Ultimate Crypter - April 17, 2013, 8:08 pm

This wasn't your method to give away. If you want a method to give to people go make your own E-book!

HimeLevo - April 19, 2013, 1:43 am

AuJack - April 27, 2013, 5:52 pm

People are saying it does and it doesn't.

alexboybomby - May 27, 2013, 2:19 pm

thanks for this mate, i will see if this good

BalFirmar - May 27, 2013, 3:12 pm

Well, I just tried this.. And i got the account which i wanted to jack! But they ask more questions such as "When the account was registered" "When you made the account, what was the name" It's easy to get past these questions, as most of these questions you can just use your knowledge for example when I just got this account, they asked me "When the account was registered" All i said was, my brother registered my account for me, as I was abroad and I'm guessing he used some false information.. ;)

wolfman1337 - May 27, 2013, 3:41 pm

I was testing this method on my friends skype but the lady said, "Upon checking, the account has not yet reset its password.", then asked for the email, which i gave. She replied with "Yes correct. If you cannot log in through your password, I suggest that you reset it using this email address. Just go to this link:

<http://www.skype.com/go/forgotpassword>". What should i do in this situation >.<?
