Thread: Skype Jacked! I think it has been for a bit now...

Linux. - May 14, 2013, 3:04 am

I think my skypes been jacked for a bit now, as normal all deals would have been verified via pm before going through.

Skype - austin--sweat

hey if you need help on getting ur account back and stop this from happening again send me a PM.

CRYP7 - May 14, 2013, 6:39 am

Hm.

Some steps to take:

- Use trillian to login to skype?
- Hide your country
- Hide last seen
- Don't have popular people on your contact list (?)
- Have backup skype accounts ready
- Keep your email address hidden

Working on getting it back right now, I'll PM you if I'm successful.

Mind PMing me the birth date you put on it if you can remember? Makes it easier.

Also, start using an XMPP service instead. Specifically exploit.im as accounts on it are completely un-jackable.

Steps to set it up:

Install Pidgin XMPP client

Click "Add account"

Under protocol select "XMPP"

In domain type "exploit.im" and under username and password select the username and password you want to sign up with.

Select "Create new account on this server" Spoiler \(Click to View\)

And you're done, simply connect to the server and you'll be registered.

Been trying to reach you for days man. If your Skype has been hacked then can't you just resolve your hackers ip and blow him to kingdom Kong?
