I haven't used cheat engine in about a year, only really used it for memory view, "replacing code that does nothing" and inject DLL.

I just opened it and this is what popped up:

WTF.

april fools joke?

coincidence that it popped on april 1st right?

I'm not sure, i guess just bad luck on opening it on April fools? I don't have it set to any automatic updating though which i don't understand how i could possibly have received this message. Whatever. Also cheat engine is a .org website so they should be non profit. So it really doesn't make sense.
