

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [Fourth Website Design -= Otakume -= \[Flat, Responsive\]](#)

Tasemu - August 20, 2013, 7:20 pm

Hey hey people. Back again with another website design I have been tinkering with. This time I wanted to try and make something following the flat user interface design that seems to be so popular nowadays. It ended up being a lot harder than I imagined due to the limitation in effects I was able to use while maintaining the style. I opted to pay particular attention to my colour scheme and spacing while making this. I relied mostly on colour, iconography and nice typography to create a design that was simple, easy to navigate and easy on the eyes.

Live preview below as always. Much love.

LIVE PREVIEW

lenaos - August 20, 2013, 7:25 pm

Wow, looks nice Tasemu. Good job! ?

arimaru - August 20, 2013, 7:25 pm

Very nice, I really like the UI, Nothing to flashy just a nice simple look

KinGxKeV - August 20, 2013, 7:26 pm

Very good work Tas. You always amaze me with everything.

oneechan - August 20, 2013, 7:39 pm

Kinda dislike the tiny bit of space under the flag of each post. Also think that top bar could stay stationary, but otherwise, it looks great. Nice and simple.

Hentai? - August 20, 2013, 7:42 pm

Hm from what I can see it looks very nice tas. 9.5/10

barrier - August 20, 2013, 7:59 pm

Looks nice but a little bit to crowded with stuff but besides that it looks really nice

Homesick - August 20, 2013, 8:03 pm

Looks quite nice :) keep up the good webdesign !

Aired - August 20, 2013, 8:42 pm

You have spacing and typography issues throughout the whole design.

- Everything feels way too cramped together.
- Should differentiate between your heading slab font and your san serif font, because right now it just looks like you splashed those two fonts into random places.
- Couple of validation errors as well.
- The state your website is in right now, it really shouldn't even be considered responsive right now. I suggest you consider fixing them.

Overall, good attempt indeed. It's very nice to see designers in HF are converting to flat designs. Good luck man.

Members only - August 20, 2013, 9:42 pm

Wow this looks sick! I say a 9/10 on this one

Tasemu - August 21, 2013, 12:11 am

(Aug 20, 2013 08:42 PM)TheSire Wrote: CITE You have spacing and typography issues throughout the whole design.

- Everything feels way too cramped together.
- Should differentiate between your heading slab font and your san serif font, because right now it just looks like you splashed those two fonts into random places.
- Couple of validation errors as well.
- The state your website is in right now, it really shouldn't even be considered responsive right now. I suggest you consider fixing them.

Overall, good attempt indeed. It's very nice to see designers in HF are converting to flat designs. Good luck man.

Aye ill fix those up. I need to mess with the mobile version a fair bit to get something more practical. I will look over my typographic choices and try to part them more.

Ill also work on my spacing. I cramped a lot together because a lot of the sites i had a look at followed that theme. ^^

Thanks for your feedback, I will make sure to use it.

Emoticon - August 21, 2013, 7:45 am

Link 3 and 4 are a bit derpy on mobile. They get pushed to the next line, and that kinda ruins the look you were going for.

Tasemu - August 21, 2013, 4:19 pm

I'll switch it out for a mobile dropdown button. ^^

Grey Goose - August 23, 2013, 11:36 am

I like it! Keep up the good work! - Did you code it by your self?

xhflhkeuhwguu34 - August 23, 2013, 12:14 pm

A lot of people have given you some really nice feedback, so let me jump in here and add my own.

The navbar looks nice, however the color is a little milky. A tad darker would be nice.

The edit profile link should be larger or be a button. Do you even need it, considering there's already a cog in the navbar?

Consider using the title="" attribute in HTML to define what your icons do. This way, I can see what the lightbulb does when I hover over it.

I'll add more soon.

XDawNeDX - August 23, 2013, 12:20 pm

It looks nice. In the friends section though, the little light bulbs aren't lined up with the names. It irks me.

I also can't figure out who the characters are, I recognize them all but can only name off Urahara. That irks me even more.

Pretty good design overall though. 8.5/10 on this one. :)