Also, I don't have any spot available other than Big Delphi stub and may VB6 USG.

How long does the delphi $100 currently stay FUD on average?

Really depend.

Most of them last 1-4 weeks.

Some 2 months and still counting.

So I would say, average would be 1-2 weeks per stub.

No the prices are not expensive. You shouldn't be used to spending $15 on a 'lifetime' FUD crypter.

lol, per one stub?

You don't get one stub per month.

Read again.

The unlimited stubs are even more expensive ($2k for CPP $2.5k for ASM $1k for Big Delphi $1.5k for Small Delphi Monthly)

Designed for mass spreading daily, not few hundreds but thousands.

And i got over 10+ people on waiting list just to get in to that unlimited spot.

This crypter isn't for kids who only plays Rats, and small botnets.

Unless you are rich enough to burn some money just for few slaves, or a person who's concerned is FUD time to keep their Important slaves longer without updating them daily or even hourly.

You get what you pay for.

You pay for crappy cheap crypter? $15-$50 lifetime? LoL.

Will always have a downside.

Yea i know that but what it has to do with him ? if the crypter is good (150$-400$ stub) it should last FUD for a long even if it's executed on 1000 machine.

Isn't that right ?... anyway thanks :) ?

You can't say for exactly how many installs it will stay FUD, but there's a simple rule that every crypter has, doesn't matter how good it is:

The more installs you have, the faster it gets detected.

Have I ever warned you about the vb6?

Or you are just playing dumb?

I repeatedly said that vb6 + your bot doesn't go along together.

But you still insist. (now who's fault is that?)

Next time, when the maker tells/warns you about things.

Take his word for it.

Or else, you'll find out sooner or later what he's talking about.

Detected without being spread? Impossible.

You know why?

You are the only Custom Vb6 customers and no one else.

Others uses Vb6 / C++ / ASM / Delphi
So it is impossible to get detected without spreading.

Making ASM, C++ , Delphi stubs is x5 faster than making a crappy vb6.
Hence why I did not really wanted to sell you the vb6.
But yet again, you insist of having the vb6.

I'm also pretty sure you did a mass spread.
And you were lying about 15 -30 bots weekly. LMAO

Have a nice day,

Best Regards
The Old Warrior

I am not saying this coz i m his customer just try to learn and appreciate the hard work of a Coder...

Its been 2 weeks already, still FUD ! best crypter ever!! =) mamaluke - January 9, 2014, 9:39 am

The Old Warrior use to crypt for me all the time about a year ago before he started selling this product and I can vouch that after buying about 30 different crypters on this forum and wasting $1000's of dollars his crypts were always the longest FUD with the most stability

The Old Warrior - January 9, 2014, 4:15 pm

Thanks guys for your honest feedback.
I don't really mind having bad/good feedback.

The truth must come out :)

For the past few days, I have been messing around with MinGW.
I could of use this compiler long ago, but the inlineASM is just too pain in my butt compared to intel one.

I decided to give it a go and made few stubs with it.

I currently have
3 "C stub language" Available
2 "C++ stub language " Available

Both stub language are compiled with MinGW (gcc and g++)

The bin size is from 15kb-100kb

You'll need invitation or pay a one time fee to get in.
This spots don't last long.

christiano - January 10, 2014, 4:57 am

The Old Warrior and Broad Crypter great.
Buy a public Crypter many have been sold so far.
But it was not enough to get the FUD for a long time in public Crypter.

Then, it got a long-sought BroadCrypter finally
I am currently continuing the FUD of one week BroadCrypter.
The Old Warrior has support of my very kind.
It is the owner that is aligned serve as the reputation and track record really
It is said BroadCrypter that's expensive, you will not regret definitely.
Not depend on the language of the OS, optional features many formidable
I think are sold in HF really, it's the best of the best Crypter.

But it will be very difficult to know customer that is using your product, and to introduce someone by invitation. i think you need to adjust that policy.

Firstly, you're saying this as if TOW struggles to get sales (lol) secondly, why would he change the policy when it works fine?
