

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: !!HELP!!! Injecting redirect code into a website

lukesc1993 - July 4, 2013, 4:44 am

Hi, can anyone tell me the best way of injecting a code into a website that redirects to another please?

Thanks

Cathal - July 4, 2013, 7:36 am

"Best way" would imply it's not only possible, but also that you have multiple choices..

My point way, there doesn't have to be a way.

lukesc1993 - July 4, 2013, 7:41 am

Any "way" will do lol, I was just wondering the how everyone else does it :)

urez - July 4, 2013, 8:11 am lots of different ways one way would be finding a persistent xss

Coded Indisoul - July 4, 2013, 9:38 am

you can put it in a .htaccess file then every visitor on that site will be redirected to your more info add me on skype manjot511

Crackerhacker112 - July 5, 2013, 6:05 am

(Jul 4, 2013 04:44 AM)lukesc1993 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hi, can anyone tell me the best way of injecting a code into a website that redirects to another please?

Thanks

```
<meta http-equiv="refresh" content="0; url=http://example.com/">
```

ZombiedaysHF - July 5, 2013, 10:35 am

(Jul 4, 2013 04:44 AM)lukesc1993 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hi, can anyone tell me the best way of injecting a code into a website that redirects to another please?

Thanks

if you have it hacked... this is the code:

```
<meta http-equiv="refresh" content="0; url=http://example.com/">
```

?

Crackerhacker112 - July 5, 2013, 2:50 pm

(Jul 5, 2013 10:35 AM)ZombiedaysHF Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) if you have it hacked... this is the code:

```
<meta http-equiv="refresh" content="0; url=http://example.com/">
```

?I said it above you idiot. 35 charss