

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [Pirate Bay Proxy \[Less Adverts, Less Clutter\]](#)

LouLouFerou - April 5, 2013, 12:17 am

<http://tpb.kb.lc/>

This Isn't something I have created my self, its just a modified proxy script that I have tweaked to remove some of the website clutter (footer). Majority of the adverts have been removed and the popups are now gone, so feel free to use.

One advert is still on the website but I will remove this later today.

Mr C - April 5, 2013, 4:18 am

I would never use this.. It's much easier to go straight to their main site through either a VPN or if you're using FireFox, a proxy plugin.

LouLouFerou - April 5, 2013, 6:34 am

(Apr 5, 2013 04:18 AM)TheD4h101 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I would never use this.. It's much easier to go straight to their main site through either a VPN or if you're using FireFox, a proxy plugin.
Its easier to install a VPN? or install a plugin? really...? Takes up utilities on your PC to do that.

#Reliant - April 5, 2013, 6:35 am

If you want ZERO ads download Adblocker. Then if your blocked get a vpn.

LouLouFerou - April 5, 2013, 6:41 am

(Apr 5, 2013 06:35 AM)reliantly Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you want ZERO ads download Adblocker. Then if your blocked get a vpn.

As I said above, why use a VPN when you can just use a URL? Seems like people would like to take the hard route.

Wonders - April 5, 2013, 6:42 am

Probably wouldn't use this. I don't mind the ads tbh.

Jordy - April 5, 2013, 6:43 am

They probably have adds on the TPB proxies so they can pay the server where the proxy runs on. So i don't mind the adverts as it keeps the proxy alive. :)

LouLouFerou - April 5, 2013, 9:29 am

(Apr 5, 2013 06:43 AM)Jordy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They probably have adds on the TPB proxies so they can pay the server where the proxy runs on. So i don't mind the adverts as it keeps the proxy alive. :)

I haven't removed the proxy adverts I have removed the TPB adverts.