about politics and history these days.

What section are you most active in and why?

The lounge... This is not a good thing for me, because the reason why I joined HF was that I was supposed to learn. But people on the lounge are so stupid and sometimes so funny. I would like to hang more on the SRPP section and the hacking sections. Any how I do hang on the SRPP more than any other section. (If you take away the lounge.)

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I want to join The Empire because I feel that I need to step my HF game up a bit.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

It's up to you if you guys wants to accept me, but I feel that I should get accepted because I see myself as a pretty HQ poster here on HF.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm a pretty calm guy. Sometimes I just need to be alone. That's why I'm not active some days. I do have a social life, on weekends I'm always out.

Anything else you want to say:Whats Good The Empire?

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):Coding

I know many coding languages. I am a beginner in Java I have recently started making my own Minecraft hacked client. I have almost mastered batch and have coded all sorts of things in it. I am amateur in Html I have just learning it. I am also an amateur in lua. I love coding it is very fun for me and helps me do a lot better in math. I love to code and get better and better everyday at all the languages.

Gaming

I have been gaming since I was 6 years old. I have had consoles from the Playstation 1 to an Xbox 360. I am a very competitive gamer I try and will win every match I play. I also play PC games very often. I started PC gaming about 3 years ago when my dad got me my first gaming computer for Christmas. On PC I love to play Minecraft and would rank myself as a pro at it. I am also good at most games on omgpop.com.

Money Making

The main reason I came to HF to make money. I am very skilled when it come to making money. I do all sorts of things like PPD, PTC and many other methods to make money.

What section are you most active in and why? My most active section would have to be the money tab in general. These are my most active sections because I love to make money. I also love to help people if they have a question.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I would like to join because I have a great respect for the Empire. When I first joined the site I wanted to be apart of the Empire. I also would like to give the members my knowledge.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: Well this isn't really my decision but I should be accepted because I am a very knowledgeable person.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: Something memorable in my life is when my baby brother was born about 5 months ago. This changed my life greatly. Before this I was an only child so my parents were always watching over me. Now that I have a little brother they I have a ton freedom to do whatever I want. It also made money a little tight for my family for a few months but we are now better. It has also made me change by having to be a role model for my younger brother.

Anything else you want to say: I may not meet all the requirements but I am still a very knowledgeable and helpful person.

What section are you most active in and why? VIP and philosophy/religion, because they're interesting.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: looks tight, with the horses n shit. You feel me?

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: It's for the children

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: Well once I was working at subway. Well, I still work there, but anyways...This lady asked me for a meatball sub so I put 7 meatballs on her sub. (you're supposed to put 8). She knew you're supposed to put 8 so she was already pissed about that. So she asked me to toast it, and I'm all "you sure you want that toasted, the meatballs are already pretty hot", and she's all "just give me what I asked for!". So I toasted that shit up. Then the lady asked me to put lettuce on her sub that was practically on fire so I did. Then she asked me to take some lettuce off, so I did. Some of the lettuce got meatball sauce on it so i had to throw it away. I was kinda frustrated at this point. So I was wrapping up her sub, and when you put it in the bag you're supposed to give them two napkins. Especially with meatball marinara (that shit is messy). I gave her 1 napkin.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I have people skills, meaning I engage in good conversations with people, and am overall a hang around type of person. I like to make people laugh when they are down, and create a positive environment around me.

What section are you most active in and why? The Lounge, if it's anything I am more active in, it's the lounge, I can personally relate to many people's issues, and help sort them out. I also hang around the Personal Life section now, mostly in the Innuendo section of it.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I wanted to join the empire since my friend told me more about it, at first I was like "Good for you :)." but he convinced me to want to join it. The reason? The members, I've heard the members are dedicated and high quality, a lot of HQ sales threads are from people in the Empire group, I would love to share the opportunity to be in such a privileged group!

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I know I will get along really well with the people in the group, I get along with almost everyone in real life, Hackforums, and yes, even Xbox!

While im in Empire, I will be much more High Quality in my posts, since I got the ub3r upgrade, I believed it was my duty to set an example to the other members, after all, almost all the members here on HF look up to the ub3rs, since we got accepted into this higher up position.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: Well, to start. I am 15 years old and my name is Brad. I was born here in California, and will always live here. It is a beautiful place in my eyes, and lot of people think so, I used to live in Tracy, but my family decided to live in a different city since Tracy had a, saddish feeling to it, and it was very far away from other family members.

Throughout the years, school has been a priority for me, I try my best in school, and want to get good grades. I honestly love school, and hate missing it, no matter what the cause! People laugh when I tell them I try to play healthy to keep myself from being forced to stay home from school. ? it is a true statement indeed!

My grammar has improved slightly over the years, considering constant internet harassment due to Grammar Nazi's. But I find posting with proper Grammar and Etiquette makes my posts look more high quality in general. I read very often, and reading those Hackforums thread's helped improved my internet spelling and punctuation. In fact my grammar has improved so greatly, I am in an honors English class.

Although, born into the modern day. I feel like an Old School kid. I am interested with things related to the Old times, and enjoy working. My Profile is named "Rod Serling" the director I believe of my favorite past time show, "The Twilight Zone" it has nothing to do with vampire love stories, ill say that. Some people here will know it, some people will not.

Right now, I am enjoying life to the fullest, I have lots of good friends, good parents, and a good life. Life is what you make of it, so I want to make the best of it. I never stick with a negative attitude, because that will always cause negativity around you, ultimately causing misery and unwanted depression, I try to tell this to everyone around me, so they can live a happy life as well!

Graphics and Coding skills? If I type in Ipconfig in a command prompt and call that a coding skills. Kudos to me :). If not well, I know how to edit Microsoft word documents with Microsoft word! My Graphics skills? They are absolutely terrible. Sorry, my art has never been good, even using the computer. I use paint for graphics, and boy, it is nasty!?

Anything else you want to say: I may or not have the opportunity to be in Empire now, because there is always someone with a better application ?. Yup, I know. But I would just like you to know I tried my best to tell you about myself and my life so far. Yes, a high warning member such BS :/.

My warning level is due to silly mistakes I plan on NOT doing in the future. I've learned my lesson. Trust me! ?

Thank you for reading my application for Empire :) ?

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Coding: i am acquainted with quite a lot of programming languages such as Java, Lua and C#. This also includes scripting, so html, css, php etc.

What section are you most active in and why?

The Griefing Section. Why? Because of the drama that always occurs there, it is quite amusing.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I think it would be quite an interesting experience for me, Empire is a well know HQ Group that i am sure i could learn a lot from.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I think i have has much of a chance as most of the other users that are possibly applying for Empire.

In the end it's all up to what you think about me, getting the chance to join Empire would be great and i am sure i would be able to contribute in some way.

The internet has had a big affect on who i am today, i have grown up with it for a very long time now and it always seems to take most of my time.

It has made me who i am today and i have enjoyed that and not regretted one bit of it, sure it has had it's ups and downs but it's all for the experience.

The internet is full of a lot of information and it provides access to a lot of things that you would probably never get to know or have the chance to know in daily society and because of this that's who i am today and i gladly except that.

Anything else you want to say:

Thank you for taking the time to read this.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

-I can program in C#, VB, C++, html, basic php, and java. I have coded many applications and even released some here.

-I can video edit in Adobe After Effects (CS5) and Sony Vegas (10 Pro). I mostly do montages and edit for fun but I can do basically whatever you need.

-I can set up forums, blogs, websites and secure them.

-I am pretty experienced with remote administration tools but I don't do much of that anymore. I even started coding my own a while back.

-I am experienced in stressers/booters. I currently run two web based stressers and I have coded one in C# and one in VB just for fun.

-I code game hacks and mods for all types of games but mainly call of duty and halo. (chams, aimbots, esp)

What section are you most active in and why? The hacktools section from releasing various hacktools from youtube bots to booters.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: It seems like a very high quality group with great leaders and I am interested in what I can learn from joining the group. I am also interested in meeting the members and getting to know them better and maybe working together in future projects.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I believe that I can contribute a great deal to the Empire. I also promise to do nothing but my best if accepted.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life and what makes you who you are: I am a laid back person. I enjoy programming, gaming, and video editing. I have a life on and off the internet. I am a very busy person but I make time for things that are important to me. When I see something I really want I go after it. The reason I started getting into computers is because when I was in school I got expelled when I was about 16. I had nothing but my computer. So for the rest of the year I did nothing but work on my computer. I ended up going back to school the next year and eventually attending a university (still attending) for computer science and loving every second of it. I wish I could go back and shake that officers hand and say thank you for showing me what I wanted to do with the rest of my life. That is what made me who I am today.

Anything else you want to say: Thats basically it. Hope I get accepted and thanks for reading my application.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): Skills that I have mastered in the past 3 years include Coding [in C++, HTML, CSS, PHP, & SQL]

Social Engineering:

-> I got a thread on forum, "Get free Pizza's from Dominos", that day was the day I got into SE. I started with Pizzas, & then went on a higher status, started to SE Amazon, Got my Graphic Card from them. At first I did not use a DROP, but now I do since they blocked my address.

-> I got shit load stuff from SE, like: Spoiler (Click to View), Tabs, Laptops, etc..

-> I too sell my DROP service on various forums, (not here).

-> Selling Items like TV's from SONY & LG is my prime source of income.

-> I will teach people some shit load SE if i get into Empire :D

My SEd stuff:

<https://i.imgur.com/Indv0m1.jpg>

What section are you most active in and why? Social Engineering, Human Manipulation, etc. Because they have just made my life! Getting free stuff has now become a habit for me.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: Firstly I like the name & the people of the group. I got many tricks, tips, specially on SE, that I want to share to people that deserve it & not fools who end up saying "What is full form of SE". I never shared a single tutorial with anybody on the internet except in some PREMIUM sections of forums like #, L33ts, etc because the very reason i gave just in the line above.

I want to share it with real people. Seeing the application & the quantity of members of this group I believe it is the most suitable group where HQ stuff can be shared.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: Hmm... Don't you think that it is the same question as above :P? Just saying... anyway.. aa... As i said, This group is a deserving group consisting of knowledgeable people who have worked hard to get into this place. It might be the most perfect group for me to learn as well as teach people.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

A memorable incidence? hmm... The only thing that hurts me the most is being backstabbed. A user Plowwy from HF only, backstabbed me, scammed me for about 12k.... I though he was my friend, I got his house full with SEd stuff, and yet he showed me his real face, backstabbing me, running away with my money and stuff.. He told me that his father had got some disease, called something like "Heart - Aninga" or something, He said he needed money for hi and would return it as possible, and I being a fool, gave him 12k.. He ran away with the money, never came back on skype or answered my phone.

Anything else you want to say: Nothing more... The application has become too big already to make you bored! No more words!

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): SkillsGaming

Website (Coding)

Forensic Analyst

Persuasive

Video Editor

Gaming- I mostly play Call of Duty and I'd say I'm a well over average player. I've had games well over 100+ kill's with always finishing top of the game / leader-board.

Website (Coding)- Within website coding I have created a numerous number of website's. I'm a learner / beginner but I can do basic HTML code.

Business Site

Upcoming forum

Forensic Analyst- Currently at college I'm studying IT Forensics, this is a great opportunity to learn more about hackers and retracing/tracing hackers through certain programs ect.. I'm really enjoying the course and love using HF to help me with my course and it's the center of the hacking community.

Persuasive- I'd say I can be extremely persuasive with people and situations, I found out I had this skill when I was younger persuading my friends to do stuff pointing the good things they'd get out of it and not pointing out the bad things about the situation.

Video Editor- Yes I'm a video editor currently at a halt at the moment as my laptop doesn't really handle long render's too well. I use programs such as, Cinema 4D, Adobe after effects, MAX effects, Sony vegas ect...

Latest Call of Duty edit: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Q1zCknf-QsM>

What section are you most active in and why?

My most active section would be the sellers/marketplace section this is because I love to make money ! Buying, selling & trading help's me gain more money. I love making money but I only do it legit-ly (Legally)

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

In my opinion this is one of/ the best group on HackForums at the moment. I see this group everywhere and they members are extremely HQ this make's me want to be apart of the group.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel I meet the requirements to the group and I believe I'll fit in perfectly. I'm a high quality user and love to keep my reputation clean, I've never had a scam report and never had a problem with anyone. I keep out of trouble and keep to myself, I don't scam and I'm 100% whitehat.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

My real name is Lewis, I'm an extremely sociable type of person who sometimes can't shut the fuck up, I'm active with sport's as I play a lot of sports from Football (soccer) to Hockey. In the year 2004 I lost someone extremely special to me to cancer which made me angry and upset for years I barley did anything but stay inside. Recently recovered from the huge depart from my life but I still enjoy computers, hacking (ethically) and learn new thing's daily, this is why I'm currently doing a IT Forensics course.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): Graphics is something I feel I can be better at than any other online skill, of course I'm not a professional but I like spending my free time doing and learning graphics. I've started when I first joined HF and I've been doing it since on a regular basis and I'm constantly trying to improve and learn new things. Also I've taken interest in web design languages but I'm still covering the basics. Some previous work can be found here:

Spoiler (Click to View)

What section are you most active in and why? Graphic sections and the lounge because I relate to them the most.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: being a part of something will push me into improving myself and I believe committing to something like Empire will help me give back to the community more often.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: Actually I was advised to apply by a respected member on Empire that felt I have something to give so I'll make sure I won't disappoint him nor the group if I did get accepted.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I'm 22 engineering student with a recent developing interest in graphic design. I've been a part of Hf for almost a year now and it has provided me with a lot of experience in many fields and I feel it's only fair to give back and hopefully would find this opportunity in the Empire.

Anything else you want to say: Thank you for taking the time to read this.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): My skills are:

Editing Experience <- I've been an editor for almost 3 years until my editing computer had broke down. Until I acquire the money to fix it I roam the Graphics section supplying any information I am capable of to help any member that needs it.

Exponential Grammar and Writing Skills <- My favorite subject has always been English, and I've aspired over the years to master the way of speaking/writing/typing. I always double check my work, and occasionally help others with any assignments that they acquire assistance with.

Connoisseur of Philosophy <- I love philosophy and History. It structures the mental mind of a person and trains your way of thinking.

Musically Inclined <- This one is kind of irrelevant to the Empire, but I play 3 stringed instruments along with attending a College orchestra and professional orchestra.

Advanced Social Skills <- I'm what most people call a "people person". I have no problems what-so-ever meeting new people and I rarely will attend an unnecessary argument.

Marketing Experience <- I am a wonderful negotiator due to my occupation and schooling. I can find a loop hole in any contract, and lean an individual to my thinking along with applying the Socratic method to my debating so they can also reach their own thinking on the topic.

What section are you most active in and why? Lounge, SRPP, and Graphics. I roam around the Lounge and SRPP section mostly because I like to tap into what's going on within HF and the world today. I like to read through an individual's mindset and understand their opinions. The Graphics section is because I enjoy giving advice to any individual who acquires assistance. My knowledge isn't as advanced on certain topics, but I am capable of supplying as much information to guide the member into the correct pathway.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I wish to join the Empire because it's a wonderful marketing and social group. Never once have I come across any member in Empire that openly flames a member for stupidity or not following the rules. They always help the members of HF when they need it and can find it. I love to help any member, as stated previously above, when I possibly can. The feeling of accomplishment and assistance make me feel as a better person.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel as if I should be accepted into the Empire because, like most groups, they're a family. As a family, people are willing to give individuals a chance to leave a mark upon them and show why they belong. Honestly, I believe I could not only bring stronger intelligence and help out the members carrying Empire's name, yet I can also learn more from the members and mold my future into becoming something important.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I had some personal life issues and came to HF to vent and seek guidance. When I found the answers I were looking for with the help of some friends within HF; I vowed to help any member that seeks assistance. I feel as if I am being redundant, but it's true. Otherwise, if I never would have come to HF, who knows what trouble I'd be in right now.

Anything else you want to say: There is nothing else that I wish to say, but I am sure you will make the correct decision and I will respect your output. Thank you for reading.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I am currently taking AP psychology, so that's a nice strength of mine. I love to help others with emotional issues and any issues they might have. I've even gotten compliments for being good at it.

When I used to RAT, I would have 200+ slaves online at once, and I still have that magic touch. Since I stopped RATting, I started to do malware removal. I can successfully remove malware from my computer and others. I enjoy fixing issues that the malware has caused and helping others out. I am a gamer, I mostly play L4d2 on steam and I really enjoy it. I also play runescape which I actually have my own powerlevelling services. My customers are always satisfied. I can social engineer well, in fact, that's what got me some of my slaves when ratting! I am bilingual, I know Portuguese and English. I love to chill in the marketplace because I love making a good deal and negotiating with others. I'm a great, marketer and member of HF.

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm currently most active inside of the lounge. I have been getting more active in SRPP. I am always posting in the Sub for Void. I constantly post inside of the Runescape section and I am active in there. Overall I have the most posts in the Lounge.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I would like to join for numerous reasons, one being, Empire is one of the largest, most high quality groups on Hackforums, if not one of them, and then it's the most high quality. Empire is very appealing to me. The group is very well organized and I see you guys only let in very few members and those few members are very high quality. The output of this group is amazing, I see such good quality posts and contributions coming from the group, I have seen discussions around the forum from Empire members and it's mostly meaningful, high quality, or serious posts, none of the garbage that other users post.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

Why I feel as though I should be accepted into The Empire, is because I have a lot to offer to you guys. I can offer a variety of things, varying to giveaways, contests, all the way to research, real life issues, such as, Relationship, school, work, etc. As a 16 year old, I have had a decent amount of experience in life, I have dealt with many things that someone of my age normally wouldn't have to deal with, which puts me in situations to try to surpass issues.

Heres some examples of my quality.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

My name is Devin, i'm a 16 year old farm boy from Idaho. I was raised all of my life in Idaho and my family owned a small farm and that was the family business, and our source of income, we weren't a wealthy family, we grew up, waking up 4:30 in the morning, do some yard work, and get ready for school. My sister and I went to a small private school a few blocks away. Nearly everyone had a farm over there. My families farm was mainly a producer of soybean. When I was 9 years old we moved to Massachusetts because my uncle (farm owner) went in debt and there was a lot of family issues.

In Massachusetts, I grew up in a small town, a very diverse, melting pot town, where you don't see any farms what so ever. Very different from Idaho. My father left my mother when I was 10 years old, and abandoned us(will get back to this later). We had a lot of family down here in Massachusetts and we love it here. When I was 12, my father started talking to us again. I never really understood the issues, so I forgave him automatically. He is now a very big part of my life, I hangout with him every week. Every time we hangout, he always tells me, "I love you Devin, I'm sorry, I'm always here now." Or something along those lines.

My step dad came into my life when I was 11 and he has been in my life since then, until about two weeks ago. He cheated on my mother. I considered him more than a "step-father." It was more of a, best friend, or brother. We told each other everything, I told him the day I lost my virginity(to my current girlfriend who I have been with since I was 14.) He has always been there for me, and he could always pick my mood up when it was down, but people change. My mother and him had a son, which is my brother, Jordan. I love this kid to death. He is currently 4 and he means the world to me. I would die for him. Every day he sees me, he gives me a hug, and he always knows how to make me laugh. He never has failed to brighten my days. My girlfriend, Briana, I met her when I was 13 and I know that "I'm to young to be in love," but I don't care, I feel it. I'm in love with her, and I feel as though shes right for me. She has been there for me through it all. She keeps me smiling, she helps me keep my grades high and my family loves her. Now what makes me who I am? Is my family. its a blessing to have such a perfect Mother, Brother, Sister, and girlfriend. I love you all, if you see this.

Anything else you want to say:

Thanks for recruiting members into the group, its a great opportunity, and thank-gosh I didn't miss it.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I have a lot of specific skills so I will list them each, starting with most notably,
GFX

GFX is the thing that I am most known for on around the forum, it's the thing that I learnt when I first joined. For this reason it's the thing that I developed quickest in my skillset. Despite this being my oldest skill I still create designs purely for the enjoyment of doing so which is why a lot of my free work can be seen around the forum. I started designing in 2007 when I got my first iPod so that I could make a theme for myself. As I've said I developed on this skill fairly quickly, and started working in photoshop in 2008 (from gimp), and then just as quickly moved onto learning animation and 3D.

Psychology

Psychology is something which I started to learn about 2 years ago, I wouldn't say it was just the social manipulation aspect of it (although that is one part I particularly enjoy). I love studying how the human mind works and it fascinates me to study different peoples body language and how their mind works based on how they speak. As you will read below the reasons behind my interest in this subject and also why I have progressed so quickly when learning it due to my sources of motivation.

Development

By development I mean web development and light coding. Web development goes hand in hand with web design and obviously I started to learn HTML and CSS around the same time I started designing. The coding came much later and I learnt by following tutorials on here and on HF. I now dabble in writing scripts for runescape bots, advanced NET programs and some other programs for personal use.

Writing

In school I got an A almost every year, this was due to my knack for creative writing and writing in general. While I have a somewhat colloquial style of writing I find it makes the reader feel more relaxed. It's for this reason that I've won several awards for my short stories and have now started work on a full length novel.

Gaming

Gaming has been a hobby for many years, starting when I was 7 with the classic xbox and a copy of halo. Since then I've slowly developed to the point of playing minecraft almost every day. My favourite styles of games are some FPS, Strategy and sandbox games.

Engineering

The next two skills are very similar, however have enough of a distinction to be classified as two different skills. I'm currently studying engineering at university and have already come up with an (in theory) working robotic prosthetic arm. Some of my very early work can be found on the forum. I'm mainly interested in electrical engineering despite the fact that my course is mechanical.

Mathematics

Maths is a big part of engineering and for this reason my mathematics knowledge is very high. Dealing with engineering problems on a daily basis strengthens the knowledge of complex math equations.

What section are you most active in and why?

I would say that it depends how you define "Most active" in. If you are talking post count then I would have to say the lounge. However, I don't believe that's what defines activity. The section that I spend the most time in is SRPP. It's a section which contains a lot of knowledge and allows me to deepen my understanding of topics I maybe hadn't even thought of. It's also a section where I can join in on debates which spark a particular interest with me.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

It's a group that I've already been a part of once, and during my time there I made a lot of friends and felt myself become part of the group. I also feel like I'm definitely of a high enough quality to keep up the groups very good image.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I am a very helpful member who puts a lot into everything I do. For this reason I know that I would be able to support the name of The Empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Everything that has happened in my life thus far is what has shaped me to be the person that I am today. While most of these are sad I don't want to be a 'charity case' and therefore will simply list the things which have effected me and then go on to explain them.

Grandad's many illnesses

Grandad's death after 7 years and losing 2 limbs

Suicide of best friend

Other grandad has now got a fatal illness

Firstly my grandad (fathers side):

This grandad was the reason I went into mechanical engineering with the view to doing robotic prosthesis. He lost both of his legs which obviously got him down hugely (It was also at this time that he started to go into a depression and my interest in psychology was sparked) however, it was losing his hand meaning that he couldn't play his keyboard and more that made me want to create robotic limbs, so that anyone in the same situation could still function as normal.

The suicide of my best friend was the thing that really made me start studying the human mind and start to question the whole meaning of life which is why I come up with some interesting (if not controversial) debating topics. It was this that really impacted me to want to help people who might be feeling this way themselves and why I have such a good reputation for doing that on this forum.

My other grandad has just been told he is going to die. While this sounds bad, I'm not upset. He is my number 1 inspiration. He's had 3 different types of cancer, a triple heart bypass, a broken hip, a broken femur and many other fatal illnesses. He's now 87 and not once have I ever seen him complain about his illnesses. One time he was straight out of hospital he was crawling about in our walls fixing out electronics. It's him that I take my inspiration from and the reason that I can deal with everything that happens to me without ever letting it hurt me mentally.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I have a variety of skills that although are shared by many are amplified in my particular case. These skills include but are not limited to, Ideas, Dedication, Marketing & Monetization, creativity, and Writing. One of site skill I've obtained is racing, I started racing small vehicles when I got my first four-wheeler and I've now grown to Car racing on a dirt track & hopefully will continue to raise through the rankings into better, faster, and more expensive cars.

One of my main and in my opinion one of my best contributions is my ideas. By ideas I simply mean creating new ideas, though many create new ideas I feel I've been able to plan, design, and setup many "inventions" in my head. Because I've not been limited to one idea, but many I think of at random points throughout the day e.g. class, study hall, eating, playing games, and while browsing the web. Because of my ideas I've always had the wish to pursue them but ADD and other setbacks have never made it easy, now I'm attempting to learn PHP on my own, if this fails I will pay out-of-pocket for a tutor. One of my many ideas include my Minecraft suggestion made to Tibit to give his server a new aspect in the gaming community.

Another of my many skills include dedication. Though my dedication has been weakened by my attention deficit and inability to keep complete focus at all times it's never gone. I've always tried to pursue my ideas and I hope to pursue some I've pondered on for a while. Some of the dedication I feel I've shown include but are not limited to, Hacker Craft and simply remaining online. I feel I've shown my dedication to Hacker Craft by playing on it as a single player ? server since the beginning of Planet Beacon, the reason for my dedication to Hacker Craft is the massive money I had spent on this game. The reason I spent this money was simply, addiction, I don't know why I became so drawn in but I felt I could make the money back easily, and as we know nothing comes easy.

Anyways it ends up I spent all the money I had saved for my projects and never made the same amount back (I had around $500 saved, around $300 spent on HC) though I never even kept most of my items as I got greedy fucked up and Dan. Wiped my inventory.

Marketing and Monetization I feel are another skill I've developed over my time only, starting with game coins when I had first came to the internet to become rich I had started with survey sites which gave me nothing but spam in the mail and insurance quotes I didn't want. Anyways I eventually moved to a game known as Yoville where I had messed around with simple hex editors (HxD) I had built up my account and later purchased an item hack which was newly created and received my first ban. Losing everything I moved into Phishing and made a few mill which I sold at $70 per mill (2009). After this I started snooping around in the inspect elements and games source code, which is where I found my biggest hack on the game, LK (login key) using this new account hack you would simply social engineer people into sharing the key which they knew nothing about and then logging into the account & selling the items. After this I quit for about a year then came back, once back I joined a gang known as TBYH (The best yoville hackers) knowing I was now one of the best and in the gang which had hacked Zynga's website many times, and other hacks I found that one of the leaders had developed a new account hack with Lk that allowed you to use Havij on the yoville.com website finding the players login key and allowing you to get access to the account without the person ever knowing who did it. This hack grossed Billions of coins on the game which now sold at only $7-8 per million, people had sold this for thousands of dollars and we eventually made the news for the hack. Anyways back on topic that's where I started my marketing career. Recently in Marketing I had created an EBook for Currency exchange with a method I had discovered to transfer PayPal and Credit Card to Lr/Btc/etc. this method grossed 1,000-2,000 LR after marketing it on Black hat and White hat sites.

Creativity is something I have always had a knack for. Since I was young I've been developing buildings out of blocks boxes and other stuff which led to me wanting to become an architect. With this I had then moved into model trains and creating my landscape, which I did and was quite astonishing at I must say (I'll upload pics if anyone actually cares about the only project I have left which I made in 9th grade). After this I took my first AutoCAD class hoping to pursue my future in Architecture or engineering in 9th grade, I still remain in the class today being Cad, now inventor 3 and moving into 4 for my senior year. I've also developed builds on many games, one of which was fortress Craft on Xbox; here I was introduced to my first building game which led to me creating some of the biggest builds on the game (Gaza pyramids, football field, Empire state building, churches, etc.). I now play on minecraft when I find time and rarely have time to build the massive builds I had once created.

Another skill I've actually newly realized is my writing ability. I've always loved creative writing and making new stories but I never knew I could make so much money with it. I don't have money now to start and advertise my shop so I've worked for someone else's where I made about 40-50% of the payment price on the paper and still making good money, usually $10 an hour which is better than any job I will find in life at the moment. My future in writing is something I would love to advance and hopefully write my first book on the life of a teen hacker caught up in the pressure of carding and other Blackhat activities. Anyways I've had my job for about 1-2 weeks and from the papers I have written I made about $100-200 LR so far.

In conclusion many of you may find yourself wondering, if he is so good and create great ideas then why is he still poor online? The answer is fairly simple, though I've thought of many ideas I'd love to create I do not have the skills or money now to start many of them. The skills I talk of include coding and designing the website. By money I mean I can't afford to pay someone to code it now since I can't.

What section are you most active in and why?

My most active section had been The Lounge followed by HackerCraft, though I'd like to change this and make my most active section the Marketplace. I feel my posts in The Lounge are old, and the dated me, not the new and improved version. When posting in the Lounge I had been a troll as I've been for a long time, though I've now grown up, ended my disputes, and matured. I however am aiming to change this and have instead the Market as my most active section. One reason I've been less active in the market is my limited payment forms, since my dad had found my VBA verified paypal and decided it was fraud and I would get him arrested he refunded all my payments and then removed the verifications. Another reason I've been less active than I would honestly like to be is the fact that I've currently got no products to sell, which is why I've been saving money to start my new project.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I would like to join The Empire for numerous reasons. One of the reasons I would like to join is to gain an active community of friends which I've longed for since Eminence. Another and stronger reason I would like to join is finding future business partners within the group who I can share and later develop my current ideas with. Lastly I would like to join this group to hopefully become active in the products sold by the group, by this I mean sharing my ideas with leaders finding one they like, and hopefully creating a new and official product with one. To shrink this down, I want to join for friends, and marketing. Also to be honest I've wanted to join since it was created, sadly I got into the Creed instead which was later closed. Ontop of this I'm currently trying to learn PHP language so I can start creating my own web pages, I'd also like to start making my own API's for booters, bots and more.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel I should be accepted into The Empire because I think I could do a lot of good to the group, bring my ideas and activities into the group. Create a new market of ideas for the group and hopefully as I've said before have my ideas come to life. I think I can do a lot of good for the group, and all I ask for is a single chance to prove myself. Ontop of this I can bring my activity, and friendship to the group. I'd say more on this topic, though I've never seen the subforum so I can't say how I could help improve it.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

My life has always been luxurious, though difficult at times I've traveled to places most wouldn't be able to afford to travel to. I've been sheltered by my parents and been lucky enough to have many of the things I had wanted gotten. One of the main problems in my life is shyness, and my attention problem. These have affected my social life, and school life making it more difficult than most. One thing I've always had is the need for speed, racing cars, four wheelers, and anything with a motor is something I've always had a passion for. Another series of events in my life include screw ups. I've had a number of screw ups and my wallet defiantly paid the price, these include paying $500 for Eminence leadership only to be kicked for telling the owner I wouldn't buy the group (Supposedly I broke rules by kicking a member giving me a hard time, he didn't include I was the only non banned or non afk leader at the time.) Losing $500 when my "friend" logged into my LR we had been sharing for business partnership, and wasting the new $500 or so I had saved for a project and instead wasted on HackerCraft and other stupid stuff. Back to the topic of cars, I've been building classic cars with my dad atleast helping for a long time. I've built both my racecars with him and my driving car, a scion etc we bought wrecked and rebuilt -hmu for pics :D-. I'm also pretty awesome at IRL graphics, spray painting logos, I've painted one of my racecars and done some other pretty sick stuff as well.

One thing I enjoy to do in my free time is watching Tv series. A few of these include Hawaii 5-0, The Walking Dead, Chicago Fire, Supernatural, Grim, and a few others. I enjoy Hawaii 5-0 because I like the excitement of it, and I'd like to write a book with a similar excitement. The Walking Dead, one of my oldest and favorite Tv shows is as many know about a band of survivors who face rogue zombies infected with a cannibalistic disease. These survivors not only have to fear the dead, but now the living as well. I enjoy watching Chicago Fire because I find the show adventurous and exciting, I enjoy watching the life and drama of Chicago's finest. Supernatural is one of my newfound favorite series, this series takes you on the adventures of two brothers, Sam and Dean Winchester who fight demons in order to eventually close the gates of hell. The Grim, about a man named Nick can see the true forms of people be it a wolf, goblin, or any other disgusting monster we think of as fairy tales. With this Nick, known as a Grim has to stop the evil in people before they use the power to harm others.

As for my future, I'm still unsure. I have been debating upon computer science, Architecture, Aeronautical Engineering, and General Engineering. I've always loved architecture, designing and creating new buildings, I first created a replica model of my house in google Sketchup and I've been getting more and more advanced ever since. One reason I would like to work in the Aeronautical Engineering is the money, I've always wanted a high paying job so I can but whatever I'd like in the future. Another reason is I find it interesting and exciting, also one of my family members is in the field working for the government. I'm also interested in computer science, possibly law or government fields, but also development, if the money is there of course. Lastly I'm thinking about General Engineering, by this I'm including multiple ideas because none are set in stone, these ideas include, Car design, engineering, and a few more regular topics.

Anything else you want to say:

The only thing I'd like to ask for from the person reading my application is a chance, If I fail don't think twice before removing me. I know many people say similar things in their applications but I'm not one in a million, I'm one of a million. Thanks for the opportunity.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

In real life skills:

Dance; I've been dancing for 4 and a half years. I was inspired by a street dance/break dance film called 'You Got Served' which blew my mind away with all flips and spins, that was used in there. I never seen anything like it, so I began by giving it a shot myself. The first power move I attempted was the 'head spin', I nailed it in my first attempt and then realised that this was something I enjoyed doing, so I joined a street dance class and continued learning from there.

Spitting bars (Rapping); I'm from a ghetto city in the UK called Birmingham. Everyone was listening to grime (click here for an example) and I didn't want to be left out, so I started listening to it myself. I thought it sick, so I carried on listening to it. My friends started producing their own music in the studio, and I wanted to give it a shot to (since I'm good at rhyming) so one day, I came up with some bars (lyrics) and I went to the studio with my friends. They thought it sounded good, and this motivated me to carry on; but now I've stopped since I don't find it interesting no more, and people just talk fake shit like - 'I'll stab your mom' ._.

Online skills:

Graphic Design; This is one of my first online experiences. At the time, COD gaming was quite big and I was in a clan; There were divisions for the type of people that were in, e.g.

Players/Editors/Designers

I checked them both out, and I thought graphic design was amazing! I was viewing speed arts of: YouTube background, Photo Manipulations, ECT... and it really got me motivated to starting, so I went ahead and downloaded Adobe Photoshop. I was a complete noob at the time, but a couple of years later, I gradually became better and better. I still do graphic design now, but on the odd occasion. My channel: www.youtube.com/JustArtistic RAT'ing; Around 2 years ago, my computer was infected with someones RAT. Someone added me on Skype asking me if I wanted partnership for my channel, I did so I said yes. He then sent me a file; like an idiot, I clicked it. Then my CD Drive was opening, and gay porn was popping up on my screen. I was scared, so I turned everything off, and gave it my uncle to remove. When I had gotten it removed, I wanted to get into it, but I never knew what it was until I found a Runescape RAT'er on youtube. I added him on Skype, and asked him how he did it? he then told me about RAT's and linked me to HackForums. This is where I started learning, and now I have around 2 years of experience. I use this to help others, and warn people not to click such things again.

What section are you most active in and why?

Remote Administration Tools

I'm interested in all the sections on HackForums, but if I had to choose one it would be the 'Remote Administration Tool' section. Reason being is because I like to help others set up their RAT's and get them started; even if they're new to HackForums. We all once was a new to HF, and I don't see why some members treat new comers with a lack of respect just because they have a low post count, or they have no rep. I don't have a RAT set-up service yet, but that's one of the things I'll be focusing to create later on when I'm not busy.

I also like this section, because I find it interesting what people have found/got from their installs. I mainly enjoy viewing the 'UGLY SLAVES' thread, because it's just hilarious! ?

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

It's up to the leaders to decide whether I have the right sets of skills and knowledge to join The Empire.

But I would like to join, because I think I would get along with all the members and have something to contribute in the name of The Empire.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel I should be accepted into The Empire, simply because I share my skills with new members that join HF. I haven't really opened a thread yet, but I plan on doing so in the future. I've been helping people with: Setting up their RAT's, how to use Photoshop (creating backgrounds, signatures & such) and many other ways, but we'd be here all day.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well, my name's Kesar Singh and I was born on may 26th. Life wasn't such fun for me back then, because my dad was always working, and my mom was busy cleaning the house. I didn't really know much from back then, since I was young but my parents told me that I wasn't a well behaved baby ?

The main aspect in my life, has been in my teens; simple because I was able to do/start anything I wanted to do. You may have read from above that I enjoyed dancing, well a few years later I signed up for Britain's Got Talent and made it to the Semi Finals in 2011 but didn't WOW the judges enough to make it through to the final.

At the age of 14, I became very independent. My social life shrunk by a huge amount, because I was always in playing Xbox & on my Computer. This really has affected my life, but I don't see why it should have because it's something I enjoy doing. I now wear glasses and this is one of the signs that I'll remember I had because of; but I wear contacts so people don't think ?

Anything else you want to say:

I just want to thank the people that have got me here today, and if I do get accepted into The Empire, I'll try even harder to post more HQ posts and get that thread I'm working on done.

Thank you for reading my submission, and I hope for the best that I do get accepted, thank you.

What section are you most active in and why? I am Most active in the League of Legends Section as I have a lot of fun playing it.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I have always wanted to join the empire because You guys are very HQ and seem to be a lot like me.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I am a nice HQ Member who likes to make money and meet new friends and Have skills that can contribute to the group and HF,

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I was put through a lot of hardship and just overall bad shit. In grade 3 my Grandfather passed away which didn't do much to me as I never really talked to him but next month my mother passed away from a heart attack. I could never really come to terms with my mothers passing it was really hard on both me and my father. Recently I went through depression as well.

I recently climbed over that wall of depression and now feel better than ever I am enjoying life and going back to school with 1 credit (lol). This is just a little something about me.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I Have a wide range of skills, as i have been taught to exploit computers in several of ways since the age of 9 using MsDOS XD

My skills include, Web Knowledge, RAT, Keyloggers, DDoS, Network, Gaming in all concepts, White hat Security, and allot more and also to add i have my own graphic design business and Several years experience working in Graphics for both print and web at a professionalism standard.

What section are you most active in and why?

Beginner Hacking, Hacking Tutorials, Tools and Programs, Graphics, Gaming and the Lounge.

Reason being, i use the Beginner Hacking section to try sniff out what tuts beginner hackers require and try to get the threads created that will help them, same with the Hacking Tutorials, as i like to keep up with what tutorials people are using most, and whether or not they are still available, Tools and Programs, because i like to share as much software i find, the same way i thank users for the software they share, Graphics because im a Designer by Profession, Gaming as i study games development at college and also a Major Gamer, and finally the lounge as from time to time i like to read storys and threads about thing other than hacking :)

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I Think i have the right set of skills needed to become a respected member of Empire, i also think that me joining Empire will boost my motivation and commitment to helping out users of HF and lastly if Graphics were needed im here ;)

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

Because i am a friendly user, dont rage, dont spam and like to help people so i think i would get on fabulously with all members of Empire.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Talking - I have always loved to talk to people, I am never shy, I love to express myself in any way that I can. I know how to have long conversations and know how to keep them going.

Writing - I have always enjoyed writing all my life and always will. Even in school when we get long essays it always seems easy to me because I know how to express myself on paper. I always try to use proper grammar everywhere because I take pride when I write.

Coding - A few weeks ago I have just started to learn about coding; currently I am just coding with HTML just to make some quick websites/defaced pages to get the hang of it. But in the future I wish to learn more about the subject and know more languages.

Piano - Again, just started to learn this a few months ago. I am starting to get the hang of it and want to play a few songs in the near future. I find joy in playing this instrument because it calms me down in breaking points in my life.

Hacking - I have been doing this for a few years now. I am currently helping others with RATs on my thread, If anything I am most experienced at it would be this.

Gaming - I have been a gamer all my life, I currently play Xbox and PC Games (CS, Gary's Mod, etc.) and have always loved it.

What section are you most active in and why? RAT Section and Hacking section. This is because I usually go there to help others and learn new things.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I feel like I would fit in with the group and the group seems pretty nice all round. I would enjoy helping others and supporting the group in a lot of ways, while also learning new things because I believe that knowledge is power.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I believe that I fit the requirements for this group and again, I would fit in with the group. The Empire is one of my favorite groups and would be an honor to be accepted.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I am a 15 year old kid in High school. I like to hang out with friends, and enjoy hanging out on HF. I usually am a gamer with some of my IRL friends and some from HF. I found HF a few months ago but made the account only about a few months ago. I find it amazing that such a place exists on the internet and I am literally hooked on it. I enjoy skateboarding, gaming, and I am usually on my computer all day learning new things, creating new things, and meeting new people. I enjoy how my life is now, and would not change it for anything.

Anything else you want to say: If I am accepted into The Empire I will never have any scam reports, be LQ, and I will be doing a ton of giveaways while supporting The Empire.

I started GFX back in November 2011 and dropped due to lack of interest. Then I resumed learning GFX, back in June 2012 and since then, I have used my knowledge of GFX for making MyBB Themes & Forum Userbars. I started with using Paint.net & GIMP and then switched to Photoshop CS6 and finally continued with Photoshop and I have been using it till now.

Some of my works can be found below:

Other than Graphics, I am a Coding fan as well. I started Web Development back in 2011 when I entered the Forums scene. I started learning with php and I made a simple script which allowed people to cycle between their signature images.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)Code <?php

// This script randomly selects and displays images from the current directory

// It is a stripped-down version of the Automatic Image Rotator script by Dan P. Benjamin.

// Set image filename extensions

$extList = array();

$extList['gif'] = 'image/gif';

$extList['jpg'] = 'image/jpg';

$extList['jpeg'] = 'image/jpeg';

$extList['png'] = 'image/png';

// Get contents of current directory

$fileList = array();

$handle = opendir(".");

while (false !== ($file = readdir($handle))) {

$file_info = pathinfo($file); isset($extList[strtolower($file_info['extension'])])

$fileList[] = $file;

closedir($handle);

if (count($fileList) > 0) {

$imageNumber = time() % count($fileList);

$img = $fileList[$imageNumber];

if ($img!=null) {
$imageInfo = pathinfo($img);
$contentType = 'Content-type: '.$extList[ $imageInfo['extension'] ]; header ($contentType);
readfile($img);
} else {
if ( function_exists('imagecreate') ) { header ("Content-type: image/png"); $im = @imagecreate (100, 100) or die ("Cannot initialize new GD image stream");
$background_color = imagecolorallocate ($im, 255, 255, 255);
$text_color = imagecolorallocate ($im, 0,0,0);
imagestring ($im, 2, 5, 5, "IMAGE ERROR", $text_color);
imagepng ($im);
imagedestroy($im);

My next step into Web Designing was when I entered the MyBB scene. I started making Template and Code modifications to begin with and I learned SQL with css for the purpose of adopting Web Designing as something which I enjoy. Coming to MyBB, I have a very decent knowledge of coding in MyBB. Some of my works can be found below.

Spoiler (Click to View)CSS Buttons Tutorial:

Code .buttons {
    background: #D02626; /* Color of the button / border: 1px solid #6E0000; / Color and width of border / padding: 3px 12px; / Height and width of button / color: #fff; / Color of the font / font-weight: bold; / Makes the text bold / font-size: 12px; / Size of the font / font-family: Tahoma; / Font used on the button */

After that's done, head over to templates and click your theme name.
Click Post Bit Templates then click postbit_edit for an example.

Replace the whole code with this:

Code Edit <a href="javascript:;" onclick="Thread.quickEdit({$post['pid']});"
class="popup_item">{$lang->postbit_quick_edit}{$lang->postbit_full_edit} <script type="text/javascript"> // [b]<!--[/b]
if(use_xmlhttprequest == "1")

        new PopupMenu("edit_post_{$post['pid']}");
// -->
</script>
Notice

Code class="buttons" That's what connects the css to the button.
Then go on to edit the other templates!

What section are you most active in and why?

Before I got my l33t (March 2013) I only posted in the Lounge section. I post in the L33T OT section frequently because I enjoy talking to people in the Upgraded Members Lounge. I find the people in that section very friendly and willing to help out.

[img]<http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif>[/img]

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I would like to join for numerous reasons, one being, Empire is one of the largest, most high quality groups on Hackforums, if not one of them, and then it's the most high quality. Empire is very appealing to me. The group is very well organized and I see you guys only let in very few members and those few members are very high quality. The output of this group is amazing, I see such good quality posts and contributions coming from the group, I have seen discussions around the forum from Empire members and it's mostly meaningful, high quality, or serious posts, none of the garbage that other users post.

I would like to be apart of that. I feel like I could learn a lot from the members and hopefully teach them some of the things I know. I would love to be able to talk in the sub-forum.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

To be honest, it's upto the leaders. According to me, I believe, I have got some unique skills which can be of advantage to the group. I am pretty active and I always try new ideas. I believe I can bring in new spirit into the group and all I can just ask for is a chance to prove myself.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

About me, I'm a 16 Year old High School student. My life as has been full of ups & downs but still, it's my life. I am a type of guy who likes hanging with friends and I have a passion for Music, Cars, Racing, and Gaming & Technology. I spend my leisure time composing guitar tunes. Yes, I have a band.

About my education, my parents have always been able enough to provide me with best, possible education. I'm a MCA Student and I have to be a software engineer in future. I never spent much time on Forums, till 2012, when I got into MyBB scene.

I learnt about HF when we were all posting about Big Boards on MyBB Community and Mr. Omni posted saying that he owned HF. So, I decided to signup but I became active in March 2012 after HysteriaX and few others asked me to re-join.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Anything else you want to say:

Thank you for giving me the opportunity to apply to this awesome group! Good luck to everyone else. May the best get selected.

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/graphics-market.png[/img]

I use to do graphics about 2011-2012 but I stopped it a good while ago. It was more Youtube Backgrounds, Desktop Backgrounds, Youtube Avatars ect.

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/gaming.png[/img]

I've always been into gaming sense a kid. I'm good with modding PS3's. I have 1 CFW & 2 OFW's, a Xbox & a HD PVR for recording but I've stopped with youtube now. And I've took a break from modding PS3. Now I'm on the PC 24/7.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

What section are you most active in and why?

The Lounge, E-Whoring & Begginer Hacking.

The Lounge due to that there are so many varied topics to talk and discuss. It's also good because there's always someone with the same situation as use or has been in a similar one.

E-Whoring because that's what I've been doing latley.

Begginer Hacking because I'm always in trying to help out people ect.

I want to learn RAT'n though.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I want to belong to a group. I think The Empire is an amazing group with amazing people in it and great leaders running it. I would like to share knowledge within the group and learn knowledge from it also. The Empire has many high quality users I am familiar with and legit and good people.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I think I should be accepted into The Empire because I meet the requirements. I'm a Loyal person who see's Death Before Dishonour. I would always be respectful to group members and be loyal and honourable. I'm a generous person I share with my brothers. When I see people posting in the Netflix forum that they need an account I hook them up. I will stay committed to The Empire and I'm a daily user and on HackForums 24/7. Another good thing about me is I always come up with good ideas and alot of ideas.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples)

Java: Back in the early days, I used to run runescape private servers. I also used to code servers for other people, from a website called 'Rune Locus'. I've always wanted to once again use my java skills, but really there's not much point now days.

Graphics and Development: I've been doing video fx since I was 12. I've now upped my standards and gone into GFX. Please check out my thread below (Started GFX 1 week ago);
All my GFX - <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3289556>

Gaming: I have many aspects in this division. I currently own a user group called 'The RuneScapers', we have around 35+ members. I've been gaming since I was 7 on my first 'Sega generation', oh the memories of blowing into the drive too get it to work and playing Sonic with mates. The past 3 years, gaming has changed a lot. Recently, Jagex have put online 07 servers, I'm currently playing that. I mostly play PS3 and PC, if you would like to contact me about my PSN name just shoot me a private message.

Rating/Keylogging: Oh memory's, rating and keylogging was worth it at the end. Selling gold, selling accounts etc... But in reality it's not really counted as a skill since everyone can download 'CyberGate' and start rating.

Hacking and Computing: I have a great knowledge about RATS & Keyloggers, I know these aren't classified as 'Hacking' but that's mostly the best grey hat I do. I also do basic SQL Injections sometimes, only when I'm bored.

Life skills: In life, I have many skills ranging from Longboarding too Cooking. In school, I take private lessons to teach the year 7s on the basics of cooking to get some extra marks on my record. In real life, I have many skills ranging from Longboarding too cooking.

What section are you most active in and why?

The section i'm most active in is RuneScape/Lounge. I'm all ways giving assistance and help in the RuneScape section and i'm all ways posting in the lounge with interesting IRL Storys.

Why do you want to join The Empire?

I have knowledge over most areas on HackForums, I would be able to assist user that are having trouble with the divisions posted above. I've all so contributed a lot around the forums, please if you don't mind go check my posts in the Giveaways/RuneScape/Rat section.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?

I would be great with the team, I have numerous amount of things to giveaway. I'd all so be very committed to this group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

2 Years ago, my mother got diagnosed with bowel cancer. This in my family house hold changed, thus my self being older then my brother I had to make sure he didn't know about my mum having cancer (He was 7 at the time). My mum having cancer has shaped who am I today, making myself a nicer person. After 2 years, my mum finely came home from a check up. The doctor said she had very little cancer left in her bowel and that it should be all good in a couple of years/months. Those two years were life changing for me.

Another thing happen recently that has also changed on how I see life;

Anything else you want to say:

This group really sounds like something I would enjoy. I've actually been waiting awhile for 'The Empier' to open there group recruitment thread, in this time iv really not been able to think what to put into this post. I really hope i'm something you're looking for.

Certainly don't be discouraged if you find that your GFX skills are lacking. Even the banner at the top of your post is optional. What truly matters is the content of your application.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

E-Whoring

I have been e-whoring for roughly a year now. I had been social engineering occasionally (xbox live codes and other menial things) on and off for a few months. I enjoyed social engineering, yet I found simply purchasing and following tutorials incredibly boring. I felt as if I wasn't doing anything diverse, or required any thought.

After browsing the internet for some time, I discovered the 'art' of e-whoring. It was everything I had been looking for in a field of 'hacking'. I could create manipulation tactics, earn raw cash and view some interesting porn at the same time.

I founded the e-whores group with the user Culturals, and proceeded to make a lot of many as an e-whore.

What section are you most active in and why?

In my post stats, I am most active in the lounge. This is because this is where most of the interesting topics reside. The e-whoring section is overly saturated with early teens begging for free porn, and people asking the same 'hao duz i setup fayke pp acc?'. I ran an e-whoring helpdesk, but ended up dropping support after it became repetitive.

[img]http://www.imgdumper.nl/uploads6/51338a352c71d/51338a352bb81-seper.png[/img] Why do you want to join The Empire?:

In my short time on HF, I have done my best to establish myself as a user. I've tried to be at least mildly helpful and friendly. The empire is one of the few groups here on HF I view as true 'High Quality'. It is ran partially by an admin, along with many other members I view as 'high quality'.

The empire and it's members could help me become a better known user, and in turn I can help it's members further themselves in the ways of social engineering and e-whoring.

[img]http://www.imgdumper.nl/uploads6/51338a352c71d/51338a352bb81-seper.png[/img]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

Because I can bring my talents, which I am more than willing to share with the group (this includes private methods and packs), along with a friendly and open minded personality. I feel that I would help bring the group together, as I would be incredibly active in the sub forum, and any other empire areas.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

When I was born, I was born with a rare disease named 'Lymphangioma'. In most people, it causes an inflammation (and a large one) in the face or neck areas. However, my case was exceptionally rare, as it was in my thumb. This lead to much surgery as a child, with doctors constantly requesting examinations, and attempting to make it look 'normal'. Eventually, everything failed. Every attempt to make my large thumb average did not succeed, and the thumb was amputated.

At the age of 5, my father (an electric linesman, he fixes electricity poles) got a job in Australia. This led our family to pack our bags and make us move from the town of Reading in the United Kingdom, to the Gold Coast in Queensland, Australia. We lived there for a number of years, however a large number of family issues (my grandfather died, my mother was pregnant with her 3rd son, my great aunt was diagnosed with breast cancer' led us to return to the UK. A few years later, my father received ANOTHER job offer in Australia, in the south west. Once again, my family emigrated to Australia, and we have lived in the small town of Albany ever since.

Both of these events have made me an incredibly open minded person. As a result of my living with almost every type of race, sexuality, etc along with my deep understanding of an 'ugly' disease or flaw, I am understanding and open to all types of people. In a nutshell I'm one of those Quote: I don't care if you're black, white, straight, gay, Asian, African. If you're nice to me, I'll be nice to you types of guys.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): Well I have multiple skills spanning from gaming to Graphic Designing. Let me start with gaming. I have been a gamer since the Playstation 1 came out. When I was little, I played some FPS games and I was a huge racing fan. But then I was introduced to a N64 and there was the start to my love for gaming. Super Mario was the first game I actually remember playing all night and day. Donkey Kong was also a love. The skill I have now originated from those games. Nowadays, I'm playing competitive in Call of Duty and Halo. I play those games like there's no tomorrow and I have been playing on MLG's site called GameBattles looking for competition. Gaming is just a part of my life and always will be. Graphics and Designing has need a love for me since I received my first laptop a couple of years ago. I downloaded Photoshop when I was in 7th grade and I started getting a love for it. I learned all the cool things you could do with it and I started a graphic service. I did it for free since I didn't have a way to hold the money. I earned a lot of love and respect for my free service and decided to take a professional route. My school saw the graphics I was making for people and offered me a spot in graphic designing on the Student Technology Leadership Program, or STLP. It has brought me a long way to scholarship offers for design and I'm still learning new things.

What section are you most active in and why? I really enjoy the graphics section of HF. The reason I'm attracted to this section is because I love seeing the work people create and how I could learn to do that.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: Well, The Empire has caught my eye numerous times. The giveaways, love for each other, and quality if the group is just a no-brainer to want in the group. The reason I want in The Empire is because I want to be able to be apart of the big family and be apart of the group. Group Leaders have PMed me back numerous times when I ask something unrelated or related to the group. That show me that they aren't "Too good for someone" to PM me back. Every member in The Empire is of high quality and always post on topic. It's just a wonderful group to be in and I want that feeling.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: There are numerous reasons I should be accepted in The Empire. Starting off with that Im a nice person and member. I help others before myself and The Empire matches my personality. I would be active in the sub-forum and offer giveaways when possible. I would be a great addition to the group and that's why you should accept me.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: Well, my name is Christian, I'm 15 from Eastern Kentucky, and I'm a sports, design, and gaming maniac. Everyday except Friday, I'm at the gym weightlifting for my school's football program. I am a basketball know-it-all and it is my favorite sport. I enjoy watching my teams in the NBA play until they can't and working hard in my mind always pays off in the end. Jumping off the topic of sports, I'm a person who hates people who are cocky, I hate people who brag alot, and I have respect for anyone until they disrespect me. My favorite subject in school is English because I love writing about me and my life as well as making reports and correcting spelling or grammar errors. I am a freshman in high school and I have the best friends anyone could ask for. That's really all you need to know about me.

Anything else you want to say: Not really. I wish the best of luck to all the people who apply!

[img]<http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif>[img]

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

My first skill I would like to outline would be my general demeanor and attempt at treating everyone equally. It may seem like something that most people wouldn't class as a skill, but I think otherwise. Way too many times do I see people on HF being horrible to other members, or taking a higher stance because of some stupid variable (such as Rep, PC, join date, groups, ect). I find the ability to listen to everyone, take on board what they have to say, and process their opinions (as opposed to an instantaneous rejection) is a rare one, that few people in this day and age possess. As well as this, everyone deserves initial respect. If they choose to do something stupid to loose it, that's on them.

My second skill would have to be my overall general knowledge. I don't claim to know everything, but I feel as if I know something about most topics, and can easily research deeper into it. Be it hacking related (both skid stuff & more advanced hacking such as Metasploit), politics related, news related, science related, or pretty much anything else. I'm typically clued-up about most things, and I do my best to be as balanced as possible. I'm also happy to admit I'm wrong, and learn/change my opinions based on what other people say to me. I would hope this general knowledge can be seen in a majority of my posts around the forum, especially in my posts in the hacking section back before I took my break from HF.

I'd say my third skill is general communication. Quite a few people have told me that I'm very good at wording things, and getting my point across in a clear & concise manner. Be it communicating instructions, opinions or general conversation, I feel as though I'm (in almost all circumstances) able to make sense. Again, I'd hope many of my posts, especially in SSRP can help prove this to be truth. This post too, I hope :P

Gaming is not so much a skill, but more of a passion. I've been an avid gamer ever since being around 6, when I was introduced to Sonic on the megadrive. I've been through gaming phases, starting off more 'hardcore' when I got my Xbox 360 about a year after it's launch. I remember playing through Fallout 3 and getting every achievement, and spending endless hours farming for items on Borderlands. About a year ago I got my PC (costing around $1500 back then), and ever since I've been enthralled in the 'hardcore' PC multiplayer scene. Collectively I'd say I have (literally) thousands of hours played on titles such as League of Legends, World of Warcraft, Counter Strike (both source and GO, 1.6 isn't my thing), Minecraft, Path of Exile, Diablo 3 and many more! I used to have a live stream, but I haven't been active on it for quite some time. Maybe I should start up again! As for examples, if you play any PC game hit me up and I'll get on it with you!

Finally, I'd like to outline my work ethic and morale. If my friends or family need something doing, I won't stop until it's done, and it's done right. I like to try as hard as I can to make everyone I like happy, and help out in any way possible. Getting stuck into a community, becoming the guy everyone knows they can rely on and go to for pretty much anything. Someone to talk to, someone to work with, pretty much anything.

[img]<http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif>[/img]

What section are you most active in and why? Currently I'm most active in SSRP (and the lounge when I'm feeling quite brain-dead [rofl]). I also like to try help out in beginner hacking, but I really do need to start being more active in the hacking sections again. The reason I'm most active in SSRP is due to the fact I LOVE debating with people, and hearing people's opinions about pretty much anything. It's always nice to see what other people around the world think, and to become more culturally & politically aware.

[img]<http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif>[/img]

Why do you want to join The Empire?: The Empire is a group I've always looked up to with great respect and almost awe. I feel as if Empire is a very tight-knit group of very knowledgeable and 'HQ' members, and I really want to learn from everyone, as well as hopefully give back some knowledge from time to time. I like being part of real 'family' style groups, and I feel as if I'd feel warm and snugly cuddling up to you all (In all seriousness though, I really want to learn everything members from Empire have to offer, and hopefully teach some people too!).

[img]<http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif>[/img]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: This is quite a tough question to answer. I feel as though I should be accepted based on my general demeanor, and want to help everyone I possibly can. I feel as though I could make a great friendly addition to Empire, even if my only real role is the tea boy (What I mean by this is I'm not necessarily advanced at many different topics & skills, but I can learn, and do the low-level things in the meantime).

[img]<http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif>[/img]

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who you are: First of all, I'd like to say a big hearty hello and give thanks to you for reading my application. I'm Guy (AKA Chloe)! I'm currently 18 and in college (UK) studying for a Level 3 Extended Diploma in Networking & System support. Along with this I hope to also achieve my Cisco CCNA before I finish the course in a few months time. I'm a 'hardcore' PC gamer, and I'm made about everything IT and technology related. I spend hours upon hours looking up news to do with the latest technological advances, both in terms of Hardware and Software! If you want to discuss anything PC related I feel I'm your man!

As well as my love for IT, I also move debating with people. It doesn't even matter what about. When you debate with people properly, you find that you learn all sorts of stuff you wouldn't have previously known. Which I suppose also means I love to learn new things (which most of the time are useless trivial facts or pieces of information, but who cares?)!

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Anything else you want to say: Really just a huge thanks for the opportunity to apply!

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Edit: I've also done an audio application. I would prefer it if you listened to this, as I think it reflects me in a way better light, and I also have a much better answer from the question about who I am. I know it's long, but I ask you listen to it all.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Programming Skills

I have thorough knowledge of the language Python, and have made dozens of programs and am quite experienced in it. I have also made several games with Python (and the pack of modules allowing animation in Python, called Pygame). Furthermore, I possess basic knowledge of HTML and after writing this application, I plan on learning Visual Basic.

Hacking / Computer Skills

To start off, I would like to say that I know how to use a keylogger, and also several methods of spreading it. I also am pretty good at SQL Injections and SQL Queries. Finally, I would like to add that I have basic to moderate knowledge of nearly all the hacking concepts (e.g Ddos'ing, RAT'ing, etc...) found here on HF. You may think that that isn't worth mentioning, but it can be a valuable skill to have.

Gaming

And although I never count gaming as a skill (for obvious reasons), I decided that I might as well include in my application. Here are a list of games, for which I have beaten the whole campaign (this list doesn't include every single game I have beaten, such the recent ones that people know and play):

Spoiler (Click to View)

- Bioshock
- Bioshock 2
- Battlefield 3
- Battlefield Bad Company 2
- Dishonored
- Just Cause 2
- Fallout 3
- Fallout: New Vegas

- Portal

Also, I am above average in Battlefield 3 multi-player. I have played for roughly 120-130 hours, and I am Colonel service star 4.

Writing Skills

I have a particularly strong talent in writing. This application may not be the best example, but I have near impeccable grammar and extravagant vocabulary. This may be because I enjoy writing, and/or because I do it a lot.

IRL Skills
In the real world, I do have a couple of skills which I believe are worth mentioning. First of all, I am quite talented at the piano. I have been playing for 7 years (with this year being my eighth) and I am greatly enjoying it, being in Grade 9 RCM. Secondly, I am pretty good at freestyle skiing and have been doing it for 4 years. I have never tried anything crazy in the park (such as backflips and such), but I love doing it. Also, for my age, my knowledge in mathematics and in science is much higher than the average. Finally, I have one skill which may be more important than all of the rest, the ability to speak English and French fluently.

What section are you most active in and why?

The section that I am most active in, would be the lounge. The reason that I am most active in the lounge is probably because the lounge always occupies a large part of the day's new threads. And there is always something somewhat interesting in the lounge, which I usually check out. Other sections that I am pretty active in, and can be found close to the top of my most active sections, is the SRPP section, because it is common that I take part in one of their debates, and the E-Whoring section, because over the time, I have posted on so many threads (before Post to PM was disallowed), hoping to receive E-Whoring packs which I could use.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I would like to join The Empire, because I have only heard good things about this group. I have great respect for plenty of users in the group, and it would be an honor to be a part of The Empire.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel that I should be accepted into The Empire, because I am a mature and HQ member, who tries to give back as much as he can to HF. Also, I have been accepted for UB3R, which means that I can't be a horrible fellow ;)

Some of my contribution threads are:

{TuT} How to escape the Friend-Zone {Tut}

? ? ? ? ? {Mega E-Whore Pack}{371 MB}{15+ Different Girls}? ? ? ? ?

Finally, being in a group is a great privilege, and I shall treat it as such. Furthermore, being in a group as HQ as The Empire, is an even bigger privilege. Therefore I shall treat it with my utmost respect.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well, something memorable that made me who I am, is my mothers decision to move back with my dad. You see, my dad is a tricky fellow, left my mother several times and always made her think that he was a better man. This time (I was 6), my mom was planning to move back with him to Ottawa, for which the duration was unknown. But, instead of moving to Ottawa, we moved to Gatineau, Quebec (just about 5 minutes outside Ottawa) because the houses were cheaper. From here on, I started going to a French school. It definitely was hard, because I was 6 years old and the only language I knew was English. It was tricky, but I eventually got the hang of it. In the beginning, I hated my mom for making that choice. But now that I am older, I thank her.

Another thing that makes me who I am today, is how my mom brought me up. First of all, she regularly questioned me on my multiplication tables (starting at about 4 years old. I memorized them up to 9x9 when I was five. Also, my mom never forced a religion on my, she told me to believe whatever seems right and makes sense to me (she is agnostic). Those two things, explain my love for mathematics and science. And for that, I am very grateful.

Anything else you want to say:
Thank you for taking your time to read my application.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Advertising/PPC, I have been advertising on Twitter/Facebook for many months now. This involves enticing an audience to visiting a page. This has been very successful for me and have been averaging over $1,000. I have also expanded this into selling real twitter followers through my website which also brings a good income.

I have also been a keen gamer for many years. As of now I am playing for fun with friends in public games. Previously I have been playing at a high level competing on Gamebattles. This has also brought me some income as I use to enter tournaments for money. So I would say I am a good gamer. I have been gaming for about 8 years now. Starting small from the Play Station playing games like Ray-Man. Now I mostly enjoy Gears of War and the Call of Duty's.

I am also a decent Graphic Designer although I just do this for fun. I've been using Photoshop for around 2 years now and enjoy messing about on it and making GFX. I wouldn't sell my work as I don't think it is good enough for distributing but that doesn't stop me messing about on it.

I finally deem myself to be a good entrepreneur. I have been buying and selling since I was in year 7 at school. I started off selling sweets to other pupils in my year and in year 7 I was making up to £80 a week which I thought was impressive for that age. I then moved on to buying and selling virtual goods like RSGP, Fifa Ultimate Team coins etc..

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm mostly lurking around the lounge and marketplace. I float around the lounge as I like the interesting stories I hear from fellow members from the HF community also because there are often people asking for advice or help and I try to see if I can be any help to these people. I'm floating around the marketplace either to find any cheap deals or looking around my products/services.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Empire has been one of the most appealing groups to me from the start because of the amount of HQ members in the group. I would love to be apart of this group to meet some more members of HF. The giveaways are often the best and I feel I could give something more to them and contribute to these. I'm a respectable member and would love to bring this to Empire.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel like I have given a good deal to the HF community. I have done a couple of decent giveaways and I am always up for helping others. I think I am a good HQ user and would be a great addition to Empire. I have a lot to give and I'm sure you will be impressed.

I was born in Ipswich England and have living here since birth. My life hasn't been to hard to be honest. I have a good family and good friends. I'm really sporty and have a buzzing social life. The hardest thing that has happened to me was when a good friends of mine got cancer. He didn't have a easy time about it but I was with him a lot until it got the better of him.

Nowadays I go to college and study some lengthy subject like Economics. I don't find them hard but they are a lot of work. This is not a problem as I like a challenge and when I have a task I always want to finish it.

I also code websites with HTML, CSS, and Javascript. I'm currently working on a company which has an awesome website that I've been working on for about a month. It's coming out great!

What section are you most active in and why? I am either in the Lounge or the Monetizing section. As far as the Lounge, I chill there a lot of the time because I really like to communicate with members. A lot of the other sections prohibit a conversation because it is based on one specific topic. I also go on the Monetizing section because I am very interested in becoming an entrepreneur. I have great business ideas and I try to ask questions and get help in relationship to money and other related questions.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: The biggest reason I would like to join The Empire is because I would like to communicate with members and learn other topics like games, programming languages, etc. But, yes, it's important for me to communicate with members on Hack Forums because I think it's always great to make friends online and also IRL.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel that I should be accepted to The Empire because I have a great understanding about members on Hack Forums. People want to be accepted and I am a great mentor for personal stress. I have many advantages that I could explain to members that are in need of help.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well, throughout my entire life, I was raised being really happy and friendly to everyone. From Elementary school, I had a lot of friends because of my personality. If someone needed help, I wouldn't stop talking until they felt better. I also had challenges; feeling sorry for people and crying because people were different than others. I was a very friendly person.

When it came to Jr. High, people were different. I couldn't really help people out without them making fun of that fact. I continued to help people even though I was considered weird. I don't have any mental illnesses so I had no idea what they were talking about. For some reason, my parents decided to put me in a special ed class. I am in no way Special Ed. Anyways, I helped special ed kids the most that I could. One of my close friends has issues talking to people because he has ADHD. I've been his friend since birth and not ONCE did I make fun of him. I told everyone to stop when they made fun of him. But, besides that, I had a lot of friends in Jr. High.

Now, that I'm in High School, I've made a lot of friends. I do weird things during lunch. I get the most attention because I just feel like it. My dad once said that I should care what others thought of me. I really don't give a shit. Honestly, the more I don't care, the more friends I make. I get decent grades, but lately I have been slacking off. It's easy for me to do that, but if I realize it, it's very easy for me to fix them. So, I don't really worry about that. But, that is really my background and how I am.

Anything else you want to say: I would just like to thank the whole group in The Empire for this awesome opportunity. I hope that I can join. Seems like an excellent group. Have a nice day. :)

I've updated my post with an audio application. I'd much prefer if you listened to that, and if you've already looked at my application I'd appreciate it if you could go back and listen to the audio! It's 20 minutes long, but I ask you listen to it from start to finish!

Thanks again and good luck to everyone else!

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

For the most part, I don't focus on ONE skill in particular. I like to bring up all my skills at once, together. Moving along, I tend to like graphics and video editing, I have a youtube with some ongoing editing projects. I sometimes make GFX for people, or at least I'm trying to. Now, I'm sure this has been said again and again, but I also enjoy gaming, such as Minecraft and Smite. My YouTube channel (which can be found in my signature) has lots of smite and MC on it. I also enjoy building and upgrading PC's. It was almost 2 years ago, when I was 11, that I built my first PC. I still have it, but I've made tons of upgrades to it since. If you'd like some pictures and specs, let me know. So sum it up, without going into too much detail, here's a list:

GFX - I'm getting better and taking on projects for other members.

VFX - I've been working with VFX for 3-4 years now, I quite enjoy it and I'm quite good at it.

Gaming - Playing some Smite + Minecraft, good times. I also noticed you have a MC server, which is perfect.

Computer Hardware - Built my first PC at the age of 11, still have it, good at this stuff.

What section are you most active in and why?

There isn't one section in particular I'm active in, but I enjoy to hang out in either the Marketplace, GFX, lounge, or Computer Customization/Hardware. I don't go in the lounge as much as I used to, though. Here's a list of what I do in each section:

Marketplace - In the Marketplace, I let people know if their prices are too high, help out with PayPal related issues, and just do what I can when or if I can.

Graphics Section - I tend to swing in the Graphics section to admire others work or to get better myself with some tutorials. I've released a few tutorials of my own. I'm planning on opening a free signature service soon.

Lounge - As I said, I don't spend much time in here anymore. I normally just ghost around and sometimes post on interesting stuff. When I was active in it, I would post around 15-20 times in it per day.

Computer C/H - I normally just let people know about their builds and parts, recommend them some, have someone recommend me some. They're some really nice and helpful people in this section. It's always good to help out those kinds of people.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I want to join the Empire because the group is, for the most part, one of the most HQ and reliable groups there is on HackForums. This is something I'd like to be a part of, as I've started to stop posting useless threads and start posting tutorials and giveaways.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I never like typing out this kind of stuff, I feel like I'm bloating, but whatever.

I fell I should be accepted because in the past month, I've started to post less useless threads and more tutorials and giveaways. I could dedicate these to the Empire, and bring tons of positive light to the group. As I said up above, I'm also planning some massive threads to help people out soon, such as a complete computer building guide, a list of GFX tutorials as a sort of "guide" for the GFX tut section, and a free signature making service.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Back in 2009, when my mother first got her computer from her work, I've been on any type of computer I can get my hands on. I've become attached to the things, learning, playing, making money. Computers and the internet have impacted my life so much since then. I think back in 2011, I was struggling in school, not getting very good grades and such, but after about a year of being on my computer and internet, my grades and test scores were flying up, and I was an A+ student. I think I posted a thread about that, you can look through my recent threads and see it.

Anything else you want to say: I know I'm young, but I'm mature. I don't act like I'm young.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I can always figure something out, and fix a problem. Say if our friends had nothing to smoke with I would quickly make a pipe/bong in a minute.

What section are you most active in and why?: Lounge because I've always been there and I love the people in it. I'm starting to become more active in the CPA/PPD section now as I'm earning close to $100 a month.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: Because I've spent so much time on this forum now, I feel on my own and I want to join a group.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I'm a very nice person, if you look through my posts you will never see me insulting a member even if he is new with 1 post. I make friends with everybody and always sort something out.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I am a nice person, who gets along with everyone in my school and outside of school, I like experimenting with substances such as MDMA and Ketamine and will continue to do so as I love it. I am motivated to do work, and my grades in school are above average although they are falling now but I know whats to blame.

I love exploring the world, even if it is just the next town on a bus. This happened ever since I fell asleep on a bus and woke up about 2 hours away from my home town and I had to get home with no money so I used my old bus ticket, because it was a day ticket. I just like ripped the destination up etc, so he couldn't tell and it worked. Most satisfying moment, been doing it ever since. It's always fun to get on a random bus too see where you end up, I'm going to London on the 7th of April to a rave, and tomorrow I'm going to Holland for three days.

Anything else you want to say: No:D

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I'm not highly skilled in anything particularly, I like to dabble a little in everything. I know how to use all of my skid tools, code a bit of PHP, Java, VB.NET, develop websites, building computers, stock marketing, CPA/PPD, and gaming. I use skid tools such as RATs and Crypters to "have some fun" :D (Totally not creepy at all) From screwing with their desktop to going to random websites or even ejecting their DVD drives, I had quite some fun, what can I say? I'm a child at heart <3 For me, coding started when I played private servers and helped edit a few things and got even further when I started taking courses for it in school making trollgrams that screws with people when they open it (Fun times again ;3). I started getting into website development and PPD/CPA awhile back, I didn't make much from it considering I suck at SEO optimizing but it was a good learning experience plus I learned how to make some really sweet websites that'll impress the person I love~. I've been building my own computers since I was a kid, I still do it now as a hobby helping out family and friends by building their computer and setting it all up for them if they don't know how. I've been starting to take interest in stock marketing and checking out stocks to invest in so I can make a profit later however it's kinda a on/off thing right now.

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm active in the marketing sections and the gaming sections mostly. I like to see how far HackForums is developing through the marketing section, it was amazing coming back and seeing all these UDP Amplification booters around. From my friend Fanatics who popularized it through his booter, more and more booters started popping up. The gaming sections, I've always been a fan of FPS, RPG, and games such as Minecraft. They don't last very long because I get bored easily however when I do play them, I check out these sections and the discussions going on to see the progress.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

There's hot girls, weird guys, and a lot of marketers. What more can you ask for in a group? All jokes asides, it's a pretty cool group from the time I came back and started being active again. I see them around a lot however I don't exactly approve of their marketing too much as they priced things a bit too high and they have quite a bit of complaints on one thread. But other than that, the members are pretty cool and seems chill to hang around.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I'm a fun person to be around, I help out wherever I can and simply awesome? Who wouldn't want me in their group? Kidding, but I really do try and help out when I can. I don't really keep track of all those little things I do because that's not the point of helping out, you do it to help, not to expect credit and favors.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm a person that holds ideals and morals, it's a bad trait at times but you are who you are. I grew up in a Catholic Church School when I was younger so that influenced me quite a lot however I'm not very religious from it which is quite weird. I'm a weird person who likes to have fun and chill, I do what I can for others when I'm able to and I simply love humans even if they are sometime assholes and inconsiderate bastards who cares only about themselves lol.

Anything else you want to say:

If you're wondering about my application and why I left some stuff not very detailed, this is HackForums, why would you state everything on a hacking forums? Gotta know better than that people.

Oh and sorry about the thread format, this would catch people's attention and maybe even annoy them so yay, I'm killing 2 birds with one stone. ?

Real Life Skills

I enjoy walking.

Online Skills I'm semi-competent at hardening servers.

I've got some experience with web-application security; ie file-inclusion, SQLi, XSS, and command injection attacks

I am very much an expert with embedded/minimal UNIX derivatives.

I'm relatively knowledgeable about crypto and anonymity
I'm a Perl coder. My code is disgusting and I'm not particularly talented, but I can code.
What section are you most active in and why?

Beginner Hacking, because I feel like newcomers here seriously need help and actual advice. BUY STUFF WITHOUT UNDERSTANDING IT is not good advice and just damages the culture of the site itself.

Why do you want to join The Empire?

I don't really care if I get in. I'm just bored.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?

Because it's in your best interests to accept me, obviously.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I'm absolutely nobody, certainly not a big hecker, I'm not important, and nothing memorable has ever happened to me. I'm only here because I feel compelled to make some difference to the site's quality.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I am a fast learner! I may not succeed or be spectacularly awesome at what i do, but i am persistent a what i do. Here is what i think im good at.Computer Help: Fairly Good at this matter, I know more than the average Joe on the streets, and can fix most problems, even though my methods are a bit overboard Making Friends: I enjoy social life i try to make as much friends as i can! Great social skills allow me to ease arguments and also fit in :)

Learning a game: I surpass everyone when i try to learn a game! Its just that eventually they surpass me at skills

What section are you most active in and why?

I am active everywhere, I go where i please! HF has so many unique and awesome people its nice to meet them all. Most of the advice and skills i recived were from meeting people on HF.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

The Empire seems like a professional, friendly and, stable group to come join. I dislike all LQ members and scammers on HF and don't want to deal with them again. Ever since that sandshrew incident i felt unconformable to groups, but this is the group i feel most eased and relaxed in.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I guess i make the expectations of the group. I can offer stuff that I have received through contests and giveaways. If i do not receive admission I will work harder later on to achieve this personal goal of mine!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

"Life is a game" This is the quote I live by! I am a 15 year old person who wants to succeed or learn everything. I strive to be the best by finding ways to achieve things faster! I look over the requirements of my assignment and i ask myself "How can I expedite this", I could finish my work quicker by doing what my instructor said but i like to do things my own way and make my life much easier in the future

Real-Life Skills:

Art: In art class, I love drawing, I've drawn a football player before, and it was an amazing drawing.

Reading: I love Reading, as its an important part in life as it is every thing you do.

Online Skills

GFX: Graphics is my passion, I just love doing it, i'll never stop. I've made incredible GFX before, but isn't that good but I will KEEP on working.

Anime: I am a die had anime fan, Hakurei Reimu is my favorite anime person.

What section are you most active in and why? Im most active in the Hacking section, because my passion in life is Hacking, even though it is bad. I have done some illegal things without a VPN, which was stupid of me. I also like the lounge to chillax, and the marketplace for making that paper.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join the Empire because, It seems like a great high quality group, and I would love to get into this group, I've had a bad life with experencies of doxed and the police at my house which really sucked, and this would give me some motivation due to the sexy userbar, and HQ members and markeeters in this group. I would love to contribute, support, and help out other users.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: Wel I meet all the requirements, and I think it would be great if i cold get accepted,i would do so MUCH give aways and contests, pretty much everything. All members here are high quality and I'd be another HQ member in this biotch :P

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: My name is Michael, I am 15 years old, and I've had a TOUGH life. I was doxed when I was about 12 and the police came to my house, people called my house for 7 hours straight, and it was really hard. It was even posted on Youtube which was HORRIBLE, but I finally got it removed, my brother went out of control on them, so this would be a happy help for me.

Why do I want to get accepted into the Empire?

No, thats the wrong question.

The question is, Is empire good enough for me?

Well, I certainly don't know. I have skills in programming, and I want to get more involved in the 'hacker' community. Make new friends, etc..

I can bring a lot forward if given the right environment and some like minded people.

Im going to release a small RAT-like tool, free and open source to all. I will use this to train newbies in programming and what its like. I will also make it a community project to HF if it gets big enough.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Great English Skills - I believe that I type very well and very clearly which is a necessity for communication online. I've been told my English skills are one of my best aspects online due to me being able to clearly direct the message I'm trying to give.

Graphic Design - Graphic design is one of my most favorite things, and I'd be willing to use it to help any of the members in or out of the group. I typically post most often in the graphics section of the website and try and help new, aspiring artists better their skills.

Listening - I know this may sound cheesy but I consider this a skill because I very seldom see it in people these days. When it comes to HF, before I pass any judgement on anyone, I always listen to their side of the story and the other side. I make sure to keep in mind that none of their profile stats matter, only their words and how they use them.

Debating - When it comes to nearly any topic, depending on my current knowledge on the subject, I can nearly always rile up a very great debate on it. I'm currently in Void and take part of several debates there while also giving my input into the SRPP section when I browse through it.

Leadership Skills - Not claiming I'm applying for leader here, but any time someone is needed to step up to the plate and lead a member/and or members in the right direction I'll be there. I'm currently an admin on 2 websites, run my own site, moderate Hexicidal's website when it was up, and help with several usergroups on other sites. I've never got the chance to own a usergroup on here nor show my experience as a leader for anything directly here, but I believe I'd do quite well at it.

Adaptable - I'm great at taking new changes and turning them into an environment that I found myself quickly comfortable in. I'm also very eager to learn all that I can. I've shown this through the Graphic Master's group when I was in it and doing their challenges that they offered through the student recruitment program.

Gaming - I've been a huge gamer since I was around 3. I used to stay up at night on the computer playing Diablo 1 and just destroying lol. I typically play Halo, I can compete pretty heavily when it comes to it and I love playing with friends. I think I'd have a great time playing with some of the members in the Empire and showing them up when it comes to skills at FPS games.

Instruments / Music - I can play the guitar pretty well, I sing, I can drum, I produce electronic music and I remix. I love music and it's one of the most major things in my life.

What section are you most active in and why?:

While having a few more posts in the Lounge, I'm most frequently active in the graphic portion of HF. I enjoy going there because I'm able to get quick, and very honest reviews of my work. I also enjoy it due to being able to do the same for other members and helping their passion for art prosper. I'm also decently active in the SRPP section as I love to discuss the thoughts and ideas there with member's of the site and learn their perspective on different subjects and just generally express my opinion and contribute to the debate.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I want to join The Empire because I've always seen every member that is a part of the group being extremely nice and well-mannered in nearly every situation. I want to join this group because I would love to meet some new people here, definitely get to know more people, and just enjoy the family aspect of a group that you don't get when you're without one. I've always kind of looked up to the Empire and it's userbase as a sort of role model for what I should try to be on here. It's one of the main groups that stands out to me and makes me actually motivated to become a better member.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I believe I should be accepted because I'm fun, mature, and nice. I generally try to help in areas that I can and I would wear the userbar respectfully and uphold the group's high quality image throughout every post I make.

Well, I don't really know how to start this out but I'll give it a go.

My father left me when I was around 3 and I moved in with my grandparents while my mom also lived with us. Then he came back to me and my little brother, Joseph/Loddy and he began to cheat on my mom so they split up and he moved to Texas. I finally started school, I hated it but I got straight A's up until 6th grade.

Me and my brother fought a lot up until the last two years, I've even nearly broke my hand from punching him before but it was due to him kicking where no man should ever aim.

So then I was going to bible school and stuff and it was fun when I was younger but then I realized that religion was too much of a contradiction to even want to be a part of so I become an atheist, still am to this day. Around when I was 9, my brother was hit in the face with a golf-club and I had to carry him up steps while he was bleeding on me, we rushed to the hospital and they fixed it. Broke a lot of bone and left a big scar, but it looks invisible now. Around when I was 11 my dad tried to start coming back into my life, he sucks at it, he didn't even start paying child support up until I was 13.

So, when I was 11 I got my first love, her name was Jamey, and she was amazing. We were together for 3 months despite her being 15/16 we got along perfectly. I eventually ended up cheating on her when the Summer break ended because I got withdrawals of being around her and messed up when some girl came over to my house. So, then I went into middle-school, 7th grade, met the love of my life.

Calli Lauren Lyles. A redheaded, beautiful, Asian-looking girl. She had an amazing personality, and I loved her with every part of me. We were together for 6 months until she cheated on me, which she admitted to doing several times a few weeks ago. Then I went into a huge state of depression, had suicidal thoughts, cut myself, I eventually had to ask for therapy.

So, I started recovering about a year ago once I got in 8th grade due to meeting this girl, Tia. She helped me through a lot of the depression, she was a great friend and extremely caring. She took care of me when I needed someone the most. Me and she ended up dating on/off for about 7 months and eventually she moved last year in 9th grade on October 27th. After she left my grades drop substantially, I'm talking barely passing D's. I'm still having trouble with them. Also, I forgot to mention, I'm sick a lot. Actually, just recently I had appendicitis and had to get an appendectomy.

I've missed over 50 days these two semesters so far. My cousin, Brandon Howard recently passed. Actually, it was yesterday. I'm still in a state of shock, it seems like just yesterday we were hanging out and playing video games together all night. Things happen for a reason, though. I'm talking to this girl now, Mackenzie, who is pretty great, too. She's helping me through everything that is going on, but she lives like an hour away. :/ Hopefully she's getting to come see me today but I can't really be sure about it. Uhm, my dad skipped telling me happy birthday, Merry Christmas, and hasn't checked on me in about a month. He probably isn't even worried that I had to have surgery.

I'm currently trying to live everyday to the fullest, just trying to have a good time. I'm in good relations with Mackenzie at the moment, plan to see her for the first time soon, too. Things have been looking up for me aside from missing so much school from surgery, but that's fine. My mom and I have begun to bond more, me and my brother are getting along great and I've been hanging out with my friends a ton so I'm really looking forward to seeing what happens from here on out.

Anything else you want to say: I just wanted to say that I really appreciate the opportunity Tibit, Judge Dredd, and The Empire's members are giving me to prove myself to them. Thank you for taking your time to read this, I appreciate it. Whether or not I'm accepted, I look forward to seeing more from the group and will strive for the ability to be a part of such a great opportunity at all times.

Sincerely,
Ethereal

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

- Emotional Support - I love helping people with personal problems and give them that encouraging wind they need to rise above anything they might face. My biggest strength is around Suicide and Relationship advice also Religious problems. I decided to educate myself in various religions to help others find the path they desire. It doesn't matter if I agree with it.

- iDevice enthusiast - I have jailbreak iPhones, iPods, iPads. I can't develop software to hack it. I have vast knowledge on apps and tweaks on this particular subject. Also I can Sim Unlock your iDevice but with your help of course.

-Bilingual - I can help people that have the desire to learn Spanish. It's my native language so I am very good at it. I can do both text teachings as well as voice and pronunciation teachings.

-Creative writing - I will post a bit I wrote in dedication to somebody here. I know it might not be that good but I love it.

- I just wanted to talk to you for a while. You may see me as a bad thing. You may think I am taking away your loved ones.

I am here to tell you the truth. I am not your enemy. If anything I am helping you out. See when everything is close things are easy. Your smiles are more fluent and wide but, is it really? I give you a reason to fight for. I may take away and separate your loved ones but what you don't know is that I am secretly making you stronger. Faithful. Independent.

I give you all those things and something to wait for. A couple that makes it tough for me is a couple destined for great things. I know I might be harsh at times and I see when you are alone crying because you wish to have somebody close so they can comfort you and help you get through life but, I am doing it for your own good.

Struggles make you what you are and if you can bring that strength that I secretly gave you what can really stop you? See this guy that is typing my words as I tell them. He had everything he wanted but lacked something. "Trials and tribulations" I gave him that when he traveled to New Hampshire to study Network Administration.

He left his beautiful fiancée back there to get all the certifications he needed to offer her and his soon to be born daughter. He hated me and suffered a lot because of me but, now he's back stronger than ever. They both remained a couple even with more than 1,700 miles of separation. Now they are married and they have a great and strong relationship where my sister Jealousy doesn't get involved and exploit their insecurities. This is what I want for you. To have a very strong relationship and make it together in life. To hold each other's hand through everything and never EVER doubt each other.

I want this for you. I really do. Yes you might hate me and see me as your enemy but I am a blessing in disguise. Just ask Sam (Evangelist) He will be more than happy to tell you about me.

Who am I? -

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]What section are you most active in and why?

-Science, Religion, Philosophy, Politics - Since I have been studying multiple religions I decided to be active on that section because I can share my views and opinions with other educated people and there are no trolls in that particular section. It has also improved my debating skills and grammar.

- Innuendo- As I stated on my skill list I love helping people with relationship Issues. Normally that's where the topics are so there's where I will be at. I love giving advice and such to people in need and will always do so. I expect no rewards or notoriety. For the fact that people can smile because of my words I am satisfied enough.

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want another chance to be here and make it right and I know I have improved as a member all around and I believe now I can really make the impact I was supposed to do a few months back. I just want to prove I have gotten better.

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I have improved a ton in the time I was away and I have gotten solid skills and stance on helping others in need. NOW I can represent The Empire name with pride.

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

This true event should tell you about me and also a memorable moment.

I recently ran across my ex-girlfriend. We started talking and she was so happy to meet me and surprised that I no longer use drugs and I am married. She wouldn't stop talking about my progress {Can't say I'm surprised because I was a heroin user}

I met her very close to the hospital and I asked what's up? What's new in life? She didn't respond quickly as I hoped. I went on and asked "Are you visiting somebody? Is everything okay?" Her eyes teared up and she said "Nothing too big, I am just getting myself checked out" Of course I am not retarded and since she was my girlfriend I immediately knew something was up. I asked "I know you. I know something is up" "Do you need a ride to your home?" She replied "Yes, my boyfriend didn't want to drive me here or pick me up" I asked about him and she cried. I swear to you guys that this is what she said. I remember every exact word. "He doesn't love me or care for me as much as he used to. He currently takes his frustrations because he can't get a job on me. I was in the hospital because he punched me really hard on my ribs and I thought they were broken since I can't really move much" I don't give a fuck about her anymore but I swear that this made me so fucking mad.

What kind of piece of shit abuses a woman that shows dedication to you and sticks with you even though you are a deadbeat fucking asshole? I am very experienced in Emotional Support and things related to advice THIS time I didn't know what to say. How do you look into the eyes of a destroyed woman and tell her that she is making all the wrong choices in life? That her life won't go anywhere if she stays with that guy? If anything I should be rolling around in happiness because she is suffering as my religion tells me but I can't. Now this could go both ways. Either she was lying to me trying to get me back into her life {She gave me her phone number} Or she is very seriously drowning for help. How do I help a person that I grown to hate in life? How do I put my desires of ending her life aside and lend her a hand? I really feel the need to help her but I truly hate her.

Why do I hate her? She single handed destroyed my life as she was the one who introduced me to drugs thanks to her I was drowning in my addiction. I attempted suicide 2 times because she left me addicted to drugs and I saw no way out. Since I gotten over everything and have a better life and my past is dead and gone my instinct tells me to show her what's true care for others and put my feelings aside and help her but my mind tells me to abandon her and leave her to perish on her own mistakes. This is a true conflict for me.

Then my wife sees me thinking outside and I told her about the situation. I hoped she would become jealous so I could use that as an excuse for myself and not help my ex-girlfriend.

My wife tells me " Hey chin up" and she got my Ipod and started to play a song. The song was called "One Day Too Late" by Skillet.

Link: [Video: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=HNEC735jul4>]

I reminded me about how I was before. I always strive to help others no matter what I felt towards them. It showed me that I can make a difference in a life. To not be so Vengeanceful. To let things go and make a new path. It really made me remember how much of a nice person I truly was. My life and judgement clouded by my dedication to my religion (Satanism) I am not saying I will give up on my religion but sometimes taking things too seriously can destroy what you are.

So I decided to help her out after all. My throat choking up from the true hate towards her I still asked her if she needed help (I tell you that's the hardest shit I have ever done) She said "Yes" So I gave her the idea of moving away without telling him. She agreed. I got money from my bank account and payed for a plane ticket to send her home to her mom and gave her extra so she can stand with both feet and make a new life.

This happened a month ago. To this day I don't know If I did the right thing I certainly do not feel better inside or some shit like that. I in fact feel worse than before. I felt weak helping a person who did me wrong in the past. I don't know how her life is or have any clue on what she's doing. I explicitly told her to NEVER call me or look for me not even to say thanks. Nothing. On the bright side I don't live on the same island with her anymore. (LOL)

Minecraft, and Minecraft server hosting. I have been hosting my own server for about a year now. I have gained some friends, and lost some friends. I manage the server all on my own, and have a loving, and fair community. I first opened the server April 20th, 2012. The server is still running today. We have switched hosts multiple times, but have finally settled with one. I have configured around 50+ plugins. Although nothing special, I love it. Everyday I get home from High School, and work on the server. It may be hard, but overall a good experience.

As for Minecraft, I have been playing since 17th of July, 2011. Spoiler (Click to View)

Since I started playing, I have endured many things. I usually find out things on my own, and find out that they are well known on Youtube, such as the TnT cannon. I usually think ahead however, as to where my house will be located, mob proventions, etc.

Halo 4. Oh yes, I am a big fan of the Halo series. I first started when I was seven, playing Halo 2 at my babysitters. In the first few minutes I ran her over with a Warthog. From that I branched off with Halo: Combat Evolved on the Xbox. When the Xbox 360 came out, we went to the store and bought it along with Halo 3. I had some good times on Halo 3. me and friends tried for 8 hours straight trying to get the Vidmaster challenge: Annual. The reason it took so long was because one person wasn't the best, and constantly fell off the map/got killed by the flood. From that we went to ODST, which in my opinion was the worst game in the Halo series. When Halo: Reach was released I played it until my Xbox got the RRoD. (Red Ring of Death) I of course got a new one in a few days, and resumed playing. Finally came Halo 4. I was suspended from school at the time, for a very minor issue. We had pre-ordered Halo 4 and we went up to GameStop. When we got home, I immediately started playing it.

What section are you most active in and why?

The Minecraft section. Why? Well:

Minecraft was the reason that I originally found HF. I was searching for a hacked client called ClickMe Client. I then started to lurk in the Griefing section, which was kind of a bad influence. I eventually broke away from that, and I now spend most of my time helping out people in the Minecraft, and Minecraft Server Management section, as you can see here: Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

The Empire, from what I have seen, are very friendly. However they may not be the kind of friendly that 143 is, but are just the right kind of people for me. The group is about sharing knowledge, and helping each other out. As you can see by my User Title, I am perfect for this group. My goal is to help people in any way that I possibly can.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I first started off by making guides/threads in the Minecraft section, in an effort to enrich people with my experiences, and to help them better understand certain aspects of Minecraft. The way I see it, I am a friendly, HQ, and helpful member.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who you are:

Well, at times that I am hanging out with friends, I can become immature. When it comes to something that needs to be taken seriously, I do it. I put forth effort when and where it is needed.

In my life, I have been teased by other kids in my class. I actually ended up moving to a different state because of it at one point. At this point, any insult either mildly affects me, or does not affect me at all. The state I am in now, is definitely a place that I will live. I live in a small community, where almost everybody knows everybody.

Anything else you want to say:

I am a very passionate, and loving person. It may not seem like it at times, but I would put anyone else before me. Especially friends and family.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): The skills that I possess revolve around my personality. I am a stellar critical thinker, and an all around helpful individual. I have to offer my information technology knowledge, as well as useful input in regards to an extreme amount of subjects. I am knowledgeable within the fields of pentesting, to be more precise; regardless of my post count within the Pentesting and Forensics section, I do the vast majority of my collaboration within IRC. Furthermore, since I am knowledgeable within the field of penetration testing networks, it is a given that I am good with networking as well; I also have a thorough background with computer hardware and software (this includes operating systems), as I have built my own computer from scratch and installed Windows 7 Professional x64; I also dual-boot Kubuntu (the KDE desktop environment of Ubuntu, which is based off of GNOME).

What section are you most active in and why? My most active section on Hack Forums is The Lounge, simply because the topics within The Lounge vary to such an extent that I find it always intriguing because of its diversity. However, my second most active section is the S.R.P.P., which stands for "Science, Religion, Philosophy, and Politics". As previously stated, I enjoy stimulating brain material, and keeping an analytic mind is always efficient.

Here is an image of my current post count as of this writing for both sections: Spoiler (Click to View)

Why do you want to join The Empire?: Such as a forum community operates, I enjoy being within a closer knit family in regards to overall collaboration; you may look at all of Hack Forums as a family of sorts, however, groups are more of a closer wound community, as well as being filtered from excesses nonsense.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: As previously stated, I have valuable skills in which I have to offer for The Empire; I am capable of also representing the group and its members in a positive way throughout the entirety of Hack Forums.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: For people who have yet to genuinely speak with me, or simply pay no attention, my name is "Jonathon", however, my forum alias is "Hydraulics". You may refer to me as my actual name, my forum username, a common abbreviation of my forum username (Hydra), my Xbox LIVE gamertag (Astrologistic), or an abbreviation of my Xbox LIVE gamertag (Astro); all of them will do, and I will respond to any of them. I am currently thirteen years old, soon to be fourteen within the same month The Walking Dead, Season 4 airs (might I also add that I am a rather large fan of The Walking Dead). I enjoy a wide array of activities, which typically revolve around technology and socialization. Within my free time, I will browse the internet at my own leisure, usually restricted to Hack Forums, a multitude of social networking sites, and of course, YouTube. If and when I feel as if I simply need to relax, I login to Netflix and watch my favorite movies and TV shows; all of which I thoroughly enjoy. However, this is not all that I do, I also use Google and other websites to keep my whereabouts within our currently rapidly changing world; I always inform myself on not only recent events, but debating strategies, common fallacies within debates, and other such information. Furthermore, in regards to debating, I must also add that I was in a rather large debate this week with the user Zecora in regards to same-sex marriage; here is a link and excerpt from Void News about the debate:

Quote:"I hate gay marriage because I have morals." by Joe Rogan Experience

Another gay marriage thread. This topic is currently one of the most controversial and discussed topics around the world currently.

While most gay marriage threads talk about the religious arguments this one discusses more of the emotional side of things, love.

Through the thread a huge debate took place with tons of arguments being made for and against gay marriage. One of the Voids members Hydraulics made a whole lot of valid points while defending gay marriage against those who do not support it, this thread is definitely worth a read if you enjoy discussing this topic. Whether you support or don't support gay marriage you will find it interesting.

Anything else you want to say: Yes; I would like to genuinely thank you for reviewing my application. Might I also add that I do not believe that length or graphical alteration increases the quality of an application; rather, it is the content that does so.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): Well the think I know how to do online is make money, I have made around $500 in the past three days. I have been exploring new ways to make money as well as twisting old ones. I have done many exchanges so I know how to use all Payment Processors.

Some exchange threads:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3372699>

I am good at emotional support, I am especially good at helping those with depression as I have it myself. I have even helped one guy who felt he had nothing left in the world.

I can lead a group of people. I am a group leader on a site which is very similar to this one and it is one of the if not the highest quality group on the forum. I'm not good at leading in real life but certainly I am online.

I host a lot of contests and I am generous, I have made many contest on other forums and I want to continue to do the same here but being apart of a group to set an example would make it seem a lot better for me.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

What section are you most active in and why? I am most active in the Currency Exchange section mainly down to me being an active exchanger. I plan to get my activity up though by joining The Empire as I've heard it is one of the most active groups on the site.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Why do you want to join The Empire?: Well, I would like to join The Empire because almost every member I've seen in there is a good example to the rest of the community, it is one of the few groups I hope to join in my time on HF and it would be a real boost to my confidence as a member on the forums. I'd also like to meet some new people as I don't get to socialize enough on HF as there isn't many Skype chats that appeal to me. The Empire would also be a great thing to help my contests get recognized and more people to enter, I would donate money to the group if that is ever needed.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I don't feel I am anymore special then anyone else applying but I'd love to join because of what the group does to help around the forum and I'd like to be apart of that.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well, I recently written a story about myself battling mental illness. I have O.C.D, Autism, Anxiety and Depression. Here is my story:

It all started in 2008 when I was in Year 5 of my school. I was young, energetic and loved the outdoors. Until I started to act funny, my parents noticed my strange behavior but thought nothing of it until my hands started to get raw like I'd been burnt. They asked me why my hands looked like this, I told them I was washing my hands. They took my to a doctor and they suggested I go to this house which deals with these kinds of problems.

After a long wait they concluded I had Anxiety and O.C.D, I obviously being my age didn't understand. I started to stop going out as much, I had friends I just didn't have that motivation I had a few months earlier. I hadn't been given any support when I was going through a tough time. I lost all my confidence, socialization and ability, this was going to affect me later in my life.

Two years later I moved into my new school, this is where the biggest problems started. After moving I was really afraid of my new school as there would be more pupils and people I've never seen. I was fine after I settled in, made a new gang of friends, everything was going good but then I was struck by a new problem that was caused by my O.C.D. I started to think my school was seriously dirty and had germs everywhere I went. When I came home from school one day, instead of just sitting down I went up-stairs and took a shower and chucked my school clothes into the washing basket. I started to stop touching stuff I had touched with my school uniform before this had happened (Door handles etc.) , I started to not finish homework or write up sanctions I had been given. Again my parents noticed this strange behavior and I went back to the "Mental house" to have another diagnoses and they decided I needed to start something called cognitive therapy, basically what I had to do was touch everything I wouldn't choose to (Xbox etc.) while I had my school clothes on. I done this for a week or so but then it became too much. I was then taken back and this time they said they would put me in a social building where they would assess my behavior. We done activities etc. to see how my brain worked and how creative I was. They couldn't find anything apart from the O.C.D and Anxiety I already had. I started to stay in the house almost all day, never went out even with my family. Then they decided I had depression. They put me on medication which I am still on to this day, the medication I felt, didn't really have an effect because my condition was deteriorating.

One year on. I returned to the house and they had found my "Mystery" illness. It was Autism Spectrum Disorder. I again didn't have a clue what this meant but it didn't sound good. I started to do rituals, have communication problems such as eye contact. Just progressively getting worse and worse.

One year down the line to this present day I have never been worse. I have started washing my hands up to 50 times a day. I have difficulty sleeping and the last time I went out with my friends was almost a year ago. I have lost my relationship with my father. We used to play football, go mountain biking, pretty much do everything together but now he won't even speak to me. My brother and mother are the two who care about me the most and I thank them a ton for being there for me but I don't think I have much hope left. I think it's too late for me to put an end to this. I have considered suicide as an option, but that is the easy way out. My family has considered sending me to a mental hospital because they just cannot cope with me anymore. All I can do is wait and be lucky.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

HTML & PHP My main skills are related to PHP/HTML. I was accepted into a web development course and a web design course at one of my states best technology related schools. Whilst I was there, I started to realise everything I could do with web based programming languages.

Soon after leaving due to personal illnesses, I started to give freelance web design & development a go. I had a nice run and thoroughly enjoyed the time spent, but I had to find something else to do due to my "education" and age being an issue for the local government.

Since then, I have developed multiple projects which (to myself at least) have been successful. I created an awesome RuneScape tool for almost every aspect of the game, this was purely done with php. I decided to do this to challenge myself and learn new methods of doing things.

Sales Due to my illness, online sales has been a big part of my life over the last two years. I started out with low level 'over the phone' type sales a web development company. I eventually progressed to Roofing quotes for a distant family member who owned a roofing company, this involved selling people $1000's of dollars worth of roof repairs, cleaning and such which they may not have necessarily wanted.

I am great at getting sales, I guess it's the one thing I inherited from my father. <.<

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm primarily a 'lurker'. I don't tend to post unless I have something constructive to say, I personally dislike people who make shitty posts that are irrelephant, as it is useless and unwanted. -cough- <https://puu.sh/2t7CN> -cough-

That being said, I have over 1.2k posts in the RuneScape section. For almost two years, I played RuneScape quite literally all day every day. People started to catch on and I was noticed more. Users would come to me both on the forum and ingame, asking for advice and tips on how to do this, that & maximize efficiency. I helped out those who asked politely and weren't asking me about illicit ingame activities.

These days I just chill in the lounge and marketplace. I like to have open discussions with users, I find them constructive and fun. :)

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Joining The Empire is something I've wanted to do for quite a while. The community seems to be fantastic (from what I can see), the leaders are all great users throughout the community which is something very important. I don't want to join a group where the owners / leaders aren't respected. It sets the standards for the group very low, as well as bringing all members in the group to a lower standard.

The Empire is High Quality, I feel like a user such as myself would do great representing The Empire.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I'm high quality, there's no other way to put it. If something doesn't need to be posted, why post it? If you're able to use proper english and proper grammar, why wouldn't you use it? I want people to recognize me as a high quality user, not just a HQ poster.

I'm extremely helpful and genuinely nice. If there's a chance for me to help another person in an area where I'm more knowledgable than them, I'll do it. I don't care if it's about dairy farming, roof tiling, roof replacements or something to do with programming languages, I'm here to lend a hand. (I literally have experience with all of those listed above, try me ?)

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well this is a hard one...

When I was two, I was diagnosed with Arthritis in over two thirds of the bones in my body. Most people think of Arthritis and assume it's something that people get when they're old (It was actually extremely hard to convince my teachers in primary school >.<). Arthritis is a Chronic Illness for those who don't know, it is actually quite common, although it's described as the 'silent disability'. In my opinion I'm lucky, my illness has given me thousands of opportunities, most of which are based around my online life.

Since 2006-2007, my arthritis has gotten progressively worse. I had a horrid back and neck which prevented me from continuing sports, my hands were getting quite bad very fast, this prevented me from writing during school. Because of this, I convinced my parents to purchase me a laptop to use for school assignments, this started my online life. I was able to experiment with many things online, some of which have carried on to this day.

This is what made me who I am. My shitty luck in my early years lead to my small "success" online. It helped me create my online personality which hasn't let me down since. :)

Anything else you want to say:

I don't think so! I put a good 90 minutes into this application, proof read it twice and double checked my grammar/spelling several times! I wasn't sure if I should post this, as I pm'd xadamxk (just before april fools ???) and he said not to make an application if I haven't already, I'd see why tomorrow. Still not sure if it was related to the prank, but oh well. >.<

Age: I am 18 years old.

Gender: Male.

Religion: Atheism.

State/Country: Belgium.

Time Zone: GMT+1. What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples)

Batch:

It was the first language that I learned. I am able to create batch files and I understand batch when I see it. I learned this when I was really young and I learned it again a couple of years ago in class. Unfortunately I don't have any examples because I never felt the need to post old things on this forum.

Visual Basic Scripts:

Visual Basic Scripts is the second language that I learned. I was maybe 12,5 or 13 years old when I started out with this. I am able to understand vbs code when I see it and I can also create very basic things in this language. Again, no examples because VBS is really old and doesn't really have a place on this forum.

Visual Basic:

Visual Basic was the first real programming language that I had the pleasure of meeting. I can create very basic or complex programs in Visual basic depending on the needs of the customer but I haven't touched this language in years.

Visual C#:

Visual C# is the second real programming language that I learned and it is my favorite language of all time. I am able to create console applications and very complex windows forms applications in this programming language. I understand C# and it understands me. Here are some examples of my past projects:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=2434637>

Java:

Java is very similar to C#, or should I say that C# is very similar to java? I have learned this language in school not so long ago. I understand the basics of Java and I am able to create java applications and applets.

PHP:

I learned the basics of PHP in school. I like the language, it's very clean and also similar to java and C#. Here are some examples of my work:

<http://hackapps.net/Customers/>
<http://bit.ly> [WARNING: potentially infected]/16od5nc

HTML:

I know how to create my own sites using html. I learned this language in school when I was also learning PHP. Html is a markup language that I use to design my sites. Here are some examples:

<http://hackapps.net>
<http://vsprogramming.com>

Delphi Pascal:

This is a language that I'm just starting to learn on my own. I'm not very knowledgeable when it comes to this language but I'm very eager to learn new things.

C++:

I am currently in the process of learning this language. Right now I can do very basic things with this language but it will take a while before I'll know how to handle this one. I'm currently learning this language and also delphi.

Marketing:

I know when to invest and how. I don't invest in meaningless projects but when I do invest in something, it should be something big and original.

Microsoft Office:

In school I learned how to use Word, Excel, Outlook and Access. I know how to create macro's. I know how to manage an access database. I know how to execute queries and I know how to design a word document.

Mysql:

I know my way around Mysql. I have learned this in school when I was also learning php and html. I know how to manage my database and how to secure it. Examples of my work:

What section are you most active in and why?

<https://hackforums.net/postactivity.php?uid=1204034>

I am most active in the lounge to discuss with other people and in the C# because I'm in love with that language. The next section on the list would be the Premium Sellers Section because I'm selling products there.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I've always been a big fan of The Empire. I'd do anything to wear the stormtrooper uniform ! In all seriousness, there are two reasons why I would like to join The Empire. I know plenty of things about programming and databases,... and I would love to share that knowledge with The Empire. I also want to learn new things from The Empire. People always say that knowledge is power and they are right.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I want to be accepted because I want to share knowledge with The Empire. I don't want to join a group just for my own advantages, I want to be a part of that group and help it move forward. I'm not the kind of guy that wants to be in a group because of the userbar or the so called status that it gives you.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I was hooked to computers from the minute I was born. I remember having a virus when I was really young and I couldn't help but delete the System32 folder because a fake antivirus told me to. Ofcourse, my computer was completely destroyed. Since then, I was very interested in creating malware but I never really took the time to look into it.

When I was 12 years old, a friend of mine showed me a batch program that he made and I really felt like: "Wow, I want to be able to do that too !" and so I began programming in Batch. He taught me how to use notepad to create batch files and off I went. I remember creating fake virusses in batch to scare my family and friends to have some cheap laughs. After a while, I wasn't satisfied with batch anymore so I started to learn VBS. The reason why I liked VBS so much was because you could show the user a messagebox or an inputbox and it really felt like you had control over the system. However, something always bothered me while I was writing vbs scripts: not being able to create executable files. At first, I looked for a way to convert vbs into exe and later I found myself searching the web for a way to create exe files in notepad, which is crazy ofcourse. What I found, was Visual Basic and I fell in love with it because it was so simple and elegant.

Visual Basic was a very easy language to learn because of VBS; they are very similar. Visual Basic and I danced for a good couple of years. We had a lot of fun together but it never really felt like a good programming language to me. I can't explain why, but I really had the urge to learn Visual C# after noticing it on the microsoft site. I broke up with Visual Basic and decided to enter into a relationship with Visual C#. It was difficult at first but after a couple of months, I got the hang of it and off I went. I started creating very simple programs like text spammers, notepad copies and things like that. There was a time in my life when I looked back at VBS and said, why not make a vbs to exe converter? And so I did. It was a very simple program that just dropped the vbs file in the temp folder and later deleted it after it was executed. Not very complicated ofcourse, but still fun. Later on, I found myself to be creating much more complex programs like virus makers, hacking tools, keyloggers and so much more.

I still love C# like I did 4 years ago but I decided to spread my love across multiple programming languages and scripting languages. In the past 6 years, I learned php, html, java, visual basic and c#. Right now, I'm learning Delphi pascal and C++ and I'm really liking these two languages. Hopefully, I'll master them in a couple of years.

Anything else you want to say:

No words can describe how I feel right now. That's why I place this image here:

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I am not very good but still i can code C, C++, Assembly and know very little about PHP.

I have developed a keylogger and sold around 50 copies so far, HF helped me get this far.

In real life i am good at mathematics, currently i am doing Electrical Engineering and it will be completed in a year or so :)

What section are you most active in and why?

C++ Section

My most favorite section is C++ programming, i started HF from there and leaned a lot of stuff. Many guys helped me improve my programming skills especially stdio. I also try to newbies in that section.

Keylogger Section

I am also active in Keylogger section, because i myself developed H-Keylogger and i try to look whats going on in the Keylogger market to improve my product

Lounge

When i am stressed i spend some time on the HF lounge cool people there

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I love this group, and respect that the fact that only HQ members are recruited. I have been here on HF for almost 2 years now and feel like joining a group where i can meet and be friends with people like me.

I won l33t in group 143 competition and i would not mind joining them either (though i have not applied there)

A little more about me

I belong to Pakistan and have to face a lot of problems here, we get only 16 hour electricity supply in a day. Sometimes there is water shortage, every now and then there is a blast somewhere.

But i am lucky to have survived all this, in real life i don't talk much and have only a few close friends.

I am collecting money to build a free school for poor children in my city.

I like to do giveaways, and i have donated around 10$ on HF so far. It is not much and so i plan to do more :)

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I mostly specialize in Ewhoring, I've been doing that for around 1 year now, i've earned over 1.3K in total.

Because I've Ewhored so much I've become quite good at SE.

I also code, but i'm very new to it, i'm busy learning C++ now, I know HTML and i'm busy developing my own website.

I've ratted in the past, i don't do it anymore because my computer has low specs and even viewing their desktop lags me.

I phish RuneScape accounts for some income, I've also phished FaceBook accounts in the past but I've lost interest in doing it.

I also do PPD, but i'm not really a big earner (I've earned around $200 in the past 6 months).

What section are you most active in and why? I'd say the Marketplace, since i sell/buy RSGP alot, For the rest i just check the New Posts every so often.

I'm also active in the AA section because i love watching some good animes, but i mostly just read the threads without replying.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join the Empire because it's one of my favorite groups, you do alot of HQ stuff, giveaways etc. and I'd love to be a part of that!

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: Even though i haven't been a member of HF for a long time, i have been HQ for the most part, i have a clean rep and i've done alot of smooth trades with various members on HF!

If i would be accepted i could do more RSGP trades, and more people would trust me.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I've lived in the Netherlands until i was 9, then i moved to belgium.

I love playing sports, such as basketball, football, tennis, etc. although i don't do it for a club.

I also enjoy playing video games together with friends, i mostly play PC games such as RS, LoL, WoW, etc.

I study Economics/ICT , and i'm planning to study either coding or webdesign later, i'm undecided.

I can't really think of something really memorable in my life, but i guess moving from one country to another is the most memorable.

Anything else you want to say: Although i just joined HF, i hope you can still accept me into your group.

I'm not the best at GFX but i hope you still like the layout of my application ^^

I wish you the best.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

- Lua coding

Info: I have been running my own gaming (Garry's Mod) community for a while now and if you didn't know the game is very editable to match different game modes and features.

- Graphics Design

I am an intermediate designer, I cannot not create the Mona Lisa but at the same time my designs don't look like finger paintings.

- Helping Out

Info: I am truly devoted to helping out everyone I can, even if they need help in something I am not skilled or familiar with, I will learn it to the best of my ability and try my hardest to help them do whatever it may be.

- Integrity

Info: I always display Integrity or at least I try haha. I feel that doing what is right even though you know that you won't get credit for it is the right thing to do, and I strive to be the best I can every single day.

- Webmaster

Info: I have been involved in the development, creation and running of many forums and websites. I possess the basic talents for web development such as but not limited to HTML scripting.

What section are you most active in and why? I am most active in the lounge as it keeps me busy. I find that the lounge provides me with people in need of help and a good laugh every now and then. BUT I am also fairly active in other areas such as the VIP Areas, Graphics, and the Marketplace. I love to help out and point people in the right direction, whether it may be in a positive or negative way.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join for a large number of reasons;

1. I think that The Empire is defiantly one of the most HQ groups out there.
2. I have many friends who are currently in The Empire who tell me how great it is and how much of a second family it is to them.
3. I feel that entering this group would allow me to share my knowledge with my fellow group members and also learn a lot.
4. The Empire has displayed such a great public image and I want to help continue that.
5. I have been trying to get into this group for a while and I think that I am finally ready.
6. I always see Empire members helping out around the forums and I feel that I would love to be able to help out more.
7. The Empire is one of the few groups that has never been bought or sold and I think that it's a good thing to keep a group tradition going instead of selling it.
8. To meet new members/socialize with them.
9. To improve myself on HF and in the real world, we all have room for improvement!
10. To have a nice group of people I know that I can count on and trust.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel this way because I do contribute to the forums and I try to help and point people in the right direction on a regular basis. HF means a lot to me and I want to help the members of this group if they need. I feel that being a part of this group would also be a fantastic experience for me and it would provide a basis to help me learn and grow to be a better member and improve myself. I know how and when I need to keep things secret and feel a very strong sense of responsibility for everything I do and say. I am always open to help out when needed and be there for anyone.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well, to start off I just want to say that HF has really shaped me a lot to be honest, I used to be a PC gamer just floating around wasting time but I think that HF helped me develop more of a character and really allow me to do what I love the most; enforce rules and help out. I have a very unique personality. I also have acquired many important/big achievements in my life such as; Black Belt (Jan, 2012), Being in honors (school) for 4 yrs (2009-2013) and living up to my potential all around.

I was raised to always follow my morals and be truthful unless its necessary to lie. I try hard to live up to high standards and am always improving myself and the others around me. I also was raised with the idea that team work is important as is knowing your place in society and not acting too much of a big shot or too shy and quiet. I am not perfect even though I try to do all of these things, I do understand that I have room for improvement and room to better myself so that I can help everyone and become the best that I can be.

Anything else you want to say: I really appreciate what The Empire is doing for HF and I really hope I can someday be a part of this group.

Kind Regards,

Name: Scott

Age: 19

Gender: Male

Religion: Scott's Own Personal Beliefs

State/Country: Texas

Time Zone: Central Time What are some skills that you have :

Basic PHP: This does not by any means mean that I am a PHP coder. When I state Basic PHP as a skill, I am stating that I can understand the code as well as I know what the outcome of the syntax will be. I can also do some basic PHP editing. I have personally edited a bit of code from time to time when I created my past booter.

SE: I am quite experienced in this field, as any person with decent grammar should be. I have SE's McDonalds, Beats, Microsoft Points/Gold, etc.

DDoSing: I have decent experience in DDoSing. I know the basic functions of a DDoS, as well as how to perform an effective DDoS with the correct resources. I have in the past owned my own botnets, with both roots and infected bots. I don't know as much as some members, but I know enough.

Marketing: I am capable of marketing a product/service and provide great customer support as I do so. I respect every person as if they were me, scammers being exempt. I have sold products of my own and products of others on site as well as IRL. I could Market rotten eggs if it was put in front of me. (Great for compost, which is useful for farmers and gardeners. <3)

What section are you most active in and why?

I would have to say that I am most active in the Marketplace Section. I enjoy very much seeing what products/services our members are providing, as well as reviewing them at my own discretion. I rarely ever post a review, unless requested by the sales person. I like to give personal feedback to the member him/herself, and not publically post it, unless he/she provides false advertisement, or the product/service is just total shit. I also have a fair share of my own Marketplace threads. I all around enjoy the act of Marketing, so I feel this section is fit for me the best.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: As EVERYONE says, I would like to contribute. Aside from that reason, I have plenty others. I have many good friends in the Empire and from what I hear, not only is it a good group to "contribute" in the name of, everyone in the group is friendly and supportive. I feel being in a group as the Empire, I will feel the need to dedicate more of my time in helping people, and being active on the forums as a whole. No, I do not want it for the userbar at all. As it is very sexy, I could care less if it was a rocking horse with paint writing. All I would much care for is the SubForum and being recognized as a member of the family, the Empire.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I FEEL I should be accepted as I have great potential in the Marketplace as well as in the group itself. I want to help members, as well as provide my services in the name of the Empire, as my good deeds would not only reflect on me, but the group as well. I don't think I NEED to be in the group, but in my eyes, it would be a great honor.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life:

My name is Scott, obviously. In my opinion, no matter what happens in your life, don't let it get to you. There is NOTHING you can do about the past, but only the future. I recently had a tragic but in a sense deserving incident with the cops. I feel it as being a blessing in disguise.

I started selling weed in March of 2012. I did it steady for 6 months, then stopped for 2, and then continued for another 4 months. I got up to pushing a P. Took me about 4-6 days to push a P. Sold 2-4 OZs a day. Well, a friend and I decided to smoke at the park and let a few people pick up. I split the bong in the truck, and my friend got out to clean the floor mat. After he finished, we were sitting in the car, when a squad car and a undercover car pull up. I freaked. I had a bong, a little under 2 OZs bagged out [1 OZ, 5 Eights, 4 Gs]. I remember how much I had left because I just took a G out to smoke and happen to count what I had.

The officer comes up to the window and states they received a call of someone bending down by the vehicle, and wanted to check it out. He asked for our IDs and asked for us to step out of the vehicle. He kept walking up to the car, and coming back to us and asking if we had anything in the vehicle we shouldn't. We kept saying no. We also turned down any request to search the vehicle. Finally, I gave in when he radioed and requested a K9 unit. After the request was made, he asked me what is in the car. Only since I heard the call being confirmed, I said I had a bong in the car. He asked for the keys, unlocked the car, and instantly grabbed my backpack. Opening it revealed a protein jar with my bud, a scale, and a new pack of gram bags. I knew it was over.

He asked me if I was selling, and I said no. That the bags and scale for simply for rationing. He stated he can not charge me with distribution unless he caught me in delivery, so I was just WAITING to be told I was charged with intent to distribute. He found $1,600 cash which I said was from my recent seasonal job, as well as graduation, even though that was a while ago. He didn't believe me but couldn't do much. I was then charged and arrested for Possession of Marijuana, finding it to be under 2 OZs once I was booked. I await court which is on the 22nd. Not looking forward to it.

Now that all this happened, I have gotten a job, quit selling, and appreciate the value of a dollar more than ever. I still currently smoke though. Will stop once my probation is set. I feel this is a blessing in disguise as I got charged with Possession before I slipped up and got distribution, as well as it encouraged me to get a "real" job. Well, that is what has happened in my life recently, hope you enjoyed.

Anything else you want to say: Tibit, I hope I am experiencing a lucid dream, buddy. :)

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

For one, I'm a pretty avid gamer. I like FPS games and tend to do quite well on them. I have an HDPVR 2, PS3, Tritton AX720's, and an HDTV to perform optimally (nothing like pc, quite obviously). Not only do I play games' story modes, but I perform exceptionally well in the multiplayer sides of things, in that I often play competitively as well. I have a quite good MLG rank and haven't played in a while, so it's pretty stable. Here are some old gameplays my friend snapped:

Spoiler (Click to View)

(My PSN is xXlovolXx).

Additionally, I'd like to consider myself decent at graphics. I don't have much work due to issues with my HDD, but recently I've made a signature for BagHead, my own signature, and a couple of thread elements for KyleWTF. I'm quite familiar with Photoshop (CS4-CS6 (I currently use CS6)), MAXON's Cinema4D (R10-R11), and can work with GIMP.

Also, I'm intermediate in web design– I've made several websites (mostly conceptual) and know some CSS, HTML, JS, some AJAX, and some PHP. Some silly sites I've made include some of the following:

Spoiler (Click to View)

www.puushroulette.tk

www.upurs.tk

I have quite a few, but a lot are mostly for testing.

I'm very familiar with several forum softwares as well. vBulletin (my personal favorite), MyBB, XenForo, IPB, and phpBB are all things I've used/operated before.

What section are you most active in and why?:

For now, I quite like the Science, Religion, Politics, and Philosophy section. I quite like intellectual discussion and I'm very committed to it once engaged. I like to help those when needed, so I use that section appropriately when possible (in addition to the Beginner's Hacking Section (when I can)).

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Probably the most HQ group on HF. It sets an image, follows by it, and so does its members. Amazing products have been released in the name of it, members of it constantly strive to set an example, and many people talk very highly of it.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

In what I've mentioned above on why I'd like to join The Empire, I definitely think I can apply to each category. Additionally, few friends of mine are in the group and it seems like a big family. Definitely something I'd like to be a part of.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Quite a few things can be said here, but I'd rather them be kept private, as they are both things that I don't want a lot of people knowing. If you're interested in my app so far, please PM me regarding the contents of this question.

Anything else you want to say:

Thanks for your time reading (hopefully) my app. Being at the least considered would mean a lot to me. I think highly of this group and hopefully the feeling is mutual.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img] What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I am proficient in many things, but I'll cut to the chase. In real life I play baseball, and I am currently trying to use that to pay for my college education, and hopefully get drafted after that. I spend 3 hours a day either throwing or lifting to stay in shape.

I also enjoy helping others with anything. I feel like everyone has problems, and it always helps to talk to someone. I've been through a lot in the short amount I have been alive, and I believe that people can learn from my mistakes. As Marcus Tullius Cicero said, "Any man can make mistakes, but only an idiot persists in his error." This speaks volumes to me because I accept the fact that I've made mistakes in my life, and I like to believe that I can somehow come to terms with that by helping out others.

I'm also skilled in public speaking, marketing, and communications. My father has 20 years of experience as a sales rep, and I've picked up a lot from him. He's taught me invaluable things such as the importance of family. I feel like the things he has taught me could be put to good use with other members of the group. In relation with this, I am currently working on a project with Debug. Which can be viewed here: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3372366>

In terms of online contributions, I just posted this thread in the Computer Security section. <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3372374>

I plan on releasing more guides and hosting giveaways in the future, I know this isn't much.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img] What section are you most active in and why?: I am most active in the lounge, but coming up in a close second is the Innuendo section. Most of my time is spent in these two sections helping members, and having an overall great time. I think the lounge is a great place to talk with anyone, no matter what group you're in, and the Innuendo section is a more serious place where I can safely voice my opinion and not have to worry about getting trolled, or flamed for it.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I've seen the Empire grow from when the group originally started recruiting. I just brushed the idea of applying off at first, thinking that it was going to turn into almost every other group, getting more and more LQ as the days passed. However I see that I was completely wrong, and I regret not applying when the group first started recruitment.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: As previously stated, the group never stops giving, and setting a positive example for the rest of HackForums to follow. I feel like I can add to the group with the skills I bring, and the things I like to do.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: As I previously stated, I love baseball. I started when I was 9, which was late because I had just moved back from Sweden. (Had to move because of dad's job) So I started and it was fun, we got to run around, and that was all I cared about at the time. Fast forward two years, I was 11 and I was torn between baseball or lacrosse. They were both fun and I had friends in both. Ultimately I stuck with my guns and chose baseball that year luckily. I don't think lacrosse would have been very fun looking back on it. When I was 12, I got invited to play with a travel team. They were the real deal, sponsored by Louisville Slugger and Reebok. The whole shebang! I got going there and I played everywhere I could, except for catcher. I couldn't handle the stress on my knees, considering I'm 6'6" haha. For the next 4 years it was the same, going to tournaments and having tons of fun. Now things are getting more serious. I'm a junior in high school and I'm trying to get a scholarship to play in college. I workout rigorously to maintain my current physical ability. I don't think many people understand the difficulty it takes to perform to expectations set by your peers and coaches. I've also had the pleasure of talking to numerous scouts about the MLB, but that's something I'd rather discuss in private (PM me if you'd like to know more/verify this).

One thing I appreciate about this wonderful game is how it's basically the same as living life. You are guaranteed to fail. Doing something correctly 3 out of 10 times is considered good! I think that this is one of the biggest things that I learned from all the years hitting off a tee or throwing to a mitt. It all added up. There isn't a perfect in baseball, which is identical to life. You will never be perfect at everything, let alone anything at all.

As you can see this has influenced my life greatly. I now understand what it means to fail, but also how to recover and learn from that failure. That is what I feel that many people do not understand, and I love helping them understand it.

 Anything else you want to say: I just wanted to say thanks for giving me the opportunity to apply to your group, and I look forward to hearing from you.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I am very skilled with webprogramming, monetization. I also develop iOS apps, so I have experience on that subject too. I also have experience with malware removing stuff.

What section are you most active in and why? I am mostly active in the Health Wise, Premium Sellers Section (for my products) and The Lounge. However I have started to be quite active in the contest and giveaway section too, after I have been deciding to give loads of stuff out.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: Because I have heard a lot good stuff about The Empire, and it would be a honour to join the group.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I do not feel I should be accepted over people, I will let that decision up to you.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I have been living a typical life, however my parents got divorced when I was 3. Now it's quite split up, my dad and my mother are the 100% opposite of eachother, I get to visit my dad every second weekend, else I am just spending my time at my mother's place. Throughout school I have always been the least popular one, that would always lone around because I was totally sold on computers. I don't have a nice time in school, even though I don't have a nice time in school I actually think it helped me somewhat in thinking in other ways, and make me just myself, I used to try and be the one 'people' wanted. This day I am a very emotional person, however for me it's not bad. I have such an ease getting close to another person, and helping them with their mental health, I love being able to talk about such stuff with another person. And that's probably also whats makes me the person I am today.

Anything else you want to say: I have nothing else to say.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I have lots of skills when it comes to computers.

I started programming in C++ when I was 10 years old. And I have learned several different languages since then. One of the languages was Java. I made one of the first public Minecraft hacked clients it was called "PB Client". It was pretty popular but I no longer code hacks for minecraft. I also know a lot about making websites(PHP, HTML, CSS, JavaScript), and setting them up.

I also know quite a bit about computer hardware. I build my own gaming computer about 1.5 years ago.

What section are you most active in and why?

When I first joined HF I was most active in the Griefing section. Im not sure why I liked it but it was a fun hangout. Now I like to post in the lounge or coding section.

I like the lounge because its a chill and relax place to just hangout. And the reason I post in the coding section is to either showoff one of my projects or to help others out.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I would like to be part of a group of people who are very HQ.

And I would also like to expand my skills and learn more from all the members.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I would be able to give you guys some new knowledge.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

My name is Alex. I live in Colorado, one of the coolest states!

The reason I am who I am is because of my parents. They have always been great, and do whats best for me.

My dad is the reason I started programming. He makes computer chips for a company called broadcom(You probably have a chip in your computer that he worked on).

Anything else you want to say:

Thanks for reading my application.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I currently am learning many coding things, from python to C++ (I'm decent at python). I'm also a very active White-Hat and do alot of self defense and protection topics on forums. I currently have a series of topics i will be making. I know a decent amount of backtracking, SQLi, Defacing, and much more smaller things.

What section are you most active in and why? Mostly Hacking tutorials or the News and Happenings. I like to see what people have to post and give feedback, and I love the news so..

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I'm trying to get my name out on HF a little more and learn more. Empire seems like a great start for me and I would love the chance.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I can help the members with alot of security things, from personal protection to website/network protection. I'm also looking to learn more and i think Empire would me a nice start!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I started "Hacking" around 2009 with small things like Call of Duty and stuff, and eventually got to real hacking. I was never really into blackhat stuff, but i found security a big interest of mine. I went through a CCENT course online and began to gain knowledge of the field. I currently want get my cisco certification in security.

Anything else you want to say:

I really hope i get a chance to prove myself. Thank you for reading.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):]

I know how to code this includes PHP, html, css, javascript and C# programmer. I know how to make money online using several different methods. I enjoy helping others and currently I am in the process of making an eBook showing some of the methods I use to make money online and other techniques. I have several websites and groups that I am an admin in and lead. This includes gaming websites & servers. Gaming forums & groups. A forum dedicated to helping others that are having computer problems or that want to learn how to code it is a small forum but I believe it serves its purpose.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

What section are you most active in and why?

I was most active in the market place but for awhile now I have been looking in sections on the forum to help other members out with problems they are having. I still post in other sections of the forum such as the lounge though and I post threads in the contest and giveaway sections of the forums also to give back to the community. I am active and online at least 3 - 6 times a day. Sometimes more than that.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I believe The Empire is a High quality group and I believe I can add somethings to the group such as helping others, Coding and other things that I can share to better myself and somehow help others whenever I can. I will be a positive influence to the group if I am accepted to join this HQ group.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I believe and know that if I am accepted that I will add to the group in a positive way. I will be able to share and grow more as a person and learn grow to learn more in the group. I will also be able to give back to the group and contribute such as giving back to the community and helping out

I believe in treating others the way you want to be treated and I enjoy helping others. I have learned a lot in my time even at my age. I have given back to the community in my give away contest because I believe by giving back that maybe that can pay it forward or help someone else by giving back somehow. However that maybe. I look for the good in people.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I have had a lot of things happen to me in my life that are memorable to me. I am going to tell you about some things that I have went through that changed me as a person. When I was a kid I lost my parents at a young age.

For a long time afterward I had a lot of problems including anger problems and disorders. Epilepsy, depression, Drug problems and several other issues. But it seemed as I didn't care about anything.

I was in and out of foster homes and other facilities. When I turned 17 I was legally emancipated and got my own place.

It seemed as though nothing was keeping me here. Until once day I was headed back into my old ways and by change or fate ended up meeting one of the most important people that influenced my life. His name was Arthur Bishop.

He died several years ago but I still thank him for helping me when I thought I had no one else.

It was him Who helped me see the bigger picture and become a part of who I am today.

Since then I try to help others in somewhat that maybe they will turn around and do it for someone else. I do believe in Karma.

I met a complete stranger who I grew to know better, that influenced me to change my life for the better,

It's funny how people outside the box that have seen or been though similar things can relate to you and seem to say the things you need to hear, Not what you want to hear.

I have changed to who I am today. When I see someone who needs help whether it be a complete stranger or someone I know I try to help. Because in that moment when everything else seems to not be enough to care about or if your going through problems that are overwhelming someone will do the same for you that you did for them, or a complete stranger helping you for no reason but to help.

This is one of the most memorable times of my life but the most memorable thing that has ever happen to me was the birth of my kid.

There's nothing else like it in the world. For anyone else here on HF with a kid you know what I mean all talk aside.

Life to short to stay mad or live with regret.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img]

Anything else you want to say:

Thank you for reading my . If I am accepted I will be grateful and it will not be a wasted spot. I will stay committed to The Empire. Thanks for the chance to join. I know my post/ application to join is not as long as others but I believe the longest application does not mean it is better then mine or that mine is better then others. As long as a person gives it their best then that is all that counts there is always another chance.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I am exceptionally good with talking, I can get myself out of bad situations and get my way easily depending on the person, if the person is easily fooled then I can slip into their mind and manipulate them to allow me to the things I request, I am very good gaming, but I am pretty sure that is not a vital skill in life.

I know how to be social, and get into the things people talk about, whether it be positive or negative, I am always there and nobody stops me. I speak my mind, sometimes it's negative, othertimes it's positive.

What section are you most active in and why? Probably Runescape, I usually enjoy the game but I am currently growing away from it as I am losing interest in the aspect in the game, all it is now is just a game full of bots and honestly, it just ruins the game.

I am somewhat active in the lounge also, I post there every now and then, but I am recently becoming more active in the lounge.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I think The Empire is one of the higher quality groups, and doesn't just accept anybody into this group, I would like to join as I am dedicated to this forum, and will be a diehard Empire member. As soon as i am accepted, I will be proud as I proved myself worthy of getting into a group, I will definitely stay active in the Empire's subforum, and just overall love the group.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel like I need to join the Empire, The Empire seems like a family, and all around helps everyone they can around the forum, I haven't met a Empire member who refuses to assist others and ignores them when they need help the most, I feel like I need to join this family because I feel lost without somewhere to go on this forum, or someone to lead me on the right path.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: When I was growing up, I was spoiled as a child. I could get whatever I want whenever I wanted, and feel as that has made me a bad person today. I learned through my lifetime, that you have to work for what you want, and your life is how you choose to make it, I don't think you should see the world in a negative way and choose to embrace life.

One of the moments in my life that made me who I am, and how I speak when I need to, is growing up with a family who argues from time to time, brother turns on brother, and it's a living hell, but as I said I do not view our world in a negative way and choose to do what I want because this is a free world.

Another moment in my life is when I was younger, I thought I was the top dog, but learned that there are other people that need to be treated equally and need to be respected, I follow the motto "Treat others how you want to be treated." Sometimes if I'm having a bad day, I treat others terribly as I am negative sometimes and end up being treated terribly, so I try to cheer up and continue my day.

The life I lived made me who I am today, and I am happy with who I am.

Nobody can change me, ever.

Anything else you want to say: Just shoot me with a PM whenever you need to, and I will be sure to answer it.

Tibit - April 5, 2013, 5:50 am

I will go through the first few pages this morning and start sending out acceptance PM's, I'll post here with what page I end up on when finished for the day.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img] What section are you most active in and why?

The lounge, free services and giveaway, and the sellers market are the sections I am most active in. I try to help people out as much as possible and give back to the community as much as possible. I am always a "legit" user when it comes to sales because honestly I find it morally wrong to scam people.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img] Why do you want to join The Empire?: I believe that The Empire sets the right image of being a all around good member.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img] Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I think I would be a great addition to the group. I feel like I would set the right image The Empire is. I have never had any scam reports, never been negative repped, and have never even had a warning.

[img]http://i.minus.com/ibaBQJZ2be6Yi9.gif[/img] In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

About a year and a half ago, I was that guy that could never calm down. I was always sneaking out, going to parties, and being with different girls every night. One night a few of my sisters friends came over to our house and started talking to me, they were very religious people. They told me about the bible and actually read me a few things out of there. I didn't like where my life was heading, so I took all the advice that they gave me and started going to church. My life took a huge turn around. I was feeling better as a person, I was making better friends and having some of the best times of my life. Ever since then I don't go to parties anymore, I have been to one party but it was prom night, everyone was at the party. I am now happy with my life and feel like a better person. I am also doing much better in school, I used to struggle to pass and now I'm making all A's and B's with no trouble. That is something that has happened in my life that has made me who I am now.

State/Country: Connecticut, United States

Time Zone: GMT -4:00

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Main Life Skills

-Ability to listen/provide support

For as long as I could remember, people have constantly been approaching me with their problems. I never promise that I can solve or even help with their problems but I try to the best of my ability to do so. I always have open ears and I am usually pretty successful with handling situations people have.

My thread: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3377689>

After going to college, I decided to join my university's student success center which aids students with their academic, social and emotional needs. Though working at the success center doesn't pay actual money, I still enjoy doing what I do.

-Writing

Whether it be essays, articles, or anything of the sort. I have been an avid writer for many years. After taking honors courses through my middle/high school days I have gained a love for writing. Almost daily I write reflection papers on things going on in my life that need to be discussed (will provide examples if needed). When it comes for school, my former professional writing professor and I hold workshops for students who are struggling finding topics to write about for specific assignments or who just need help.

-Athlete

I am a Cross Country and Track runner for my university. I enjoy the team situation as well as competing as an individual. I believe it helps me be stronger mentally as well.

-Marketing

This can also be applied to real life as well. But my major in school is business and I am currently going for my MBA. Over the summers I work as an intern for Aetna Insurance where I must make calls in order to generate leads to create new potential clients. The job isn't glamorous but I hope that it can open some new doors for me in the future.

Main Online skills

-Social Engineering

I have always prided myself in the art of manipulation when it is appropriate. Whether being ewhoring or making money in other manners it is imperative that you have good SE skills. I use these skills to make people believe things that may not actually be true.

-Gaming

I am an avid gamer and have been playing Xbox and Xbox360 for some time now. I typically am a fan of first person shooters, but I tend to branch off and play other games that catch my interest. I enjoy playing league play in Call of Duty on the side, to maintain a competitive feel.

What section are you most active in and why?

I am usually most active in the Lounge and giveaway section where I host a whole slew of contests.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3372956>

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3358981>

I enjoy giving back to a community that has given so much to me, so I hold these contests whenever it is possible.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

The Empire is an elite group that has a HQ user base. All over Hack Forums I see members of the group doing good things and helping people. I would like to spread my helping qualities to the group and to the rest of forum too. I would host contests whenever possible and would contribute to the group's Official Contests whenever they are being hosted.

The staff members of The Empire are amazing and I would be privileged to join such a well regarded group. Anytime anyone would need anything I would be there to help. I'm active 7 days out of the week for 5-6 hours a day. This is the only official group I have applied to and will love to see how it grows.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel like I meet the requirements to be a good member of The Empire and I wish to expand my giveaways and help in a more powerful way. I would try to do anything for the group and for the members of the forum to maintain the good name of The Empire.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

About 5 years ago, I was at an overnight summer camp that I enjoyed going to every year. That year a new camper lived in our cabin and he was a little off socially. I don't typically like to share this but it is good to get out. Well my friends would bully him because he wasn't like they were. They would all laugh but I would feel bad. He did nothing to deserve that.

Later that week it was just him and I in the cabin while the rest of my friends were in the fields playing. Christopher, the kid, was clearly distraught and I knew why too. I wasn't prepared for what happened next though. He sat on his top bunk and tied a rope around his neck that he used to hang his towels from, and let himself off the bed.

That thought will always stick with me, and I devote my life now to helping others because I cannot let that happen again. It was the worst time period in my life.

I feel like I am called to help in anyway I can but it will never reverse the past.

Anything else you want to say:

Thank you for reading and I am happy such a great group exists on Hack Forums

Yep, you have to make some posts to get it fixed which happened in this case.

Of course yes. Hopefully it will be fixed in the next MyBB update.

Good luck looking through all the applications! :)

He actually does. Sort of. The staff members sometimes hold a vote, where they can vote for a new staff member (Help Docs states so). They then review the person, and looks through his posts. Imagine the work he has to go through. Crazy c:

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I like to believe that I am fairly decent at graphical art. I started doing it a bit over a year ago, but I was only active during the winter of last year, before I picked it up again during September. If any of you visit RMG, you'd know that I'm a regular there and I try my best to provide thorough CnC to newcomers. My most recent art as of me writing this thread is the prints I made out of my art for an art show. It can be found here: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3382799>

I also know a bit of computer programming, but it's nothing to be proud of. I know the very basics of Java, Turing, and HTML because I took the introduction courses in school.

What section are you most active in and why?

The section I am most active in is RMG. This is because I love graphic design, and I love being able to help point newbies in the right direction. It's also partly because I like showing my work to the community. I think as of writing this, I almost have 1k posts in RMG.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

As much of a suckup this may sound, I want to join the Empire simply because it seems interesting. From what I've seen from the forum, members are from all walks of life and people with all sorts of talents and personalities. While groups like Illuminati and 143 have a purpose that they proudly boast and try to live up to, I feel like the Empire's motto is much more vague and yet still manages to appear as an important group. I'm interested in what this group has to offer; what contents lay in its subforums, and what sorts of personalities I will get to know.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

To be honest, there may be better applicants than I. Though I am fairly capable at graphic design, there are individuals far more talented than I. Yet, I feel like I'm an individual who thinks out of the box, someone who brings creativity to the next level. As silly as this may sound, I often find myself reinventing what has already been invented, and I imagine the limitless possibilities that may follow. I'm not your academic genius, nor am I your charismatic student council president. I am simply AV, someone who likes to take risks, have fun, and takes that giant leap of faith.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I think right about here, I should be telling stories about how I'm a Good Samaritan, or something of the sort. Though I do try my best to live life as a good citizen, I can't say I'm the most selfless person out there. So instead, I will tell you an amusing story that I'm planning on making an animation for.

This story brings me back to seventh grade, about 5 years ago. I just recently found out that a friend of mine was moving to Hong Kong after the school year was over. I was devastated. This girl meant a lot to me. Up until that point, I would say she was one of the best friends I ever had. Hell, we even had a little sixth grader romance going on the year before. Of course, I didn't want her to leave without putting up a fight. I asked a mutual friend of ours for her home number so I could beg her dad to stay in Canada. Unfortunately, I lacked the iron balls to do it. I also found out that she didn't mind too much about leaving. So instead, I figured the best thing I could do was make her last year memorable. So around "talent-show time", I decided to form a group to entertain her. I decided to start a band. Though I am pretty much tone-deaf, I decided to sing anyways. After a huge fuss about recruitment and whatnot, the "band" was formed with eleven individuals, including me- and my buddy. In the end, we rehearsed our butts off until the big day approached.

On the day of, it was disaster. We had huge technical difficulties. One of the mics didn't work, members didn't sing loud enough or close enough to the mic, one disaster after another. Yet even after all that, I still find this memory to be one of my fondest. From this memory, I realized how fleeting one moment can be. If you live your life facing backwards, you'll always be missing out on what's coming next.

Anything else you want to say:

Nope. I think my application summed up my character pretty well.

Time Zone: EST(Eastern Standard Time)

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I am somewhat skilled in website creation, as I am not the best but I do know HTML and CSS(<http://www.mceternalflame.net>, not done yet). I am also currently learning the Java language(see some of my threads for what I did a while back), and hope to continue to learn other languages such as C++ and C# afterwards. I am decent in photoshop, but still have much learning to do(Example 1, Example 2 - This one was made with help from a tutorial in the Graphics Tutorials section but I then went on my own way with it, Example 3, the header bars were done with help from a tutorial but everything else I did on my own). I also am quite skilled with Server Management(which you will read more about below). I may continue to update this section as I think of more.

What section are you most active in and why? I am most active in the Minecraft Server Management section. Although I have more posts in the Minecraft section, when the Server Management Section have along I have become more active there. I spend most of my time there because I own my own server and know a decent amount about running servers/plugins, so I like to help people there as often as possible. Every now and then I post a thing or two there that I might need, but generally I am trying to give out help.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I would like to join The Empire for a few reasons. To start it off, I love helping people. It always makes me smile when I have helped somebody, somebody says thanks for my reply, or even if I can do something for them. I love that this group has its sub-forum for helping people, and I hope to be as active as I can in there and help as much as I can.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel I should be accepted into The Empire because of many reasons. To start it off, I strive to be as High Quality as possible and help as many people as possible. I am currently working on a humongous guide in the Minecraft section about building bases, even though it does not seem like much I see many people ask about bases quiet a lot. As I stated above, I will also be as active as I can in the sub-forum and help as much as I can, and I honestly feel like I can make a contribution.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I have honestly never really been an active person. I don't really like things such as football or soccer, but I do go outside and into the woods, etc. Of course when I was younger I was a lot more active than I am now, but I still say fit and healthy. My friends and I do not find the outside particularly exiting, but that is most likely because we live in Ohio where there isn't much to explore. We have woods here and there, but nothing different, so we tend to spend our time inside and mostly on the computer.

I was always into a variety of games, I would play things like Sims or Zoo Tycoon but then also go and jump on Silent Hill 2, Halo 3, and Black Ops. Heck, I would even play Pokemon on my Gameboy and Pacman/Digdig on my old arcade joystick that plugged into my TV. All these games always got me imagining my own games, ones that I would control and could do whatever I want with. I then started to play Minecraft a few years ago, and that really boosted my love for games. I learned about how it was made by Mojang, who at the time wasn't a huge company and it was more of an indie game. This along with the mod for it called The Aether Mod inspired me to start to code.

I of course started with Java because not only did I want to make mods, but now I can use what I know/am learning to create plugins for my server. I had already learned some HTML and CSS, but my server inspired me to continue to learn so I could create a website for myself, as when I was about 8 I would just mess around on Webs and make silly websites. All of this has turned me into the code loving Minecraft addicted person that I am today.

Anything else you want to say: I would like to say thank you The Empire officials and everybody else who spent the time to go through this to fully read my application and considering me for your group. I often see threads/tutorials that are labeled The Empire, and I hope I can become a part of this. I also recently saw your official Minecraft Server, and hope to become a big part of that community also.

Thank you for reading,
Chris ?

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/empire2-f.png[/img]What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I try my hardest to add new things to my skillset every chance I get. From first starting out in junior high, I was in a web development class from 7th grade up until I graduated back in 2008. Computers/ the internet have always had my attention and have kept me interested because of the ever expanding information super highway. I like to explore Java, PHP, CSS. Along forum lines, I have helped develop websites for gamers, such as the latest one I was an administrator on, www.nextgenupdate.com (left because of a recent fallout with the site owner and the way he handles things). Those are some of the main interests I have now and I am developing at this current point in time. I also am an avid gamer, but I like to explore the coding side of gaming as well. Peeking into a game build and seeing what you can change is always something I had loved to do, whether for personal gain or just to say I have done it. I do not want to waste all your time having you read a huge novel or run on's of what I can do and what I hope to achieve, just note that I try to learn new things everyday.

Examples of what I have accomplished below:Retired Administrator at NextGenUpdate Graduated with top honors in my Web development class throughout my high school career.

What section are you most active in and why?

[img]<http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/lounge.png>[/img]The Lounge: The discussions there have always varied and some were quite interesting. From sports to talking about general things, it's always easy to relate to someone within that section because of common interests. It also allows me to see the personal side of the Hack Forums members, and relate to them in different way, which makes for a better community.

[img]<http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/hacker-coding.png>[/img]Coding: As I had stated above, I like to expand my knowledge of things, and some of the quality coders here on HF help me learn new things everyday.

[img]<http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/gaming.png>[/img]Gaming: Because I am a huge gamer. Be it World of Warcraft or Minecraft or even console gaming, it's always something I love to do pass the time and make new friends. The gaming section here on HF has quality discussions and some great releases as well. Sony and WoW are my mainstay, as I know a lot about both the systems and the games.

[img]http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/website_construction.png[/img]Webmaster: Just relating to another point I had made above, the Webmaster forums allow me to not only have others critique my work and learn from it, but to also help others out when they need things like a review, or some help getting their sites up and running, etc.

[img]<http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/referral.gif>[/img]Marketplace: The marketplace is thriving here on HF, and I have seen plenty that I would like to purchase (given that said seller will not scam). I tend to also give out price checks for potential sellers as well.

[img]<http://cdn2.hackforums.net/uploads/ficons/contests.png>[/img]Member Contests & Giveaways: Giveaways and contests are one of the forums that I am more active in. I want to give back the community and those who have made Hack Forums are great place to be. I plan on doing bigger contests down the line here on Hack Forums.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I think that the Empire is one of the more well respected and mature groups here on HF. I had always lurked the site, debating on whether or not to take the plunge and sign up, but when I was lurking around, members of The Empire were always around the site either helping members or just generally being there. I think I can be a great fit and bring more respect to the forum, even if I am a semi-new member. Remember, even new members can be helpful or even smarter then some of the older members. Never underestimate those who are determined and want to get somewhere.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I had always been a very active person from a young age. Whether it was playing sports as a kid to being on a computer that was running Windows 95', everything had always interested me. Sports was what had taken the majority of my time up as a kid. Throughout junior high to high school, I had always played a sport, be it football or basketball. In my junior year, I was on my schools football team as a free safety. It was a position I had played as a kid and was treated more as a cornerback.

We were playing out cross city rivals in a home game one night. We were doing pretty well. Both schools had a great football program, so we were always evenly matched up. It was a decent night, give some light rain here and there. I was going up to try and make a tackle on a receiver that had just caught the ball. As I was running and trying to turn and tackle him, my cleat had gotten stuck in a bit of mud. As I was turning, I heard a pop in my knee and I had felt instant pain. I was rushed to the ER right after that to find out that I had shredded my anterior cruciate ligament (ACL) and would be out for the remainder of the high school football season and likely would not be able to play basketball neither. After having to have surgery to repair the ACL, I had to spend a decent amount of my time either rehabbing my knee, or on my ass. This is where computers/internet came into play.

Since I could barely do anything anymore, I had turned to the internet to really occupy my time after that. From there on out, it was all systems go on computers and the internet. This got me to pick up again on web design and development and had also introduced me to online gaming and websites/forums. So all in all, the football injury is what caused me to become an internet nerd and really has brought me to where I am at right now, playing games like WoW and being on sites like HF, helping others and learning new things. I guess you could say that all that has made me what I am up to this point.

Anything else you want to say: I am always on MC with Judge, Bugga and all those guys from HF. I know that I am a newer member, but I hope to break that mold and go above and beyond what newer members can do on HackForums. Its quite fun and its awesome getting to know you guys, whether its getting owned in PVP or just generally bullshitting around in chat with all you. Thanks for the consideration and hopefully I can join you guys. If not, then thanks for the consideration anyways ?

<http://vocaroo.com/i/s1MzW4FM5pWx>

Name:

I'm known on HF as PhazeDevelopment. On another forums that I'm an administrator on, I'm known as Phaze. My MineCraft username is N0T0R10US. My birth name is Lee.

Age:

I'm 16, turning 17 in May.

Gender:

I am biologically a male.

Religion:

I'm an atheist/Christian. I was once a Baptist, once an evangelist. I don't agree with some views, however, so I'm sticking with half-and-half for the moment.

State/Country:

East coast, USA.

Time Zone:

EST. I'm on from 3PM – 11PM, usually later.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I was born into an academically competitive community. Education came first for every family that we knew. Most of our family's funds were spent on college education for my older sister and extracurricular activities for me. From elementary school, I began working hard to keep up with my classmates (even surpass them in most cases). I graduated elementary school with the highest class rank (#1), which isn't THAT much of an accomplishment. I only had one big problem with myself: my lack of physical activity. It wasn't until 7th grade when I started to bulk up and work out more. I began doing a lot of sports (tennis, swimming, basketball, and track and field). I excelled in swimming, making it to the state team. My greatest physical achievement was making it to the top 30 half-mile runners in the state, considering my young age (8th grade).

I guess you could say I never had any REAL friends throughout my middle school experience. All my colleagues were competitors. The impetus for all of our educational animosities towards each other was a single high school. About 500 extremely intelligent children were going to apply for this school, as it was 10th best school in the USA and #1 school for Mathematics and Science (High Technology High School). They only accepted one child from each of 50 districts, and an extra 20 from a pool of competent kids. I came out as the top three students in my grade, so I easily got into HTHS. By then, I had racked up enough accolades to get me to an Ivy League college if I kept doing what I was doing. I had to find some more extracurricular activities relating to science, technology, engineering, and mathematics because I was attending a school that specialized in these fields. I quickly took up web development in 7th grade, and now am interning for Microsoft as a web designer.

The one event that changed my life the most was after I broke up with my girlfriend in 8th grade. I guess I'm the kind of person to get really attached, and I would whole heartedly say that we both loved each other, until she cheated on me. This was after I passed the bar for HTHS. After we broke up, my education fell to pieces. My grades dropped from high 90s to low 90s. My current average in HTHS is 91, and I'm ranked at around #40 out of #68 students. I had to find something else to put on my college resume, so I thought of my internship. My internship with Microsoft came about from my father, who had connections to a web developer there. Microsoft only accepted one intern per year, and only from HTHS (because of the national acknowledgement). Besides this, I've had huge amounts of experience in the business field online, which I'll explain in my skills.

I aspire to be a student of Wharton School of Business (University of Pennsylvania), and having a good online business with undisputable success could really help me out with applying. I believe joining The Empire could open my eyes to the mindsets of other intellectuals, thus allowing me to keep on learning.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I'd say my strongest skill is in web development and design. I've done a lot of websites for professional companies which I'm willing to share over private message (I just don't want them getting targeted by skids who DDoS everything they see). I code fluently in HTML, CSS, JQuery, and am currently learning PHP. I'm well versed in responsive design, mobile and tablet design, as well as fluid/dynamic design. Besides this, I can create a static webpage just as easily.

In addition to my web development skills, I've also had a LOT of experience with Minecraft. I first started running a Minecraft server in 7th grade. The name was EthelGaming. After half a year of uptime, I already made $500 in profit from donations and had everything going for me. It was ranked around the top 20 cracked Minecraft servers out there. However, school became too much of a burden and I had to let it go. After I was halfway through 8th grade, I thought of a new, original idea called PyranPVP. PyranPVP was the #2 cracked Minecraft server in the world while I was running it. It had 80 people constantly on, and I made about $300 a month in profit from donations. I ran it for about a year in total, then an unfortunate event led to the fall of PyranPVP. My head administrator had access to the funds and ran off with $600 out of my $1600 left, just before I was going to spend it on DDoS protection for the website and server. I couldn't do much about it, as he lived in the UK and was underage (also couldn't be tracked since he was on a VPN). I left the remains of the server in someone else's hands and left. Ever since then, I've been on HydrocityGaming as an administrator. Currently, we're doing some major re-vamping of the style and structure, with me as their mentor for growth and expansion.

Besides technical engineering skills, I've also had a good amount of time mixing and concocting new ways/techniques to SEO. Ever since my Minecraft server experience, I've been trying to pick up and create methods of site-view enhancement. After a month of SEO on HyG, I raised the Alexa rank from over 2,000,000 to just above 900,000. It isn't much, but it's still a huge improvement, considering they now have 6000 forum members, and a constant flow of 30 – 50 people online at the same time on their servers.

Regarding physical life skills, I'd say my natural intuition and knowledge gained through my high school career (Introduction to Engineering, Principles of Engineering, Software Applications, Aerospace Engineering, Digital Electronics, AP Physics, AP Calculus B/C, Computer Integrated Manufacturing, and Architectural Design) vastly adds to my skillset. I'm a logical and objective thinker, and I love to solve problems in creative ways. I regularly attend philosophical meetings, student council (treasurer), student government association (student representative), and TSA (Technology Student Association).

I also love to create original songs (I'm terrible at singing, but here are the soundcloud songs I made so far:

I would say I'm okay with guitar, I play piano extensively, and also a bit of the drums.

As with writing and social skills, I'd say I'm sufficiently (perhaps superfluously) adequate in both aspects. Writing is a strong point for me, as I regard correct grammar as a principle of life and communication. Without using correct grammar, one puts oneself at a severe disadvantage in the business world. Socializing comes easy to me, as I'm in student council and a regular volunteer at my school and church (yes, I still go to church because my parents would like me to do so). I believe I can present myself as an intellectually mature individual through my words and examples.

What section are you most active in and why?

In the brief amount of time from when I first joined HackForums, I spent most of my time on the Science, Religion, Philosophy, and Politics section. I also dabble in web development, the Lounge, and MineCraft. I enjoy the threads posted in the SRPR section because they present views of life that I would have never known or thought about. Granted, many responses are somewhat scientifically subpar and ungrounded, but it's still nice to see the few intellectuals in the world that can really present a solid argument. My passion is in debating, especially on politics and theory. I also love to share my ideas to other people.

If I were to be accepted into The Empire, I'd spend a lot of my time on web development and debates.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Joining The Empire would be a great experience to attain. I have a few reasons as to why I'd like to join:

First of all, The Empire is regarded as one of the best all-around groups out there. I'm good friends with Evangelist (who's in 143), and he recommended I apply for this group because of my skills. I'd like to get a glimpse of the smartest people on HF, compare and share data, and to really broaden my views. As aforementioned, my goals on HF are to learn more and more – to try to get the most out of the most prestigious internet forums there is (because of the highly exclusive groups that apparently cost over $5000 to attain). I'd also like to join The Empire because it would really help me get back to being active on HF. It's a great community and I'd like to be part of it (at least the part of it that's not 12 year olds who don't know what they're talking about). Being in such an exclusive group would motivate me to increase my activity enough to stay in the group and to excel as a member. I'd love to contribute my knowledge as well. Over the years, I've been taught to never say everything I know, but my very nature goes against that. If anything, I'm one to share all my knowledge just to help other people succeed. I wish the world would have the same views as I do. Maybe we would be far more advanced than we are today. The Empire seems like an extremely high quality group that I might be able to fit in and find a place for myself.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I am fully aware that I don't meet the requirement of 60+ posts per month, but I can assure you that I am able to do it. On HyG, before the forum reset, I had over 300 posts per month, and all were quality posts (over three paragraphs long per reply) on debates. I love to share information and express my thoughts, and if I'm accepted into The Empire, I will dedicate my time into making sure I contribute as much as I can. I know I only have about 160 posts and I'm still relatively new, but I'm a dedicated lurker who doesn't post unless I have something good to say. If you check through my posts on HF, you'll see that at least 20% of them are quality posts on debates. I feel that I can contribute a lot of worldly knowledge and theories in addition to technical skills.

Anything else you want to say:

I tried my best to put in a lot of effort into my application. Given that joining this group is my last hope of staying in this community (growing tired of the flaming and immaturity of some users), I hope that I can be accepted and given a chance to show that I still want to stay in HF. After reviewing all open groups, I decided to apply for The Empire because it seemed the most fitting for me after Void (I was preparing a 4,000 word application for Void, but my computer crashed three days before March 15th, so I couldn't do anything about it). This application itself holds over 2000 words that I'm proud of writing. I believe each and every single sentence puts meaning into my application, and I proudly present it to the reviewers.

To the admissions: consider this as an example of what I would post on threads in The Empire. Thank you for reading this application if you did so.

Make sure your application sticks out if you want to get in. We will start reviewing them this week and send out acceptance PM's in batches of about 10 pages or so at a time.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

- Graphics

Graphics was quite a big part of me, and I still continue to carry on doing this subject, I know this may sound a bit stupid, but I mostly started off in the call of duty community, but I ended up gradually started to get better and better, even though most of the styles in the COD community are know probably the most over-used pieces of crap in the world, I did learn from this and started to try different techniques and something different towards others, I did watch tutorials on Youtube obviously, but otherwise than the odd 5-6 tutorials, I was mostly self-taught, But then I learned off other speed-arts and tried to see what they did, then tried to repeat there actions or tried out the style they were doing.

Example: <http://www.vividconcepts.carbonmade.com> - Typing fast

This isn't really a talent, but I am pretty certain I am above average for my age-range, I have tried a variety tests on the website '10fastfingers'(Yes.. Yes.., laugh it up), but my highest WPM (Words-per-minute), count was 122 I believe, this was quite a big achievement for me, even though it is kind of pointless unless I get a job related to computers or in the ICT area, I still thought this was pretty cool to share with friends and see the scores on what they got.

Example: <http://10fastfingers.com/user/267097/>

- A Fast Learner

I mostly found this out during Primary-school, I am quite a fast learner, even though when it comes to exams I will be horrible as the questions are usually randomized and the questions may/may not be related to what I have learnt, I was a quick learner in instruments, I never carried on to learn them, but at the start of instruments, I was a very quick learner and gained some sort of happiness when I played them, although later I found out that it was just something useless for me as I found out my real talent in computing, as barely started to play it, at this very moment, I still have the guitar beside me.

What section are you most active in and why?

I am mostly active in the Lounge, also in the Free giveaways section,

I know these sound like very bad sections for me to browse, but with the Lounge, I love to help people out if they have any certain comments and socializing in total,

The Lounge is a fun place to hang it to possibly let off steam and bring up hopes for myself, as I have had recent issues with my life which I will not describe, so I will try to help people as good as possible so there life can be a better one,

Although I don't really have a section which i ma most active in, as I browse through a variety of sections which attract me to them, these are Usually the Gaming Sections, Hacking sections, Marketplace and Lounge. As you can see, this shows I do quite go through a lot of of the sections.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Within full honesty, I have never been in a group before,

It seems like a fun thing to do, with the knowledge that I have, I will gladly help others if they are wanting to work/look into the subjects that I enjoy doing, I will also probably give away more things that are mostly related to mostly Graphics, Accounts and PSDs (Photoshop Documents),

I also wish to hope I join the Empire to bring back my activity back into HF, as I used to be quite inactive, I have just recently went back into the HF community and tried to get back into it as much as possible, I would carry on doing Giveways, but I don't really have much things which will really benefit people apart from my Photoshop Documents, also The Empire seems like a group which is completely organized and hopefully not to have any troubles with.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

First off, I mostly reach all the requirements except for one, which is the upgrading to l33t or ub3r, I have tried multiple times to upgrade, but sadly I end up not having enough money, and if I do, I will end up purchasing that I need/want in real life, and at this very moment, I still cannot purchase this due to me buying new monitors + a desk, as I am at the stage of life where I enter for college, I will need to sort out my real-life situations and be pre-prepared for this.

As for another reason why I should join The Empire, it's because as in the previous questions, I wish to share my knowledge to the other people of The Empire community, as I will be probably in the stage of quitting certain things that I enjoy as I really want to do well in college, I will be giving away quite a few pieces of various of Documents on my computer, to hopefully help others to learn off.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Here are mostly the basics about me,

My real-life name is 'Tom', (Very common), and you could say I fit into the category of the unpopular person, or the nerd, even though in this school, there isn't entirely much bullying, I would easily be able to resist or probably back-fire against it, I used to do Hockey, this was a sport I was very passionate about as I had 5 years experience and played for the Local team, but this all went down the drain when I moved houses/area again for the 3rd time, as you would of probably guessed, I have moved houses 3 times in my life and they are all relatively the same apart from the one I have had 1-2 years ago.

Then I proceeded to learn Basketball, I have to admit for myself, I was pretty decent at it, even though most people judged me by my appearance, they didn't realize that I was a decent-ish player and basketball.

Well, the first recent event which is quite a big impact in my life is moving to college, I have recently went for an open-evening and a taster on what the course is about and I have to say it is quite a fun experience to have, and hopefully soon that will hopefully be true, I am learning 'Software Development Level 3', which consists of Coding; PHP, Java, VB.net, HTML, C++, C#. Then there is Animation, which is probably mostly Frame-by-Frame technique, then there is Web-development, this usually focuses on the design of the website, but it also relates to some code (As previously said, HTML).

I have also been quite keen into the hacking-scene, as I loved to see the challenges behind it and learn the behind-the-scenes of it, I sometimes use the Hacking Tutorials section as well as The beginner section, I use the beginner section to try and help the people who need some common help, and I try to be grammatically correct and English as possible, so basically putting it into the simplest terms for them. I wish to learn more about the different methods which hacking can have and learn the types of hacking.

Anything else you want to say:

I have spent a lot of time making this application and I hope that you read through all of it,

Then I want to say Thank you for your time on reading this application, as I think I have over-done it with too much words ?

State/Country: Kentucky.

Time Zone: Eastern What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

*Gaming

*Computer techonology.

*Remove of viruses.

*Building computers by hands.

*Ratting.

*Portfowarding.

*Having fun.

What section are you most active in and why? Well, I'd have to say "Runescape" because Runescape has been the shit for me sence I was a little kid, I still play this game after 9 years... I don't see how but, I still do. It's fun and I like to be active in it because I know tons about the game.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to meet new friends, find new people who has the same interests as me, let myself become a better person and help and give advice to others.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I help many people, I am very nice. I would be able to help with removal of viruses, do many giveaways for the "Empire" let people find out who they really are, give them advice on how they should go on the right track, and always thinks about the positive in life, and don't think about the negative because you will get that outcome.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

My life is fine, I live with decent family, I don't never go without. I always keep my brothers/sisters happy and never take advantage of them, I am one of them trustworthy kids. I already remember the time when me and my brothers went to a park and I had then seen my little brother almost fall off and kill himself, which had marked me for years now, it's horrible. My older brother helps me with alot, he tells me to never give up because if I do, I know I am going to fail, and he keeps me going, even if I don't want too. Thats my role model. :)

Anything else you want to say: This will be my first group evar.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): Hmm i have a VERY good way with music. I played in band about 5-8th grade i was a on trombone and played drums in the band. I am now making hardstyle music for myself and other people to enjoy. I love cooking its one of my most favorite things to do. I love how everything is unique then the other like you can never get one dish the exact same EVER. Stock market interests me but i have like no clue about it :)

What section are you most active in and why? I don't know i'm active in a wide variety of section's upon hackfourms.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:Seems like a cool chill group to be in

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I don't know i feel like it would be a great group to be in and also to help out in

Anything else you want to say: I don't know if i will get accepted or not but thanks for even putting this up for other to try to join this wonderful group :D. I am Russian (i'm adopted as well) and moving to Australia soon so my timezone will change in the 3-4 years

If anything is needed please pm me someone from empire :D sorry for spilling my heart out for you guys :D

Gender: Male

Religion: Agnostic

State/Country: United Kingdom

Time Zone: GMT-0

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Linux. I have experience with kernel editing, system maintenance and other aspects. I've modified the Linux kernel on several Android tablets to port over a working Debian based Linux distribution. I also gained recognition for my work from the company that made the tablets (Zenithink). You can view my threads here:

<http://www.slatedroid.com/topic/32538-debian-booted-on-c91-project-development-started/>

<http://www.slatedroid.com/topic/21689-project-project-linux-reborn-beta-3-released/>

What section are you most active in and why?

Probably the computing section now. Since building my own PC for the first time, thanks to help of some of the top members in there (River Styx, Computer Professor get the main shout-outs) I learnt a lot about hardware quickly, and I like that. I thrive for knowledge, but on top of that I love sharing knowledge too, and I want to give off what I've learnt from others in the hope that we can all learn something from each other, which I believe would help build a stable community, and build some forms of friendship between all members.

I do try to surface myself around as many as the sections of this forum as I can, because (without wanting to sound big headed) I do have a lot of knowledge, and as I said above, I want to share that. Rather than sticking in to one area, I want to give off what I can, where I can.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Because I want to be part of a "family" where everyone is treated equal, that have recognition for their work around the forum and I believe I could help spread the good word of The Empire.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

The reasons above, and for the fact I think I'd be a great addition to The Empire, there's not a bad bone in my body, I'd never do anyone harm, online or off and I'd never see myself as "above" anyone just because I'm in a forum group. Instead I'd yield the insignia of The Empire in honor and use it to spread the word that there is some decent people still left on the internet!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Many parts of my life have shaped who I am, and there are factors that still continue to do so today. Unfortunately there isn't much I can get in to publicly, as I have had a bit of a rough childhood. I don't want this to seem like a sob story, but I would prefer to answer this part of the application in private, if you wish to know.

Anything else you want to say:

I would like to say thank you for taking the time to read my application, and whether I'm successful or not, I wish the other applicants the best of luck.

Thanks,
Evil.eXe.

Erm, yeah: <https://hackforums.net/postactivity.php?uid=245853>

The Lounge, purely because the other stuff I'm good at, per sé, isn't allowed to be discussed on HF. So I chill out in the lounge with my fellow HF peers and talk life.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: Hades seen my lounge post count in another thread of mine and suggested that Empire was the group for me.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I think I should be accepted to keep me motivated on HF. You can only do so much here before things start to get stale. Especially after 4 years.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

This one's a little more difficult than I anticipated to be honest. A defining moment in my life was learning how precious life itself is. I'm currently the only male branch of my direct family left after losing my family in reverse order. I lost my baby cousin first, then my uncle, then my grandfather then my great grandfather. It was after losing them that I realized just because I have psychological issues and disability issues, it shouldn't mean I should live a life of hospitals and treatments. I currently live independantly in my own home and lead a perfectly normal life, well, as normal as can be expected.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): This is always a hard question for me to answer because i have little knowledge in everything, but i do not know everything about one thing. I don't know if this is a skill but i know a lot about xbox live gaming and almost every game there is for the xbox. i can help people with many different things on xbox. so gaming is a big thing for me. another thing that i am good at is talking to people, whenever someone needs help with anything i do my best to help. even if i do not know what they are talking about i will look it up and find as much as i can to help them out. I am always willing to help someone through anything.

What section are you most active in and why? The lounge or The halo section. I love to be in the lounge to see what everyone is doing and just to talk to people and have fun, or help anyone that needs it. I am very active in the halo section because i love halo. period. I have always loved halo. Halo, Halo2, Halo3... besides that i'm pretty active in everything because i love to see whats around and what people are talking about.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join Empire because i see people from Empire around the forum that like to help people out and they all seem like very nice people, and also i have never been in a group on HF and i want to be in one. I want to be able to go into the subforum and just talk with a bunch of people that are in my group :)

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel like i should be accepted because i am a very nice person and i am also someone that anyone can talk to about anything. i am very active so reaching me will be really easy.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I don't really know much of what to say about my self besides that i am 18 in high school (senior) and i do not like school at all. I have never really liked school and for my first 3 years i have not tried hard at all and that just ruined everything for me i need to stay an extra year in high school now because of that. that is just me and school lol.

I love gaming so much that i will sit in my room and play video games like 24/7 i know it sounds pretty dumb but i love games so i do what i love. I started playing video games a long time ago. longer than i can remember. the only thing i can remember when i started playing video games is when i would have my N64 and then i got a little older and would always go to my friends house and we would all play halo. ever sense then i have loved gaming.

There is only one more thing that i love lol. besides my family. its Cars. I love cars so much i love them and everything about them. When i was really really young i have no clue me and my dad built a 1967 dodge cornet it was a 11 sec quarter mile car. and ever sense then i have loved buying cars and working on them. right now i own a Ef sedan with a z6 lowered on coils and i am getting some new Jmags for it. I go to the kent street races every weekend (There was a video on the national geographic channel about them :P) sometimes i bring my car but that is usually too much of a risk. That is pretty much me and my cars lol.

Those are some things about me not in too much detail but if you want to know more about be then feel free to pm me and i will respond i love talking to anyone lol.

Anything else you want to say: Nothing much but thats for looking at my app. hope i get in :P

Hacking:I am in a hacking group named Hackleets and at the moment we are protesting against Israel who kill children

Art:I love to draw and graffiti

Photoshop:I have basic/medium photoshop skills so I could sometimes do some gfx for Empire :)

Coding:I can code basic stuff in Visual basic 2012 and I can also code html/css websites

Xbox controller modding:I do a controller modding service for my friends and I'm thinking of starting it up as a online service so I could do controller mods for members if needed

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in the lounge/Innuendo because I enjoy reading the stories that people post .

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I have an un-explainable amount of knowledge in social engineering. I know a minimal amount of coding but I can haggle. Some other skills I have would be Graphic Design/reviewing.

What section are you most active in and why? I am most active in the Lounge section because I like to interact with other people and hear what they have to say.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I would like to join the Empire because I would like to be in another organization other than Hackforums. Empire has looked from my eyes one of the very most HQ groups out there. I would like to share my knowledge with other members in the group.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel I should be accepted into The Empire because I want to exchange intelligence for knowledge throughout other members. I want to join to share new things which have recently been found or made. I would also myself like to learn some few gimmicks and tricks myself.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I have been living in Oregon for about 7 years now and it's been great. Peaceful life, straight A's in school, no drugs, no alcohol and Living healthy.

Something memorable in my life would have to be making DIY thermite which was pretty sick. I preferably like science and anything related to making things (DIY) because they're just plain fun.

Anything else you want to say: I've wanted to build my own laser and if anyone want's to help I would greatly appreciate it aiming at 1000 mW. What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): As a person, I have many unique skills that could benefit The Empire. To start out, I feel as if I have near perfect grammar. This may sound very futile to add as a skill, but this really helps your case throughout HackForums. When posting a response to a thread, most people don't care about their grammar. I feel that when a person posts with good grammar, they look much more intelligent than other members. I know many of you can relate to this, because of a lot of the members posting very low-quality responses. Another great skill that I have under my belt is investing in BTC and LTC. I've been investing in BTC and LTC for a while now, and I have made a sufficient amount of money doing so. Up until the BTC crash, I've been very busy with doing that. Another great skill that I have is debating with other members. Every since I've been a member in Void, I've got into Internet debating. I'm currently enrolled in a debate course in my high school, so to take some of my skills to the Internet is pretty gratifying. I've been very active in the Void sub-forum, ever since I've been accepted as a member there. I also am very skilled in the fastest, most efficient ways to achieve 99 skills on Runescape. I've been known to help many members do it, so I feel that's a good skill to have. To add to the Runescape topic, I'm very good at merchanting on there, due to my knowledge in BTC and LTC investing. I may only have 596 posts, but they're all high quality posts. I don't post unless it's high quality. Overall, I have many skills, but these are some of the strong ones that I have. I'm constantly adding to my skill belt, because skills are powerful in life.

[img]http://www.imgdumper.nl/uploads6/51338a352c71d/51338a352bb81-seper.png[/img]

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in The Longue section. I'm most active in there, because I feel there are many interesting topics. On the rate I'm going now, I'll be most active in the Void sub-forum, because that's where my heart remains. There are so many intelligent discussions in that sub-forum, that's why I'm so attracted to it. I only am most active in The Longue, because I go on there when I'm bored. I'll soon be most active in the Void sub-forum, but it will take some time to do so. I would be most active in the SRPP section, but the Void sub-forum is the SRPP section on steroids, so why post in that when you have a more high quality version of it?

[img]http://www.imgdumper.nl/uploads6/51338a352c71d/51338a352bb81-seper.png[/img]

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join The Empire for numerous reasons, but the main is because it's such a high quality group of people. I feel as if The Empire is a group of tight knit members that all have their own, special skills that they utilize to make The Empire a dominant group among HackForums. I feel I can bring a lot to the table with my knowledge, so I would only be a plus to the groups appearance. The Empire is probably the most high quality group on HackForums, when it comes down to overall success.

[img]http://www.imgdumper.nl/uploads6/51338a352c71d/51338a352bb81-seper.png[/img]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel as If I should be accepted in to The Empire, because I'm such a high quality member. I can bring a lot of my skills to The Empire, which would make it an even more successful group than it already is. There's too many mainstream members, and I think that I make myself stick out. I'm unique in my owns ways. For those reasons, I think that I should be accepted into The Empire.

[img]http://www.imgdumper.nl/uploads6/51338a352c71d/51338a352bb81-seper.png[/img]

A very memorable thing that happened to me is my current conditions I have. 2 years ago, I was diagnosed with juvenile arthritis. Ever since then, I have had flare ups everywhere from my eye to my sacroiliac joint, which is in my butt. I've not only had to keep my body strong, but keep my mind strong. I easily could have been demotivated because of my condition, and quit the sports I play, but I've kept at it ever since. I've only been more motivated to achieve greater things with my sports. I feel as if the average person would be highly demotivated, which would eventually lead them to quitting their sport. I'm glad that I've had to work through such a large problem at such a young age, because it's really taught me some life long lessons.

Overall, I think that my way of thinking really defines me as a person. I've been told many times that they way I think is very unique, so I think I can bring that to the table here at The Empire. I would love to converse with other fellow members, because I've seen so much intelligence throughout the group. I'm also a firm believer that what makes a person a person is what's inside, not the outside. I've seen too many times in the 21st century where people are judged for what's on the outside, not the inside. I can bring a lot to The Empire, so please take these words into consideration

Anything else you want to say:

I know I'm not very skilled with making my application look all cute and pretty, but I don't believe that shouldn't be a differentiator whether I get in or not. I feel your application is based on your intellectuality, not your ability to make your application look all cute. I feel mine is presentable, but nothing over the top. Unless you're applying as a GFX artist, I think it's pointless to make it over the top.

I just want to thank you for allowing me to have the chance to apply to such a high quality group.

Regards,
Penar

What section are you most active in and why?

I am most active in the Website and Forum Hacking section. The reason for this is that I have a complete fanatical obsession with anything to do with web hacking. I like posting in the section on a regular basis to learn about other methods and help others with the skills that I already possess.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I would like to join The Empire because I feel like it would help me greatly to be in a high quality group. What I mean by this is that being in a high quality group would make me want to be even more high quality then I am now. I would also love to be in such an amazing group of people.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel like I could be a great contribution to the group by doing giveaways in the name of The Empire, by posting tutorials on my wide variety of web hacking knowledge, and because I believe I could greatly improve my skills and learn even more

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well it all started when I was about eight years old and my parents told me that they were going to be getting a divorce. At the time I did not realize what that meant. After a few months I took in the full realization of what had happened to my life. I started growing increasingly angry at my parents and how they betrayed me. Two years past and my mother was engaged to my stepdad Glynn. After my mom moved in with glynn I moved in with her full time.

Around this time I got my first xbox 360 and saw some players modding call of duty 4 and decided to start researching about how to do what they were doing. After a few days I had started to do some of my own mods and had never felt so happy about something in a long time. Three years past and my father moved to Phoenix, AZ. I was enraged and started experimenting with drugs for about 6 months.

After 6 months I realized that my life was a wreck and needed to figure out something to do with it. A little while after this I started looking into hacking when I stumbled upon <http://hackthissite.org> and started learning how to hack websites. After a little while after i stumbled upon hack forums and loved it instantly. To sum it up hacking has changed my life and I will always be a happier person because of it.

Anything else you want to say:

Thanks for taking the time to read my application and I hope you take me into consideration.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): First and foremost, my grammar is excellent. I have an extremely large skill set in many areas. What am I most successful in is monetizing. I have a great gold shop where I buy low and sell high. Decent money is made there. I also flip currencies via the Currency Exchange section. I also have basic knowledge in CSS, HTML, graphics, gaming, marketing, RATs & Whitehat monetizing methods.

What section are you most active in and why? I think there are two sections that I am most active in. The first one would be the Virtual Items section. That is where I run my gold shop and where most of my business takes place. The other section that I spend a lot of time in would be the Currency Exchange section. I enjoy exchanging with different members and making a profit at the same time! :)

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join the Empire because I respect what you guys do and I want to be a part of something bigger. It would be a dream come true if I were to be accepted.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: If I am accepted into The Empire, I would devote a lot of time and effort into whatever it is that I am asked to do. I am an extremely self-motivated individual who doesn't have to be told more than once what I should be doing. I can follow orders and of course, give back to the community in whatever way I can.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are: Well, I have always been extremely savvy with computers and technology, but a few years ago my life turned on a downward spiral. I had dropped out of school and I was hanging out with the wrong crowd. I had received a few felony charges for burglary and minor charges for disorderly conduct. I turned my life around, went back to school the next semester, and finally graduated high school. I am enrolled for the Fall semester of 2013 at a local Technical College and I plan to get my Associates Degree in Network Administration.

Anything else you want to say: I would like to add that I sincerely believe that if you accept me into this group that you will not regret your decision, but rather be happy with it. Like I stated in a prior section of this post I am self-motivated. I pick up on new things very easily and overall I feel that I would be a great addition to The Empire!

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Teamwork/Good With Others - I work well with others, when working on a project I like to work with people and take into account what they have to say.

Grammar - I like to think that my grammar is up to scratch and I can say what's on my mind without causing confusion.

Business Minded - I can't really explain this one but an example would be when I found a faulty joblot of 360's on eBay, bought them for £100 and sold them all for around £700, I try to find something I can buy then flip for a higher price most of the times.

Webmaster Experience - Owned a few websites and still own 2, I have a web hosting site and an iPhone repair site, I also have forum board experience working with IPB, vBulletin, MyBB and others.

Help Where I Can - If someone needs my help and I know I can help them I will do so also if I have a vague idea of what they need I will do my best to help.

What section are you most active in and why?

I don't really have a section which I am most active in as I like to browse around the whole site but I'm most interested in monetizing.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I want to join The Empire as I like the look of the group and feel as it is something I'd like to be a part of on the forums.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I am always interested in learning new things and sharing what I know with others and I see in the group description you are active in the sub-forums to share and gain knowledge.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I am a unique person in a way different to others, not just as a person but to how I think, I won't follow the crowd unless it is what is best for me, I have a voice and will speak out if I disagree with what someone is saying however I will still take their point in and acknowledge it with an open mind.

I love to work with others and help anyone I can. I also recently wrote my first EBook which got around 5 sales within the first hour of being verified which I consider a good start and has given me some inspiration to write more as other people may find what knowledge I have useful.

Anything else you want to say:

Thank you for taking the time to read my application, I'd really like to be a part of this group and represent it on the forum, I was inactive for a while but now I'm back and ready to get back into action!

My basic skills consist of RATING, DDOSing, running a botnet, graphics, video editing, gaming, and

I have learned XSS so I could get on the Microsoft Hall of fame which I did and I am on there you can search it PM me if you wanna so I can provide my real name, finding exploits is something else I am relatively good at I found exploits in Microsoft, Intel, activision, weather.com, spotify (upgrade method I am selling).

What section are you most active in and why?

Market place, because I like to keep up to date on what is seeling and what isn't so i know when to relese certian products.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Very high quality group with very respectful leaders and I would like to join to expand my horizon of knowledge.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I would like to be accept in because I could provide give aways for the groups and I love to make friends on the forum!

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

When I was in the 8th grade me and m best friend Joe went to the dump and saw a computer just sitting there before they were gonna throw it in the big compressor so me and my friend took it and brought it home and found out it had a bad power supply so we opened it and saw that it was a compact with a long power supply we google it and it cost $200 for the PSU so went back to the dump and found another one too it home and this one had a bad mother board so we took it out and put the compact in the bad motherboards case and used the PSU from the bad motherboard one and we made it work then we did this multiple more times and made some good money selling them on craigslist this made me love computers.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): I specialize in graphics designing. I can help out with thread layouts, signatures, and avatars. I know my way around RATs pretty well. I've been helping members set them up quite a bit. If we are only talking things computer wise, then that's it. In person, I'm actually quite talented. I have a music channel on youtube in which I make hip-hop music on. <http://www.youtube.com/thatboytristen> - I skateboard pretty good as well.

What section are you most active in and why? Probably The Lounge, only because I'd rather not get to serious about hacking. I'd like to just help members do what they want to do and stay active myself by posting in the most fun section of them all.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: Just like everyone else applying, I would like to join The Empire because of it's uniqueness and moral. The Empire is one of the best groups on hack forums considering everything they do for the members of the forums.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel I should be accepted into The Empire because there are many things I can help with. I can do GFX, I can help people set-up RAtIng, and I'm also good with homework/assignments.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: Well, I'm Tristen, like it said above, and I haven't had many memorable memories in my life quite yet. Seeing as I'm still young and growing up. I'm still waiting for that day that something amazing happens, but when it does I'll make sure to change this even if I don't get accepted so people know what was so amazing that happened that day.

Anything else you want to say: I want to say good luck to everyone who applies to be in this group. Whoever gets accepted surely deserves it. Oh, and thanks for reading my application if you actually do. Bye. :)

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): i have skills in coding in C# and C++, i normally code programs for cheating/modding games like Call Of Duty or Battlefield, i recently started getting back into C++ coding so that i can release patches on sites like TTG and 7S. I want to learn Java for minecraft coding but don't have the time.

What section are you most active in and why? I am most active in the minecraft section and subsections because i spend a lot of my day helping/playing miencraft with others there. I like to join servers and help them advertise and fix any errors or bugs with plugins.

Extra: a little extra about me is that i have been designing graphics for 2 years now and love to give help and tips about it, i enjoy trying new things and see that you guys love inspiration and innovation.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join empire because i have seen many great things come from this group, and i have wanted to join since i joined HF, i've wanted to apply for awhile but couldn't find the right time to do so. I will be doing lots of giveaways for the group, and i can provide help in gaming errors as i have ran across a lot of them, and i am very knowledgeable about gaming and its history.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:I think i should be accepted because i am a very helpful member around the forums and i don't have any scam reports and the few negatives i have received are for lucrative meanings. I want to become one of the more helpful members here and i think getting accepted into empire is the first step to becoming a more active member.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: One major thing is when i was about 6-7 my mother was accused of drug possession and trafficking so we were sent to be foster children, it was very mind wrecking, they separated me and my siblings and i didn't get to see them for about a year, we went to court many times and finally we were reunited. This has made me who i am because i think more about what i am doing because i do not want to ruin my life with some mistake i make, nor do i want to ruin someone else's life, if anything i want to help them become better.

Anything else you want to say: all i want to add is that this group has been around for a long time and i have always considered this group the best, If i do not get accepted i will retry after correcting any errors in my way.

hope you take me for consideration!

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Offline SkillsI'm extremely athletic, compared to some members of this community. I play three sports, football (American), Basketball, and Baseball. I enjoy using my height to my advantage (I'm 6'4") leading my varsity Basketball team to the semi-finals. For Football, I'm Co-Captain on Varsity, however not the best, I play as back-up Quarterback, and starting wide receiver. I play as short stop and second base for baseball on the Varsity team, however not captain.

Off the field, I have a passion for academics and science in particular (hence my membership in the Void group). With an accumulative GPA of 4.3, I am a junior (11th) at my High School. I'm also an avid member of the Honors Science Society which is a group of avid learners such as me who share my passion for learning the interworks of science.

Online SkillsI previously worked as a "Support Technician" for a business which specialized in Social Media Services which gave the ability to talk with those having trouble and help them to the best of my knowledge. I'm not sure why, but I enjoy helping others and feeling a sense of power doing so.

I also am a former Tranquility member, which one of your current Empire members is the leader of (Insidious), which is a dedicated group of individuals set out to help others with any problems they may have. Not quite guaranteeing a fix for their problems, they're just there to let everyone know that someone is willing to listen.

Although not a big DDOS'er or any of that sorts, I am a coder. Mainly web development, I've been "coding" so to speak for over 8 years. Starting as a little kid with a GoDaddy host and little-to-none knowledge of anything besides basic, very basic, HTML. Eventually after reading many books, watching videos, etc. I began to expand my knowledge and grow into a more knowledgeable coder. I make custom MyBB Plugins for people as well as an "IT technician" so to speak for Forum Owners, going into their code finding errors and hopefully fixing them. As well as my own boards which I've created, I've made many small tweaks to the code to make things working as well as enhance the user experience.

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm usually bounce from section to section however if I was to pick one I'm most active in, it'd probably be in The Lounge. I find myself visiting that section finding others and having friendly conversations with them to pass the time. I sometimes visit the Innuendo section, talking to those considerably troubled and helping them with their problems.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I've seen members all over the forums helping out, talking, and just being all around high quality. I would consider myself a higher quality than some, and would love the chance to be considered high quality while representing The Empire. Plus, The Empire is considerably one of the better custom official groups among others. I've heard nothing but great things about the group, and would love to be able to tell my mates about how amazing the group is from a primary source perspective.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel as though I appear to be just like the next applicant, I'm also unique in many ways. I find it easier to get along with others who share similar interests and passions as I do. Additionally, I've quickly become friends with many members of Empire and they've urged me on trying to get me to apply and well, they've done it. I've applied and would be forever gracious if I had the chance to join my mates in their group, excuse me, your group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I was born in Winsdor, England on April 5th, 1995. My mum's name was Marina Foggy, I say was for a reason later described, and my father was named Theodore Foggy. I was born with my brother, an identical twin, Jhon Foggy. Naturally the cooler of two was born first, then 30 seconds later he was born. I'll save the baby stories, growing up experiences, etc. but when I was 8 years old my life literally changed forever. Earlier in the year, my sister, Allison Foggy, was born perfectly healthy. Within the next month my twin brother developed a type of brain cancer known as Glioblastoma Multiforme. Soon after he died at only age 8, but that's not the worst of it. Instead of partying on our birthday, April 5th, we mourned. My mum, father, and I were taking a short walk just down the street that night when I dropped my favourite blanket into the street, just on the curb. My mum went to get it, not realizing a car which was heading straight towards her. My mum was hit and killed on impact, the driver turned out to be drunk at only 8 pm. After the lawsuit, I was forever angry at all alcoholics and had to see a therapist for years after witnessing this event repeating the same thing, "He may of lost money, but I lost my mum and a piece of my heart."

Later moving to American, Boston, starting a new life when I turned 17 with my family, and quickly made friends in Boston. One of which I had been talking to online months prior to even moving, one of which was injured in the recent event which happened. My life truly is a disaster.

Anything else you want to say: Long live the Empire.

Graphics

I have always been someone who has been graphically talented. I am not saying that I am an elite graphical designer, I am saying however that I have always been able to use Photoshop to create above average graphics. I started out by making simple text signature for Hack Forums and eventually worked my way up to doing renders and eventually YouTube designs such as backgrounds and various photo manipulations. I have some experience with video editing as well, using mainly Cinema 4D, Adobe After Effects, and Adobe Premier Pro. As of lately I have not found any projects worth spending the time on as far as graphical design but in the future I may or may not pick up some design work again.

Hacking and Web Pen testing

The main reason why everyone comes to Hack Forums right? Unfortunately I never became the "1337" hacker with green CMD text that I always wanted to be. I very slowly and painfully picked up basic SQLi and XSS. Alongside that I learned LFI and RFI which is as easy as 123. I must say learning how to do SQLi and XSS was extremely easy for me, and if I wanted to I could delve further into the area. I mainly have just been too busy with sports and school to spend time studying penetration techniques alongside the four hours I already spend on Hack Forums. Due to XSS and SQLi being in part related to PHP I also picked up some beginner PHP that I am sure anyone could pick up if they spent a couple of hours reading a decent eBook.

I would also like to add that I believe a strong emphasis should be put to helping others. Thus, if you check my post count you would see one of my most active sections is indeed Beginner Hacking:

Communications

This skill is mainly due to my personality. I am a very outgoing person that is extremely easy to get along with. This side of my personality has enabled me to get along with almost anyone. I am very respectful even when sometimes it can be extremely difficult (especially with some of the members on this forum) and will always attempt to see where people are coming from even though I disagree with their opinion / perspective. Over the summer I worked telephones and hotlines so communication was a crucial part of my job on the team. i shall have you know that I received an A+ in customer service.

English

For once I can actually say that school has helped me! No but seriously I can attribute my above average grammar and writing skills to the education I have received up until this point. I have always been in Honors or AP English courses so it truly has helped develop a lot of skills that people on here would find annoying if you did incorrectly. I would consider this a skill that coincides with communications, or rather acts as a benefit towards it. I have written essays for people here on Hack Forums for both free and paid services. It was mainly when I was bored and didn't really mind spending some time researching a random topic.

What section are you most active in and why?

I am most active within Anime Adventures which can be found here. Now I know the first thought that may pop into your head is "you mean that Japanese porn". No I don't! I mean quality shows with deep plots and very interesting characters that just so happen to be in animated form rather than with actual actors. Many of the shows I watch are very compelling and sometimes are better than the movies being shown in your theaters. :ohm: Why am I most active here? Simply because it is something I enjoy. I spend time with the people that enjoy things similar to me. I am a very dedicated person, so I make sure that section is always active and looking for opportunities to bring forward more members. If you have any questions about my most active section or anime in general feel free to PM me.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I would like to join The Empire because I feel as though I can be a great attribution to the small community it is. I am a very respectful person who is always doing my best to bring a positive attitude to anything I do. I would do my best to contribute towards the group with the skills I do have or by learning new skills from other members and in return helping those that will follow in my footsteps. I can guarantee you that I will be an active sub forum poster who does my best to encourage other members to do the same. I believe that The Empire is a group that is perfect for me, and if given the chance, I will show you that I am perfect for The Empire.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel as though I should be accepted into The Empire because I am a very loyal and dedicated member. I will go out of my way to ensure that no member within the group feels unwelcomed, uninformed, or left out. I will do my best to utilize my own unique skills to not only help members from within the group, but represent The Empire by helping members of Hack Forums in general.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well the first memorable part moment in my life would be the death of my grandfather. Although it is a very touchy subject within my family, I feel it is very important to be able to discuss such an even in order to move past it and live life how he would have wanted. I was always very close with my grandfather. He, my father and I would always go fishing early in the morning. You could say it was all three generations of our family bonding and relating to one another. He was always someone I looked up to and taught me very important lessons in life. One of the main things he taught me was to live life through experiences and not by what other people and textbooks tell me it is. He always stressed the importance of sometimes just being random in life. Going on adventures. Why? Because you can. You only live one life and we are all stamped with a death sentence. However, how we spend the time in between then and now is up to us. Make the most out of our lives and don't let the aspiration for success be the reason you stain your hands with things such as greed and malicious characteristics. My grandfather was and always will be one of the biggest impacts on my personality and attitude and I will always do my best to live up to the standards he taught me.

Anything else you want to say:

I know that if given the chance I can be nothing but a benefit for The Empire. I apologize if my application was lengthy / wordy but I figured if we only get once chance might as well make the most of it. Best of luck to the group regardless of whether I am accepted or not.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

[Life Skills] Good with people (Worked in marketing for a year)

Good at talking with strangers (Made cold calls for a local business)

Paintball (I tend to go out and play once a month, it's good excersize)

Kindness (I get along with almost anyone)
Generosity (Donating all the time) (SPCA/Wounded Vets/Etc)

[Computer Skills]

SQLi

XSS

Website Development (Developed two large scale website)

PHP, C++, XML, VB.net, C#, Java (Written 2 Bots, SQLi finder, MineCraft Hacks, and a private crypter, Also I'm a developer for Active Lock Software)

Network Administration (Network Admin for large real estate company)

Firewall Technologies (Implemented Barracuda Firewall at large office)

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in Botnets, IRC Bots, and Zombies because it's what interests me the most. Botnets are always in the news.

Botnets are also a hobby for me, I've been researching bot herding for 2 years. I also enjoy helping people learn. (My Intro to Botnets thread)

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I want to join The Empire because I love working in groups and have always done best with a team. Also I want to share my ideas with people and learn new things. You can never learn too much.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I feel I should be accepted into the Empire because I am a trust worthy person and have a lot of knowledge to offer and I have a great team spirit. I hope you take my application into serious consideration ?

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

My name is Jack and I'm a computer programmer. I have been for a long time. I started getting interested in computers when I was 5 years old and played with my families computer all the time. After learning about the internet and showing interest in it my father gave me a book on HTML (I was 7 at the time). I read that book cover to cover and made my first website. After that I was completely hooked and learned everything I could about computers. By the age of 14 I started taking computer programming classes at night at the local community college. After experiencing college for the first time and making new friends I wanted to leave junior high and go to college.

I kept with that dream, after the first semester of 10th grade (Sophomore in HS) I wanted out. High School bored me and I took the California High School Proficiency Exam and graduated from High School at 16 with and with the diploma in my hands I applied for community college. I currently attend college and I am working on my Bachelors in Computer Science and hope to also get a Masters degree.

Anything else you want to say:

Thank you for your time.

I am 16 years old at this moment.

Gender:

I'm a male.

Religion:

My religion is christianity.

State/Country:

I live in Canada, which is a great country.

Time Zone:

My time zone is Atlantic.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

My skills are always expanding, I've always enjoyed the internet for one reason, because theres almost endless knowledge. I'm always expanding my knowledge on the internet to better myself, I've learnt so many things over the years and enjoyed it all. To explain everything that I've learnt would be very difficult, although I will explain to the best of my ability to list my skill sets and go into detail as much as possible.

Graphic Design Photoshop (Advanced)

Illustrator (Mediocre)

Cinema 4d (Mediocre)

Art has been around for a very long time and I can say that I've truly always enjoyed it. When I was younger I used to draw and paint all the time. My imagination has always been enormous and I think that is one of the reasons, why I enjoy it. Art allows me to express myself and my imagination, which is one of the reasons I enjoy it so much. When I started getting into 'computers', I was researching digital art, along with playing with MS Paint, although this was very basic, I was only around 8 or 9 years old and had a very basic understanding.

After finding out about adobe products I installed the trail for photoshop, which I though was very complicated as the time, but none the less, I worked hard to figure it out. Around the time my trail was ending. I decided to take a course at a university on Graphic Design, which used photoshop. It was very interesting and helpful, at the time I had no idea what I was doing, although I had gotten significantly better as the course progressed. After the course ended, I decided to move on to other things (Other skills) and take a break from photoshop for a bit. Although the past year, I've been getting back into it and really enjoying it. I was accepted into the graphic masters student program group, on hackforums, although I had to leave it due to personal issues.

Visual Effects/Motion GraphicsAfter Effects (Advanced)

Cinema 4d (Mediocre)

3DS Max (Mediocre)

Along with graphic design, visual effects, editing and motion graphics has always been a passion of mine.

I've loved it since I was young, creating movies and expanding my imagination was amazing. I started when I was around the age of 6 or 7 getting my parents to take the video camera and try to figure out how movies were made. Looking back now the "movies" were just awful, although I was trying my best. I currently am working on starting my own youtube channel to do short skits and short action films along with prank calls, pranks and anything really that we find entertaining and want to share with our friends (Once finished the channel, I will send you guys the link).

CodingVB.NET (Advanced)

C# (Mediocre)

HTML (Good)

Php (Mediocre)

Well I haven't learned much on Hackforums, I have learned coding throughout the internet. It was one of my goals to be able to code when I got into computers, I loved the thought of being able to make a program or website do what I wanted it to. I always found that fascinating, although coding can be very difficult, I stuck with it and have been coding in VB.NET now for about 2 years, where as I'm just starting some languages like Php. Its taken a lot of dedication and time to start learning these, but I feel pretty confident about my ability now. Although I haven't really ever went "public",

I have made many personal programs and websites. I am currently taking a break from coding, although I know

I will eventually get back into it, as my interests change from time to time on the internet.

RattingBlackshades

Darkcomet
Crypters (Personal)
Portforwarding

I was hesitant to add this, I feel as this isn't really a skill as to just small knowledge and common sense because there are so many different tutorials on this subject. Although, I am trying to the best of my ability to list all the things that could further this group in terms of reputation and knowledge inside the group. Ratting and keylogging was one of the reasons why I joined Hackforums (Yes, I was a skid). I was researching keyloggers as I have been designing my own a month or two before and came across "Remote Admin Tools" which interested me very much and I starting researching them. I kept getting lead back to this site, which made me register, now I wasn't ever really "big" for forums and didn't have much knowledge of them. I've learned a lot on this subject and have helped a lot of members, over the time I've been here, which has gained me some friends on this forum. I know a lot about ratting, although I do not rat to this day, I still check in the "Hacking" section to help members out over PM and help members who claim to be infected.

MonetizingAdSense (Advanced)
PPD (Good)
CPA (Mediocre)

I've always loved money, although more so the fact that realistically speaking there is a price for everything. Heres a short story that may hopefully prove how much I adore money. "I've always been sort of a "tough" child and haven't really cried over anything in my life. When I was around 5 or 6, I had about $600 in my bank account which, of course, made me incredibly pleased. I had $20.00 in cash at the time and was with my mother, walking around in a store. My mother offered to hold the money for me as I had it tightly held in my hand although I gladly declined her offer. About 20 minutes later, I realized that the $20 had fallen out of my pocket. After that I looked all around the store and still could not find it, I had cried for hours on end." Hopefully that shows how much I care about my money. A few years after getting into computers, I found out about pay per download sites. Thats mainly what had attracted my attention to monetizing, I've made a lot of money to this date through monetizing. Although I will not go into exact numbers.

Writing95% in my english class

Along with my many other talents online, since I was young I adored writing. It allows me to express my imagination like pictures and videos although writing has no limits. The only limits in my opinion to writing are the ones you place on yourself. When I was at a younger age, I started writing short stories and creating stories in my head. I enjoyed writing it down and adding pictures to help visualize what was happening inside my head. I personally think that my grammar is exceptionally good for someone my age, considering that most young males write with abbreviations as well as have no clue on the subject that they are writing on. Hopefully I've withheld my grammar

throughout this application. Although keep in mind, everyone makes mistakes from time to time.

Over my life time I've developed many skills! I currently own a few businesses (Projects) such as 2 forums, a booter, a social media site and a few real life projects.

What are your faults?

I think that every human being has its faults and I am not going to hide that I do have them. I thought it would be very helpful, to you the reader, to know what mine are. Although I won't go into extensive detail as I did with the "skills" as I'm trying to keep this application relatively short for you all to read. Some of my faults are arrogance, getting carried away, constantly busy helping members and spending every last extra amount of time I have on the computer. Hopefully this will aide your decision in choosing me for a member.

What section are you most active in and why?

I feel as if there is no section that I am most active in because my interests are changing from time to time. Currently I'm active in the market place, because of the amount of amazing products that many members have to offer. I'm active in the lounge due to the amount of interesting members and their stories that they post. I always check back from time to time in the graphics section, to help some new members and see how they are progressing. Like I said there is no section that I am very active in because I spread my knowledge in so many different categories and sections, although my top 5 are (No specific order)The graphics setion

The hacking section

The marketplace

The lounge

The coding section

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Becoming a part of the empire has been a dream of mine for a while as I've heard so many amazing things about it. I think becoming a part of this group would give me an excellent chance to improve my grammar throughout posts and helpful members as well as meet and create new friends throughout this group.

I've always wanted to become a part of a community inside a community and I feel as if joining the empire would do exactly that. I have not heard anything negative about this group and it seems as if the empire is an actually helpful and knowledgable group, unlike most of the truly pointless groups who claim to better this community but in reality do nothing. I hope that this group will challenge my skills and improve them. This group has always stood out in my eyes as being interesting and advanced, which has motivated my completely to do write this application.

Sorry for the small words (read description of the video or watch in 720p fullscreen)

[Video: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=nHVgKJNSOMg&feature=youtu.be>]

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

Well every member who has applied feel that they should be accepted for different reasons, there may be many members more capable and skillful than I. Although I feel as if I am an original, dedicated, understanding user who tends to think outside of the box from most user. I'm creative and love to take risks, as well as I am very dedicated to anything that I put my mind to. I can offer to promote and showcase how helpful the Empire is by doing some contributions in this groups name. Now briefly glancing through some of the applications, you can tell that there are members who will most likely not do anything for this group in terms of contributions.

Some contributions that I've given

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

Well it'd be difficult to explain who I am in 3 paragraphs, but I will do it to the best of my ability to make you get a understanding on the type of person I am outside of the internet. I was born in 1997, in Canada. I started walking around the age of 6 months and I loved "exploring" which was horrible for my parents because I was able to climb over the baby gates which lead me to falling down the stairs many times. As a child I loved sports, my favourite sports when I was younger was baseball and basketball. I played on teams for both and have meet a lot of people throughout that time.

Going into school was scary for me like most kids and once I reached middle school it was even scarier. I've always gotten very good grades in school and decided to challenge myself by becoming a part of the french program in my school. This was very difficult as it was a whole new school and new teachers but I kept with it and studied hard and achieved the same grades as I did earlier on in elementary. I stuck with that program throughout the 3 years that I was there and achieved good grades that I am pleased with! I am now in highschool and hope to get the same grades that I've always got and learn as much as I can.

What do I think my future will be like? Well I am hoping to get a job that has to do with computers as I've enjoyed them my entier life and hackforums has definitely helped that. I'd love to create my own business or site that does a certain task that helps people greatly and great a job out of that but if that does not happen than I think I will consider becoming a computer programmer, game developer, visual effect artist or graphic designer. If all else fails and my job has nothing to do with computers than I'd look into becoming a police officer, lawyer or orthodontist.

Hopefully I've shown a little bit of myself in the last 3 short paragraphs and shown we're I'd like to take my life..

Anything else you want to say:

I love the opportunity you guys are giving us and I'd love to thank you for reading this lengthy application. I really hope that I've withheld its quality and your attention throughout the application. Also, I'd like to apologize if any of this has made me come of as "cocky", if any members (not just the group leaders) have any questions about me in general feel free to message me.

TL:DR

I'd like to be a part of this group.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Monetizing: I have been online monetizing for the last couple of years. Through this I have learned how to advertise all over the internet. I have also learned how to promote things to get as much interest as possible. I have sold and managed sites for in excess of 2k. I have learned how to promote and earn through PPD VIA YouTube and Social media. I understand SEO and how to earn through Adsense.

Proof: Spoiler (Click to View)

Coding: I started to learn how to code at age 12. I first started learning to code in c++ but found it much too hard to start with, I then learned web design (php) which I had classes on in school. I can now code mediocre vb.net, php, html. I have coded programmes for my monetizing but have not tried much more than that.

Don't really have any good examples..

Learning: I know this seems a weird skill but I am really really good at learning things. If I am putting my mind to something I can pick up things quite easily, for example I have learned Japanese and am starting to learn Chinese alongside the programming languages I have previously stated.

Not sure how to get examples...

Helping: Again another unusual skill but I enjoy helping people and I seem to think I am reasonably good at explaining and helping people achieve what they want.

What section are you most active in and why? According to my profile I am most active in the lounge section, the reason being is that when I first joined I stopped trying to hack and was just using HF for entertainment, but now days I see myself most active in the Market discussion, Lounge, PPD/CPA.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I want to join the empire as I am not in any user groups and I find The Empire a HQ group with good admins and respectable members. I also believe I have a lot to offer the group and in return a lot it can teach me.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I believe I should be accepted as I am a hard working member willing to learn and teach. I also believe I should be accepted as I have helped so many HF members over my almost 2 year time here and I think I could help many Empire members as well as learn from them.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: Joining HackForums was a point in my life which is memorable to me and has made me who I am. When I first joined I was like most people here, someone who stumbled upon this site whilst trying to learn how to hack. HackForums has changed who I am in real life because it has gotten me more involved in computing which is taking time away from me. HackForums has taught me almost all things to do with computers that I now know today, with this knowledge I have earned a substantial amount of money and picked up skills that will create massive job opportunities in the future.

Without HF all I see in me is a person who likes to play sports and chill with friends. With HF I see myself as a reasonably smart person who is good at sports, coding, marketing, maths and science.

Anything else you want to say: I may not seem the most HQ member to accept but believe me if I am accepted I will prove my worth. Also my application may not seem the best and that is because I am trying to keep my application as real as possible, I am not good at GFX and such so I do not think it is fitting to use them in an application about my skills.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Gaming; I used to be a leader of Respawn for the Xbox team, as I am very active on it. I love to play call of duty and GTA. I enjoy meeting new people to play online with!

Social Engineering; I can't say much on here about it due to it being black hat activity. But yes, I am good at it and have made money from it.

What section are you most active in and why? I'm really active in the gamertag section, as I buy and sell gamertags to make money and because I'm a gamer!

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I was in The Empire before, and I made many friends and have had great memories in the group. I hope to be able to join again to proof myself again that I won't mess up again.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel I should be accepted because... well... there is no good or right answer to this question. It's entirely up to you, to decide if I'm good enough for the group.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I was 10 years old, it was the beginning of summer. My brother was sleeping on the couch, and it was dinner time, we try to wake him up and he's not responding. He looked pale, not right, we tried really hard to wake him, we even smacked him in the face, not hard enough to hurt him, but hard enough to wake him up. We drove him to the hospital, and on the way their he started throwing up, some got on my shoes but at that point I didn't care. All I cared about was if he was going to be okay. We arrived at the hospital, they said he had a stroke and rushed him to the hospital in the city. I was really scared and crying and thought he was going to die at this point, and I was only 10 at the time and he was 6. So after a couple days went by they had found out that he had multiple strokes in the back of his neck and head. He couldn't talk very well, he couldn't walk because what the stroke affected was that he went from being right handed to left handed. He ended up being in the hospital the whole summer, and then came home on his birthday, September 9th. It was really upsetting when I went up to see him in the hospital, because just the site of him laying in the hospital bed, and not being able to do everything he used to do just stunned me. So he went through physical therapy for a year or so. He also had to go through speech because he messed up a lot, and didn't know how to say things he used too. What happened was after the stroke he had to relearn a lot of things, as it affected his brain that reminded him on what to do, etc... 6 years later, and he is now pretty much back to normal, except he cannot play any physical sports, etc... That was a big impact on my life, and a scary one, I thought I lost my brother.

Then in middle school, I would get made fun of for my ADHD, and because I didn't have the 'coolest thing then' and kids would say nobody liked me, and that I 'smelled' which I didn't. But then if you skip a few years to high school, that's when things kinda got worse. It was 9th grade, I would get made fun of by the 'preppy' kids, and they'd call me some pretty nasty names, and just things that really hurt me. Half way through 9th grade, I started smoking weed. When I smoked, everything just seemed better, and more relaxing. I wasn't upset or depressed, I was able to finally 'chill' and 'relax' for once in my life. I smoked throughout the rest of 9th grade and the summer. I continued to smoke in 10th grade, and then I started drinking. I didn't drink as much as I smoked because I didn't find drinking to fun at the time, mainly because I hated the taste of it. I went to a few parties but nothing much. But even after all that, I still got made fun of by the preppy kids, and picked on. Then, the summer 10th grade, I had tried a few other drugs, I'm not proud of them but it happened because I was depressed and wanted to feel better. I had tried K-Pins, xanax, and Vikodin. The worst of the 3 was xanax, because I had snorted a line of it, and I had passed out and then woke up and threw up. I felt like udder shit. I started selling my medicine, Vyvanse 60MG, which is like really strong adderall. I sold those so I could buy more weed, because it's what made me feel better.

Now it's 11th grade, I still smoked weed everyday, but I wasn't being called names anymore. They actually thought I was really cool haha. Come around October, I got into some serious trouble because of my drug use... I had drank about half a handle of Captain Morgan, within 45 mins... I went into the football game then, feeling really drunk, about 10 mins later I had blacked out in the bleachers, I was told I threw up every where, and I they said my body was going into shock... I woke up at about 1 am, in the hospital, I was told that I almost died, and my blood alcohol content was a .21... I ended up getting kicked out of my school for a semester, and I got back to my regular school on February 1st, 2013. I got charged with underage drinking, drunk in public, and possession of marijuana. I started probation on December 5th, 2012 and I have to go through a bunch of crap because I started using drugs to make me feel better. It's now April, and I was still smoking weed on probation. I would just stop a week or two before my Probation officer would come so I can pass the drug test. I then started selling weed on probation which made me want to smoke more so I started smoking everyday. I also started doing Molly (Pure ecstasy). I recently failed my first drug test in the beginning of April. I only got a warning, so I have stopped now, because I realized how my actions don't only effect me, but my family and friends around me. I now see that instead of being dependent on drugs and alcohol, that it is a lot better to just talk to a friend, or someone who cares. Just remember, there is always someone that cares, and there is always someone there for you and loves you. ?

Anything else you want to say: I'd like to thank you for your time for reading through my application. I hope you like it. ?

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): Gaming

I love to game when I get home I sign into xbox and start a adventure either on cod halo or a sandboxie game like gta. regardless im on the xbox way to much of my life if you want to add me my gt is Scissors. It makes no sense how good I am.

Coding

I'm pretty good I can do the basic and explain the basic I have a tutorial right now explaining to how to code ill link you to it now.

link: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=1924744>

Social Engineering

I am pretty good in this section its now hard and its not easy. the best I have ever done is get a free amazon card with a lot of money on it. I love to manipulate people for my own good ?.

What section are you most active in and why? To be honest probably the marketplace or giving stuff out in the uber section. Mostly those two cause I love to make money and I love to help people. If not that the coding section. I love to spin my time learning more and more to help me improve. I can't help it.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: Well theres a lot of High quality members in it and I want to be apart of that,I should be able to add on and make your group look even better. Not only that you guys are nice to a lot of people. I am very nice. I really think I can help this group out to look even more High quality!

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I just want to help people out and be able to rep someone while I do it. I should be accepted only if you let me in. That's it. Theres really nothing more to say but I am a High quality user and I think I deserve to be in it if I don't im sorry I applied.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: Well I am funny short guy. I am about 5"7 and I love to play sports.I will list those sports for you Football Basketball. I hate Golf and Soccer. I am not that good at school sadly, But I make up for it at home. I love talking to girls and I love having them over ?. There nothing better than having sex. I am learning more and more about coding each day. I am not the best at it but I am learning more and more. When I was about 4 maybe 5 I had just discovered what hell was and were it was located. It had a crazy name. They name of it was called SCHOOL, but besides that I have a good social life and I am very popular at hell(school).

My friends are cool people they also want to get into some of the shit I do. I just cant help getting on the computer and gaming.I don't know why but buying shit for my game is like automatic. I also love to sell shit on here. I don't scam and I dont have any reports open. I never did drugs before but I have thought about it I tried smoking that didn't work out so good. I tried mollys that didn't work out so good either. I played football all my life and I am really good at it I actually ran 5 TDs in one game love football I dont want to go to the league and play but I want to keep it in my life forever. All my life even now I still go outside and play football in the back yard or at the park it doesn't matter all I need is a football in my hands and im good to go there is nothing better than a relationship with something or someone. I have both of those. I also have a strong relationship with basketball once football season is over I still have a sport to play cause basketball season begins and I stay after school and play in the gym for hours until its time to go home and get on the pc and play xbox,ps3, or if im really bored my wii. Thanks for listening to small parts of my life story.

Anything else you want to say: Hope I get accepted!

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

C/C++: I learned C mostly online (HF, cplusplus.com, stackoverflow etc). In a year almost i was able to do most of the stuff :)

Now i have made a FUD keylogger, and sold more than 65 copies at a very cheap price.

Microcontroller 8051 Assembly: I have a great interest in microcontrollers, i made an alarm system, a digital clock (both software and hardware using KEIL and Proteus) and many other small projects.

Keyloggers: I developed a FUD keylogger myself (year ago) and i have been constantly working to make it better. So far i have sold 65 copies (as mentioned above) and hopefully i will be selling more after my final exams.

What section are you most active in and why?

C++ Programming Section: This is where i started from, i try to help newbies there and sometime get help from pros there :)

Keylogger Section: I love this section, i made a tutorial for newbies there and love helping them out <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3379490>

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I love this group, and kyle is one of the owners that is why :) i am not too good at writing stuff or designing fancy things, my application looks awful :(but i always try to be helpful, HQ and respectful towards other members.

However its obviously up to you to decide whether i meet you standards or not.

I hope i get accepted.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): My skills.. Hmm.. I'm a gamer, i'm good at video games, i've been playing FPS since i'm 7 years old or so.. Kinda addicted but now i stopped playing because it gets boring to play call of duty series, or other games like that. I almost went to a competition until some irl shit happen... Beside this, some IRL skills are in snowboard and speedball (paintball).

What section are you most active in and why? I am most active in the marketplace because i am really interested in what people sell in HF and to sell to the community some stuff for cheap prices and even host some giveaways, I like to use the money i earn into HF tools , i also read stuff in the beginner hacking section and try helping when i can.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: Why not? I know i am a "new" HF member but i'm really active on it, i now spend more time on HF than any video games/ FACEBOOK. I really like this forum and joining The Empire would be nice , as i don't have much "friends" that i talk alot to on HF and i think joining a group would improve my "social" activities on HF

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I really don't know as it is completely your decision, and i am not the kind of guy that will tell you all my quality and why i should be accepted, i'm more the kind of guy that will tell you why not to take me , I am french, so you might find some spelling mistakes, or even , sometimes, might not understand me. But i am trying my best to improve my english and i don't think i am bad at speaking in english. Than, I ask alot of questions.. i am curious and sometimes people won't like this and i know it , but my curiosity only stops when someone tell me or makes me feel like he don't want to answer .

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: My life.. I'm not the coolest kid at school, and i'm not the "reject" too.. i'm kinda in the middle.. I speak to everyone tough but i don't do much after school, i have a girlfriend that i love (yea yea) and we both changed alot (it's been 1 year and 4 months) and i think she made me a better person as i was doing alot of stupid things before i met her. Right now i am typing this just before i go see her, so my life can be described as : Girlfriend, Hackforum,School. Friends but.. rarely outside the school (gamerrrs no--liiife)

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

Graphic Design: I like to think that I'm above the average person when it comes to graphic design, though I'm still learning.

Business: I have great business skills, I know what it takes to run a business smoothly. I'm currently running a business right now, on HackForums.

Trust: Trust is a key element for anything you do. I'm extremely trustworthy, though it takes some time to prove it to some people.

Dedicated: I'm extremely dedicated to anything and everything I do. At times, I stop at nothing to reach a goal. I don't let people bring me down from succeeding.

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in Marketplace section. There's something about me that just loves money. I also love to provide a good/service to somebody that wants it and has no second guess of the buy. If I'm not in the Marketplace section, I'm in the VIP area giving out goods to people that are desperate need of the item.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I'd like to join The Empire group because I think I've got much to offer. I'm extremely loyal and dedicated at whatever I do. I'm trustworthy and giving. I enjoy helping people when they're in need of it. I think the group itself can benefit from me, and I can benefit from it.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I think I should be accepted because I'm unique, I'm trustworthy, and most of all loyal.

Just to know about me a little bit better.. I've got a twin sister she's about 5'3, while I am 6'2. We're nothing alike, if anything we're just the opposite. Most of the people now a days try to fit in with "the crowd." I'm quite different. I enjoy being that outcast and be different. I like to prove myself with hardwork and dedication.

Anything else you want to say:

Lastly, I realize my application might not be the most "flashy" or the longest, but everything I said in this application is true. I hope I can prove that to you all by giving me a chance, thank you.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples): It does not say that we need some "Skills" to join. ?

What section are you most active in and why? The Lounge because there is so many active threads/people in that section.

Why do you want to join The Empire?: I would like to join The Empire because I have not joined any group (Besides L33T) and think it would help me get more known on the site.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?: I feel I should be accepted because I am really active, I upgraded to L33T, and I think I make HQ threads and help people. ?

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I got Xbox Live in 2009 for Christmas, I started playing Halo 3 and met tons of people out of all that time. One day I met someone who was modding Halo 3 and told me how, ever sense then I have been learning how to mod and "Hack" and found Hack Forums over time.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

[AFK Skills (Offline)]

Drawing:

In addition to my general GFX ability, I absolutely love to draw and sketch things, both fictional and non-fictional people and objects. Sketching is one of my many hobbies, and one of my few passions in life. I think everything can be expressed with drawing, whether it be emotional, or your view on the world. I've been drawing for only a few months, and have reached a skill where I feel comfortable with my work instead of throwing it away. I often ask myself what I want to major in college and do in life, and even though drawing is something I care greatly about, I know that it'll be best used as a way to express myself on my own time, instead of being forced to do it through school or work, even if I like doing it.

Dancing:

A bit odd of a skill to apply in this context, I know, but I Melbourne Shuffle, and I have been for quite some time. I spent a few years in Japan, and how amazing it sounds, there were some hard times. Dancing, friends, and music got me through it, and it also taught me how to express myself, before drawing, and that it doesn't matter how the world views me, only how I view the world, and that was a huge lesson for me when I was younger, and I'll still keep learning.

Social Skills:

Even though this can be applied online, I have a way of talking with people, and starting wonderful conversation no matter the situation. I often find myself enjoying being at the airport when traveling because it gives me a chance to meet and greet with different people from all over the world possibly, and connect with them and talk about whatever topics they may have on their mind. Whether it be family, or personal issues they may be having. I think having well practiced social skills develops your personality for the future when you mature more.

[Online Skills]

GFX:

I am a certified Adobe Photoshop designer that loves to do small projects for no particular reason. I also use InDesign, and other tools to help me further my pieces I make. I have had, and still have, many internships in Graphic Designing and art with huge companies such as Funimation, to name the biggest, and state capital cities designing logos and brochures for state and city activities as well as small, yet popular, screen printing companies that were indeed very fun to be with. Even though I am certified for Photoshop, I use Illustrator more than anything. I much rather play with my tablet and design vector art, than simply creating a thread design, or editing photos which anybody can do. I love to sometimes go on Tynychat and just draw random things that people request, because then I can practice drawing with my tablet a little bit at a time with different things.

Coding:

I am able to code bits and pieces of Java, HTML, VB6, and PHP. I've taken many courses on Java and the other languages stated just to get a feel for them. Personally, I like to know a little bit of everything before I start to focus and learn one thing greatly. I plan to learn possibly C++ in the future, when I'm not busy doing my other work or internships. Coding is not my favorite thing to do, nor is it a priority, but that doesn't mean I don't have the will to learn how to do it, or the innovation to learn and create something new.

Website Security:

Quite possibly the main reason I came to Hackforums in the first place, to learn how to pen test. Website security is not something I do very often anymore, but I can assure you the skills are still there. I have knowledge in the most popular pen testing techniques, SQLi, XSS, LFI, and RFI. I do plan to make a career out of computer security, and am also in the midst of getting into the Microsoft hall of fame for my own personal found vulnerability. I don't think security is one of my favorite things to do, but I do enjoy doing it, and I truly hope to make it a big part of my life later on.

Marketing:

I find the whole idea of making something out of nothing truly amazing and fascinating. I have experienced it first hand the power of marketing and business. I have also taken course in Business & Marketing, and while others find it boring, I like the idea of it and enjoy learning about it. I've made thousands of dollars online without any money transfers or payments with my money acquired offline as investments, and I'm proud of that even if it's not a huge sum of money.

Learning:

Now, I put this in the "Online" part of my application only because I learn the most online. Even though I learn every day just going through live, I come online to research, explore, and review topics and subjects that I am interested about. The internet is a great place to find loads of information to study and learn, and I want to take advantage of that, like everyone should.

What section are you most active in and why?

To be honest, I am most active in the Anime Adventures section. The reason being I am passionate about the drawing style. My internship/style requires me to know about the style of drawing when I convert my pieces on paper, to the computer. Even though I love to explore other sections and help members, I love to draw and design, and my favorite drawing style is Anime.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Well there are two main reasons, one big reason I want to join The Empire is because I know for an absolute fact I can learn from everybody in the group. If I do get accepted, I know I'll have no problem finding things to learn and experience, the sky is endless, and so is the benefits of joining this group. On top of that, I feel as though I'll be able to share my knowledge and experiences with everyone in the group as well. Learning from each other is what communities are all about, and I know I'll fit right in with the family of The Empire.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

Like I have stated before, unlike other people I have an honest interest in learning new things and create something new and share them with The Empire, and possibly the rest of HF in the future. I also feel as though I can be a real contributor to the group, I have lots of ideas and open mindedness to welcome new things, and I also love to brainstorm with a group of smart people and see where things end up.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

I feel as though everything that makes me, me, was developed while I was living in Japan. I lived in a small military base east of Tokyo that wasn't very Americanized at all at the time. At first it was a great place, but then with my step-dad gone almost six months at a time, depression hit my mother pretty hard. She turned bipolar and very abusive, and I feared things would of turned out worse than it really was if I hadn't of kept everything together. My best friend at the time, Marshall, got me through it by introducing a uplifting, happy, energetic music genre called Hardstyle, which later on became a gateway to my like of all Electronic music. I used to listen to very depressing and angry music, so the change was so huge that I feel as though it changed my outlook on life, and changed who I was. I know people say "Music has changed me", but I feel as though very few actually know what it means to be changed by a genre of music. Japan both almost killed and saved me at the same time, but I still remember it as a place where my inner love for the world began.

Anything else you want to say:

I just want to thank you for actually reading my application. I know a very large amount of people take applications for granted, and don't realize how time consuming it is for you to take the time to read it and think about it in depth, so I really do appreciate it. Once again, that you for giving me a chance, and I truly hope I can be a part of your inner-HF community.

Social Engineering, Gaming, Selling.

What section are you most active in and why? appraisals , because I'm trying to learn all the prices before I sell something els my self. Mostly to help members with prices based on my knowledge.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

Because, I meet all the requirements. And I would love to be apart of the empire. I applied one time but never got a reply so I am going to try a second, thank you for this opportunity .

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I work hard and I'm active , I wanna learn not just sitting around not doing anything . I want to get better at things I so, plus if in the empire it would help me to sell and to know the empire had my back. I herd from ex members that the empire is like a family and I would love to be apart of the big family .

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you: I have been swat'd and dox u take mad precautions because to know that some people do that for enjoyment , if you think about it , it isn't that bad I only got in trouble with my mom freaking out. I could of got kicked out of our apartment for that shit. You can really fuxk someone's life up by swating someone. I work hard and do better to learn and expand my mind. I don't want my mind to be stuck in a box all my life, I wanna learn everything I can from SE to Coding and I herd this group was good for everything and now I'm here.

Anything else you want to say:

Thank you for giving me this opportunity to apply, I'm really happy to be here and hope to be accepted.

Thanks,

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

I'm a hobby programmer and computer enthusiast. I know VB.Net, PHP, HTML, CSS, JS, PAWN and probably a few more. I'm no pro, I'm self-thought and I believe that there is a lot of things that I need to learn before I can really say that I'm good with computers. Also, I can do graphics and I'm good with writing articles.

What section are you most active in and why?

Marketplace and Monetizing forums. I believe that it's pretty much self-explanatory. I'm trying to earn some bucks online cause I'm a college student and it's not easy to finance all the tuition fees and basic life expenses.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

To be perfectly honest, I haven't been in a group since 2010 and I'm pretty much tired of this same old yellow name and userbar. I'd like to be a part of something.

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

I'm here for three years now, I'm not one of the most active ones but I try my best to keep all of my posts HQ. At first I joined here cause I wanted to learn "hacking" but I gave up on that and focused on some other things.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

As I said, I'm a college student, I've been on HF for three years. I don't really have much to say here, it's not like I run an exciting life or anything. I'm just an average Joe like most of us here.

What are some skills that you have (Explain in depth with examples):

My 'skills' involve graphics, web design and development. I have held an interest in graphic design for quite a while, and having a family history of it, started. After creating graphics I got into web design, then learning HTML and CSS after being intrigued by the then new HTML5. Yeah those are my skills.

What section are you most active in and why?

I'm most active in the Graphics Master sub forum, helping out students and just generally offering my assistance in running the group. I give in depth feedback and share knowledge. I don't often enter the 'Graphics' or 'Rate my Graphic' sections as, compared to the GM sub forum, are not very interesting.

Why do you want to join The Empire?:

I am just looking to be part of a different group to Graphic Masters, somewhere where I can meet new people and help them out, or vice versa...

Why do you feel you should be accepted into The Empire?:

This question is difficult to answer, but you ought to accept me because I am interested in being part of your group and I would be able to offer my skills to the betterment of it.

In one to three paragraphs, tell us a little bit about yourself or something memorable that happened in your life, what makes you who you are and who are you:

My friend introduced me to Hackforums.net. I got here for the hacking sections until I found the graphic sections. I created my own unofficial graphics group and before long I was a part of Graphic Masters, and then went on to help the leadership team in leading the group.

Anything else you want to say:
