Yes, it's a virus. It says something like: "I found this picture of you on myspace" or something like that, every time it sends different message...
Almost all my contacts have it... :D

I think that Microsoft has proxyd all connections now - i tried infiltrating an IP i got from getting a file from my friend - i ran the IP through Safari® and i got some random Windows Live page so I am guessing that its all proxied now

Hmm There is a MSN virus going around like that, just steer clear away from the thing.
