?????????Summer Shut-In!??????????

The Summer Anime Challenge

Hello again my Otaku brethren! As of today, Summer has officially started, and so I bring to you the proposition of yet another challenge. The Spring Showdown was a pretty big success in the subforum, and so I decided we should continue into a new challenge this season! However, it's Summer, which is an entirely different season than Spring, so the challenge will be much different!

The goal for this Challenge is to watch as much anime as you possibly can in one season. That's right, this is a tournament to see who can watch more anime (or read more manga) than any one else on AA. And yes, Manga fans are in luck here, because you're included in this challenge!

So, how will this be measured? If you would like to participate in this challenge, then post in this thread with your MAL account, or whatever site you use for that. If you don't have one, make one, you only have to use it for this challenge. From there, I will mark how many episodes of anime you have watched, and how much manga you have read. Then, you can post about all the things you've watched and read in the discussion threads, and at the end of summer, I'll check again and find the person with the most total change in episodes watched/chapters read. Seems fair? Then get to it!

Even if you don't think you'll watch a ton of anime this season, you should still join and be a part of this activity for the whole of AA. We would love to have you :)

Update: As a note to a few people who have said they only wouldn't join because they don't want to make a MAL - If you join, just tell me what you saw/read on each update thread, and you'll be fine :)

To join this challenge, just post your MAL, or PM it to me if you want to keep it secret, I won't share it. If you absolutely 100% refuse to make one, then just join the challenge for fun without one :)

That is the list of airing shows this season, you should keep up with all of those.

You can also check my reviews, and watch all of the good ones from there!

On top of that, check my MAL, or the MAL of other members who post in this thread to find good recommendations

Good luck to everyone participating, and enjoy your summer!

I'd like to participate, but I am terrible at staying focused on anime. Lately I haven't had much luck watching it and yeah.

Oh well.

I just wish I was able to watch more anime.

iFap - June 21, 2013, 2:25 pm

Here fine Since everyone wanted me to make one I'm still not done adding but I really don't want to spend my time doing this much longer.

Well, why not just join, and see how it goes? The challenge lasts all summer, so maybe something will happen in that time ?

Chubaca - June 21, 2013, 4:36 pm

I shall be joining this time my MAL is in my signature. Please do not post how many manga I have read because it is inaccurate. What are the anime that we are going to watch for this summer?

Tarn - June 21, 2013, 5:25 pm

I did this last summer when I just started watching anime again... not going to participate as my entire summer flashed before my eyes.. well above my computer screen that is :P I was literally watching at least a season - a season and a half a day (12 ep per season)

It's not really there for accuracy, it's there to see the difference by the end of the summer :)

Chubaca - June 23, 2013, 11:12 am

One question what are the animes that are going to be assigned?

(Jun 23, 2013 11:12 AM)Chubaca Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) One question what are the animes that are going to be assigned?

For this one there won't be any assigned, it's just how much you can watch and/or read for the season of any anime/manga (I guess VNs would count too). If you want I can post a recommended list of airing and non-airing shows to watch this summer though?

Ahh. Well, it goes by in a couple of phases, or steps.

1. Everyone supplies a MAL account so that I can get an accurate count on how much they've seen beforehand
2. The challenge starts, and everyone no-lives anime for the whole summer, and tries to watch more than everyone else. On top of anime, VNs and Manga count as well
3. Once a week (Assuming I don't forget), a discussion thread will be posted to talk about pretty much anything (Progress in the challenge, and talk about the shows you do and don't like)
4. At the end of summer, the final thread will be posted, in which I will again count how many episodes each person has watched. Whoever has the biggest jump in episodes wins the challenge. This is, of course, assuming that no one here will cheat. I trust that everyone in AA will be fair about it :)

Kina - June 25, 2013, 9:32 pm

Alright then, just add me to the list and I guess I will be set.

Ormr - June 26, 2013, 12:11 pm

This seems like fun, I would enter for the manga part if it wasn't for the fact that I'm too lazy to add all the manga I've read to my MAL.

If I had I to guess, this month I've probably read around 100~ different mangas, and at this point, there's no real point in trying to organize them all. lol
