

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Startup Web Development Company

TheOriginalGumba - July 6, 2013, 9:38 am

Hello everyone ,

I am in need of a partner who is willing to start a web design company with me. I myself know a little bit about web design but would like someone with a better understanding of what customers are looking for . The investment would be from both of us and the profits would be split between the both of us aswell. I manage the business side and who ever partners with me will have full control over designing . Later on , more people will be hired.

I Will only consider people with experience !

SuchPro - July 6, 2013, 11:59 am

(Jul 6, 2013 09:38 AM)TheOriginalGumba Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I myself know a little bit about web design but would like someone with a better understanding of what customers are looking for.

So basically you need a web-designer for your company?

Jake from StateFarm - July 6, 2013, 12:02 pm

So you want people for your web design company but you can't design websites? Good luck with that. The only way someone will join you is if you can prove you can get a crazy amount of customers.

TheOriginalGumba - July 6, 2013, 12:03 pm

Pretty much . I can some designing myself but I'm not experienced enough .

About the customers.... It's possible to find a good amount that will be sufficient in generating revenue. I plan on advertising in a very large scale . It can be done . Not saying its easy but there's possibilities of success .

SuchPro - July 6, 2013, 12:11 pm

(Jul 6, 2013 12:03 PM)TheOriginalGumba Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Pretty much . I can some designing myself but I'm not experienced enough .

You can open a company, but nobody would join you because its 50:50, and they do the 90% of the work. I my self wouldn't join ya.

Mr Royal - July 6, 2013, 12:17 pm

If you want to make profit you should definitely get experience and open it by yourself because working with partners is like declaring war.

You should also not just some day wake up and say "I want to make a Website Dev company" when you are not even experienced. I suggest looking through tutorials and learning HTML, CSS, Php, and Javascript before you get started in such a company. Designing the website is only 1/5 of the job.

TheOriginalGumba - July 6, 2013, 12:23 pm

I already know HTML and CSS. Aswell as some java . I am willing to help but I just need someone to share the workload with ! A partnership in other words. I am willing to negotiate the way profit is split.

