

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [Is this consider a &\[b\]#34\[/b\];Post to PM&\[b\]#34\[/b\]; Thread???](#)

Oldie - July 1, 2013, 7:47 pm

I'm confused on the meaning of "Post to PM".

My initial belief is that the rule meant " Post here(to basically b-ump the post) and then PM the thread owner w/ the request. I am very aware that this is against the rules and this was very prevalent in the Giveaway section.

I received a warning, in the "Buyer's Bay" for breaking this rule. How is this even possible? The thread was junked and the warning was given to my account.

In a nut shell, is this against the rules?

" I'm looking to Buy MSP, if you have any please Post or Pm me, because I'm looking to buy"

Notice, That I sad "Post or PM me, not Post then PM me, that would be the worst way to essentially "BUY" something. Why would you give a seller a chore to complete before buying something from them?

I posted "Post or Pm" for Options of communications. Can someone please revise and clarify my warning because I'm not sure what to think or learn from.

K?ala - July 1, 2013, 7:50 pm

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3219429>

Oldie - July 1, 2013, 7:52 pm

I don't think you read bro, I'll help you.

Post or Pm me

ViN - July 1, 2013, 7:52 pm

Yes. Once you ask to post the rule is broken.

Oldie - July 1, 2013, 7:54 pm

(Jul 1, 2013 07:52 PM)ViN Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yes. Once you ask to post the rule is broken.

Where in Omni's thread does it say once I say "post" the rule is broken, because I'm going on what I'm told what and what not to do.

Hexicidal - July 1, 2013, 7:56 pm

As time goes on, I think functional literacy rates are declining.

Oldie - July 1, 2013, 8:00 pm

(Jul 1, 2013 07:56 PM)Hexicidal Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) As time goes on, I think functional literacy rates are declining.

I know right, now judging by our situation, your post is against me.

Allow me to educate you.

Post or PM, a choice is given, in this case to the visitor to the thread in order to make a profit in some way or form.

Post then/and PM, a choice is not given.

Class dismissed.

ViN - July 1, 2013, 8:03 pm

(Jul 1, 2013 07:54 PM)Oldie Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Where in Omni's thread does it say once I say "post" the rule is broken, because I'm going on what I'm told what and what not to do.

Here is a post from Omniscient himself:

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3331874&pid=31354046#pid31354046>

Saged - July 1, 2013, 8:55 pm

I explained that rule to you. I even linked you to Omni's post about it. What is there NOT to understand?