Thread: -230 reputation feedback ~ Accident

Accident - April 3, 2013, 5:48 am

I've done my fair share of feedback threads in the past, where it's just been based around my story & shout-outs, which truthfully and honestly is a waste, and this is why I've made probably my last and final feedback thread. There's obviously going to be some grammatical and sentence structural errors, so at the bottom, I'll leave a form to which you can reply with if you feel it's 100% necessary for me to change it. If it is something small, I will just tell you to f*ck off. Right let's get started then

1. My story
2. FeedbackSectional
Staff & Mentors
Groups
3. Conclusion
4. Shoutouts
5. Error

Why did I find hackforums?

Heck. It was a long time ago, but I'll never forget the reasoning behind it. Just like other kids of my age, runescape was my passion, where hours were spent day after day. The game slowly died on me in about 2009, where from that point I spent most of my time playing RSPS's, and hosting them from my own network. After numerous months of running my laptop endlessly, and average 50 players online at a time, it came to an abrupt end. Some cunt took control of my laptop, and just took everything I owned. It was quite an experience, but one to which has pushed me to come so far. After numerous skype calls with various people, the RAT was efficiently removed, and thus that's where my interest grew upon me.. Minutes later I ended up here. Learning about RAT's, and using these java like frames to infect users. That's it really. Cute.

Why was I permanently denied UB3R

From the day to when I got permantely denied, I've forever kept the reason to my self. I've always claimed I never knew why, or it's because of something which in true honour is bullshit. The reason for me getting permantely denied is that I was unable to wait the however many days. Instead, I would change my name, change everything about me to somewhat confuse Omniscient. This worked for 2 times, and on 2 occasions both getting denied. I then changed my name back to my original and made the assumption it has been the 60 days, sadly it wasn't. I was permanently denied for not waiting until the 60 days were up, and in all honesty I deserved to be penalised.

Why is my reputation so low?

From the start, I've always had goals, be it post count goals or reputation goals. My main was my reputation goal(s). I would have never considered myself to reach my expected targets of; 200, 500, 800. I'd be honest, getting to 200 was the hardest. I guess what kick started me was getting added into the RATS crew, and from there I was somewhat known as a trustworthy member. Hell, I don't know how, but I was. I got to 504 by doing the norm; "Giveaway after giveaway". Shortly after getting rep fucked, for hinting at reputation. I guess, I never gave up hope, because from the start, I've aimed at nothing but my goals, and off course I've only got one left, that big 800. It took me a good month or two to get there, and that's with some insane reputation whoring (200 rep in 3 days). Got to 845, and as you're most probably aware after recent incidents I was banned, and rep fucked for black hat activity.

Nevertheless, back to the original question; Why is my reputation so low? I'm not different to any other user. I don't intend to get negatives, I just respectfully ask those whom leave a positive to either change it or remove it. I still do HQ posts, and offer my expertise in the beginner hacking section. It's just I'd much prefer to have new goals in the negatives now. The only pet hate for having such a low reputation is that it's quite a bad representation on me, and users to whom didn't know me from prior months, think I'm a "LQ member", which sickens me. But. I'll still be going down.

Memorable moments

This is the part where I tell you everything and anything that happened in my HF career. Well, to start the point to when I got accepted for UB3R. Regardless to me now being permanently denied, I was in fact accepted at one stage. However, I chose to upgrade to L33T first due to my lack of funds to support straight to UB3R. This was a bad decision on my part, and anyone to whom which is UB3R, whom is reading, you're incredibly lucky to have such a title. I'd have probably got it removed by now, but having the ability of using that negative reputation must be incredible.

I'll only be mentioning 2 memorable moments, as I'd like to get onto the feedback rather than having a large majority of it about me, so my last and final memorable moment is getting my sticky man award. I've tried for months to get a thread deemed worthy enough for a sticky, and when the moment came, it was a content moment in my life.

As you're probably already aware by the index, this part is divided into 3 sections

Sectional

Staff & Mentors

Groups

Each section will have it's own section where my opinions will be stated. Please, if you do feel insulted by any of the comments, just remember, I am a nobody.

This section is where I'll explain my favourite forums with various positives and negatives.

The Lounge

This forum was buzzing when I joined. Active discussions, now it's just full of ass holes like myself? To add to that, it's like being in a regimented army camp, yet I still love it. I can't even count how many times this forum has spruced up my day, and because of that my activity there has increased over time. Of course there is negatives to it also. Them fuckers whom feel it necessary to spam their threads in the lounge where obviously it goes elsewhere. Just to increase popularity, they do it. Respect to mentors whom quickly act upon it, but why can't people follow simple instructions, and abide by the rules?

Oh, and introduction threads. They drive me crazy. Omniscient removed the section for a reason, so why the fuck do we want to see more in the lounge? Once again, allow mentors whom junk / close them. Big up my boy Adam.

Suggestion & Ideas

You might as well have a continuous supply of aloe vera for this section. That's why it appeals to me. With every good suggestion, I'd say there's about 10 awful ones. People's stupidity amuses me.

Beginner Hacking

I'd say my 3rd most favourite area. I love the thought of helping someone to reach their goals, as I was in that position once. When I joined, I never really got much help, so my aim is to better that for new members. I'm forever on skype with them, and T.V just to assist them. I guess I'm nice like that? The main positive for this area is the amount of people to whom actually get helped. Heck, I respect anyone who posts actively there and helps. Shout out to Shadow, and Muzzy.

Remote Administration Tools

I've yet to post in there recently, but this is where my HF adventure started, so why should I not love it? Respect to Skyline for all your effort there, the section has most definately bettered itself. I'd say this section is in line with Beginner Hacking where the amount of help and guidance given by HF members is tremendous, and if you've helped in the past, you should feel honoured. All though I do feel the forum does need some moderation, because heck am I sick of seeing "Test installs pl0x or crypt my server"

I'd like to mention again, do not take my comments seriously. Off course there is going to be some criticism, but I tried to minimise it. I've also focussed on staff to whom are active in the site of the users. I understand there's numerous of you who work just as hard, but not in our eye sight.

Omniscient - I respect everything and anything you do. I understand why on occasions you're a complete phleb, but it's your job and we should all respect that. I tend to steer clear from you, but it just so happens our paths have crossed a lot recently.

Judge Dredd - Active, and acts in a well honoured matter. Yet, sometimes you're a complete ass, but I respect you. You've grown on me in the past couple of months, but I'd much prefer to steer clear from you.

Xch4ng3 - You rarely see posts from this user, but heck is he on the ball. Anything you request, or any question you ask. He'll be on it.

Paradoxum - As much as you make me angry as fuck, for banning me for dumb reasons, I guess you're okay. Keep it up, and just leave me alone, plz.

@ The rest of the staff you all come under one class, as honestly I've never spoke to many of you, and in all honesty, from what I see you're pretty dope.

For this section, I'm only going to be focussing on one's to which I've had the delight to be in. I must add, groups have nowadays turned to shit. That's just my opinion. All this invite shit.

Reverence

One of my most favourite groups ever. I enjoyed every single aspect of this group, and all though leadership was poor at the time, I still found myself to be very much involved in the running, and progression of the group

Respawn

My involvement in the beginning stages was quite high. I was one of the first in the group, because of me helping with some funds. And from there I worked my way up the leader to reach co-leader. I was then replaced about a month later, due to my inactivity.

Rats Crew

This was my first group, and I was accepted at around 200 posts. 200 posts of these being based around RATING, and obviously showed the leader at the time, Black Shadow that I was rightful to be in there. I enjoyed it in there.

Eminence

Fairly good group. Was accepted by WiFi but was never able to post enough times. Got kicked for inactivity.

TechSperts

Absolutely loved it. Leadership was incredible. The group involvement was the best to which I've ever seen, and some of my most happiest moments on HF were spent here.

Rhythm

Another group to which I loved. I've always loved playing my harmonica, and obviously I had a lot of music talent. Regardless to that, group activities were fun, the people were awesome, leadership was good. Overall great group, however being kicked because of myself being a scammer, was complete bullshit. Regardless, handbook states no open deal disputes.

This is it really. My feedback thread done, and all though it did take some time, I enjoy reminiscing about all the happy times I've on hackforums. I hope that I've got at least a year left in me to be active, and hopefully better myself to be better than I already am. I hope that many of you learnt a little bit more about me, and maybe just not judge me on my reputation and see me as a nice guy. I'm always active in various teamspeaks, and tiny chats so if you're ever feeling a nice cheering up. I'm your G.

Well. Thanks for reading.

I'll do these in due time. Just constructing the list as we speak with necessary profile URL's.

GO CRY SOMEWHERE ELSE.

lol jk.

Nice small feedback thread. Also like that you made it into sections, and with nice graphics.

I'd +3 you, but that will ruin your purpose. You're a cool guy, keep it up.

redi - April 3, 2013, 5:53 am

Nice feedback thread. i'm sorry if you don't like how it has gone.

StarCraft 2 - April 3, 2013, 5:54 am

Thats actually pretty cool feedback lol. I like staff part.

ViN - April 3, 2013, 5:57 am

Probably one of the only feedback threads that I actually fully read. Good job. ?
Jerome would be proud. RIP.

muzzy. - April 3, 2013, 5:58 am

This is a great feedback thread. I've only really began interacting with you over the past few days, but you're a great guy and helps keep the beginner hacking section HQ, and actually answers questions with helpful answers.

I'd +1 you, but I guess that'd be the equivalent of a -1 so if I ever get ub3r I'll be sure to -3 you ;)

EDIT:

Quote: Shoutout to Shadow and Muzzy.
Naww ;3 Thanks buddy!

That's a very good feedback thread, it has kept me amused.

Actus Reas - April 3, 2013, 6:04 am

Seems that you're just a tad butthurt for being rep fucked and thought you'd turn it into something you can benifit from.

That and sucking up to people.
I don't buy this; but hey, ignorance is bliss.

BaussHacker - April 3, 2013, 6:06 am

You aren't in the lead with me and Soulmate any longer, daymn.

Respect to Skyline for all your effort there, the section has most definately bettered itself. Thanks, I've done my best to help that section out. Yet when I'm out side it I get hate due to the fact apparently I'm a try hard going for mod. I'm just having my say, quote me if I'm wrong, but it's true. Truth is the truth.

And accident great feedback, I do not see any mistakes :)

We set off on a bad foot, but you're a alright bloke to talk to, and there will be more talking to go :)

I was first a few months ago, when I accidentally got "upgraded" to L33T (from UB3R), because I upgraded a friend.

Did that help? :>

I know I am never going to even get near 300 +rep due to everyone in 2 specific sections hating me, but you have just gone down the drain..

I'd say about 3/4 of my negative reputation is from people to whom changed from a positive to a negative.. You're probably aware those to whom leave a positive and refuse to remove it, have taken a dislike to me ?
