It appears the problems above are happening again?

I purchased hosting around 24hours ago and it's been up for about 1hour since purchasing.

Hope you resolve this soon, It was great for the 1 hour or so that it was up ?

Shermy - December 8, 2013, 12:11 pm

Yes, all our IP's relating to S1 (Server 1) have been null routed.

We are experiencing a consistent attack of 10Gbps+ (DDoS)

We are working with our DDoS protection provider to resolve the attacks.

Correct, have not been able to make an update. Services were back online at about 10PM EST Last Night.

Sorry for the inconvenience, the DDoS attack was to large for us to mitigate/protect.

Thanks.

Is this for saving 50% for the rest of "my" life?

Means that it will ONLY be $27,96 for Shared Hosting (Dallas, Texas) - Super Shock (US) each year? :O

maybe a stupid question, but im not 100% into this.

Warning! This might be a retarded post.

I bought a shared hosting and set up a mysql via cPanel but I cant seem to find the hostname for mysql? I've allowed remote access to it. Sorry if I missed something obvious, new to this.

I've already made a post in here but just wanted to update it.

Shermy isn't afraid to look into your issue even if it isn't causing any worthy issues for you, such as server load or even if you don't like how much load there is. He will gladly look into it and find a solution even if that means buying a server(s) to spread out the accounts.

I speak from experience, I spoke to him about the server load as it was starting to get unhealthy from my point of view and here we are. Another server, which as a bonus happens to be offshore as well. Amazing support, fast servers and most importantly no bullshit.

GLWS.

You could do with more support staff though for those heavy moments, wink wink nudge nudge. ;)

Could not connect to the database

Blazzer, regarding your Pending issue - you are correct. Your domain already exists on the server your new service was assigned to, causing our billing system to automatically set your order to "pending" (not created) because cPanel does not allow duplicate domains to be hosted/created on the server.

Please check your personal messages on Hack Forums, and check your open tickets.

Just thought I'd clarify, that screenshot doesn't mean the server is down since it is the cPanel version of a 404 error (which means the server is responding.) It wouldn't be evidence anyway considering their client area is on a separate VPS located elsewhere.

Regardless of what it says on the website, you agree to the terms of service when you order which explains more on their refund policy.

Do not buy this service, the owner is very immature and don't serve his clients as a business owner should.

?Young Thug - September 11, 2014, 4:45 pm

Review on shock hosting:

So I bought the quarterly plan and right away was getting ddosed (the ddos protection does not work)....

Then the hosting was banned because I was told my site needed a dedicated IP for another 2$/month.. So I paid that and was told it was allowed..

And so the next day my site was getting ddosed again and using 8/10 entry processes and they suspended it even tho they claim they have ddos protection.

Even after eliminating the ddos attacks (layer 7) and then bringing CPU usage back down to 0%... Still suspended without warning.

They will suspend you for getting ddosed even though they offer "ddos protection"... And even if you manage to bring the cpu usage back down to 0%.. They check the logs and ban you anyways.

I HIGHLY recommend that nobody purchases this host.

Shermy - September 11, 2014, 4:58 pm

You agree to the Terms of Service when you purchase.

We take resource abuse very seriously, especially when it is affecting other clients.
(Even if it is caused by a DDoS attack method that we do not protect against)

Pretty sure if you use Cloudflare (make it more difficult for someone to find your host) and don't get reported you'll be ok.

They do follow DMCA/abuse reports so its on you if you want to risk that.

bro wtf i have 15 accounts with domain names and all are down!!! i can't even access the customer area or the contact form. what you pay is what you get.

pay 2$ you get 2$.i am getting all my domains out of this hosting. i tried to install a SSL certificate for 4 days with no success they were asking me about the cloudflare settings when all fault was on their side. they keep changing the damn servers every fcking week!!!

do not i repeat do not engage with them unless you have a blog or a small site you don't care if it's up or not!

i don't care if this host was good for 1000 years.for me the last months it was a pain!when you get into hosting you need to have balls and money not just offer a 2$ hosting and then this is it.

do i have to care if there is a downtime or what? i hosted hundreds of sites on at least 30 hostings over the years and guess what? first one that does this. bro get a real site and then say it's ok for a downtime.

i guess hosting doesn't care if you can pay for the domain or hosting in 2-3 days like i don't care if it's down. it's a CRAP hosting. at least they could put their site on a server so people can login and change DNS settings while they were down. who pays for a hosting that can't even host it's own domain name. it's bull....it

They used to host it on a RAMNode VPS, however I believe they moved back to their own servers when they upgraded to newer hardware.

It's understandable if you have a website that is actually being used and it goes down, it is incredibly frustrating.

You should wait it out, and when it's online then you request a refund for your remaining time. It's wiser to keep those kind of replies off sales threads.

This is the first time I have seen Shock Hosting have this kind of downtime for a long, long time.

Shermy - October 24, 2014, 8:04 pm

Second update:

We will be needing to migrate all servers to a new Datacenter(s). If you have any recommendations (Locations mainly, not DC specific) please send me a Private Message or reach out to us via Social media such as Twitter or Facebook. We have narrowed the location down to either Eastern USA/Canada or Western Europe. Ex: Netherlands

We will not be releasing the cause of the issue until the migrations are completed. Shock Hosting's website will first be migrated to begin with addressing client concerns.

We appreciate your continued patience during this downtime - we will be compensating each and every client for the downtime, compensation can be requested once our migrations have been completed to our new network(s) via opening a support ticket at shockhosting.net/portal.

The migrations should be started tomorrow morning/afternoon - the new DNS and server information will be emailed to you upon completion to ensure your website(s) are online and working as soon as possible. We will not be prioritizing any account(s) for migration, they will be completed alphabetically - #A-Z. Sorry for any inconvenience.

Once again, thank you for your understanding and patience - updates will be posted shortly.

@mihai3030 - Your account was suspended for an AUP violation, which we will not be reversing.

Please find a new hosting provider, your ilegal activity is not welcome here at Shock Hosting.

Jeck - October 24, 2014, 10:24 pm

Third Update:

New servers are currently being provisioned, sorry for the delay. We had plans to go with a certain Datacenter last night, but those were overturned - which led us to needing to search for a new Datacenter.

Servers should be provisioned within 4 hours - once they are provisioned we will begin with the initial setup process.

Once each server is tested and approved, we will proceed with migrations - starting with Phoenix, Arizona servers.

Thank you for your extended patience and understanding.

Update: we are experiencing a delay with the account transfers.

Looks like we will be needing to take up most of tommorow to have these transfers finished.

Sorry for the inaccurate timeframe/delay - working as quick as possible. Thanks Update: All servers except for one, S6, have been migrated!

Please check your email account for your new DNS and Server information if your account has been migrated.

S6 is currently being prepared for migrations, which will begin within the next few hours.

Shock I thank you for good hosting! I unfortunately had to cancel because of college bills. I hope to be back soon!

Maffianoz - October 27, 2014, 8:17 am

I just got one question, I can't access cpanel, it doesn't give my anything when clicking "cpanel" i get an page saying the websit isn't avavibile, and when trying to login to client area it loades for like 1 minute then I can login, I didn't have this problem before. Is it mabye cuz you aren't done setting up everything?

Or have you setup everything? If so then it's weird I have this.

Da God - October 27, 2014, 11:35 am

Still waiting on my email, hopefully the hosting is back soon.

Was recently hosted with them, it was quite a good web-hosting provider. However I did have some server issues, like couldn't connect to the FTP server. But was only down for a bit, resolved very quickly.

Didn't have any issues really, so I didn't really contact support and so I can't really judge their support. But overall was a good provider.

FX 97 - December 16, 2014, 11:27 am

Hey it's Tech. I have to give it to you. When you first told me two years ago you were going to start your own hosting company I laughed and said good luck and I even tried to tell you it was a waste of time. But you sure as hell showed me wrong. I failed, and you succeeded. Yeah you had your s but somehow you turned out on top. Just decided to come into this section to look around and saw the sticky. If you need any help with anything hit me up on Skype and time, but looks like you're doing well for your self. Next week I'm going to talk to Adam and see if me and him can start something up again. I have been saving my pay check for a while now and have enough to start up something again. If you have any ideas or just want to talk message my Skype. Wish you the best! -Tech

BTC requires a certain amount of confirmations before it will create the order, if it takes longer than like 10-20 minutes then there will be a problem with account creation.

We comply with the DMCA, so no. You'll want an offshore host for that.

?Gohan - March 3, 2015, 11:51 am

Vouch for Shermy , and his hosting.

Moving from ShockHosting today, really is a great hosting site and been with them for ages, their support is amazingly fast. Just had to move as their 'security' blocks my payments due to wrong address, well correct but added in 'California' by accident and refused the payment, twice. But good luck with this company Shermy, its really great!

Shock Hosting has my Vouch.

Been using them for a month or two now. Amazing support, amazing hosting, amazing pricing.

Honestly, don't waste your time with other hosting providers. I've been with many of the big ones. Even providers that charge upwards for $10 for what I get at Shock hosting for $2.50. The truth is none compare to Shock hosting. It's simply Superior.

Creamationnn - June 7, 2015, 11:16 am

Honestly this provider is very good. The service is fast the support is amazing. I have had to contact them a few times but they resolved it fast. My review for them so far, they are amazing and i would recommend them. They even migrated my website from hostgator to them for free! i didn't wanna do it as i have a ton of files and my database is 500mb if not a bit more. IM really happy with them and the support is amazing they don't make you feel like your a hassle no matter what you pay for hosting. im impressed i haven't seen a provider like this in a LONG time.

Anyone online to support me ? It's not really a instant setup.

If the product says active, then it is setup if it isn't then open a ticket. Everything else that affects the time it takes for your website to get online is DNS propagation. That's nothing to do with the host.

PenLJ - October 13, 2015, 11:29 am

I assume since it's hosted in NJ that you respect DMCA?

Evident - October 13, 2015, 6:55 pm

I have definitely left a review for Shock Hosting's Shared Hosting service before, but I feel that I should leave an updated one.

Price:

Shock Hosting provides an amazing price for the features that they offer. With their "low-shock" shared hosting option they offer an amazing amount of features for a low $1.99 a month. If your requirements exceed those, then the higher tiers are prices very fairly with each tier increasing by $1.00, and support will gladly help you with the transition of tiers.

Performance:

After being with Shock Hosting for over a year, I have experienced only 3 instances of downtime in that time. Out of all of those, the issue has been resolved within two hours of the downtime occurring, and support has been very informative about what caused the downtime, had contacted me immediately when it began, and even compensated my account for the downtime.

As well, speed under even the lowest tier service is phenomenal, with my sites never hanging or not loading in a timely fashion.

Utilities:

Shock Hosting comes with a new, very clean client dashboard for viewing the services that you have. As well, each tier comes with a full updated copy of cPanel, a professional and well known hosting dashboard.

Support:

Support is a very important factor when choosing a host, as if anything goes wrong with your site, they are the ones to contact. I cannot say enough how friendly and professional the support staff are for Shock Hosting. Any issue that I have had, they have dealt with immediately, and have treated me with respect and as if I was their top priority. They have yet again compensated my account for any issues that I had, and have been very informative with any questions that arose.

After thinking hard about this service, one of the only cons that I have been able to think of was the lack of presence outside of their support system. They have social media contacts listed on their site, however they are not updated often which disconnects the customer from the host. This is just a personal opinion, but I find it nice to be able to connect with staff outside of the support system sometimes.

All together, I would and have recommended Shock Hosting to anyone who is looking for a quality hosting service for a very reasonable value.

Shermy - October 13, 2015, 8:48 pm

Thank you both for the feedback! I agree with you regarding social media, I will get that sorted out ASAP.

Please let us know if you ever have any questions or require any assistance. :)

I am mostly pleased going with Shock Hosting. They have powerful hardware and a stable 1Gbit connection on all servers. It's hosted on CloudLinux+cPanel which makes a great combination. It opens opportunities for customers to build their own PHP (Chose their PHP version and modules). They also use LiteSpeed as the webserver which proves this is a top-notch service and a great solution for both personal websites and company websites that requires only the best.

So far so good, but I would like to see a Europe location in the future.

I r8 8/8 gr8 m8.

SHermy please PM needs reply

Jenicke - March 4, 2016, 3:25 pm

Bought webhosting from them, was almost instantly (had to wait bitcoin confirmations), had some issues with my scripts in the webhosting but Shermy fixed it for me via PM.

Would recommend buying from them it has a friendly support.

Just posting an update: I've been using Shock Hosting since March 11, 2014. I'm past the two year mark, and in that time I've had nothing short of an amazing experience. I've recommended Shock Hosting to numerous other people, and it's been nothing but satisfactory. Cheers for an excellent past two years, and here's to the next two!

The main difference would be the hardware that we use, for example our CPU's are clocked higher and we use SSD's in RAID 10 with CacheVault.

Please let us know if you have any other questions.

your servers IP and then configure 2 nginx proxies (ports 443 and 8443) for the websites.

Yes our bundle template (activated, updated and includes some customizations) incurs an additional $9.99/m onto the price.

You can access an original Windows Server 2012 R2 ISO within SolusVM to install a copy yourself, if you so desire, 2GB or higher plan is still the requirement.

Dude. Did you even read his post? Secondly, if you had any knowledge of how to configure a botnet you would not be using a server located in a country that the five eyes has access to or that is DMCA regulated such as in countries listed in OP. If you want to do this you are best off getting BP hosting in Russia, Iran, Malta, etc.

good luck to you and best of luck to OP with sales; may purchase a test vps

Stanley - March 29, 2026, 2:54 am

I'm Stanley HF's helper bot. The OP (original poster) of this thread wants everyone to see this page and has elected to bump it to the top of the showthread listing. Since HF doesn't want a ton of LQP (Low Quality Posts) this is the best method of bumping your content. There is a small ?yte fee for each bump. Any OP can bump any of their threads on HF from the linked icon on the top of their first post.

If you haven't already read the first post of this thread we encourage you to do so.

Thanks,
Stanley
