First of all, I want to introduce myself and salute you. My name is Michael, I'm sixteen, I practice fencing for five years now and I live in Romania. It has been a time since I joined this forum and I'm still active, I'd like to get this upgrade because I'll be more trustfully, the newbies will contact me regarding problems/support and so on. I'm a really friendly guy and I'm glad that I can help a n00b, even I've not been taught by someone else in some domains. The most important thing I'd like to do, and the first thing, for a newbie is to give him confidence, because everyone of us would appreciate any kind of encouragement when you're not sure about something.

Also, the L33T title would offer me access to more subforums and more actions, like groups where I can join and make new friends that would make me more "heard" and help each other like in a family. I think this way because I like the teamwork and that's the most important thing in life in my opinion, to help each other even you can do a little work there. This title offers me the right to give feedback to users, so people won't get confused if they can trust a user or so.

Since I'm a teenager and I don't work my budget is so low and I can't afford this. I do not work because my country is so limited and nobody will hire you if you're not eighteen, also you can't get a job easily even you're 18 but...

If I will be chosen, I would continue to contribute to the community, I'll try to host contests and giveaways, not worth of 50$ or so (maybe in the future) but I will try to give away accounts, YouTube services and tutorials. As I said I'll continue to help people that are not very experienced, being friendly with them and even making tutorials, and that because here's a nice place to learn and share our experience to each other.

Thank you a lot RedBull for caring about others, and I really appreciate you.

[img]http://imageshack.us/a/img202/4743/vp5v.png[/img]

Actually, I will contribute to HF when I'll be L33T because I have some Steam gifts and I can't post in the Member Contests section because as you see, I'm not upgraded.

But, I'm always helping the newbies and answering all of their questions, even helping them on IM's and so on.

[img]http://imageshack.us/a/img837/9374/9mpn.png[/img]

I've started to post a bit more in the e-Whoring section because it's one of my passions and I really like what I'm doing.

I helped a lot of members in this section and you can see by viewing my posts.

Why do you deserve L33T?: I think that because of my little amount of contribution, I'm sure there are more eligible people who deserve the l33t status, but I think that I would appreciate it more than any others.

How have you contributed here at HF?: I am constantly giving away free twitter followers, doing contests for free twitter followers, viewing threads where people post their instagram / twitter and then randomly sending them 1,000's of followers, ect. Also, when people are searching for things - such as a program, item, or service I often times will PM them offering my help for finding it for FREE. I actually do that quite often, as weird as it sounds.

Why do you deserve L33T?: I will start with the requirement part first. You need to have a good reputation even to help others. I know I can deliver good, but fail at times because of a normal member tag. I don't blame others for this, but can't make them trust me blindly too! I have always tried to help the community in one way or the other and even if I fail in this contest, I swear; I won't stop trying. But, in case you choose me, believe me; you would be of great help! You will give me a power/respect, by which I can perform better & in a trustworthy way! If I get this upgrade, it would be nothing stopping me! I would get a tag of a respected L33T member. I assure you Quality & would never ever let you down.

How have you contributed here at HF?: I've helped numerous people with questions, and problems about topics that I excel in, to insure a high quality, and informative answer. If I become l33t, I will dedicate more time with the community and try to teach them new, and better things.

Why do you deserve L33T?: I dedicate all the time I'm on this forum (which is quite a bit) to helping people, mostly in the Remote Administration Tools section. If I am not doing that, I'm failing at making money online. I'm also about to release some ebooks, and l33t would boost the sales.

How have you contributed here at HF?: I've helped many people all throughout the forum where I can, but I've particularly helped in the RAT section. I'm also going to release a few ebooks soon.

Why do you deserve L33T?:

Just a note beforehand, when I say 'deserve' I know I probably don't deserve an upgrade but I want one. The following are reasons why I want an upgrade and what happens if I get an upgrade... Well, I'd think I deserve an upgrade because I love helping people with any problems they may have and I'm always kind. I think I can be looked at as a roll model for other members. I also believe that I deserve L33T because most of my posts are written to help people. If I get L33T I'll be able to post more threads and post in exclusive, upgraded member only, sections. If I get L33T I will continue to try and help people and I will not abuse my responsibility. I think I deserve L33T because I offer a lot of free services and giveaways. Also, if I get L33T I'll be more motivated to helping others and giving out more free stuff. Another reason why I think I deserve L33T is that I'm really active. I come on HackForums every day to see if anyone needs help and to fill in any requests I may have. I will never post 'LQ' content and will try to make my posts as visually appealing as possible so that other users can read my posts with ease. I will respect all users and I won't try to take advantage of anyone. I will never scam (being upgraded means it's easier to scam because people trust upgraded members more).

How have you contributed here at HF?: Here are a few of the contributions I have made to the community.

Why do you deserve L33T?:1. I'd love to be L33T, and because i'm elite ;)

2. I'd love to give out Reputation, as i've seen so many HQ posts on this forum!

3. A great thing which is only for L33T/UB3R: Image in signature! I'd love to get an Image, to show something i've made!

4. A big reason: PM space. I have to clean out my PM box too frequently :((When i gave an E-Book away, i got alot PM's. But IMO it's better to give a direct link in thread ?)

5. L33T is a way to show the community that you aren't just a Leecher! (That's what i've heard. I helped a guy, and someone replied my post: "Lol, a Leecher with 20 posts helps a UB3R? Go back to freebies section"..

6. The Green username ... ?

Why do you deserve L33T?: One of the biggest reasons why I would like to upgrade is that I want to bloody change my username. This was in 2010 (when I registered) when I was really addicted to Runescape. Also, there a some people that really deserve reputation such as you for doing these lovely contributions to this forum. Members like you need to be recognized a bit more. I'd also prefer if I had a green username then a blank old white one. I haven't had a userbar since the old usergroup "The Wrath" was taken down.

Why do you deserve L33T?: First of all I don't know if I really deserve L33T, but it would be an honor. I describe myself as a trusted, positive, helpful and kind member. I try to stay HQ and post only when I have something useful to say, not only posting in order to increase my number of posts. I don't have a lot of free time, but I've tried to contribute with the community as much as possible. I've made some giveaways and I usually give away 48 hour xbox live codes to all members. I know there are members that may deserve the upgrade rather than me, but I don't want to let this opportunity go. I am currently paying my college studies, so I can't spend money on this. Winning this contest would be absolutely awesome and I would appreciate it much. I usually help people via PM, so having l33t would help me to increase my PM's inbox and allow me to give rep to people that have helped or contributed with the community. Some people say that if they were l33t they would contribute more with the community, but I won't lie to you, I will contribute the same being l33t or being a normal member. I believe everyone should contribute regardless if you are an upgraded member or not. I would also like to be an upgraded member to have the opportunity to make contests.

How have you contributed here at HF?: I always try to help members if I can, and I share my knowledge if I think it is useful for someone. I've tried to be helpful to the community since I joined, so here is a small list of my contributions; I know it is not that much, but it will grow since I'll continue contributing into this great community where I've learned a lot.
