The splashes look 3D how did you do that if I might ask?
And did you use A tutorial if so please link it in the thread to ^^.

Cody8295 - May 24, 2013, 5:58 pm

Looks freakin' awesome! 9/10, good job!

Cesm - May 24, 2013, 5:59 pm

3d splashes are from a splash render, very easy a basic commonly found in most GFX packs!
Just a matte of getting the splash render the same colour with is easy by changing the hue

I like it, it reminds me of my old style I used to use a few years back.

The problem is you are using a splash image that somebody else made and you aren't giving credit.

Cesm - May 25, 2013, 5:41 am

its part of most gfx packs, they are splash renders specifically for gfx

Then you have to give credits, you can't call something yours when you clearly didnt make it.

o.o It's awesome , i like that stype!! 9/10 =D

CitrUs - May 25, 2013, 11:58 am

Dude. I love this kind of stuff. The paint looks very good coming out of the letters. Nice job. You should do this with some other bright colors too.

RedXcel - May 25, 2013, 1:31 pm

the splash really adds effect! looks really good dude!

FawkesHat - May 25, 2013, 1:31 pm

Looks amazing especially with the font of the text the materials I would rate 10/10

These splash renders are in most, if not all GFX packs that are easily accessible anywhere online if I was to give credit to them it would be a never ending list...

NoobCell - May 25, 2013, 2:49 pm

Nice, Iv been looking to get an intro made with a splash effect, can't seem to get one made though, lol.

8/10 =]

Cesm - May 26, 2013, 6:39 am

thanks guys for all the positive feedback :)

Vegetable - May 26, 2013, 7:59 am

Where did you get the splashes? That's nice.

Cesm - May 26, 2013, 4:58 pm

In most gfx packs on youtube, easy to find type in 'GFX packs' :)

You can't really post credit for everything you use. Then you would have a whole page of credits.. I know you should do it. But rarely anyone does it these days.

I love the splash renders you have used because it gives a 3d feel, and adds more to the text than it would by itself.

Great work 10/10

If you would have a whole page of "credits" for what you are making, then the image can hardly be considered yours. Actually create something instead of using the work of others and you will be perfectly fine.

LOL, so your saying photo manipulation artists such as FlewDesigns are not creating their own stuff?

Ha! photo manipulation is all made up of images and photos to make something look real etc, you dont see Flew who only uses images from gfx packs giving 'credit' to all the owners of the images...

That's hardly comparable. The amount of work he puts in is much greater and the images he uses aren't the focal point, as they are in yours.

Creaitiivty. - May 27, 2013, 1:32 pm

Wow! :O 10/10. Nothing else to say, Really PRO!

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=L4DLABLEL2I> (3:05 DareArts a famous GFXer uses what seems to be an image of a skyline off google images, no credit given to the person who took this picture as its probably in a GFX pack, no credit given to the GFX pack he uses, only gives credit to the song)

(Throughout video you can see Dare Vador, another famous GFXer uses GFX packs thats contain CC's etc, no credit given.)
