Thread: Wasted an hour with no results

NeymarS - October 6, 2013, 10:38 pm

So this is my first E-whore attempt. I went on a teen chat room and had a few people private message me. I added one guy on Skype, from which we talked from. He asked a lot of questions, I answered them. Half an hour pasts and this guy is still asking me questions about, if I had a sister, how old was she, did I have photos with her ect. After about an hour we finally decide a price. I send him a preview picture and video. (The video was just under a minute, the best video I had because I wanted him to pay me.) He finally said he had paid me, I checked paypal nothing was there, I then tell him something must of gone wrong, or something. He says "why won't it go through :(". I then say, "would you mind screenshareing and just show me?" He logs off.

Any suggestions on how I can improve? Also if anyone has some links to free pictures, and videos, that would be great.

Thanks for your help,

(Ps. I was asking relatively cheap for the pictures and photos, I was asking for 5 dollars for 3 videos.)

(Pss. I know this is my first attempt and should not be surprised that the guy disappeared without paying, I just wish I didn't waste an hour talking to the guy..)

You will spend hours and hours to get your first money. Dont worry, that's normal

If you're thinking that hour you spent is "wasted" and you couldn't have possible learned anything or tried some different approach during that hour... Then maybe eWhoring isn't for you, Best of luck!

What I hate most are those people who tell you they paid you while they don't even have paypal, and then keep saying " oh why didn't you receive it,.." etc etc..

One guy did it once to me, it pissed me off, I Ratted him, and kep seing what he was doing. Spending his night on chatavenue, adding all ewhores or girls that sell camshows, asking for previews and promising he will pay them via paypal etc..

He claimed to be from the UK, while he was living in India. I deleted most of file from his pc, and then added him in skype faking to be a cam girl, and then sent him school info that I found on his pc. He didn't understand shit.

You must waste time in order to have success.

These type of " buyers " that you just described are just some scammers.

Never spend more than 10-15 minutes talking with a guy, NEVER!

And never get closer with him, just be straight, want to buy pics or not? You don't have time to lose, in most of cases, you're gonna find out if the guy that you are talking is a serious buyer in just 30 seconds, i don't know... you just have that feeling that he's going to pay you!

And 1 hour, like the other users told you... there are many, very many people that lost days trying to get at least 5-10$ from e-whoring and get NOTHING! Sometimes you just need to have some luck, to find out a very very stupid perv haha.

Just try to be pacient and try more and more, I just one hour that you was talking with that person maybe I was talking with more that 20. So try to make everything really really fast, and talk more time with a guy just if he pays you first, after you see that he's a serious buyers, try to talk more with him to milk from him more money.

Good luck and nice earnings!

Thank you, this was very helpful. Also, I know people go days without making money, I just wish that I would have added 2 or 3 more people other than just the one guy. I learnt something, and that's what matters.

Thanks everyone!

It took me about 5 to 10 goes to get the hang of things you can't expect to pick up a guitar for the first time and know how to play little wing, it takes practice. Write down your method and see what works and what doesn't it will happen.

Alright, I spot a lot of mistakes on your first e-whoring attempt. Never send pictures and ESPECIALLY don't send videos to your pedo. Only be in a state of mind, of only sending the pedo one non-nude preview. Also, to make it look more realistic, and to rise your earnings, never sell 3 videos for $5. You could have at least done it for $15 or $20.
