Thread: Looking for coding partner / friend

Inuyasha1TB - April 10, 2010, 11:05 pm

Hey guys... I a while back made a keylogger, but gave up due to the fact i couldnt build a builder for it...

I really need someone who is willing to help me out on making this by reviewing my code and throwing some suggestions and stuff towards me.

All credits / profits of the projects we make will be 50 / 50.

Cats R Kewl - April 10, 2010, 11:08 pm

No offense at all... There is enough key loggers on the market already... you wouldn't make any money at all..

Plus it seems kinda weird to "Ask for a 'Friend'"....

Mmm but I could help you out I guess...

Most of the people in this forum want a keylogger source code so they can edit a few lines of a language they don't know and make some money. Just learn the language properly.

like i said. i have already made the keylogger part. i just need help with building / orginization. And like i said, this isnt JUST for the keylogger. Any program we make.

Anyone who is serious / doesnt want to flame me:

add me on AIM (Scootypuffjr02) or for those with MSN only:

add me on MSN (Scootypuffjr02@hotmail.com)

Sorry but I do not believe we were flaming... I clearly stated first line "No offense," did I not? I was serious.... Past tense... But considering you cant take criticism....

there may be enough loggers, but as long as u have quality, keyloggers will always sell. Pm me ur code if u need help, i'll check it for you.

k, added you.

damn you shortness!!!

The 7th Sage - April 11, 2010, 12:12 am oh thats a good code and long one. I thought u needed help with a basic one. Lol. :P I'll do it later.

Inuyasha1TB - April 11, 2010, 12:14 am

Well, really, the part i need help with (specifically) is the building part. i am pretty much lost on it :|

well yeah. The only problem is that its kinda complex. Building can be done in a simpler way. Optimization point of view your code is good. But when the end user uses it, its not user friendly at all.

i need help with this error:

Quote:System.OverflowException: Arithmetic operation resulted in an overflow.

NEVER MIND, it was because i was using FilePutObject instead of just FilePut.
