The stub size is roughly 400-600 kb, this varies because I use USG so each stub is unique.

It hasn't had a detection for a month and counting. The reason the monitor only says FUD for a day is because it wouldn't look right to be using an old monitor that shows it has been FUD for awhile.

Hello BoomShotKapow!

I've some questions..

how does your hardware ID works? does it only create a key or something else on the pc?
How is the protection of the Crypter? If you are the owner, i hope you have another solution as carbons.

A little bit unclear is also: I bought darksane and the Address of Carbons (Mikkel) was :
<http://www.cryptme.net/>

and the email address: cryptme.net@gmail.com

I've pasted this directly from paypal (i've looked at this at the same day as carbons was banned).
...and also the darksane project was ended many weeks ago (on HF).

Why that?

I won't trash your thread, but I hope you understand the confusions and caution of the customers, because it's the DarkSane Code.

DarkSane was really powerful, - i was a customer of FileProtector and DarkSane.
But Mikkel wasn't deleted without a reason.

BoomShot - May 24, 2013, 5:39 am

The hardware ID system is now automated, so your license will be instantly activated when you purchase CryptME.

The security system is very different and it's more secure than before.

I cannot give too many details as this is what people who crack programs look for.

Now regarding the whole CryptME thing with Carbons, he originally planned on turning his project into CryptME and launch it on a new website, when I bought the source to DarkSane/CryptME. Which is when I decided I would buy anything about CryptME off of him, including the domain and website.

cryptme.net@gmail.com is not my email and I do not use it for this product.

Precisio? - May 24, 2013, 6:32 am

I tested CryptMe against 3 more different Antivirus programs and if you are interested in results, please watch the videos!

After you watched, don't hesitate to buy CryptMe.

The videos are extremely irrelevant. It's absolutely normal that the crypter bypasses all those AV's at runtime, it's just starting. I'm just it's not even spreaded yet. That's false advertising in my opinion.

What do you mean by UAC bypass ? Workaround I suppose ? Public exploit ?

Is the botkiller can only kill usermode (Ring3) userkits ? Give us some example of bot/server killing.

Is the startup only hidden in the msconfig ?

Thanks.

You'd be surprised by how many crypters that cannot bypass those anti-viruses.

UAC bypass is bypassing user account control, there is not workaround or public exploit being used. The program is deemed legitimate so it is being ran without the necessity of administrator rights. Which is what UAC is, it'll prompt you with if you want to run the program or not. With this crypter it will just run the file, nothing is prompted.

The botkiller works by killing all the startup except the encrypted file.

The startup is hidden from msconfig, it is located in a good spot in registry.

Just bought it today. Initially I was a little unimpressed with the minimalistic graphics style(personal preference).

But it's undetected as advertised and I'm very happy with the hidden start-up and the crypter in general.

The only thing bad thing I have found is that the scanner can be rather slow at times.

Hope you can keep this up. (with no backdoors...)

The scanner isn't necessarily an issue on my end, rather the API that I use. It's very difficult to find a fast scanning API that does not distribute samples.

Just a heads up, use scanner #2 if you want a faster scanner.

I do not know what you are referring to with the "no backdoors" thing, but alright.

That is what it's about keeping it lightweight and having the necessary options and still make it FUD. Simple and working software.

That is exactly what I intended with the lightweight aspect.

I preferred to have the important features and nothing more.

I also prefer simple and professional.

As I said my dislike of the graphics style is just personal preference, nothing you've done wrong. (I completely understand people liking it)

Do consider that this is not his product, it is mine.

I purchased it off of him and have changed lots of things about it since his ownership.

The source code that he sent me for this particular product is completely clean and there is nothing wrong with it.

I would like to let people know that CryptME is undetected in Avast 8's sandbox. It does not bypass it though, but it does bypass Avast 7's sandbox.

It has been FUD since its creation and release. I have a scan monitor on the thread to show you how long it has been FUD since I released it.

Now, I update it if I discover any bugs or just some issues that people want addressed, which is why I removed the sound effects and fixed the loading time a bit.

Do consider this crypter uses a very advanced USG (unique stub generator) method and each file is 99.9% unique from each other, but the USG itself is 100% unique.

The seller was very helpful and gave me all the answers in a minutes, literally.

The crypter works as advertised. My DC stub was 12/35 and after crypting it was 0/35. It has many features but I don't think I'll use them right now. At this moment it's fully working and operable.

Its all about the money - May 31, 2013, 5:56 am

Mine honest review.

GUI of the PRODUCT (4,75/5): The gui looks good - i like black, there's nothing to do with it. It also edits the Dialogs (file choosing) and that doesn't look good. I mean that:

PRODUCT OPTIONS (5/5): It have USG. Comparing two crypted files (files are same):

That 28% is a application code.

Nice. It also has a hidden startup options, fake message, extension spoofer what works perfectly, 30seconds delay runtime to bypass Sandboxing antiviruses, UPX and Mutex. There are also file joiner/binder.

Now working perfectly, ISR stealer and HC stealer are stable working! 5/5 Great.

AVERAGE RATE: 4,90

Note: You can buy that without thinking! Best powerfull crypter i've ever used.

OTHER: You also may need some skype/webchat support because private messages aren't good - just a idea from me.

ALSO sorry for my bad english. :)

//Edit before posting: I found next bug, when we put mouse on UPX it show the same what on Botkiller, again a bug. :)

I'm not certain what you are referring to, but this has been FUD since release and even as more customers come along, it's fine.

There are quite a bit of people in the licensing right now, so it's doing good.

Purchase from here: <http://cryptme.net/buynow.html>

You will get it instantly, just make sure you input the correct information and follow the directions on that buynow page.

The extension spoofer gets rid of the .exe extension, but it cannot make it "video.mp4" the best it can do is, "videorcs.mp4"

You can select the mp4 icon and use that for the encrypted file.

You would do it the other way around and bind the video file to the encrypted file.

What you would do is hit the bind button and pick your video. Then click extension spoofer and other features you would like. Then on the extension spoofer, type the mp4 extension.

Then hit crypt and pick your server and name it whatever you would like.

This is most likely due to Andromeda requiring EoF (end of file) support. CryptME does not support EoF.

I'm very interested in purchasing this crypter, but by no dependencies, that means it's able to work on all window computers right?
They don't need Framework, or anything?

I don't know much about crypters, I've just used crypters with dependencies my whole life, and I'm not really sure how the whole "no dependencies" would work.

CryptME has no dependencies at all, it will work on all computers, yes.

They do not need .net framework.

Looks like a great crypter I am also seriously considering purchasing it, but can you please confirm me that the extension spoofer function is really working? (I know the way it works is like this: Server.exe into Serverexe.(extension), but when I tried it on other crpyters that claimed to have extension spoofer function, it never really worked, the file got corrupted).

Maybe as they use some unicode tricks to do the extension spoofer, the primary language of my laptop was the problem? Which is spanish btw

The FUD times are completely unpredictable, so this is a very difficult question to answer. If it makes you feel any better, if there is to be a detection, it's a false positive as they're detecting a legitimate program. So, it'll be removed in a few hours.

This is a reminder to anyone who is considering purchasing CryptME.

I have tons of people who totally forget to download the HWID generator and input their HWID.

No HWID generator other than the one I created will work with CryptME, so please do not input a HWID from another crypter or someone else's HWID.

Your HWID is specific to your computer and your computer only.

Also, if you reformat your computer (reinstall Windows) you will have a new HWID, which will result in an invalid license when you use CryptME.

Please do not forget that.

A HWID is a unique ID based on the Hardware your Computer uses.

You enter your HWID so CryptME can check if you run the software on the Computer you bought and registered it for to prevent pirating.

I don't know if it Works on Windows 8 but it works with Darkcomet for me.

CryptME is 100% FUD.

albatros - June 16, 2013, 8:49 am

I will pm you. Please help . Thanks

KeelanxHacks - June 16, 2013, 11:52 am

Finally,

A respectable crypter has hit the market. I heard wonderful things about this crypter. So i decided to go ahead and try a 1 month. And let me just say every time i crypt its always been FUD. The hidden start-up is very clever and all the Antivirus's it bypasses is just outstanding. Once my subscription ends I will be purchasing the year plan.

I definitely recommend this to anyone looking for a crypter. Vouch

Asteroids - June 16, 2013, 11:53 am

Purchased this Crypter earlier on, you guys have my vouch, 10/10!

ViRuS_DanGeR - June 16, 2013, 12:23 pm can you clarify extension spoofer.

you said it takes the exe and makes it into say .jpg.

does this mean the .jpg will launch the exe?

lewis338 - June 16, 2013, 3:51 pm

Yes, it will dogling but may have some differences than a real picture of course. An example would be a little change in the name, you can see if you test it :)

Ignore this user, he's banned from CryptME, so he's upset. He was encrypting for others and he wants to make a scene out of all this.

Here's proof of CryptME remaining undetected in Avast's Sandbox and bypassing the actual run-time protection:

I got a very important update coming soon.

I have found a way to support EoF with my encryption method, so now CryptME will be capable of encrypting some programs it wasn't capable of encrypting previously like Zeus botnet and many others that require EoF.

Please be patient for this update, I'm sure you'll all love it.

A keylogger is separate from a crypter. They're not similar.

A crypter is to keep a keylogger or RAT completely FUD (fully undetectable) so that it bypasses anti viruses and firewalls.

DenialService - June 24, 2013, 11:20 am

I used many crypters, what is my opinion for it :

Possitive:

- +Proofed Functions (videos)
- +Unique Stubs (every license free for all)
- +Long FUD
- +hidden Startup is <3
- +Everything u need (lots of functions)

Neutral:

dont know about if is detected by malware we see in review video in Virtual machine u installed malware bytes maybe to remove it dont know about binder if it works with big files or no.

Negative:

soo much customers deserve faster support.

Good luck with the sales i put that in my top 3 soon gonna choose what to buy

Crypter has been FUD for awhile now, about two weeks and counting.

I don't compare my crypter to other crypters. Plus I don't own Darknet.

It has botkiller, not anti-botkill.

I have been patient, He told us to resend any pm if he didn't answer it, I did that, I know that he got them cause the tracking say's so, I don't want to be a nuisance and keep re sending the same pm to him, I think ill go with another crypter cause ever since I have had this and I need help, the help is not there, I get better help from Supporter's of this crypter then I do him. All I need is to change my HWID to my new pc, it can't be that hard

The first time it took almost a week for him to help me, says my AV deleted the stub, I don't run AV'S on my pc so I know that could have not been it, Defender was turned off. I only have owned this for about 3 to 4 weeks now and Only used it a good couple of times. I am wasting my money on something that I cannot even use, by the time I get this going again if I do, the crypter license will be expired what is sad about this, is that I am referring other members to this crypter and have vouched hard core for it and this is what I get. These members see that I am having probs with it and see that I am not getting any help for it, dddfdfdfdf - July 11, 2013, 10:59 pm

What's the best free RAT to use with this, compatibility and stability-wise? I've been using DarkComet5.3.1 with mixed results (on server reboot command, server appears to melt and I lose access to client.) I'm fairly certain this is related to something on the client unit or the RAT itself and not reflective of the crypter.

I've also been looking for a good setup guide with DarkComet; typically only leave on the offline keylogger (though, this is caught by some game cheat detection software like WoW) and have everything else unchecked when generating a new server module. Is this correct and is there anything else that should be changed?

When crypting DarkComet I have;

- Startup, Delay Runtime, EOF Support, Ext. Spoofer and Mutex and am typically binding with a .JPG.

Thanks for the continued support, great product.

?pth?n - July 14, 2013, 10:53 am

I can vouch for this product!

Very nice, simple crypter.

It was 2/35 when I checked it, however I am sure it gets updated very frequently ;)

I would like to note something to everyone who owns this, or any other crypter.

If you use a AV on your computer, go to the advanced settings and make sure it doesn't send samples to AV companies.

The most AV programs are doing this by default, however the minority knows about this.

Also, scan it on the crypter or on the sites mentioned in the ToS.

The same goes for uploading! Many hosts - even GE.TT are distributing.

I don't like to advertise myself, but check out this thread:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3557962>

(List of sites that don't distribute)

Nice crypter, go on with your good work ;)

tired- - July 15, 2013, 1:13 pm

Planning on purchasing this, but I have a quick question, after seeing the above replies:

When you say USG, "100% unique" (as I'm not sure what USG would mean for me as a user of this crypter), would this mean each crypted file will be FUD, or is it the same as other crypters, which (in reality) are no longer FUD within 5 days? For example, if my file is detected by AVG, can I simply crypt a new file (without waiting for an update), and have an FUD file once again?

Thanks. :o

USG stands for "unique stub generator" this means that the stub is different for each crypt. This is useful because when someone encrypts a file and they use that file for a long time to infect people, anti-viruses sometimes detect that stub. So, you could recrypt and it would be FUD again. The only time there will be a detection that won't go away regardless of recrypting or not is if the anti-virus detects the encryption, then I would have to re-FUD.

If you re-fud the detections should go away due to the USG

yes it will I like this crypter but the server size would be quite large size... I see before his last crypter I think it was data protector or something but it was code in/out it and I bought the crypter and it was large stub size so if the size is important to you I am not recommending to buy unless one of this crypter proves that stub size is small. but I think size is not a big problem

Invalid license as well :|, just bought it and made sure my HWID was the same.

kastiel - July 26, 2013, 8:50 pm

Be patient, give boom some time, I'm sure he will look into it:)

schopnehauer - July 27, 2013, 12:08 am i THINK that we get this "invalid license" whenever the owner updates the software. Its not the first time I get it and then it was fine

Angryflash - July 28, 2013, 1:42 pm

I sent you a message regarding an issue with my license. It would be cool if you could at least say what the problem is.

sukho - July 28, 2013, 8:00 pm invalid license again :(when fix problem?

BoomShot - July 28, 2013, 8:01 pm

I'm working on the issue, please quit posting on the thread regarding it.

I'll be temporarily closing the thread due to this.

The thread will be reopened soon, do not freak out.

BoomShot - July 30, 2013, 5:04 pm

Officially resolved the issue and released an update that fixed the detection.

He should have a members area or some shit on his site so we can see updates and where to download them, or at least an auto-updater built into his crypter.

I fixed the first scanning issue, use Delayed Runtime and that'll fix it right up.

Yes, this might be the reason. I was just wondering, because the first page of this Thread says:
"CryptME uses legitimate software to hide itself. So, in case it should ever become detected, it will be a false detecten and will be fixed by the anti-virus company within a few hours."

Dont get me wrong, i love this crypter, and it is by far the best crypter i have ever used, but getting detections from 2 of the biggest anti-virus companys, after just one day, is kinda sucky... :\

Very good crypter, bought yesterday and works like a charm.

xKenZZo - August 9, 2013, 5:24 am that encrypt and excellent, but I think an option to claim the right to launch admistateur would not refut and if the person refuses to execute the virus limited.

Neotokyo - August 9, 2013, 12:17 pm

Guys, remember not to scan your files on any website. Only scan them on the crypter. Most websites will send your file to the antivirus companies.

BlackWeedz - August 9, 2013, 1:12 pm looks like a nice crypter will definitely consider purchasing it.

Subzero414 - August 10, 2013, 2:18 pm

Shit Crypter FBI detected it and got me arrested.

kastiel - August 10, 2013, 2:27 pm

LOL that has nothing to do with the crypter.. but your stupidity, for not using a vpn. However I doubt that you are talking true, but just a troll

Jp, I would suggest you ask boomshot, about your problem, using his ticket system

I didn't fully understand what was meant by "this is my 2nd month of CryptMe" but for me, the first day of buying the licence it said "Invalid Licence" but a day or two after that it worked and the message "Invalid Licence" did not appear.

Kastiel hit the nail on the head, it usually remains FUD for two weeks or more and even if it gets detected, there will be an update soon.

(Aug 15, 2013 09:58 AM)vmaster Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Going to buy, but got AV notify with your HWID generator file. Should I trust it?

It does nothing more than get the serial that I use for the authentication. You can either chose to trust it or not, it's up to you. I didn't protect it much, so that explains the detections and why anti-viruses may block it.

First I would like to say (not trying to sound insulting) But your support wasn't that good and should try to be a bit more helpful when a willing customer needs something. But I finally got my paypal to work, and I purchased the crypter. It's great! I never expected it to work so good but it is a very quick process and has been working for me! I vouch, totally legit.

I made a little RAT to mess with my buddies and came across that the current status of this crypter is NOT FUD atm for all of you who are wondering.

BoomShotKapow

Congratulations on the excellent work with the CryptME!

I'll intend to acquire it soon, but i would like to take some questions:

CryptME is compatible with the following RATs?

- DarkComet
- Imminent Monitor
- jRAT
- NetWire RAT
- iControl RAT

It was written in which language?

What differentiates it from other crypters?

nbaprofo - August 29, 2013, 4:38 pm

@invisibleman: it is also compatible with Emissary NET 3.0.

invisibleman - August 29, 2013, 5:42 pm

@nbaprofo: Emissary NET 3.0 has supports to double accents while saving keystrokes?

nbaprofo - August 29, 2013, 7:18 pm

Yes it will with the next update of Emissary 3.1 which will be next week.

invisibleman - August 29, 2013, 8:59 pm

@nbaprofo

I'm glad to know that!

I have some slaves in my DarkComet, some of which are from countries whose language is based on Latin, namely: Portuguese, Spanish, etc., they use double accents. (´ ` ^ ~ á ã â ê é) and double accents never worked because i was using keylogger RAT, and the slaves always suspected that something was wrong.

Which other updates will with the Emissary 3.1?

kastiel - August 29, 2013, 9:34 pm

GeoT100 - September 9, 2013, 4:42 pm

I have been using CryptMe for almost a month now. I first do my Bind/spoof/delay/startup/crypt.... Then I immediately update the server with a clean crypt with only startup and delay ticked. Doing it this way I have maintained FUD. 400+ bots and none of them are dropping after 3 weeks.

Big vouch! I love this crypter!

Hey, Recently I've been trying to buy this but, it seems to not work for me. When I buy it, it says this. "An error occurred while processing your request. Before submitting this again, log in and check your Account History to ensure that the transaction didn't complete."

And this "Return to GlobalSane

BoomShot - September 15, 2013, 9:53 pm

Hey guys, I wanted to let you know that I do apologize for the lack of activity on my end. I'd like to give you guys a heads up that things have been rough lately and I hope that all of you understand that regardless of what occurs, this product will remain updated to the best of my ability as the owner of CryptME.

The sales have been slow, which happens and I'm not exactly concerned about that. The reason I mention all of this is because certain events may lead to changes regarding CryptME as a whole.

If anything crucial is to change, I will definitely notify all customers regarding upcoming changes, so you will know exactly what is going on with the product.

Let me restate this so I understand your scenario. Your friend purchased CryptME and wants to use it on his computer. But, you also want to use it as well?

If so, I'm sorry to burst your bubble but only one computer can use CryptME at a time. So, if you both want to use it, you'll need two different licenses.

Now, if your friend needs to change the HWID, then he must contact me via support website:

I never said anything about using it on more than one computer?

He purchased it for me, so it'll only be used on my computer.

He used my HWID, but when I ran the program it said that I had an Invalid License.

So what must I do to enable it to run on my computer? Since it's not allowing me.

Also, there are plans for persistence. Stay tuned for that.

No, actually it's the opposite. I'd like to gain more customers and at the same time have more motivation to continue to progress CryptME.

CryptME isn't going anywhere, it's only going to get better.

Jabberjay - October 3, 2013, 10:04 am

Just a quick noob question: In the crypter, when you select startup does it automatically install the file somewhere? Or does it rely on that same file to be in the same place to start it when the computer starts again? What I'm trying to say is if someone opens the encrypted file and then, and deletes it from the directory would it still start on startup?

BoomShot - October 3, 2013, 10:52 am

It automatically installs the file somewhere, you do not need to worry about the directory of the encrypted output.

Prices have been reduced for CryptME.

Previous prices: $25 - 1 month, $35 - 3 months, $50 - 6 months and $70 - 1 year.

New prices: $20 - 1 month, $30 - 3 months, $45 - 6 months and $65 - 1 year.
