Thread: Sherlock Holmes's 3000 post and late 1 year feedback & story thread

Jeremy Corbyn - July 26, 2013, 10:34 am

Let's start with my story.

I found HF after a member of my server told me about it. I mainly joined for the Minecraft and Griefing section. I have since left both. Let's fast forward a bit to the HF daily news, all I did in the period before that was post, buy l33t, get Ub3r etc...

The only interesting thing that happened then was when I found out that I had the same birthday as Juicy Booty which was quite a coincidence.

I made a series called the HF Daily news which was like the official news but shorter and daily.

During this series I interviewed Daisy and Cody. I have remained friends with both of them.

Then Omni told me to stop the news because it was too like the official news.

After that I ran a contest for the best username on HF but due to poll glitches nobody ever won it.

I didn't do much after that, I had a period of inactivity. Then I started back up and got posting in the Computer Hardware section, it's now my favourite. I just started the HF Records, self promotion FTW!

My story is short, I never joined a group apart from Beacon.

My feedback:

I like HF, I come here if I need help and to waste time.

My favourite section is the Computer Hardware section, I'm not sure why...

The Lounge is a nice section but full of drug threads.

The Griefing section is horrible, it's just full of clients and people asking people to grief.

The Minecraft section is nice, I still quite like most of the threads there.

The news is nice and the Writ3rs are doing a good job, I might apply for the Wiki team later today.

The auction section is rather nice, it's good to get a good deal on stuff sometimes.

What could be better:

Member search feature! I want more options to help make the HF records!

A use for prestige!

Booster policing.

I'll add more to this thread in a little.

Not to sound like a dick, but you only covered feedback for like, 5 sections in HF. And also, there is a 'member search' feature already. Unless you mean something else...

Regardless, thanks for your feedback. It wasn't lengthy, or very descriptive at all. But at least you're showing you care :)

Looks good mate ?

#Still reading it.

I mean more search parameters for the member search. Like setting how many posts they have max.

Wasn't the best feedback thread I've seen, that's for sure.
