

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [\[Request\] How to reply to multiple emails with one email \[HELP\]](#)

T??? - July 7, 2013, 10:19 pm

I have 200 that have been sent to me and I would like to reply to all of them with one email instead of going through each and every one of them replying...

If anyone knows how to do this with gmail or a program like outlook to reply to multiple people at once you would save me big!

And yes I know about the vacation message that auto sends to everyone if you turn it on.

-Thanks in advance!

CNDRx - July 8, 2013, 9:29 am

Well what email client are you using first and we might be able to help?

T??? - July 8, 2013, 6:20 pm

(Jul 8, 2013 09:29 AM)CNDRx Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well what email client are you using first and we might be able to help?

Gmail...sorry for not originally including that.

Hoisington - July 9, 2013, 10:49 am

(Jul 8, 2013 06:20 PM)iLLy-i Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Gmail...sorry for not originally including that.

You do that by something called, "Forwarding" it's already implemented in gmail so it would be really easy for you.