Thread: [\[?\] Photo Kano Discussion Thread](#)

Senior Sherlock - April 5, 2013, 8:23 pm

Summary:

Kazuya, a mild-mannered high school sophomore coming to the end of a very average summer break, receives a digital single lens reflex camera as a gift. His nerdy fascination with it's design soon turns to wonder when he realizes this little gadget could really give his social life a shot in the arm!

My general opinions so far:

First and foremost I believe some camera company just paid a shit ton of money to get there camera advertised and they made it into this, probably not true but sounds reasonable.

Seconds, this anime seems to going towards the direction, GET A CAMERA AND GET BITCHES.

Third, I like this anime so far.

New episodes, what happened so far, and whatever else post here.

As all of my discussion thread are, spoiler tags are not mandatory. So watch the latest episode before coming in.

/discuss.

Honestly I was pissed when he didn't do that originally. Out of all of the series that I've watched so far this season, this one seemed the most.. well... ordinary. There was absolutely nothing that stood out about this show or made it unique to me.

I'm considering watching this and I'm glad this thread doesn't have too many replies since I didn't want to accidentally spoil anything for myself.

I find it kinda stupid that we didn't see Niimi-san at all during the last episode, didn't he start going out with her in ep. 6?

And now in ep.7 he seems to be going out with Sanehara. Did I miss something?

I refuse to believe this woman is a teacher with those breasts.

My personal opinion :

It's a decent series, but in no way does it live up to Amagami SS, which this is supposed to be the spiritual successor of.

I'm about to drop this anime.
