Thread: Looking for hacking help. refer me to a page or something idk.

Reanimated - October 13, 2013, 1:54 pm

im looking through this beginner hacker thread and find nothing at all. just a bunch of crap with people asking for help on certain things i know nothing about (yet) so im wondering if anyone can refer me to a thread or something that lets me know some basics. also im looking to hack without viruses or downloading anything. files or anything. just straight from my machine with the tools its automatically given.

With the tools already given? You would have to have the luck of a god for that to work easily... PM me if you have any more specific questions.

If you are using windows straight out of the box without anything installed you have already been hacked, ratted and keylogged by the government, get yourself Kali Linux then start asking questions.
