

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Adding general group color to usernames

Ragnaros - July 16, 2013, 2:51 pm

Currently if you're a regular user you're white, a l33t is yellow and an ub3r is blue. But when you join a group on HF and you change your primary group your name gets white again.

I think it's a bit vague to recognize a l33t or ub3r member that's in a group unless you click on their profile. Well, ub3rs have their sapphires, but still I think adding a general color like "red" or something for a group member might be a good idea. Just something I was thinking.

Morchid - July 16, 2013, 2:52 pm

Removed - I completely misread it .

Sorry

RDCA - July 16, 2013, 2:53 pm

There's no real benefit of this. Just click on their profile, it isn't that hard.

(Jul 16, 2013 02:52 PM)Morchid Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 5. Regular Member Features. If a feature is only for l33t/ub3r it's not going to be handed down to regular members who did not pay for the feature. Any new features of the site will almost always be for upgraded accounts.

Thanks

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=577653>

He's not suggesting anything that falls under that rule. ._.

Stay Plural - July 16, 2013, 2:54 pm

Nah, I kind of like it white... it fits.

Kotei - July 16, 2013, 2:55 pm

(Jul 16, 2013 02:52 PM)Morchid Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) 5. Regular Member Features. If a feature is only for l33t/ub3r it's not going to be handed down to regular members who did not pay for the feature. Any new features of the site will almost always be for upgraded accounts.

Thanks

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=577653>

I think by group suggestions Omni meant new groups, not suggestions applying to groups. Though I do disagree with this one.

Shoppa - July 16, 2013, 2:55 pm

Nah white is better it would be a mess if every group get his own colour.

Premortal - July 16, 2013, 2:56 pm

I like it the way it is. It would be annoying if I looked at the bottom of the screen to see who's online and there's a rainbow of usernames.

Concerned?? - July 16, 2013, 2:57 pm

I really like the white color that some users have. Like Shoppa said, it would look a mess.

Ragnaros - July 16, 2013, 2:59 pm

(Jul 16, 2013 02:55 PM)??Shoppa Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Nah white is better it would be a mess if every group get his own colour.

No, I mean a general color like "red" that counts for all custom groups, whilst the official groups still remain having their own color. Because I noticed that when somebody picks a custom group as primary their username color gets back to white. So there's only one extra color at the bottom when you look who's online, that'd be for example red. ;)

Revenge - July 16, 2013, 4:05 pm

I think White keeps it neat looking. I like it how it is.

Omniscient - July 16, 2013, 4:46 pm

Quote:Currently if you're a regular user you're white, a l33t is yellow and an ub3r is blue. But when you join a group on HF and you change your primary group your name gets white again.

How is that vague? If you're l33t and want to be yellow username then you set that as your primary. I will not add any special colors to usernames of groups.

Quote:No, I mean a general color like "red" that counts for all custom groups

Only 2 colors that matter...yellow and blue. Those are the upgraded groups. I had red for the Limited (now removed) group but I no longer use it and don't plan on having red color group names.

I try to keep the visual from HF as simple as I can.