

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Do Fake Niche Or Real Niche?

Ypp101 - July 23, 2013, 5:08 pm

Well I am deciding whether to do a fake niche or real niche on youtube? What is the best method? For example if I am doing a TV show should I put like a list of netflix accounts in the download so people don't flag my video? That would be illegal though. Or second option when they download the file after the PPD put a mediafire link in there that is broken? So my fake niche lasts. Right now YT is my only source of traffic.

I'm new to this and one of my niches got shut down that was making me $40 daily. I'm about to reupload it on another YT account though and boost it with Fiverr. Nice and cheap.

Penar - July 23, 2013, 5:10 pm

Well, it depends where you got the Netflix accounts. If you got the Netflix accounts through illegal means, obviously it's going to be illegal. Generally speaking, the fake niches make more money, but there are a select few real niches that can earn you a pretty penny.

It's all up to you, though. Most networks don't allow the locking of fake content, either.

Ypp101 - July 23, 2013, 5:30 pm

Alright thanks, you gave me a good idea. But most people do fake content anyways. In my video description I put all the way at the end, " I do not own this and I am not distributing any content I am simply showing you how to get it"

- Will that help-?

Fire - July 23, 2013, 5:48 pm

A fake niche would generate fast money but could be easily eliminated by either your traffic source (Youtube) or your CPA network for fraud.

A real niche would generate slow money at first but it would improve by time slowly and in the end would beat the first traffic source.

Spoiler (Click to View)

Excuse my superior PS skills ?

With that said however, coming up with a real niche is ALOT harder than a real one. Good luck ?

Ypp101 - July 23, 2013, 6:05 pm

(Jul 23, 2013 05:48 PM)Farouqxii Wrote: CITE A fake niche would generate fast money but could be easily eliminated by either your traffic source (Youtube) or your CPA network for fraud.

A real niche would generate slow money at first but it would improve by time slowly and in the end would beat the first traffic source.

Spoiler (Click to View)

Excuse my superior PS skills ?

With that said however, coming up with a real niche is ALOT harder than a real one. Good luck ? Well the thing is with a fake niche if low competition I can get another video ranked in 1 or 2 days. So that may be worth it I suppose.

Also, it's a good idea to put niches on different youtube accounts since it might get deleted right?

Edit: Should I buy an aged YT Account?

IOIness50 - July 23, 2013, 6:07 pm

Legit niches usually can't be promoted very well through youtube. If you make a site, and you have a lot of competition, get ready to pay a lot for seo, or you can buy traffic.

Penar - July 23, 2013, 6:11 pm

(Jul 23, 2013 05:48 PM)Farouqxii Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) A fake niche would generate fast money but could be easily eliminated by either your traffic source (Youtube) or your CPA network for fraud.

A real niche would generate slow money at first but it would improve by time slowly and in the end would beat the first traffic source.

Spoiler \(Click to View\)

Excuse my superior PS skills ?

With that said however, coming up with a real niche is ALOT harder than a real one. Good luck ? You honestly couldn't have said this any better. I, myself have had experiences with this happening. I'd rather have slow and steady earnings than rampant earnings, then it coming to a complete halt.