How to bypass this error message on Paypal: "We're sorry, we can't send your payment right now"

THIS IS FOR PAYPAL'S WITH YOUR REAL PERSONAL INFORMATION ONLY

Description:

If you use Paypal, you've probably encountered this frustrating error before. I'm going to give you some solutions that will help you resolve this little issue as I have dealt with it many times.

The issue:

Paypal won't let you send a certain amount to someone else despite the fact that you have enough money to cover the payment and any taxes/fees. This error occurs on both verified and unverified Paypal accounts...

The cause:

I'm still not entirely sure what causes this pesky error. Some say it's a common side effect of using prepaid cards, others say it's due to too much action with your Paypal (moving money/chargebacks). Regardless, these solutions should help you resolve it.

One of the causes claimed by PayPal is if a US resident is sending a large sum to someone who is from the UK, US>UK & UK>US transactions are monitored by PayPal constantly. - Credit to Assailant

If you have the option, send from a mobile application. This works for me 100% of the time. If not, then read on.

Clear your history/cache + Delete cookies then close your browser.

Send in smaller amounts [if necessary].

If you have ANY cards on your account, remove them and then add them back. Try to send again.

Get the person your sending funds to, to send you an invoice. *Credit to Keyser Soze

try sending with a different web browser (Ex: If you're using Google Chrome, Use Firefox)

If worst comes to worst, call them and provide them with identification

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3765925&pid=35322915#pid35322915>

Wait 2 days because it's possible they could be running a fraud check on your account. Credit to syncing

Be sure to try as many of these solutions before asking for help.

I made this quick tutorial after reading tons of threads like the following:

I have used the above solutions tons of times and hopefully you can use them and see the same results. Feel free to post with any questions and I'll do my best to help. Oh and sorry for the lack of eye pleasing visuals, but it's straight to the point. Good luck!

Are you sure you're experiencing the "We cant send your payment right now" error? Because the solutions above have always worked for me. I've heard they work for others too based on my research. If you've had this experience and resolved it using a different solution please share and i'll edit it into the OP giving full credits to you.

Hmm, I've never experienced this.

Suboptimal - September 11, 2013, 9:41 am

If you have a static IP you normally don't get this error.

You only get this error if your IP changes all the time, because Paypal thinks there is a third party/fraud access so they simply block the payment.

Adding a credit card also helps to avoid this error.

Nopee - September 11, 2013, 9:49 am

What do you mean by ? Mobile application ?

Accessing paypal from a mobile device or a dwonloadable application that let's you access paypal and let them think that your in mobile ?

IP's have nothing to do with this. I frequently come across this error and I've had the same IP for months. I don't think CC's are a solution either.

Tried them days ago.

It randomly worked 10 minutes ago, check my awards = rich bitch.

Add this solution with a thanks to me:

Get the person your sending funds to, to send you an invoice.

It worked for me, then didn't work.
Just like all the solutions they work one minute & don't the next.

Calling up, they sometimes fix it, sometimes they don't too.

I couldn't transfer any money from my EWhore to my Real paypal account, thats what i said. We tried it by sending an invoice and that didnt't work aswell. I had to give both of my emails and the guy on the phone said he will tranfser the $30 i had on my paypal, to my Real paypal. It can take up to 24 hours.

Wow are you serious? You actually told the PayPal representative that you were trying to transfer money from your e-whoring PayPal account to your real PayPal account and they said okay that they would do it? You do know that you aren't supposed to have more than one PayPal account, right? I would be surprised if he didn't limit both of your accounts.

How to bypass this error message on Paypal: "We're sorry, we can't send your payment right now"

THIS IS FOR PAYPAL'S WITH YOUR REAL PERSONAL INFORMATION ONLY

Description:

If you use Paypal, you've probably encountered this frustrating error before. I'm going to give you some solutions that will help you resolve this little issue as I have dealt with it many times.

The issue:

Paypal won't let you send a certain amount to someone else despite the fact that you have enough money to cover the payment and any taxes/fees. This error occurs on both verified and unverified Paypal accounts...

The cause:

I'm still not entirely sure what causes this pesky error. Some say it's a common side effect of using prepaid cards, others say it's due to too much action with your Paypal (moving money/chargebacks). Regardless, these solutions should help you resolve it.

One of the causes claimed by PayPal is if a US resident is sending a large sum to someone who is from the UK, US>UK & UK>US transactions are monitored by PayPal constantly. - Credit to Assailant

If you have the option, send from a mobile application. This works for me 100% of the time. If not, then read on.

Clear your history/cache + Delete cookies then close your browser.

Send in smaller amounts [if necessary].

If you have ANY cards on your account, remove them and then add them back. Try to send again.

Get the person your sending funds to, to send you an invoice. *Credit to Keyser Soze

try sending with a different web browser (Ex: If you're using Google Chrome, Use Firefox)

If worst comes to worst, call them and provide them with identification

Wait 2 days because it's possible they could be running a fraud check on your account. Credit to syncing

Be sure to try as many of these solutions before asking for help.

I made this quick tutorial after reading tons of threads like the following:

I have used the above solutions tons of times and hopefully you can use them and see the same results. Feel free to post with any questions and I'll do my best to help. Oh and sorry for the lack of eye pleasing visuals, but it's straight to the point. Good luck!

Good day clark! I would also like to suggest by sending them the money as " DONATION METHOD " that also works most of my customers.

Btw, Thanks for the helpful tip. It is very useful to me really.

He means that you aren't supposed to receive payments sent as donations for goods and services.

Donations are only supposed to be accepted whenever someone is actually donating to you and if PayPal finds out that you're receiving payments sent as donations for goods and services they'll limit your account for doing it.

Call paypal to discuss your options would be the safest approach. Simply because you will know where you stand.

Rather than possibly being scammed right out of the gate.

You're out of luck since they'd require you to have a bank account in the country the PP was created in.

I'm a self-titled PayPal professional with the amount of downside I've dealt with when it comes to PayPal. No errors are enough for I, there's too many available methods to bypass their "anti-fraud" system, I only get the "We're sorry we can't send your payment right now" when it's a brand new account, usually after 24-hours it'll be fine.

Isn't it means you sent the person sending the funds an invoice, then the person click on the invoice to sent you the funds??

Oohs, my bad, I misunderstood. You mean you are the one sending the funds to that person. So you ask him to sent you an invoice first, then you click the invoice and sent him the funds, but now the funds pending on his end, not you correct?

If your account legit and clean, then paypal is probably checking his account instead, might be his account problem, not yours.
