Thread: Best templates

?NoShame - March 26, 2013, 8:34 am

Hello guys, I've bought a domain and I really need templates.

Either blogspot(really good ones) or normal templates then I would just host them on SPAM or some webhosting site..

Help would be really appreciated.

This is what I would like:

Sick editing skills!

If you can get me anything like this I will POSSIBLY buy you a .com domain, ONLY if i like it. And I have the right to not even buy you, but I will..

I'm selling a custom coded (really nice looking also IMO) CMS style PPD/CPA website, cheap, and really easy to add pages and entries, aswell as delete and modify them. Take a look:

First post updated, I'm not paying any one anything more than 2$ or I will buy you a .com domain, please check first post for exactly what I want

Coding something like that would be extremely easy.. Also a .com domain is definitely more than $2(Which makes me think you don't plan on buying anyone a domain). You should just use a web design tool like dreamweaver. It would take almost no knowledge of html/css.

I bought a namecheap .com domain for one year with 1.16$.. Also I am not a coder at all, I will either pay or will buy you the domain.

On the graphics section people code such websites for more than just $10. They're minimum worth $25.
