Well, I skimmed through the last 5 pages and didn't find any threads about this series, so here it is.

Anyway, I have to say I really liked this series. At first...Spoiler \(Click to View\)Not sure if this spoils, but I'll be on the safe side... so the whole series I kinda felt like "This is good...but the art is almost a waste. Such good art for something with no plot. But that last episode just made all the difference. You just realize it doesn't really NEED a plot...it's the small things that count. The random gags, jokes, cries, etc.

So in the end, I have to say it was better than expected and I'm hoping for a season 2 somehow...however unlikely the ending makes it.

I also liked this anime.

I was reluctant to say it was good at first, but as you said the ending made all the difference.

The imouto was pretty cute too though.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)Especially when he found out she took his books/magazine things away, but left the one with the little sister alone. ?

Love this anime! It kept me laughing til' the end. The ending was quite sad though.

This series seriously needs more attention that it's getting currently.
