Thread: Revamp The Premium and Secondary Marketplace

Hfiascfidl - July 28, 2013, 12:36 pm

This has probably been posted before but..

Everytime I am looking to browse what is for sale I usually check out the secondary first. When I go to the premium it is always filled with crypters, booters, vpns, views shops, etc.

Anyway to make a forum just for these kinds of things? Like "Shops". This will allow L33ts and Ub3rs to post misc things for sale in the PREMIUM section and then non upgraded to post in the SECONDARY. I just hate going to Premium and browsing through 5 pages seeing 4.9 of them full of things like booters.

What you think?

I know exactly what you mean. I go to secondary to find things other than applications. If I want accounts I go to secondary first.

One is for members who are upgraded, the other isn't.

Your suggestion is odd, and if you see booters in the premium section, report them as wrong section.

Well if I need to find something I just use the search function.
Just search for like crypter, rat, booter or whatever.

Sometimes I dont know what I want I just want to browse.

Booters have their own sub-section, so the section isn't filled with them. Though, there are many tools that inundate the section, but making another section won't help. We have enough specialized sections really, so that it shouldn't be too hard to piece through the Premium Sellers section.

RED = SHOPS

You can't have Booters outside SST anymore.

I'm contemplating adding a Crypters sales forum or subforum but haven't fully decided on that yet.

But I feel it's time to seriously consider it. But if you look there are really only about 150 threads in total which is a very small percentage of Premium.

RAT threads are the same thing as Crypters but I'm less likely to add a forum with that category in the Marketplace.

VPN's should be under VPN Hosting and Services but if an ub3r wants their thread in Premium instead that's up to them. They can't however cross-post and have the same thread in 2 sections.

Shops are actually in a way what the SMF's are for. They allow a seller to post all their products and services under one forum they can control. They are exempt from cross-posting policy in that section.

It might be best to just add prefixes to the section.
