Thread: [Can you crack the code? \[Challenge #3\] - CRACKED! :D](#)

TheDubWubCub - October 3, 2013, 12:23 pm

Hello HF! :D

Normally I would do these types of challenges with a prize of some sort, but I honestly have nothing to contribute other than just these challenges for the time being, but I really hope you enjoy them anyways haha! :D

Hint:

I have decided to include examples for each cipher to help you better understand of how the codes may work.

Although, if a particular code is too hard to crack then I'll be happy to give little hint about it. :D

Fully understanding how Code #2 works will help you solve Code #5. :D

Hint for #2:

Spoiler (Click to View)

About:

So I have realized that the algorithm for challenge #2 is kind of unstable, luckily the answer to be solved falls into an exception of the algorithms problems.

So nothing to fear, the challenge can still be cracked 100% no problem, but only a very few of the examples given may be contradictory. Nevertheless, you should have no problem solving the challenge! :D

21:C/ = H

8:M/ = E

12:- = L

1:A/ = L

5:- = O

21:B_ = W

9:F_ = O

9:I_ = R

2:- = L

20:- = D

23:- = G

5:- = O

15:_ = O

18:B/ = D

2:- = L

2:I/ = U
1:R/ = C
26:A/ = K

8:_ = H
9:M/ = F

Here's some more for the heck of it haha:

1:_ = A
17:- = A
7:/ = A
1:P/ = A
...

and i can just keep going on and on, there are many ways to get to "A", but know that there are only two types of "A", same meaning though.

Hopefully this will be enough to help you crack #2 easier, if not then i'll most likely just post the solution a week from now. :D

Good job man! Hopefully you'll be able to figure them out. :D

I can solve #4 if I bothered, but I really can't. Might try to figure it out later on tomorrow if nobody else has figured it by then.

Is this code #2:

IG

While "J=" is G, and W being the 23rd letter of the alphabet, I figured with I being the 9th letter, it would make sense.
