Thread: Can victims who get keylogged , track you and arrest you?

Is it possible? can they do it? let say for example if you hack their gaming account like maplestory or league of legends, and since you receive logs via email, can they track you down, and get you arrested or something?

Im sure the police will arrest you for going into someone else's League Of Legends account. pfft Don't worry about it.

It depends on your country laws and who are you keylogging.
99.99% of the times no one will give a fuck :)
so you are safe.
Cheers

for example in Canada, will the guy who keylogges another victim get in shit?

nahh i don't think so especially if your victim is a regular guy.
maximum you could get is a warning (that is the worst case scenario) though i will advise you not to keylog any government official by the way, how can I hide my reflect logger behind an image and still execute when that victim opens the picture?

that is not possible unless you find some sort of exploit in that image viewer which is highly unlikely (if not impossible).
Search extension spoofing (see my tutorial thread)

A good tip: Don't fuck up their lives, and when you log into something, you take it and hack it totally... Change ALL passwords and everything!
+Use IP Hider/VPN or whatever is out there! Then you're good :)
