Thread: Windows Server log off problem!

I am using a Windows Server 2003 VPS. The problem is it logs off after like 10 mins. I tried the Terminal Configuration thingy by going to sessions and changing everything to never but it still logs off. Any solutions?

You can change the session time out settings, via the local group policy on that machine.

Does it log off when it is idling or it happens even if you are using VPS at the moment?

I figured it out. The screensaver settings were set to "Log on screen on startup" or sth.
