Thread: IMPORTANT If you got a code from Slyph for crunchyroll read this. iFap - May 22, 2013, 12:24 pm

The user was giving out codes that were leading to account deletion on the website.

Note: Just because your account was delete doesn't mean you can't make another account with the same info.

Link to his Profile

What I can say is that he did give me a list of over 30 codes.

He was also selling these codes the thread can be found Here

What i can't say is he carded them himself We have no proof if your account was deleted due to slyph post here.

In these pictures should be enough evidence.

Note: For those attempting to use these codes don't bother most are Most likely an investigation is underway and I want no part of it.

Spoiler (Click to View)

This is where my suspicion of carding began.

This is the evidence.

Note he also wanted me to try and sell these for him Which I refused.

It will usually lead to just an Account deletion like kev's. I'm not sure what's going to happen at this point.

My account got removed as well. Seems suspicious, but not that big of a deal to me.

You can register again with the same username:

- Go to <http://www.crunchyroll.com/login>
- Sign up with the same information you used previously
- It will say this account already exists
- Log in

It basically resets your stuff though, so it doesn't keep your achievements, forum posts, or memberships.

Yeah this is true. He gave me a 12 month all access pass. 2 days later my account was deleted. I opened a support ticket and got the email in the OP.

No one did.

He tried telling everyone he got them from a friend at a cafe but then tells me about his cousin the whole thing is pretty sketchy.

Sounds fun, I highly doubt any of us will get in trouble for it, we were fooled into thinking something else.

If anyone has seen Archer it's like the cancer drug, they wouldn't go after the people buying the drug to help with cancer they would go after the mob.

Let's just ask Omni for his IP, send it to CR and have them fucking arrest him. lololololololol

We already have his IP it's not that hard to get.

Still think this should posted in a different forum, Omni might like to know.

^^This. If crunchyroll or someone contacts you about it (highly doubt that will happen) just let them know exactly how and where you got the code.
