Thread: Multiple gov sites hacked

Uncensored - May 15, 2013, 7:54 pm

It started as a prank, lol.

Today a swat team entered the house of the servercrate owner @RobertClarke (ServerCrate.com)

Quotes from IRC follow:

20:42 < RobertClarke> Holy

20:42 < RobertClarke> Fucking

20:42 < RobertClarke> Shit

20:42 < RobertClarke> Police is here

This was apparently due to him hacking several government websites.

<http://applications.deq.idaho.gov/>

<http://www.tib.wa.gov/>

<http://ipr.uc.edu/>

<http://law.scu.edu/>

I lol'd.

He's bullsitting you big time bud. The government probably doesn't give 2 fucks about these subdomains. If they really did, then all of these would have been restored by now.

nicofan - May 16, 2013, 11:27 am

he should have used a vpn. one that doesn't keep logs

No it's serious, you should probably reformat your hard drives and throw them in the ocean.

Brandyn - May 17, 2013, 11:48 am

Hey be serious now. I dont know very much about hacking. So could you please be serious?

he is bro, that was a layer 7 exploit kit, you should wipe your harddrives with a magnet, cant believe he infected you with his botnet ghost protocol RAT.

Brandyn - May 17, 2013, 12:25 pm

Then why the fuck would someone post it for someone to click on?

Brandyn - May 17, 2013, 12:33 pm

Look, if you guys are joking around with me because i'm a noob. That's just not cool at all. I'm sure if it was something that could actually HARM my computer, my guess would be it wouldn't be available to be clicked on like that. So if you are indeed joking. Shame on you.
