If you get a 2/35 scan report, make sure you're not UPX packing because that may give off false positives in some scanners.

Awesome little Crypter for the price.

Completely FUD, get it while it's $10 guys.

EDIT: One thing I would like to see changed is after I crypt a file, it changes the default .exe icon to a different one, and I would prefer it to stay as the default .exe icon unless I use the icon changer. Obviously this doesn't devalue the crypter or anything, but all it does is make the file larger, and eventually any file with that icon is going to get detected as a virus.

Most likely yes. If not and it's my fault then I MAY offer you a refund.

it will not work with any .net malware unless you add the support for it in the crypter as razor did in his :) great crypter tho been 4 days and still 0/35 :)

"MAY" doesn't help me. That's like saying "You can buy my crypter and try it but I just MIGHT not refund you regardless of it working for your needs". How about you let me try to crypt it once to see if it does and then I will consistently buy this if it works. I will even pay for the crypt if it is successful. Nothing I have can do the job for insomnia. So you can you bet your ass I am sold on the product if it does what I need. Hope to hear back from you soon.

I am asking for a specific bot which is not mentioned in the thread. He can have 5000 vouches but that doesn't give a confirmation that this crypter will work for my needs. He hooks me up and we see if it works and the sale is final ten times over. Seems like a decent crypter. Just want facts and not "maybe's" before I purchase a product.

If you'd like I can test it on insomnia, or if I'm not available when you are you could possibly ask a member that's already purchased it to test out the crypt and keep it local just so you're not infected. I'm sorry I wasn't available, today was a busy day for me!

Currently having some fudding issues with G Data, it's 1/35 atm and it may have to be released like that until next reFUD so I can have some time to work on it.

No binder or .net support may not come in this update but they ARE coming.

It is available, but I'd hope that you could get up your post count and gather some reputation before purchasing this, not that I have any reason not to trust you it's just that unless you're paying in Bitcoins or by Liberty Reserve I'd rather not have the chance of a chargeback.

These days you get 25/35 for a $10 investment, $10 is a GREAT price to pay for something like this that has hardly any bugs and has LONG fud times.

We've just reFUDDED so let's go!

G-Data is the only one wasn't able to be bypassed AT THE MOMENT.
Tomorrow that will be bypassed hopefully.

It's not auto update, that feature was taken off because some bugs, you'll have to go to the link where you downloaded it and re-download it.

To be honest, I bought this cause for 10 bucks thats not shit compare to these other crypters. So what if you haven't got an update. If you trying to keep ur botnet fud and updated then you should realize you need more than one crypter just incase one isn't fud. Also I'm only getting 2/35 using an icon.

Try crypting something different using different settings maybe?

If it keeps happening try redownloading/installing. Not sure if it will work but worth a try till OP comes online. ?

Yea i know, usually the name doesn't affect the rate but I know icon can greatly, also using resource hacker to change the assembly can help bring it down. I'll play around and see. Btw what bot did you use to crypt?

Great new thread design mate and GREAT Crypter. Purchased from him and he was very quick to respond and questioned him about it and he answered every single little detail. Great purchase and a great guy :) Definite vouch for this guy right here.

The only problem I notice was the fact that stubs get more 700kb +- else this crypter is awesome
Look at this scan:

There's no need to re-fud atm. Max you'll get is 1/35 if you've updated it recently.

mig4ng - May 27, 2013, 1:20 pm

It's being detected by avast, eset, gdata, panda and another one I saw on element scanner, the eset avast and gdata I tested on my vps's

Hope to see an update, btw I recommend this crypter

Suggestion: Add Temp folder startup :D

If you have such a problem, don't flame my thread. It only adds 500kb on to the stub, which will be reduced in the future. There's no "slow" problems, so if you have that problem you may want to check your own processing power. Execution of files is hardly a problem and you're hard pressed to find a crypter that has 0% failed execution.

NETExplorer - May 27, 2013, 7:40 pm

I bought the lifetime version of this when it first came out, and it works like a charm.

Its FUD most of the time and when its not Illuminati releases an update.

FUD from my side. Have you updated yet? Make sure you use a legitimate icon. Avast doesn't detect it and neither does Eset.

do it on razorscanner.com, or install avast on your machine.

BTW does anybody has the problem that the crypter takes long to crypt a file and then it uses a lot of ram the stub?

Still FUD, even on razorscanner. Like i said, make sure you used a legitimate icon. Results:

Okay, but it's still very slow, like 3 minutes to load the stub and it uses 400K memory in those 3 minutes, and while crypting is the same shit...

1. It only takes like 20 seconds to loud the stub
2. 400kb is not that much.
3. This crypter is pretty good so i do not see why you keep complaining about it. If you can't wait 20 seconds to crypt your file that you are the most impatient person i have ever met. Also the crypter is FUD so whats the difference weather it takes 2 seconds or 20 seconds to crypt it? If you keep having the "3 minute stub load" problem then i suggest you go contact support because i do not have that problem and i don't think anyone else here does.

Golduck - May 31, 2013, 10:10 pm

For some the crypt time is different, it's unknown to me as why. Eges, I'm sorry I didn't see your PM. As for the memory usage, it will do that regardless.

Autolt is known for its stub size bro.

Unless your spreading by hand it shouldn't be a issue, even if you are then just get creative. More people are curious about small file size then bigger file size. Or at least its easier to spread with a bigger file size than smaller for me. ?

mig4ng - June 1, 2013, 7:16 am

I said 400,000K on the RAM not 400kb, I don't mind about the stub size... It just takes a lot to crypt and then after execution it takes a lot of ram and takes like 20 seconds to appear on dark comet
