Thread: [Illuminati | Member Upgrade Contest #2 | One Normal Member To L33T \[Ended\]](#)

Reticulum - September 25, 2013, 4:38 pm

Have you read about the new Illuminati, otherwise click here.

Winner: huiskmartijn

Hello fellow Hack Forum members.

I've been accepted into Illuminati & with that I've decided to upgrade one lucky member. This will probably be a frequent occurrence, possibly 1-2 contests a month. It's about time I start giving back to this marvelous community that has helped me so much. I'm thankful for you, and I hope you are too.

Here's how it'll work, I'll be picking one normal member to be upgraded to l33t. This thread will be closed exactly two weeks from now (10/9/13). Upon it being closed I will start reviewing all applicants.

Requirements:

- No Scam Reports
- Positive Reputation
- Member for longer than 2 months
- At least 100 posts

Application Template:

Replace "-" with your answer

Describe in detail why you think you should be an upgraded member.:

I think I deserve to be upgraded because of my good forumship, my aiding skills with people in need of help with computers, my high quality posts and responses, as well as my tutorials that are current and my tutorials which are to become real in the future on HF. Also, people will look up to my positive influence around the forum and this can spread among other members across the forum, I also highly encourage high quality posting to other members; and I willing to private message members with questions and comments gladly and willingly. I believe I am mature enough to take the utmost advantage of this L33T upgrade to the maximum extent as in subscribing to every thread I post to, changing my avatar and signature; I also strongly look forward to becoming an ever more active member by joining a positive group on HF to aid those in need in computers. Also I can then join one of the many wonderful groups on HF and support members with more ease. In addition, seeing that I am a member who is constantly active, the L33T status would certainly up my reputation by being seen as a model for good forumship to support our forum. Lastly, being a member closer to the forum only motivates me even further to post tutorials for Windows and share some of my gimmicks and code scripts in the Visual basic section and assist those drowning in computer errors and malfunctions in the White Hat section since I love aiding people in need, especially when I know what I am talking about, most of the time; regular members also tend to look up to those who have a certain status as well and I believe I am a positive influence among regular members.

Yes. I have participated in it too!

Have you visited our SMF before?:

Yes. I have a great desire to buy on of the Ebook from there!

Are you currently a buyer of any products listed in our SMF?:

No.

Describe in detail why you think you should be an upgraded member.:

The biggest reason that I find for the question of why I deserve to be upgraded member because I am one of the '2008' member. I have been visiting HF from many years, living in shadows, never being noticed by people. At present I don't have the skills to be called as an efficient hacker but I am always willing to learn and improve myself.

I found graphics as a sort of platform for me on HF to be noticed and appreciated by fellow members. I have done many free requests and services for the fellow members of HF because I always consider that by helping out others, spreading a hint of joy into their lives(who doesn't like a free service? :D) one can easily improve his skills and strive to improve for what he does.

I consider this year, my time to be finally upgraded and be of more help to the members of HF, providing them help, supporting in their endeavors or just chilling out with them! I have found many respectful members here on HF and some of them are my friends too which actually feels great! I too want to be seen as a role model, an inspiration for the new members of HF for that I feel the need to be upgraded to HF L33T

What are some of your contributions to the community?:

I basically try to help fellow members out by helping them with their graphics related needs and requirements.

Have you read about the new Illuminati?:

Yes, I have. Good luck with that!

Have you read about our $1,000 contest?:

Yes, and I did enter, although I have removed my signature (Don't feel like I need the money really)

Have you visited our SMF before?:

Yes, a few times.

Are you currently a buyer of any products listed in our SMF?:

Not currently, although hopefully I will be in the future!

Describe in detail why you think you should be an upgraded member.:

I believe I should become L33t because I try my hardest to help those in need, and I try and do my bit to help whenever possible. With L33t, I would be able to sell my products in the premium sellers section, I would also have a much higher limit of PMs which I could really do with. I also see a lot of high quality posts which should be credited for, but I cannot give rep with my current status.

Hopefully, I would make a greater impact as a L33t member.

What are some of your contributions to the community?:

anonfiles[WARNING POSSIBLY INFECTED] - Anonymous, encrypted file sharing

I am trying to help people in there threads

Anything else you think need be said?:

All the best for your efforts, Best of luck to all candidates ?

Aura - October 2, 2013, 6:36 pm

Have you read about the new Illuminati?:

Yes I did, happy to see there's actually people with a brain and using them to make money on HackForums.

Have you read about our $1,000 contest?:

Yes I did, it's an awesome contest. Unfortunately I can't participate as I don't have a Paypal account (well, no credit card, so I can't activate it really ...)

Have you visited our SMF before?:

Yes. Your products are the first one I heard of and saw when I first joined HackForums. Hopefully, I'll have a way to buy one, one day.

Are you currently a buyer of any products listed in our SMF?:

Nope. I do not own a credit card, which makes me impossible to buy things online.

Describe in detail why you think you should be an upgraded member.:

At first, I wanted to stay a normal user. The L33t or Ub3r status didn't really interested me (mostly because I don't have a credit card like I said, so I can't even buy the L33t title). But the more I started to post on HackForums, the more I started to notice that, you don't have any credibility if you : don't have a title or have a low reputation. And it started to bug me, because I think people should be judged on their knowledge and skills. Not a banner that shows you can actually buy or win a title. It's also ironic to say that because I am too now entering a contest to get this kind of "title". I don't want this title to make myself feel over the normal members or to be part of those people who only have this title to show it off. I want it because I want people on HackForums to recognize me as a person, a student, that do his best to help everyone he can on the forum, and to keep it clean, and who just want to be recognized, taken seriously.

What are some of your contributions to the community?:

Sadly, I only made a small guide so far on HackForums, and it's not even related to Hacking or any Computing methods, just a small guide on how to make a thread in the Beginner Hacking Section, hoping to make this section cleaner filled with less spam and junk threads.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=3782891>

I also help alot whenever I can in the Beginner Hacking section and the Windows section. As you can see in my signature, I'm using my knowledge and experience of a Computer Science student and Tech. Support to help the others, whenever I can. I also do it to test my abilities and skills : if I encounter a problem someone's facing that I never had, can I still find the solution to his problem.

Anything else you think need be said?:

I think I said everything I had too. I fully understand that I'm only a Computer Science student, I'm young, and so I may not have the experience or the required skills to use a future L33t title efficiently to help out the community. But I can say something, I'll still try as hard as I can to help the most people I can with what I know, for them, for myself and for anyone who just wants to learn.
