

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Computer just isn't working

Configuration - March 28, 2013, 9:56 pm

I have to boot in Safemode with Networking to get my computer to work.

When I boot regularly it just doesn't load anything I open up, freezes, can't use the internet, I think I may have downloaded something. It also could be that my Windows is not genuine.

Ropsled - March 28, 2013, 10:57 pm

Non genuine windows won't be the cause, or it would tell you.

What if you boot to safe mode and check the installed programs list in control panel. Sort by installed date, see what is new and maybe try removing that.

Configuration - March 28, 2013, 11:06 pm

(Mar 28, 2013 10:57 PM)Ropsled Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Non genuine windows won't be the cause, or it would tell you.

What if you boot to safe mode and check the installed programs list in control panel. Sort by installed date, see what is new and maybe try removing that.

Just did that, nothing new shows up. I have no idea what this could be.

Stay Plural - March 28, 2013, 11:07 pm

Interesting, what do you remember downloading specifically?

Guide - March 28, 2013, 11:14 pm

Here are some easy steps u could try :P

- 1.MSConfig - Start Up Program / Services
- 2.Malwarebytes - Scan Malwares On Ur PC
3. NOD32 - Scans For Virus
4. CCleaner - Cookies , Advanced Start Up , And Registry

All I could think of.

im abcd - March 29, 2013, 2:35 am

Just like the above user said, start pc in safe mode open msconfig and only check the required processes. Uncheck all the unnecessary ones, see if that helps.

From their onwards, you should scan with Eset Online Scanner and Malware bytes anti malware.