Thread: [\[C#\] My Calculator! \[2nd Tool\]](#)

ShadowLock - July 20, 2013, 4:57 am

What Is up guys, It's Zephyl again and I am here with another tool!

This calculator works completely.

Looks Like:

Well done, this is a good start to programming. I'm just hoping you don't move onto making rats and crypters.

Just letting you know, nobody will download this.

How do you know no one will download this?

And why are you not hoping to I jump to make RAT and Crypters? That's what I want.

Nobody will download because its a really simple tool, every computer has one that is much much better.

Too many people make RATS and Crypters, its just a wast of a tallent and time, move onto games or freelance and make money from it.

Lol I know that.

To be honest? All should know the windows calculator is better. But they don't have a quit button, HA! ?

Yasuð - July 20, 2013, 5:14 am

Is it not best making 1 thread instead spamming your projects in many threads? Nice work OP.

You showed me proof with alot of credits via Screenshare.

You had like 30k credits to spend.

Discuss over PM

Thanks for supporting me OP, now he knows I am right.Why do you think I know you're right, when you're not.

#Visual Basic, the one that need to STFU is you. I never talked to you, and he needs to keep his projects in 1 thread or he will probably post more projects and make many threads, don't make it to a big problem. LQ user.

You can save your subscribers too.

No one talked to anyone In this thread by the way.

I am right btw.

I am right btw.No you're not right. Your tool is really simple. If you're right that means you'll make many threads about your simple tools on C#, my subscribers is contributions for HackForums, sometimes I don't have subscribers, then I'll gain them and contribute for HackForums. I am right, and I don't want to discuss with you more. I just said keep your peojects in one thread, then you make it to a big problem.
