Yup Slowloris now have a launcher for Windows !?

To make it work, you will need to put the Slowloris folder in C:/ in this folder there will have slowloris.pl

Then simply launcher the .exe in the download, put the URL victim, Lock On then click ATTACK

Please note:

- I did not try this on a computer that do not have ActivePerl.
- It's my second project from Visual Basic 2010 (seriously) don't expect something big. I will eventually update the application but i'll see first what you guys think :P
- I'm French-Canadian so sorry if there's alot of mistakes...?

I think you should post on Hacking tools section if you don't want to release any source.

Why would you have a "slowloris launcher" when you can actually make slowloris in the .net framework: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=2384611>

I read that it's way weaker on Windows than it is on Linux though, because of limited amount of sockets on Windows, do you think there's any way to bypass that limit?
