I can't even post on the thread because negative rep. But I just thought I'd share this.

Why Darknet won't launch:

6/29/2013 10:05:40 PM

The operation has timed out

I've got to say I'm very dissapointed in Darknet, and if you're reading this right now thinking about buying it, that you don't. I had faith in it and purchased it even though it was no longer FUD and only got 8/36. I'd give it 2/5 stars but I've never even used it yet.

- The first day I try purchasing it my license key doesn't work, I PM Zetix about the problems, he has to buy more licenses and that he'll do it later that day.
- Wait all day, cannot sign in, no reply or notification from him that he has purchased more keys.
- Try at 1:00am, not working, PM him because day is now over, he says that he's bought licenses, and that I could now login.
- Login, spend 2-3 hours trying to get the crypter to work. Reinstall it 3-4 times, with all dependancy's.
- Post here, spend all night trying to get it to work and get support.
- This morning have them go "oh our crypter was not working because our servers were down, there is no problem with your machine." Why couldn't they have just said that last night, in the first place?
- Now the crypter won't even start for a lot of us, not working for me, their servers are down. Even the people who could get on reported the crypter not working.

I hope you guys resolve all these issues, because the features displayed and the crypter all seem like very prominent products and I just want to be able to use what I paid for.

I bought Darknet on recommendation by a user, and after seeing high appraise for it previously, it looked like a good product. Now I don't think I'll be resubbing to DarkNet again. Can anyone suggest another crypter I can use? Because I honestly doubt I'll ever be able to get it working. It'll probably start working for other people, but this has been absolute hell and way too long for a product I was just supposed to buy, launch, crypt, and be done with.

EDIT: The crypter is back up now, I can launch it, but my crypted stubs are still not working. Yes, I followed the RAT settings specified, however, the generated crypted files only launch for a split second (in the Task Manager) and do nothing.
