Please tell me you have a plugin that also checks the IP of the people who enter along with their email, if not people can just register with diff. emails they create(d)

So we just enter our emails and we're automatically entered in?

Can't people just use like all their emails they have and have more of a chance of winning? How does this work?

Bezo - October 20, 2013, 11:03 pm

Just entered with one of my emails :)

Thanks for this chance to win 100 Euros.

Good Luck to all who are competing :)

I have a few systems in check to ensure only one person enters each contest :)

Make it all fair for you!

3270 - October 22, 2013, 10:52 am

Have entered my mail into your system :) Btw you should have adds on your website this could be something with potential!

So I used an HF themed email I have (that I happen to offer for free ?) that isn't associated with my PayPal. Am I supposed to have signed up with my PayPal email?

No everything is in order, I happen to see your email :)

You've been entered "once" for a chance to win £100.

If you wish to enter more times you would then need to purchase :).

Goodluck!!
