Customer Service: 5 ***

First of all, the owner is a very friendly and patient guy, explained me perfectly how things work. Answered all my questions, even the stupid ones...

Product: 5**

As promised, once the man opens the flood gates, traffic streams in.
Got a positive lead ratio, above expectations.
I chose geo-specific traffic, next time I take global traffic.
Nice follow up with your own private tracking link.

Conclusion: 5**

I recommend anybody looking for quality traffic to purchase this service.
Fast delivery, good communication and a good monitoring system.

After contacting InfinityLord via Skype with a simple traffic question/want:

Not only was InfinityLord incredibly responsive but also friendly, explained things before they happened (in detail), linked to a Google analytic s page and also provided traffic that stuck around on my site instead of landing and leaving.

After the sale was done he stuck around and was professional the entire time.

Would def use him again for future plans. Great service.

P.S

InfinityLord, your customer service is easier than comcast. -aha

That's entirely upto the visitors themselves as they are real and not botted. I can't guarantee any downloads or special activity on your site/link. If the visitors find the content of your page interesting they might take a further look around.

It is possible but there is a chance that some of the visitors have Pop-Up blockers enabled.
And that will result in your ad network not showing all the hits you recieve.

Lightweight - August 16, 2013, 9:11 pm

Just bought 1000 hits from him for $1.50.

He said I would start to receive traffic within 3-4 hours, I started to receive traffic within 2-3 hours.
He said I would get my 1000 hits within 2-3 hours, it has been more then 6 hours, and I haven't even gotten anywhere close to 1000 hits, and hasn't increased at all since.

I will update this post when I talk to him, I believe he is offline.

Edit: I still haven't received 1000 hits, but it was partly my hosts fault. Overall, it was a friendly service, but I didn't benefit from the traffic at all.

Well, thats entirely upto the visitors themselves, i cant force them to surf specific pages on your website. However these are real human visitors and if they find your content interestinf they might take a further look around.

I can do twitter/facebook as ref, but its like facebook.com or twitter.com.

nothing else after the .com if you know what i mean.

For example:

Twitter.com = allowed

Twitter.com/somethinggoeshere = Not allowed

Well i cant guarantee you any clicks on your adsense ads, if thats what you are refering too, thats entirely upto the visitors themselves

But the traffic itself is adsense safe, meaning that it wont get your adsense account banned for using it

It will take around 4-6 hours for the traffic to start coming, and once it has started it will be completed within 1-2 hours.
So total of 6-8 at most ?

proXace™ - September 8, 2013, 1:29 am

I have one other question.

Why is Geo targeted traffic cheaper then normal hits? Is that a typo or?

Its not cheaper, its 50 cent extra per 1K hits.
Its kinda badly written but what it basically means is that for example if you buy 1K hits worldwide, thats 1$ and if you wish to make it GEO targeted, there is a additional 50 cent fee, which will make it 1.5$

So lets say you want 5K Geo = 5$ + 2.5$ = 7.5$

Due to many reasons, one of them beeing for your accounts own security.

Since there is a chance that your adfly account might get banned or suspended for using this service, and its against their ToS to get paid traffic to their links

100% human is a bit ambiguous

Is it something like they see the site as an interstitial link (similar to ad fly?)

or something like hitleap where it is technically human, but they might not actually ever really see it.

or is it real traffic that lands on the site without any kind of 'timer' before they automatically leave?

This is just me being curious, i may be interested in purchasing some.

This traffic is in no way similar to adfly or other CPM traffic.

The traffic is direct and is not shown through a iframe or interstitial ad. Your websites adress is in the visitors adress bar so its completely direct.

It is neither similar to hitleap or other automatic traffic exchanges. Because the visitors are actually viewing your site, not like auto surf sites where the users leave some kind of software running without ever seeing anything.

The traffic that reaches your site is therefore 100% real human traffic, a statement that i fully backup. There are no determined timer of any kind, however the average that the visitors stay on your site range from 40-60 seconds, (estimate from previous orders)

And if they find your content interesting the will of course stay longer and take further look around.

Traffic started hitting about 2 hours ago and it's been nice and steady.

If it goes at the current rate it should take around 32 hours to fill 5000 which isn't too bad at all.

Are those people juat using a bot to get vieuws ?

I mean like the concept of hitleaps.com ?

Vieuws for vieuws ?

Like i vieww your video i get a point spend that on my site for 1 vieww

Or are those people just staying at some sites?

Cause if thats possible i could use it for ppd :)

Any way nice site nice sales gl :)

No, these visitors are not coming from any bots, proxies or other junk sources like automatic traffic exchange such as hitleap.

It's a private developed method to obtain traffic and completely unique.

No, my traffic is not obtained by pop ups/unders.

I give my clients a private link where they can track their traffic stats realtime.

And i can delivery upto 50-60K hits per day per order.

However my normal delivery speed is 10K hits per 24 hours, but that express option is available for extra fees.

After contacting InfinityLord via Skype with a simple traffic question/want:

Not only was InfinityLord incredibly responsive but also friendly, explained things before they happened (in detail), linked to a Google analytic s page and also provided traffic that stuck around on my site instead of landing and leaving.

After the sale was done he stuck around and was professional the entire time.

Would def use him again for future plans. Great service.

Due to the nature of the traffic and since the visitors are all real humans, i cant control their actions or interactions on your website.

Its entirely dependant on them, if they find your content interesting they might sign-up.

But its not something i can predict or give a guarantee for a specific amount of sign-ups.

what are you doing???? yo you need to stop sending traffic, this is not good.

This is what you get when you pay.

I want to vouche - Obviously this kido don't care that he's sending low quality traffic, so he told me on Skype.

The worst about this is that this kind of traffic and high bounce rates actually DOWNGRADES your SEO and rankings.

It is entirely dependant on your websites content, and the visitors themselves.
If they find your sites content interesting, they might take further look around and stay for longer.
But its not something i am controlling, as these are real human visitors

The visitors can stay on your site for as long as they want, they are not force redirected anywhere else after a certain period.

So if they like your sites content they might stay longer, if not they might leave.

So its hard to give a general average for all sites, but i would say maybe somewhere around 40-50 sec, more or less.

Is there an estimated conversion rate or is it just traffic coming to your website?

(Sep 29, 2014 12:27 PM)Somekindahacker Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is there an estimated conversion rate or is it just traffic coming to your website?

That depends entirely on your websites content and niche and its not something that we can control.

Since these are real humans browsing your site, they decide themselves if they want to interact further with your content, and we cannot force them to certain actions.

But the possibility of receiving conversions are of course there, but estimates are unknown.

(Jul 31, 2013 10:15 AM)InfinityLord Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's entirely upto the visitors themselves as they are real and not botted. I can't guarantee any downloads or special activity on your site/link. If the visitors find the content of your page interesting they might take a further look around. So would this be good for advertising a site to potential members?

Did a total of 3 orders.

Result1: Really clean top traffic. No sales made.

Result2: made a nice ROI on a CPC model I'm testing (1200$+) (<https://puu.sh/cTlen/4ea61ba888.png>) results3: in progress we expect allot.

Overall, Nice friendly guy, Helping where needed an a really insanse overdelivery! I'd say would buy again. But i'm already buying daily at this point.

I would like to take some time to review this service.

Customer Service: 5 ***

First of all, the owner is a very friendly and patient guy, explained me perfectly how things work.
Answered all my questions, even the stupid ones...

Product: 5**

As promised, once the man opens the flood gates, traffic streams in.
Got a positive lead ratio, above expectations.
I chose geo-specific traffic, next time I take global traffic.
Nice follow up with your own private tracking link.

Conclusion: 5**

I recommend anybody looking for quality traffic to purchase this service.
Fast delivery, good communication and a good monitoring system.

Hitleap is a public autosurf site, the users just let a program run and forget it.

Your site never gets real exposure because no one ever really sees it.

This service obtains traffic from various sources, none of which are softwares like hitleap, and the visitors you get are actually humans viewing your site, so there is possibilities for further interactions and even sales and conversions.

For more info about how we obtain our traffic and our various sources visit our FAQ section at <http://trafficsurge.tk/>

Sorry to hear that, but as explained in our FAQs we dont control the visitors once they are sent to your site.
Their interaction level depends entirely on your sites content and niche.

But 10,000 and not a single button click. Not trying to argue though, I'm only laying out the facts.
But thanks for your service anyways!

Also, your service offer transversal across the site or is it just front page hits?

The traffic will be sent to the link you give us. But its possible for the visitors to further browse other pages on your site, if they want to.

purchased 5k visitor few weeks ago.

In my experience with it, i don't think its real human traffic.

But if it actually is real human traffic then those people are just clicking urls to get points/rewards or something.

I'm mean ye if you wanna get your website ranking up, ye your service is amazing, u delivery the visits fast & stuff +vouche on that.

But i won't prefer people to buy this if they want real human traffic to increase sales/customers. Definitely not gonna work out with this traffic.

The traffic is indeed real human traffic, but as explained several times both on our website and our thread, we are not responsible to make sales for you.

We send you the traffic, and the webmasters must find a way to monetize the traffic, we are not your personal financial management, so if you expect to spend 5$ on traffic and earn 500$ in sales, you must be dreaming.

Different kind of product and services, bring different conversion rates, some like you might not get a single sale, while some of our other clients were very happy with their conversions.

However, im sorry this didnt work out for you.

An increase in bounce-rate is to be expected with any paid traffic service.

Since we cannot control the visitors once they are sent to your site, its entirely upto them if they want to browse several more of your pages.

If they choose not to, your bounce-rate will increase.

This is in no way an indicator of fake traffic, so i would suggest you to look more into the difference between them.

If this was indeed fake traffic, we could control our visitors like "bots" and make them browse tens of pages on your site, maybe that would give you the "illusion" of real traffic, but we dont.

Anyways thanks for your feedback.

No need to get so defensive.

All my traffic is paid / promotional traffic so your argument regarding paid traffic is pretty irrelevant here the fact is a bounce of 14 > 82% is a huge leap and indicates the traffic is either a) very very low quality or b) bot traffic.
