Thread: NSFW Cname

Omniscient - June 2, 2013, 9:13 pm

For those who complain about our logo or images I've added the following cname.

<http://hackforums.net>

This should remove the logo, avatars, and signatures. I believe I have all links working just fine but please report any bugs and I'll try to adjust the feature.

Xen. - June 2, 2013, 9:13 pm

Thanks Omniscient. :) I can finally lurk while in school. :)

Vintage????? - June 2, 2013, 9:13 pm

Oh, This is a great addition to hackforums! Great job!

Here's another suggestion.

While in NSFW mode, It doesn't say this?

VRUMM - June 2, 2013, 9:14 pm

Omni, what is this for?

is this for servers blocking hf?

Cryptic™ - June 2, 2013, 9:14 pm

Racr - June 2, 2013, 9:14 pm

This will be useful for browsing in public.

For public places. People often get spooked by the "Hack" Forums.

Hydra - June 2, 2013, 9:15 pm

This is amazing. Nice addition Omni.

*Posting through NSFW subdomain.

Enterprise - June 2, 2013, 9:15 pm

Honestly, this is very helpful. I was getting asked many questions, while at school.

Cryptic™ - June 2, 2013, 9:15 pm

I'm actually going to regularly use the NFSW version. I love the clean look with no avatars and signatures.

CyberneticTitan - June 2, 2013, 9:16 pm

Nice new implementation. It still does show the profile pic if you view the profile though.

SoMuchMudkip - June 2, 2013, 9:16 pm

I honestly can't believe this had such a demand and enough reasoning to be implemented.

GI?ck - June 2, 2013, 9:16 pm

Thanks Omni ?

Pentatonix - June 2, 2013, 9:17 pm

Great to see this new update. I just read the suggestion a few minutes before you started working on this. Great job.

Omniscient - June 2, 2013, 9:18 pm

This may also serve as a decent mobile option too since sigs, logo. and avatars are definitely big loads.

I've sort of wanted something like this for a while and today thought of a decent way to do this and my test worked out well enough. The cname definitely makes this implementation pretty easy.

What I really might do is force a m.hackforums.net cname for mobile browsers with even more alterations. But that's a lot more work.

Existence - June 2, 2013, 9:18 pm

Avatars and signautes still show up if you click their profile.

For example;

<http://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=47360>

Also, maybe replace the word "hacking" with "computing".

Kyle XY - June 2, 2013, 9:18 pm

I fully support your idea. Great for browsing in the computer lab at school.

GI?ck - June 2, 2013, 9:19 pm

Can you give me an idea of why this is something you wanted to dabble in?

Is it because it is like making the first steps towards a mobile site, or perhaps another reason? I saw the thread where someone had suggested this and I really didn't think it had such ground on that premise.

Given that a lot of people have pictures of girls that are almost nude, and other things in their signatures, it makes many people uncomfortable going on HF in public places.

So by doing this, it eliminates that and let's them use HF more freely with less to worry about.

Another benefit is the site will load a bit faster on your mobile data connection as there are less images now.

Omniscient - June 2, 2013, 9:25 pm

I've been asked about this for a while and like I said..found a reasonably easy way to implement it so I did.

Also I won't alter how profiles display since you're viewing their profile and should imho see it in full. The NSFW is mainly for those viewing threads that don't want elements to load.

It's better to have the sig and ava in profile. If someone has a message in Sig before PM'ing.. it'd be beneficial.

You should use hackforums.net for a clean forum, one that blocks all vulgar language and hides/warns for any words with "sex" and etc in the Innuendo section, if you get what I mean.

And this current image removing subdomain should be named load.hackforums.net

I currently work at a Police Station for CO-OP from school. I don't go on HF from their computers, I use my phone. But anyways,

The accessibility on the computers are so locked down.

Your forced to use Internet Explorer, with very little permissions, and you can't access options/plugins or anything.

So adblocking the logo would not be possible in that case.

I'm sure many other work places have security setups similar to this one, and the NFSW will be of use to them.

In google chrome if you go to the NSFW website then click archive mode on the bottom it says:

Warning: Suspected phishing site!

The website at hackforums.net has been reported as a "phishing" site. Phishing sites trick users into disclosing personal or financial information, often by pretending to represent trusted institutions, such as banks.

Thats kind of odd?

Glassy - June 3, 2013, 11:01 am

I think renaming the site to: www.quick.hackforums.net

Is a better conception than safe.hackforums.

We all know Hackforums is always safe, and we don't want people at anytime to think that the only way they will be safe is if they utilize the safe.hackforums domain. Therefore, quick.hackforums would be best fit as it doesn't make HF sound unsafe in general.

Is a better conception than safe.hackforums.

We all know Hackforums is always safe, and we don't want people at anytime to think that the only way they will be safe is if they utilize the safe.hackforums domain. Therefore, quick.hackforums would be best fit as it doesn't make HF sound unsafe in general.

I agree with this. Although it won't alter the usefulness of the feature, I think it will stop confusion with newer members.

I really like this. Great feature you added :)

1 or max 3 letters are better imho.

Rage™ - June 3, 2013, 1:07 pm

Thanks for the feature, Omni. Should be good for when I'm in school.

Bing™ - June 3, 2013, 1:44 pm

I saw this suggestion a few days ago. Nice to see it was accepted, still it appear hackforums on the tab, let's hope that doesn't harm anyone (:

zombiehacker - June 3, 2013, 1:45 pm

Quite impressive i have to say, how they do this.

Se?xy - June 3, 2013, 1:48 pm

Just one step at a time Omni!

Loving all the recent changes you made!

Thanks!

h?cker22 - June 3, 2013, 1:49 pm

I usually browse with signatures and avatars disabled, this is great.

Thanks for this Omni.

Your signature is one of the reason why this was made ?

I will definitely be using this more, useful when there's people around me and I'm browsing HF.

Upgraded - June 3, 2013, 5:22 pm

Thanks for adding this feature Omni.

Now I can use the forum at work.

Also, I know you listened to your members and implemented this feature, good job on that.

Pinkie Pie - June 3, 2013, 5:24 pm

Pretty useful, I can now browse comfortably while in Starbucks without fear of people seeing HACKFORUMS on my website and thinking i'm hacking everything.

Grin - June 3, 2013, 5:24 pm

This is a pretty decent feature. I enjoy the implementation. Thanks.

webdev77 - June 3, 2013, 5:33 pm

One little bug with this. Private sub-forums don't seem to be filtered for images. At least the ones I can see aren't.

Edit: actually it seems anything under the Group tab isn't filtered and Leet OT section isn't filtered either yet the Ub3r section is.

Kangaroo?? - June 3, 2013, 5:48 pm

This is great, thank you Omni ?

moron #543 - June 3, 2013, 7:48 pm

I'm trying it out now and threads seem to be loading much faster which is nice.

BitzDefender - June 3, 2013, 7:57 pm

This is a very neat addition to the forum.

Crake - June 3, 2013, 7:58 pm

Great to have this for hacking from school ? Thanks Omni!

ZuGgY - June 4, 2013, 4:45 am

Thanks for the information omni

This will come to use

Uncle Ruckus - June 4, 2013, 11:05 am

Not sure if this is intended, but signatures still show if you visit a profile page.

Dreadful - June 5, 2013, 7:40 pm

You should change the subdomain. Also filter hacking or hack to something else.

Proxima - June 5, 2013, 7:54 pm

This is quite the unexpected, yet great feature! Thanks for implementing.

Hentai? - June 5, 2013, 7:55 pm

Omni, this may have been the greatest thing you have ever done.

They should, user profiles should show to the fullest.

NSFW is for browsing the forums at work or at school.

Rafe_D - June 5, 2013, 8:29 pm

I just wanted to say thank's for this Omni.

When I first read about it I didn't think I would use it as Header's, Sig's and Avatar's don't bother me.

After testing it I have noticed that the battery on my Mobile last's a lot longer from the reduced loading so I will continue to use it from my Mobile.

I'll probably use it from a laptop when travelling aswell.

Thanks Mate.

Definitely a step in a forward direction and a nice option for those that want to utilise it.

I would have it to where any word that says hack is replaced with kooch...
shrugs

pym0l - June 5, 2013, 10:21 pm

tired- - June 5, 2013, 10:41 pm

Sadly my parents know any websites with a dark background aren't school related, so when they're around I can't do much.

When I'm at school it will be helpful, since teachers at my school aren't too good with computers.

Thank you.

gon4eva - June 6, 2013, 2:34 am

Possibly the best addition to HF that's actually been useful to me. I always feel slightly worried at work browsing posts with naked women smoking weed in their signature. Plus the negative connotation of the word hack in the banner, my Office is very open plan and we can all see each others screen.

Thank you very much.

Soulmate - June 8, 2013, 11:48 am

Wait, shouldn't it be "sfw", since this version is safe for work?

Retribute - June 8, 2013, 11:57 am

The tab should really be renamed to something other than 'Hack Forums' for obvious reasons.

Jay? - June 8, 2013, 12:16 pm

If you are at work or school then you should be working or doing school work. Simple as that.

What if you're done with your work and have nothing to do? What if you use it at lunch when you're done eating? What if you just need it for when your parents are around?

Retribute - June 8, 2013, 12:22 pm

During the redirection page, the Hack Forums banner is still present.

I think it would be handy if there was a link to it down here, so you could view a page with inappropriate content like that. Also it would allow for easy access.

All of these links go to the default Hack Forums website:

Dragosthethird - June 9, 2013, 12:08 pm

If the site goes down for whatever reason (DDOS) it takes you back to the original site.

If you mean the Cloudflare pages to give errors or do the captcha check...those are actually a different page altogether.

I can't really change every single link on the site. The NSFW is just a partial solution.

For you it might do nothing. For others they might save bandwidth, be on a mobile, or simple at a location they prefer images not load (school,work).

One thing I've noticed though is if someone links us to a NSFW page, even if we don't want it, it still happens on each page. The only way to get rid of it is to remove the NSFW from the url and refresh. It's not a very big problem, but I wish their was a setting in the UscerCP or somewhere to have it never trigger. Not sure how much work it would be for you, but just removing some characters from a URL shouldn't be too hard for me. ?

Eternal. - June 9, 2013, 2:40 pm

I am sure people already have said this, but wouldn't it be better if NSFW wasn't in the name? I mean, that in and of itself may cause a red flag to computer administrators or cause a block. I think, personally, that it would be much better if the subdomain was "not." Think about it. not.hackforums.net would be hilarious.

pr3fix - June 9, 2013, 3:12 pm

Awesome addition. Now I can browse hf safely at school without anyone bothering me and asking wtf am I doing on a hacking forum. lawl :D

I'll rename it eventually. I was thinking safe.hackforums.net. You're "not" idea isn't terrible though and I like the humor aspect of it.

Roxox1 - June 9, 2013, 3:38 pm

NSFW is 4chan lingo for Not Safe For Work

It removes all the avatars and sigs because some people put adult content in them.

Is the site getting ddosed or is it just my shitty aussie interwebs

Should it not be sfw.hackforums.net - Seeing as you're removing the "not-safe" element, lol?

You can still view user's avatars if you look on your buddy list. Not a big deal, but if you want to hide all avatars, hide those too.

Viewing/ searching the members list allows you to view avatars!
