It looks very nice, I'm interested in buying a good resolver because I need a good one.

I tested the free version, and it resolved like 6/10 usernames (which is between OK/pretty good), but will I get the exact same rate if I upgrade to premium?

Edit: Oh, and it never finds any Microsoft IP, that impressed me. I used many free resolvers and getting microsoft IP were very frustrating.

Also if the queue length is more than 1 I can never resolve. So I have to wait for it to go to 0 and get a quick resolve and hope it works. ?

Yeah, I just noticed it's a queue length bug. This is not because of the captcha, this is because of the way that the queue keeps checking until you're next in the queue, in this case, it already checks the captcha the first time around and then when you get stuck in the queue, the captcha will refresh and it will upload blank values.

EDIT: I have just fixed this. The resolve will only require one captcha checking, and then the queue will handle the rest.

I've never thought about buying credits because I thought it would be just as good as the free one. I was wrong, I bought credits this morning and let me tell you that it hasn't failed me ONCE. I am so happy with this. I have used the free one for so long that I can't even remember, I can't believe I bought credits just now. If you think it's the same as the free resolver it's not, the premium one will grab the correct IP every time. I vouch for this astonishing product.

If you're using the free server, it's gonna do that. :P There's always a lot of people trying to use it and the way our queue system works, it's not always accurate when throwing out IPs.

Skype names are cached. If there's an error, wait 5 mins and try again. If you want to resolve it quickly, use the Skypebot. It doesn't cache Skype names.
