Thread: Most advanced Mass Mailer

csclus - May 27, 2013, 11:26 am

I started this thread because many of my smtp customers asked for a better mailer to fit their needs so in the past 6 months I worked on it and yes, it is ready.

Some technical details:

- sends around 500K emails/hour or even more (depends on number of threads, cpu, etc)
- combines the features of the most powerful mailers (darkmailer, send-safe and so on)
- it's highly customizable, it is for advanced users, not for n00bs!
- free proxy engine included.
- spam & rbl check.
- most of the features don't appear in the video to avoid someone stealing my ideas.

[Video: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=YqvtVzRubcc>]

Price: $3000

only 10 copies available for sale.

My other mailing related threads:

Most powerful SMTP scanner

100% INBOX SMTP servers

Also if you are one of my old customers you will get a discount.

Enjoy my stuff!

[UPDATE]

I raised the price after I received some advises from other marketers.

I wanted to sell this software and not for the money, but after I saw how many idiots reply, who have no idea about marketing, about its potential and about real incomes I decided to raise the price although this means keeping it for myself. Who realizes my software potential will pay no matter the costs.

For the others, continue using your $10 mailers or free php scripts and good luck making few bucks/month.

Vouch for csclus legit guy i have boughts smtps from him in the past and are always good and fresh.

Will the mailer allow you to spoof.

Really looking forward to this subscribing to thread although I don't answer this type of questions usually, I will make an exception in this case...

I wrote very clear that the mailer is highly customizable, right now the most customizable mailer. this means that you can edit everything including the headers.

now, back to your question ... I guess you have no clue about inboxing techniques, otherwise you wouldn't ask such question.

and btw, this mailer is not for n00bs, only for advanced users who have experience in mailing techniques.

Ready yet?

Let me know!

Is it possible to inbox with this mailer or not? simply answer with yes or no...

csclus - June 3, 2013, 9:24 am

Flower Power: firstly, I sell premium stuff, probably very expensive for most of the HF users. I never targeted people who would do anything for $2 as you begged in your own thread, so I don't see any chance for you to become my customer in the near future.

Secondly, learn to use "please" next time if you want to get an answer.

P.S. as I wrote in my previous reply I don't like answering to n00b questions, especially that this mailer is for advanced users.

I will donate you $3 if you'll leave this forum for good.

I don't understand what is so 'premium' about this. It's just a standard automated mailer.

Glwsyou're welcome to bookmark this thread and check it whenever you want.
regarding the "way too high price", well maybe you should check my other threads.
I admit it's a high price for a regular user who's trying to survive selling cheap stuff but those kids are not my target.
I'm selling premium stuff to people who already have experience in emailing business and who are making thousands bucks / day (legal or illegal, I don't care).
So I expect many frustrated haters to join this thread, saying I'm arrogant, but I don't give a shit. At the end of the day I won't be the one with empty pockets ;)

P.S.

If you show me a mailer with all the features mine has and also which is able to send over 500k emails / hour, I will make an exception and sell it to you for the half price of that mailer.
Good luck finding one ;)

Ok, what features does your mailer have that are better than darkmailer? (which can be downloaded for free)

I'll give you just one of them:

although darkmailer was the most powerful mailer for years, it is working ONLY with open relays which are honeypots, no auth mechanism, most of the emails are delivered into spam folder.

cause I was a fan of darkmailer for a while, my mailer has all its important features and many more to make the inboxing successful.

That's the whole point of mailing, isn't it ?

$500-$1000, are you out of your mind? You're not going to make any money by doing that. Sell it for like $10 and you might actually get a few sales.

I have a better idea than selling this software for $10 ... what would you say if I give you this for free?

Or even better ... pay you to use it.

Would you like to give me the chance, the opportunity to have you as customer ? It would mean so much to me.

thank you so much! you're the best!

No... really, your a douche. Look how your treating people in this thread, like your a cocky know-it-all. Yeah, take time in answering your potential customers questions instead of bashing them for their level of intelligence in this particular field, because you won't be making any business like that.

Yeah, although I do the price is hilariously high, that's my opinion and all sellers are subject to their own suited prices. Now do I think your going to get sales? Personally no, one because your an asshole to people with no social skills at all, and two because you charge $800 for a product that could be found free (although according to you not as advanced). Or even better put that money to hire a coder to make a program like this customized to what they want, and if there good at bargaining have some spare cash.

I'm not sales trashing, but I will put my input on what I think of this product as I am entitled to as a member of Hack Forums. I personally think that this product is way overpriced and the funds could be used more effiencetly, at least for a product like this.

Have a good day, Mr. Pr3m1um Pr0DuctZ

yes, I am but only with some people. I appreciate your point of view although we don't share same opinions, but at least your reply was clever.

About the price, yes, it seems to be too high for some people or a good one for others who are earning few thousands / day.

Send-safe has the same price, Nexus was sold for over $1k, darkmailer was $500 before it was cracked, so it's up to everyone to judge if the price is too high for their budget. I don't target poor kids so I'm not worried about.

Now, about your suggestion that a freelancer can make a program like mine. Almost correct! I have 10 yrs experience in spamming so I know almost everything. A regular coder knows how to code but won't know how to adjust it for a higher inbox rate.

Honestly I didn't want to code it, I have better things to do than stay in front of my PC and write thousands of lines of code. I even wanted to hire someone to make the program for me, I started few threads right on this forum (you can check that) and I found only wannabe coders who thought I'm some stupid kid and they can scam me by selling a lame coded program. Yes, most of the users on HF will try to scam you if they get the chance. At least I'm honest, I don't sell bullshit and I'm always there for support. So I can ask any price for my work, for my wasted time, it's their call if they will buy it or not.

But as I said, you posted a smart reply not like most users do, so I respect your point of view.

P.S. Probably you've heard of mailerking($150), dp mailer($150 & $450 personalized version) or blackhatmailer(~$450). I talked to each of them in order to hire them. The coder of mailerking wanted to charge me just for few modifications with more than $2k (calculated based on his tariff per hour), the coder of blackhatmailer denied my offer and suggested to buy his product because it's the best and uncrackable (I cracked it same day but didn't release the crack cause I promised him) and the third one, the coder of DP Mailer aka MailMascot, who is an idiot, no coding skills and he tried to scam me so I also cracked his software and this time I released it.

I told you all of these because there are no cheap good coders and if you really want something well-done then do it yourself.

Case closed.

Scribit - June 7, 2013, 12:41 pm

Giving my own personal opinion, this price is actually reasonable. If you use the mass mailer system CORRECTLY or in a productive manner, you can actually make your money back from this. Yes, $800 may seem a lot, but on the same token, there are programs that are less advanced that may even cost more. If you guys buy it, the initial investment may be a lot, but if you put it to good use, there would be no problem making it back.

EDIT: This price also allows it to be unsaturated, and also allows it to not be put into the wrong hands.

kastiel - June 7, 2013, 12:42 pm

I agree with many people when it comes to the price, the price is a little to high and should be lowered by a few hundreds.

Hell, the guy knows what he's talking about and he holds up a valid argument when it comes to why is program is better. If a man can actually tell me why and how his product is better then the competitors with valid reasons instead of childish reasons, that earns my respect for him and his product.

Vouch for OP, good luck with your sales, this seems like a great product with a lot of potential. I admire your choice in target group.

So just for everyone out there bashing the price.... I was a mailer far before CAN-S.PAM and after. I have seen mailers go for 10k and this is no joke. The truth of the matter is these are tools for professionals and not just someone looking to try mailing out. Another reason for such a high price is to limit the market and prevent the tool from being cracked. Lets be honest here, the price of things is what ultimately leads them to being exploited and shared on 300 sites. Mailing is extremely profitable especially if you have all the right tools. I know some of you wont care about my opinion but I present it as someone who has been successful in this area

WienerNips - June 7, 2013, 3:39 pm

Well I've read through the whole thread, and all I have to say is this. Don't expect too many buyers. This forum is filled with people that have never seen a $100 on their Paypal account. This seems like a great product, but this is probably the wrong forum to post this in. You're going to have much better results in a forum like warrior forums or digital point, where marketing is their thing. If you already posted this there, then good luck selling.

Also I suggest you treat the members around here with a little more respect and professionalism. Your point about the "kids" in the forum may be right, but if they do come to your thread, just act in a mature and proffesional manner and reply. You may not care about them, but potential buyers will, and they are effected by how well the seller handles situations like yours.

Kornflex - June 7, 2013, 4:32 pm

For all those who think this tool has a high price:

There is no tool on the internet that can bring you back those 800$ like a good inbox mailing tool. Never forget that guys.

You're just looking the price itself as a huge amount of money, not as a smart investment, and the investment is what we are talking about in this thread. Especially when you know there is no publicly known working mass mailer, which can hit the inbox for two days in a row. Some maybe for two hours. Mass mailing days with software as Send safe, Atomic mail sender, Dark mailer, Mail Mascot etc, these days are over. I tried those mailers myself - they are not working as they suppose to. Mass mailing nowadays is customized public mailers or the ones coded from scratch, based on smtp and not on VPS or dedicated servers. Both way they are very, very expensive, and looking from that angle, 800$ is simply nothing comparing with potential income.

What if I tell you there are guys who can make between 5.000 and 10.000$ a day, with sending only 10.000.000 emails a day? Yes, I wrote "only" because there are players who can send up to 100.000.000 a day. There are people who are willing to pay for a service like sending emails. They will pay a fair price, they will even give you their huge, scrubbed email lists, because they can't hit the inbox anymore.

And now, 800$ is very high price because you don't know how to use it? I mean, come on guys!! What if it's 2.000$? Of course it's not expensive even then if you know how to use it and take the most of it. Otherwise, even 100$ is way too much for you.

OP, GLWS because those who buy this tool can make some serious cash. On some other forum you can sell it for few thousands, which is a real price.

Cheers!

regarding respect and professionalism, I always treated good my customers but I cannot show respect to some kid, probably less than half of my age, who doesn't have a penny in his pocket and who's trashing my thread just because he couldn't find anything better to do with his pathetic life. This type of "customers" is not welcomed, they will never buy a product, all they can do is to post on forums begging for free cracks for programs they don't even know how to use them. thanks for your opinion and you're 100% right. Couldn't say it better!

maybe except some minor thing ... don't rely 100% on the mailer. yes, a mailer if it's highly customizable can help you a lot, but you still need to know the inboxing techniques, you have to make a lot of tests until you will finally succeed. And when I say "you" it's just generic, I include all those who work in this business.

DaChamp - June 8, 2013, 8:18 am

I've bought SMTPs from csclus and he has ALWAYS delivered on time and every time.

However, it should be known that mailing isn't as easy as just putting stuff in and clicking start. This software alone WILL NOT inbox for you - not even close. There are so many things that spam filters check before sending a mail to the inbox, and just having clean SMTPs is a small portion of it. You need to have uniquely generated content, multiple message formats, hundreds of subject lines, no bad emails, ability to throttle, etc.

I got into mailing a few months back with some help from csclus. He was gracious and offered some ideas, but nothing more than that. Mailing is extremely tough. I do think there are features missing from this mailer (like ones I stated above) and if/when these are implemented, I would think of purchasing.

$800 is not much for all of us. If I could spend $800 for the mailer and help from csclus in getting started and actually getting this thing working, I would do it in a heartbeat, but unfortunately, he probably doesn't guarantee that or help out once the mailer is sold.

GLWS bro. Wish I could buy it because I do want to mail, but unfortunately need some help getting started and I don't think you're down for that?

HMU if you are. You got my Yahoo and know who I am.

thanks for the vouch!

regarding the features you mentioned above, my mailer already has them.

yes, I'm available for support, to teach customers how to use my mailer, but I cannot be there everytime they ask simple questions not related to the software but to mailing process, questions which can find answers on a short google search. It is supposed that people who buy this software know already the basics of mailing, what stands message-id for or other headers fields, what is the difference between direct send or using smtps, how to configure the threads based on computer configuration and so on. Yes, I offer full support but I don't have the time and nerves to become a teacher. But if you do your homework and I see you really want to learn and by mistake you reached a point where it's impossible to see the light, I will help you.

And of course, "you" is generic this time too.

(Jun 8, 2013 09:23 AM)csclus Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) thanks for the vouch!

regarding the features you mentioned above, my mailer already has them.

yes, I'm available for support, to teach customers how to use my mailer, but I cannot be there everytime they ask simple questions not related to the software but to mailing process, questions which can find answers on a short google search. It is supposed that people who buy this software know already the basics of mailing, what stands message-id for or other headers fields, what is the difference between direct send or using smtps, how to configure the threads based on computer configuration and so on. Yes, I offer full support but I don't have the time and nerves to become a teacher. But if you do your homework and I see you really want to learn and by mistake you reached a point where it's impossible to see the light, I will help you.

1) Will there be any updates to the mailer in the future? If so, are all updates included in this?

2) Does this come with ANY SMTPs to get started?

3) Before, you used to say you don't mail anymore. What changed? Are you still mailing? How confident are you that it will inbox to all service providers?

4) How do you go about cleaning the lists? Does this software have something where it can track bounces/deliveries/opens?

5) I saw that you can import multiple subject lines to be used, but can you send out mail so that it rotates through the subject lines. What about actual content rotation? Is that included to? I know you'll need to switch out content and have a variety of content if you want to inbox, so the ability to rotate this is very important.

6) Rotating SMTP servers I assume is already part of it, but I didn't see it. Can you import a list of 500 SMTPs and then rotate amongst them when sending out mail?

7) Proxy's or VPNs are extremely important as well. I saw a place where you can import a proxy, but not sure. Since you are using SMTPs which are deemed "open", these aren't necessarily legal for mailing purposes since you're acquiring them via a scan, right? How do you stay "anonymous" when using them? How do you anonymize your links on the affiliate side as well?

Very interesting customer, but I'm going to ask all the right questions before I drop $800 on something.

Very interesting customer, but I'm going to ask all the right questions before I drop $800 on something.

1) yes, all future updates will be free. Of course I don't exclude the possibility of missing something, so all future addons will be based on customers experience.

2) no, smtps are not included. If you want smtps you can either order (from me or someone else) or if you don't wanna depend on someone else, you can order the smtp scanner I have for sale and updated to version 2.2.

3) money, that changed ...

4) this tool is mostly for those who don't need opt-in lists with delivery reports, that's why I added so many spoofing features. But if needed I can add that too within few days.

5) its ability to rotate/randomize each field is very high. In the presentation video I showed only few examples but it is highly customizable for unique content.

6) yes, you can import any number of smtps, it automatically detects the auth method and communication mechanism (regular, ssl, tls). I didn't show the smtps tab option in the video cause I already added the smtp servers and the login fields were visible. Didn't have time to edit the video to blur the info.

7) it has socks4/socks5/http/https support. you can import any list of proxies and as a bonus you can check if they support smtp connections.

I wanted to add a proxy grabber and checker too but changed my mind. This is a mailer and if you want programs which get proxies & check them, you can find a lot on google, most of them free.

I added a URL shortener but it's not a finale version. Need suggestions too. And besides, there are other programs which do that and are updated based on any API change. So I don't think that is very important and necessary for a mailer.

DaChamp - June 8, 2013, 10:25 am

More questions:

1) Since you put so many "spoofing" options into this, when they click on a link and land on a CPA offer, there really isn't much anonymity, right? That can easily be tracked back to you and you could get into a TON of trouble. Each CANSPAM violation is a $10K fine, so how does this software eliminate that?

2) Does the rotation of subject/content occur automatically like in Send Safe? Do you offer alternate ways of manipulating the content to ensure its deliverability?

3) The ability to use an SMTP or something else to "clean" an e-mail list is extremely important. It keeps the SMTPs active for longer and helps keep them active.

4) Ability to add SMTPs via text file?

5) What format does the data need to be in? I noticed you can import the headers and then use them in the subject line, etc.

Most advanced Mass Mailer? i dont think so..

you don't even mention in here about whitelisting your ip's your mailer is just an ordinary mailer loaded with lots of scan smtp's(mostly already blacklisted)

If you want a high inbox rate consider your email list clean,less bounces,high open rate and click rate,less abuse report.

for $800 i can hire a guy to configure a linux based mailer with 100 rotation ip's already whitelisted and warmed up.

To my opinion this is a useful tools if you really know what you are doing with it .. you should be able to recover money spent on it .. for the amount am sure many wont be able to order this .. But i guess the owner of the program just wants to make sure it does not get to the wrong hands .. and only people that know the worth .. from his experience .. putting together all the features of good mailers in one .. Sounds great.. I bought his smtp scanner .. which i find one of a kind really .. you can only enjoy it if you really use dedicated servers .. Which i get money back buying dedicated server to run it.. If their is any discount .. i would go for it

I think the price is very expensive compared with MailerKing of Myadtools, and maybe mailerking have more options.

First of all I wanna thank all my customers for believing in the quality of my tools and for all the recommendations they made. It means a lot!

It's been more than 7 years since I started this business on hackforums. Yes, this is the only forum I ever advertised my tools. If you see them advertised somewhere else, those ads were created by people believing in my work, who were doing it either for a cut or without any hidden intention. I want to thank them too.

Although I blacklisted few licenses for sharing or reselling my tools, I also wanna thank those customers. If they spent 2k euro or more on one of my tools, it means they really appreciated my work.

But every beginning has an end and every end is a new beginning, so it's time to move on. Unfortunately due medical issue I cannot continue this business or any other. I will be around only few months to provide support for current customers or to make the last sales to new ones.

Although it's been so many years since I started this thread or the one for BlackMailer or for other scanners, they still remain the best in the market based on my customers opinions. Of course, they are far from perfect, I made each year updates and probably other features can be added but time is not on my side.

If anyone else wants to continue my work either to release new versions or simply to keep selling my tools, sources are available for sale at the price of 10 sales each.

I wanna appologize if I offended some of you during all these years, but I was young and arrogant and had many trust issues especially when so many tried to crack or steal my work. Still I don't know why I was banned few years on this forum and also why my ban was lifted but I still believe in the quality of most of the users around here.

These being said I wish you all good luck and believe in yourselves because hard work is always appreciated.

Cheers!

I started this thread because many of my smtp customers asked for a better mailer to fit their needs so in the past 6 months I worked on it and yes, it is ready.

Some technical details:

- sends around 500K emails/hour or even more (depends on number of threads, cpu, etc)
- combines the features of the most powerful mailers (darkmailer, send-safe and so on)
- it's highly customizable, it is for advanced users, not for n00bs!
- free proxy engine included.
- spam & rbl check.
- most of the features don't appear in the video to avoid someone stealing my ideas.

Price: $3000

only 10 copies available for sale.

My other mailing related threads:

Most powerful SMTP scanner

100% INBOX SMTP servers

Also if you are one of my old customers you will get a discount.

Enjoy my stuff!

[UPDATE]

I raised the price after I received some advises from other marketers.

I wanted to sell this software and not for the money, but after I saw how many idiots reply, who have no idea about marketing, about its potential and about real incomes I decided to raise the price although this means keeping it for myself. Who realizes my software potential will pay no matter the costs.

For the others, continue using your $10 mailers or free php scripts and good luck making few bucks/month.

I had used in the past darkmailer, send-safe, Nexus mailer, direct mailer etc

Those were great software

Yours could be interesting if I knew all the features but would not spend 3k on it

I am sorry i understand your position but i find it way too expensive

After 10 years of selling tools for marketers, I decided it's time to move on due personal reasons.

Support for all my tools will be available for the next 6 months only.

Sales are available this month only.

It's been a nice experience but 10 years is way too much for doing the same thing.

I hope my tools helped all my customers to increase their income.

Good luck to everyone!!

P.S.

If anyone wants to continue my work, update the tools on a regular basis and continue the sales or just keep'em for themselves and use'em, sources for all my tools are available for sale.
