Thread: How to get Sasuke's hair

Professor James Moriarty - June 8, 2013, 3:34 am

Hey guys, i need some help to get Sasuke's hair because Im going to the Manifest which is in Australia, I already have his costume but my sword was seized by the fucking customs... Im growing my hair longer so that i can style it when the time comes. Does anyone have any advice though? Has anyone tried being Sasuke?

And i was serious when i said they took my sword :(

Can't you just tell them that it was a fake sword? Was it a fake sword?

Well, assuming it was taken It probably was a real sword. Get a fake one.

Sorry, I have no advice regarding to hair.

Get a wig...? That's what I'd do with any anime character. Other than that, I'm sure there are plenty of Youtube videos that will show you.

You'd probably have to teach your hair to part the same way as his, look for a decent cosplay and ask a barber to cut it to a decent length and then ask for advice on parting it.

Buy some gatsby. It's a japanese hair styling "moving rubber". Pretty much what it is, is it's this cream like substance you put it into your hair. Then you can style your hair and make it hold. It won't make it look shiny or anything because it's a form of paste. You can move around your hair later even without the gatsby later. It holds your hair up, it doesn't make it hard. Sorry if that really didn't make sense, i'm bad at explaining things. Just google search it. Theres different kinds for strength and stuff. The pink one is the strongest so i would go with that.
